JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For Prices see pages VII., XI., XIII. and XIV.]

BRICKS.—The general features and results on the market for Common Hards since our last report have been of a favorable character and leave matters in a cheerful and fairly promising condition. Receipts from the river have been pretty full, one tow of ten barges putting in an appearance only a morning or two ago, but these, in common with other arrivals, were quite promptly sold, and it is fair to say the demand balances supply. Indeed, a considerable amount of work has got so far along now that there is a natural anxiety to push it to full completion, and that creates an outlet for brick against which fresh arrivals have some advantage over local accumulations, especially where full cargoes can be utilized and sent to convenient points about the harbor. Firmness in value comes as a natural sequence to other features, as already mentioned, and most of the Haverstraw brick have brought $7.50 per M. without much of an effort on the part of sellers, but we hear of some business fractionally higher, and at the close up to $7.75 per M is quoted. On Long Island stock we have quotation at $7.50 per M, with some manufacturers calculating upon getting more money, and Staten Islands have sold at $7.25 per M. Jerseys seem to be somewhat irregular, but $6 about as low as sellers are willing to talk, and then up to about the usual approximation to the river production. Pales range at $3.50@4.00, the latter a trifle exceptional and the deal not very vigorous. The chances for a close of navigation are now considered as very remote, and there will probably be some supply coming forward every week. Manufacturers are grumbling somewhat, even with the steady gain on value they have of late secured, and make the usual threats about suspending shipments; but there is a pretty good accumulation still left at primary points, and the temptation to turn it into money is not likely to be resisted, especially as there is a known intention to prepare for new work just as soon as weather will permit.

LABOR.—There appears to be considerable talk over the labor question at the moment, and while there is, as a rule, a profession of mere curiosity and desire for information only a measure of apprehension is not concealed. The proposed universal movement for eight hours on May 1st is of itself a matter of no little importance to consider, and the strikes that have occurred in this city and elsewhere among the building trade mechanics during the week all go to show the restless spirit extant among workmen, indicating that they may take such action as to greatly neutralize many otherwise favorable features of the incoming season.

LATH.—Some arrivals have taken place but, as surmised, they were pretty much all wanted as soon as offered, with another small addition made to value, and we have sales reported up to $2.60 per M. It looks too as though all wants were not yet satisfied, and a few buyers who have been constantly behind the market with their bids seem to be getting a little more anxious. On the other hand, however, the extreme cost leads to a measure of caution about investment and no one handles stock except as a matter of the most positive necessity, while the chances for a Canadian supply are unabated. Indeed, of the last named product we learn of another batch of some 800,000, sold at $2.50 per M., and understood to have been taken by a dealer on Gowanus Creek.

LIME.—All the old features and suggestions are reported in the general run of reports made. Fair sales are arranged for State stock to come through by rail, and such cargoes as may arrive coastwise find prompt enough custom with values generally well sustained. More or less mysterious hints are given of shaded rates but without proof, and this to be is getting to be one of the monotonous characteristic of the general market.

LUMBER.—It is not an uncommon experience to hear some little complaint over the condition of the distributive as well as the wholesale trade, but taking the business of the two cities as a whole there is a tendency toward gain. It may not always take the shape of a call for goods for immediate delivery, but there is figuring and estimating and even closing contracts for stock to be handled later on that goes far to infuse a feeling of confidence, and the natural tendency of the general market appears to be toward improvement. Of course the selling side talks bullish, and buyers put forward all the bearish evidences possible, but the actual changes in line of value of late shown have not been of a very pronounced character. If anything the tendency is to stiffen somewhat on most standard descriptions of wood. The increased prospect of the World's Fair coming here creates a certain amount of jubilant feeling among many of the trade as to the probable effect upon lumber. Eventually there is hardly a doubt that sanguine expectations will be realized through the influence the Exhibition will have upon building, but calculations of an immediate and sharp improvement in lumber may be a little premature. The period for actual consumption is some distance off, preparation and specification for work must be prepared and the chances are against any ordinarily careful buyer jumping right into investments at the commencement of the season and practically placing themselves at the mercy of sellers until a little clearer idea is obtained of the class of stock most likely to be wanted.

Eastern Spruce is becoming subject to a great many theoretical suggestions in regard to the chances for trade up to midsummer, with probably the majority disposed toward a strong view of the situation. There is practically nothing new brought out in the line of argument used, the local basis being found in the assumption that dealers have no more than a fair accumulation left unsold, even of average quality, and will gladly welcome any addition, while as regard primary points there is a retention of the claim that no excess of offering can be made. A few well-posted operators, however, and most of whom may be numbered among receivers, hesitate about taking too emphatic a position upon the subject of short supply and fuller prices, until information from primary points is obtained in more conclusive form. In this connection we give the following clipping from a recent issue of a Canadian journal: "There is evidently plenty of snow for lumbering operations in New Brunswick. Lumberers on the Restigouche River report 4 feet of snow in the woods." To that we may add that receivers this week make similar admissions and one or two go so far as to say that conditions are as favorable as they ever were at this time of the year The large demand and attractive rates offered vessels for the transportation of ice from the east, however, is becoming a factor for very serious consideration to those who may be seeking means to get their lumber into market.

Piling without reaching a point of positive activity has nevertheless secured pretty good sale during the open winter, greater in fact than supposed, and the market is therefore in excellent shape, with reports cheerful enough, and especially so over large sticks of which the supply appears to be scant, and a little fuller rates are talked of.

Hemlock is in some cases quoted rather tame in tone, but buyers wanting first-class stock, full sizes and prompt delivery, have rarely, if ever of late been enabled to find the cheap goods of which rumor has spoken, and there seems to be nothing to warrant a modification from the previous line of quotation at the moment. A few liberal orders are under treaty for later delivery.

White Pine is entering consumptive channels in fair proportion to the movement of other woods and also getting a dash now and then of the export trade with the sale of all really standard articles consummated without disturbance of the line of valuation for some little time ruling. In the matter of wholesale parcels there is irregularity now and uncertainty as to the future, though nothing as yet in very promising form so far as the immediate local trade is concerned. Salesmen, however, assert with a considerable degree of confidence that they have received much encouragement from what may be called the country trade and feel well assured of their ability a run of custom that will go far to balance the comparative liberality of the stocks held at primary points.

Yellow Pine does not require much of a report owing to the general uniformity of the market. It is an old story with those who canvas this section of the lumber market for information to meet with rebuff in many cases, yet still sufficient courtesy can be found for all necessary purposes and reports as made are in cheerful frame. The regular trade into consumptive channels is up to expectations and the call for yard stock and upon special contracts is keeping a great many agents remarkably busy in forwarding and perfecting the orders.

Carolina Pine retains about all the good features developed during the past year and there is a claim for even a fuller consumption than ever as the present season progresses. Indeed since the first of January we understand that several very liberal contracts have been perfected for future delivery and manufacturers have many evidences that, even should our local trade stand still at its present volume, there will be enough outside demand to take care of the entire product. No wonder, therefore, that an upward incline on value is suggested.

Hardwoods have apparently a more promising prospect than a year ago. At this time all hands are a little doubtful about the amount to call for and the quantity to tender, but there is no doubt that buyers feel deeper interest and seem to be paving the way for the placing of orders. All grades will be more or less favorably influenced, but according to current talk it seems safe to say that quartered oak has the best chance, not only because it has a lead in popularity but also in view of the belief that producers of inferior stuff having received a costly lesson are thought to have abandoned the field, and those who make a meritorious article will receive attention and reward An advance is predicted of $3.00@5.00 per M for choice stock. Ash promises well and Poplar also where quality is fine. Cherry has favor enongh but not one consumer in a hundred can afford to submit to cost of desirable stock. Mahogany will hold its place on the line without difficulty.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman as follows :

Reports from the camps in Wisconsin are to the effect that the loggers are not even taking time to grumble these days, so intent are they in hurrying the giants of the forest to the river banks. The weather couldn't be better if it had been made to order. It is warm enough, but not too warm in for good work. The thaws have had no bad effects in the woods where the snow is protected by the trees, but has aided very materially in bettering the state of the roads, There is no end to the icy roads, and the heavily loaded sleighs slip along almost by themselves. A shortage in the log crop is no longer thought of, and should the cut not come up to the anticipated amount it will not be on account of any fault of the contractors.

And in review of the Chicago yard trade says :

The class of men who handle the white pine product in this city are willing to look on the bright side of things, when this is possible, but are not disposed to feel hopeful unless they have cause. Consequently the better feeling prevailing throughout the district this week must have a more or less substantial foundation, and it is a fact that orders are more numerous than has been the case for some time. Whether this increased business will prove to be anything more than of temporary duration remains to be seen, but dealers are disposed to think the regular spring trade has begun. It is a little earlier than usual, but besides the numerous sales now being made, every mail brings in a number of inquiries and letters asking for estimates, this shows an increased disposition on the part of interior buyers to take stock, although roads in the country are still so soft as to render it difficult to haul loads. The present country trade may not be unusually large, but when all things are considered it is remarkable that so much stock should be moving in this direction. So to use the expression of a local lumberman, the season is "late for work but early for weather." While there has been very little snow in any section in which the lumber trade is tributary to Chicago, the impassible condition of the roads has produced as much of a stagnation in business as though the snow drifts had been piled mountains high.

This is the way the Mississippi Valley Lumberman looks at the situation :

The winter season is considerably out of joint, and this may not be without its influence on the lumber business. In Wisconsin and Minnesota the loggers have had an exceptionally favorable winter for their operations. It has been mild, but not too mild. They have had an abundance of snow and have banked logs as cheaply as they were ever banked. The crop will be large even should there be an early break up. But this condition is peculiar only to Wisconsin and Minnesota. In Michigan there has been rain, mud and soft weather generally. The prevailing conditions are very certain to affect the supply of logs and reduce the input. Those which are secured will be got at extra expense. This means that the supply of lumber in the northwest will crowd into Illinois, Indiana and Ohio markets even more than it did last year. Exceptionally mild weather in Maine, Pennsylvania and along the Atlantic coast, in the States where lumber is produced, has contributed to a curtailment. It is more than probable that the excess in the northwest will be more than offset by the shortage in the other quarters, and that the eastern markets will take care of some of the lumber which might otherwise crowd into competition with the lumber from northern Wisconsin and Minnesota and down the Mississippi valley.

The Northwestern Lumberman:

The Michigan lumberman pats his logging railroad on the back this winter with more affection than ever before. His logs are dumped at the landing with the regularity of clockwork day after day, while those of his neighbors who depend on horses are oftimes left on the skids. When he goes to bed at night the thought as to whether the morrow will bring forth frost or slush does not disturb him. Great is a logging railroad in an open winter.

It is evident from information flowing in from various market points that the pulse of the spring trade is rising. Though it is rather feeble in the majority of instances, at several of the larger markets the increase of demand is pronounced. A great improvement is heralded from the Saginaw valley. Several sales of considerable amount have recently been made, the lumber having been wanted for shipment to Eastern points. The yard dealers are also taking lumber freely for carload shipment. The lumber business along the Saginaw River has been very quiet all winter, so that the measure of new life that has been manifest lately has encouraged the holders of lumber to believe that the spring demand is to be good. It is believed that sales thus far have been made on a basis of last fall's prices, but an advance is anticipated by some.

The poplar trade is in a healthy condition at the leading producing and market points. There have been log tides on the tributaries of the upper Ohio which have put plenty of logs on the move toward the mills. At Cincinnati manufacturers and dealers are somewhat apprehensive that there will be more product that will be good for the strength of the prices. The condition at Memphis, Nashville and Louisville is reported in satisfactory shape, with lumber selling at association prices.

The hardwood trade appears to be promising good results for the year. Reports from mill points are to the effect that the demand is taking care of dry stocks of oak, ash and gum, particularly as fast as it is ready for the market. Pennsylvania cherry is scarce and wanted in all parts of the country.

THE SOUTH.

The Southern Lumberman as follows :

Our reports from the yellow pine mills clearly indicate that there are no large stocks on hand. Orders are more plentiful than ever before, and while yellow pine is perhaps selling for prices beneath its real value, when the saw-mill man is full of orders and has no difficulty in selling his product at a small profit the situation is decidedly encouraging. The day is not far distant when yellow pine will sell at largely increased prices, and manufacturers who are toiling as best they can will ultimately reap a rich reward. For inside finish, bridge timbers, car sills and framing, it is, perhaps, superior to any other lumber on the market. The situation is encouraging, and the prospects for the spring trade, or continued trade throughout this year, have never been brighter. The standing pine timber in the South is being bought by strong mill corporations. The mills are becoming stronger financially, and the day is evidently passed for cutting and slashing prices on pine lumber.

GREAT BRITAIN.

There is not much animation at the moment in American woods on the English markets. The Timber Trades Journal reports as follows from Glasgow:

There are scarcely any arrivals of wood goods here for the past week. At this season imports to Glasgow are usually confined to parcels per steamship from the States, but of late these have been restricted to very small quantities owing to high steamer freights for goods this way. In the absence of imports, stocks of walnut logs are fast being reduced, large sales having recently been made.

Wood freights generally, Quebec to Clyde, etc., are easier; tonnage has been offering at lower rates than were ruling last year.

At auction parcels of walnut put up met with good demand and brought fair prices according to quality. 152 logs walnut (Baltimore), 2,968 cub. ft. 16½ avg. square sold at 3s. to 4s. 6d. avg. 3s. 7d. per c. ft.; 41 logs walnut (Baltimore), 695 5 ft. 15 in. avg. square sold at 2s. 8d. to 4s. 6d. avg. 3s. 1½d.; 51 logs walnut (Baltimore), 1,129 c. ft. 17 in. avg. square at 3s. 6d. to 4s. 7d. avg. 3s. 6¾.; 4 logs walnut (Baltimore), 126 c. ft. at 3s. 10d per c. ft.; 12 logs whitewood, 501 c. ft. 2 in. avg. 1½ square at 1s. 10d. and 1s. 9d. per c. ft.

METALS.—Copper—Ingot following our last report was somewhat easier in tone, a few holders of small lots having apparently suddenly become possessed with a desire to realize and in endeavoring to gratify themselves forcing the rate off to 14c. As soon as the miscellaneous supply was shaken out, however, there came a reaction, and at present writing the position looks comparatively firm with much more careful offerings. Quotations are generally placed at 14¼@14½c. for Lake, and 12¾@13c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper has also been a little irregular in movement, but otherwise the market is kept in good form and the list line of prices preserved without much, if any, difficulty. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 28c.; do, under 8 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz, 14 to 16 oz, 12 to 14 oz, and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 34c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 27@30c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 25c.; 14 oz, 27c.; 12 oz, 29c.; and 10 oz, 30c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@29c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig is in the old undetermined position awaiting the outcome of affairs abroad. Latest advices would seem to indicate that foreign markets are hardly down to a level where attractive tenders can be made to this side, but the inclination is in that direction and buyers order only on absolute necessity while they wait. Within a few days some 300 tons have been forced for sale on account of a suspended Glasgow firm, and brought $21.50@22.50 for Eglinton and Dalwellington. Nominally the general range is quoted at $22.00@26.00 per ton, according to brand. American Pig is unquestionably tending somewhat toward easier prices. As a rule it is the fashion to quote full former figures and abstain from any specially demonstrative tender of supplies, yet it is known that in a quiet way offerings of desirable goods have been made at a shading, and it is believed would be repeated. We therefore quote somewhat nominally at $19.50@20.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry ; $18.50@19.00 for No. 2 X do., and $17.50@18.00 for Gray Forge. Old material still has to be carried, as notwithstanding an easier disposition in the matter of valuation on the part of holders, they have not succeed in getting any responsive attention from customers. There is believed to be a little more stock here than generally admitted. We quote at about $26.50@27.00 for old rails; $23.00@24.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@19.50 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron is not securing quite so many orders, and now and then a little grumbling may be heard among the trade, but the position is under control and a steady line of value assumed. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.09@2.05c. from store, and refined at 2.20@2.50c.; Rods, round and square, 2.20@2.25c.; Bands, 2.50@2.55c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steels Rails are not getting much attention outside some small orders of necessity and the previous tendency to weakness on values is increasing. Manufacturers do not press matters, but occasional hints lead to a very strong impression that reduced bids would be listened to. We quote at $35@35.50 per ton for standard section at the mills and $36.00@36.50 do. at tide water. Lead—Domestic pig has not secured much speculative attention, the wants of consumers can be satisfied with comparatively small amounts, and the general result is found in a tame tone to the market. We quote at 3.75 @ 3.85c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. Tin—Pig sells for consumption simply in such small ots as will satisfy immediate wants, and otherwise buyers will not invest. Now and then, however, there is a fair speculative deal following the move of the foreign market. We quote at about 20.75@20.80c. for round lots, and 20.85@20.90c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate since last report has further declined and continues unsettled, though some of the trade think values pretty nearly at hard pan. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $6.00@6.05, each additional Xadd $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ⅓ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.20@5.25, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.00 @ 7.05; M. F. grade, 20x28, $14.00@14.05; Worcester, 14x20, $5.00@5.05; Worcester, 20x28, $10.00@10.05; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.70@4.75; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.40@9.52; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.55@4.60; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.20@9.25; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.55@4.60; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.65 @ 4.80; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.10@— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.20@— basis. Spelter has been among the weak articles and closes with an unsettled tone. We quote at 5.25 @5.40c. for common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—The market has some elements of uncertainty. Demand is fair enough, possibly up to the average, but the general supply does not come under quite such close control as had been hoped for, and prices vary slightly at times. We quote at $2.10@2.12½ per keg for car lots, and $2.15@2.17½ per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The outlet for goods seems to be expanding somewhat and now and then a jobber reports really quick action to trade. The selection too, is on the whole satisfactory, as about the assortment usually handled at this season comes in for attention and manufacturers are enabled to keep up an average production. The steadiness on leads preserved through the action of the syndicate seems to find reflection in the price of pretty nearly every other standard article, and quotations remain without much change. Linseed Oil is fairly active and steady. We quote at 59@60c. for Western, and 61@63c. for City. Spirits Turpentine gained somewhat in value but without stimulating demand, and while the market remains pretty firm up to present writing, the movement of supplies is light. We quote at 43@44c. per gallon, according to quality, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business somewhat irregular and not particularly liberal, but the market is kept very well in hand, and values preserved on a steady basis. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl. Tar at $2.25@2.50, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

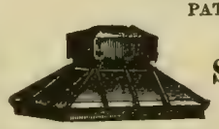
Roofing Plates.

WE not only give the purchaser the best Roofing Plates, but we protect him:

FIRST—By guaranteeing every box.

SECOND—By stamping each sheet with the brand and thickness.



THIRD—By excluding wasters or defective sheets.

FOURTH—By branding the net weight of the 112 sheets on each box, to satisfy the customer (in this age of light-weight plates) that he is obtaining full weight.

For the benefit of those wanting the very best Roofing Plates, we assert, and are prepared to prove, that there are no other brands of Roofing Tin offered in the market to-day, by any firm, under the four different guarantees given above by this house, and we challenge a public contradiction of this statement.

VOL. XLV. MARCH 1, 1890. No. 1,146.

Again this week we give considerable space to the publication of notices of assessments completed and assessments confirmed. The former enables property-owners to inquire and examine into the fairness of the charge for such improvements as have been made, and to file objections thereto if necessary. The list of assessments confirmed serve to warn owners whose property is affected to pay up and avoid the large interest charges which are levied when payments are not made within the specified time. These lists are closely watched and often referred to by our readers, who are thus put in the way of knowing all about assessments, prospective or actual.

There are two or three things that New York should do in connection with this Exposition matter. In the first place the city should turn to with energy to assist Chicago to make the Fair a success. The assistance should not be given in any niggardly spirit, but freely, largely, without reservation, and cheerfully. An excellent opportunity presents itself on this occasion for the East to gain the lasting good-will of the West. It is sincerely to be hoped that no local pettiness, or "politics," or illiberality will cause it to be lost. After this New York should learn the lesson, or rather the lessons, which her defeat teaches. No matter what some of the causes that led to her defeat may have been, the fact that New York could be defeated, and defeated easily too, could be deliberately passed by, shows that her importance in national affairs is relatively not by any means so great as it was. She now has rivals who, no matter how extravagant their claims may be, can dispute, and in this case did dispute successfully, her position as the chief city of the country. In many ways, undoubtedly, New York has very sorry qualifications for the position to which she lays claim. She considers herself to be the real capital of the country—what Paris is to France, Berlin to Germany, London to England. It is true her commerce is larger than that of any other city in the country, she is the money-centre, and in a few other particulars is ahead of Chicago, Philadelphia and other towns. But does she stand to these cities as London does to Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow or Sheffield, or Paris to Rouen or Marseilles? Is she pre-eminently the centre of the intelligence and the culture of the nation? Are her streets the most magnificent, her public works the most complete, her museums and libraries and schools the finest? Let anyone who thinks so turn to our poverty-stricken municipal buildings, monuments of steals and jobs; our dark, filthy, badly-paved streets; our imperfect rapid transit, the general inadequacy of nearly everything municipal, and then point out what we have that is truly worthy of a city that aspires to be the metropolis of the country. But then we have the money, and, let it be added, a stupendous indifference to defects and evils which should not be tolerated for an instant by a civilized community, a fatuous self-satisfaction, a marvelous lack of real public-spiritedness, and a government which, considered as a whole, produces less for a given amount than any other under the sun, unless the unspeakable Turk be an exception. Of course, it is out of precisely such elements as these that great and admirable cities are made! New York, in many ways, and especially in "municipal" ways, is far behind the times, and behind what she complacently thinks she is. In some respects she is a quarter of a century behind Europe, behind those very foreigners whom we are so anxious may not go to see our Fair if it be held in Chicago. If this be doubted, let anyone compare Berlin with New York—the two cities are of about the same size—and remember in making the comparison that Berlin, in municipal matters' is improving rapidly, while New York is almost standing still—has not yet learnt how to make pavements, or keep streets decently clean. It would be well if the $15,000,000 obtained for the World's Fair should be spent in making the city a worthy site for a great International Exposition, in carrying out much needed improvements, in erecting some decent public buildings, in establishing museums, improving those we have, and, in general, giving the city some of the higher characteristics of a capital of a great country.

The idea which Western enthusiasts have that Chicago can create a World's Fair by 1892 that will surpass or at least be as fine as the one held in Paris last year is quite erroneous. So, indeed, is the idea that Chicago can have an Exposition that will be in any large sense "international." Neither the one nor the other is probable. On the other hand the idea very widely accepted in the East that a National Fair held in Chicago must necessarily be of little or no interest to foreigners is equally erroneous. The reverse is probably the case. The European is not at all likely to cross the Atlantic to inspect his own manufactures. No matter how ridiculous the fables he believes about this country may be, he has no reason for thinking that his wares will wear any different aspect in America than at home, and we may safely suppose that he is aware that any display made here will necessarily be very inferior, both in amount and in quality, to that recently made in Paris. We may be sure that the foreigner that comes to our Fair will come to see us, and not to see a weak reflection of himself; and consequently the more peculiarly American the Exposition is the more attraction it will have for him. A great American Fair can be held in Chicago with every bit as much success as in New York, and in some respects with even more, and the fact that Chicago is twenty-four hours further West than New York will not deter any foreigner who intends visiting us from making the trip across the Atlantic; though the probabilities are his knowledge of the geographical relation of the two cities will be much too vague to create in his mind any anxiety or thought on the matter.

We have recently given illustrations showing that some of the newspapers were coming to their senses in regard to the elevated railroads and the necessity of using the facilities already constructed as the basis for any immediate relief from the present overcrowding. The meeting held during the past week of Harlem property-owners is an indication that they, too, are awakening to the necessity of taking immediate measures and to the best method of attaining this end. The following resolution, which was passed at the meeting, should be forced on the attention of the Legislature:

Resolved, That we urgently request the Legislature to pass a bill allowing the Elevated Railroad additional terminal and other facilities, and also repealing all restrictions on the west side of the Boulevard, so that the road may be extended up that highway to Kingsbridge.

The speakers on this occasion did not take an altogether encouraging view as to the prospects of the Rapid Transit bills at present before the Legislature. W. E. D. Stokes stated that the Mayor's bill would be killed by the Republican legislators and that the Fassett bill would suffer a similar fate at the hands of Governor Hill. And in truth this appears but too probable, for certainly the Mayor's bill has no chance in the Senate while our Democratic Governor's watchful care that none of our municipal bills shall violate the principle of local self-government may well shut his eyes to the important fact that, local self-government or not, the commission constituted by the Fassett bill is a good one and all that we require. If this is the truth, New York will have but one more illustration of the curse with which our ever present politics kills nearly every important reformatory measure or movement in New York or Albany, for it is as desirable from one point of view that the question should be placed on a basis which will make a permanent solution only a matter of time, as it is from another that some immediate relief be obtained. The Times report of the meeting stated that Lawson N. Fuller "painted Sage and Gould in glowing terms compared with those who held real estate and grew rich by letting other people improve it." Let us have no cant about this matter. Messrs. Sage and Gould are simply two very sharp speculators who are endeavoring to feather their own nests without a very scrupulous regard as to the methods they use. They are certainly not any better than other speculators; and neither of them would come out very well in the comparison which a London paper facetiously instituted between Jay Gould and King Arthur. But in this case, if in no other, the interests of the property-owners of this city coincides with the interests of Mr. J. Gould; and anyone who opposes a plan that will result in the benefit of both simply because the latter is a party to he ttransaction, is simply setting up a scarecrow to frighten away a horse.

It is by no means so certain, however, that the recommendation contained in the resolution that the west side of the Boulevard be used as the location for the new set of tracks is sound. It is true that in the past we have advised the use of this thoroughfare for the purpose, and above 110th street the advice would probably still remain good; but there are some indications that below 110th street the character of the thoroughfare may improve. Certainly, if there is any chance that the avenue will become the broad and beautiful boulevard its designers—in so far as they had any public motive in the matter—intended it to be, there would be nothing more outrageous than disfiguring it by an elevated railroad structure. It is because the avenue has been kept in such a wretched condition, because the character of the improvements has not been all that it might be, and because consequently the value of the property bordering on it has declined in value, that we have thought the avenue might as well as not be used as the location for an elevated road. But now that our city authorities have begun the work of repaving the thoroughfare, the avenue ought to be given a chance of renovation. It is evident that Commissioner Gilroy would never have consented to repave the Boulevard if he expected there would be an elevated road running along it, for he designs to keep his asphalt for the avenues that are more distinctively carriageways. Furthermore, the announcement that a handsome apartment house is to be built on the west side of the avenue between 69th and 70th streets, may well be a sign that a better class of buildings will in the future line the thoroughfare. If this is the case, the renovation begun by the laying of asphalt should be continued by removing the telegraph poles from the erstwhile park in the centre of the avenue, railing the space off and planting flowers in a bank in its middle. There are greater possibilities in the Boulevard than in any of the west side avenues, and if there is any chance that they will be developed, no elevated railroad should be allowed to stand in the way. Such a road could run up 10th avenue to 110th street, and then if necessary cross town and turn into 11th avenue. It would, of course, be somewhat better for Riverside Drive and West End avenue property-owners to have the road run along the Boulevard, but that is no reason why such a potentially fine thoroughfare should be sacrificed.

Progress of Municipal Control of Public Works in the United States

Notwithstanding the conservative spirit with which the people of this country regard any movement towards transferring business from private to public lands, the policy of municipal control of such public works as the water and light supply has during the past ten years been gradually and securely gaining ground. This growing change in sentiment may be attributed to two causes. First, the rapid concentration of population in cities going forward is doing much to show the utter absurdity of allowing cities to remain dependent upon greedy private corporations for necessary services; and, second, the universal success of municipal water and lighting works in cities where the experiment has been tried has demonstrated the practicability of cities performing these services for themselves.

There are in the United States at the present time 1,500 towns and cities furnished with water-works. Of this number nearly one-half supply themselves with water, with the general tendency toward the municipalization of such works constantly increasing. Returns from cities which have a population of over 10,000 people show that two-thirds of the water-works in this class are under municipal control. When with this is considered that one-half of the 1,500 water-works now in operation in this country have been established since 1880, and that previous to this date the general policy was that of private control, some estimate may be formed of the rapid growth in the application of the principle of municipal control to this class of public works.

There are only eight cities in this country which have assumed control of the gas supply. Although in each of these cities the works have been operated satisfactorily, yet other cities are slow to follow the example. It is safe to say that there are anywhere from seventy-five to a hundred cities in this country that would undertake to furnish themselves with gas if it were possible to do so. Some cities, especially the larger ones, as St. Louis, are hindered in taking this step by State Constitutional limitation upon the power to contract debts. More frequently, however, the barriers in the way are the private gas companies intrenched behind franchises which give them extraordinary monopolistic privileges. Once established in a city, these private companies become autocratic and can only with the greatest difficulty be dislodged. Still again, the inhabitants of a great many of our cities are deceived into the belief that they are receiving cheap gas because they have granted away the privilege of supplying this convenience to rival companies. This last statement is strengthened by the account presented above of the growth of municipal water-works. One cause for the rapid municipalization of water-works may be attributed to the fact that only a few cities—not over ten—have ever granted rival companies the privilege of supplying water. Thus, water-works companies are not given the opportunity of deceiving citizens through the farce of competition as are private gas companies. They can not reply, when complaints of exorbitant water rates are raised that competition regulates the prices charged, and therefore they are just. For this reason it has been easier for cities to perceive the attitude of private water companies in its true light than that of gas companies, and to see their way clear to the assumption of control of this class of works. The highest price charged by any of the eight cities controlling their own gas plant is $1.62 per thousand feet, and the lowest price 75 cents per thousand feet. Five cities charge $1.50, and one $1.00. The policy adopted by these cities is that of working the plants with a view of increasing the local revenues. The average cost of manufacturing and supplying gas is 76 cents per thousand feet, and the average price charged, $1.36. The revenues yields to these cities each year by gas-works is thus very considerable. Richmond, Va., charges $1.50 per thousand feet—a reasonable price compared with that which some of our cities are charging—and yet in 1885 made a profit of $52,093 besides furnishing 29,000,000 cubic feet of gas to the city free of charge. Every city should be familiar with these facts pertaining to municipal gas supply.

The last ten years have witnessed the entrance of municipalities into another field—that of electric lighting. Twenty-seven cities, so far as can be learned, operated electric light plants during the last year, and with results in every case satisfactory. Definite returns from twenty-four of these cities show that the average cost to each was only 12.8 cents per arc light per night. The full significance of these figures is shown when they are compared with returns from electric light plants operated by private corporations. Statistics received from one hundred cities which are dependent upon private companies for electric light give 40 cents as the average cost per arc light per night. But twenty-eight cities do not by any means represent the extent of growth in municipal electric lighting. During the year 1889 over twenty cities either purchased plants or took steps towards making purchases. Among this number are included such cities as Austin, Texas; Bloomington, Ill.; Sioux City, Iowa, and Oakland, Cal. So strongly impressed are some of these cities with the advantages of municipal control of electric lighting that they have carried on the movement in the face of strong opposition. For instance, at an election held at St. Charles, Mo., upon a proposition for increasing the city debt $150,000 for the establishment of an electric light plant to be run by the city, the gas company fought the movement fiercely. The proposition was carried, however, by a majority of five to one.

While writers are attempting to show on paper that municipal control of such public works as the water and light supply is impracticable, experience is calmly demonstrating that it is practicable, and, furthermore, that it is the most economical and efficient system in vogue.

Investments—Good and Bad.

LEAD TRUST.—Looking at its movements and its history as far as its history is capable of inspection, careful purchases of Lead Trust promise well for profits with improvement in the money market. It smacks somewhat of heresy, it is true, to recommend a Trust certificate to the attention of investors, but one humbly inclining to the opinion that the Trusts have come to stay, and may, in whatever form they are moulded as a result of judicial decision and legislation, work beneficially to consumers is warranted in doing so. Wall street will see a great widening of its operations by the formation of Trusts, or the incorporation of industrial enterprises, let it be called what it may. Railroads, telegraphs, gas, water, steamships and some few other classes of enterprise had until within recent years a monopoly of investors' money, and also a monopoly of a sort of tacit right to create for themselves monopolies. Practically it has been recently argued that a number of railroad or telegraph companies might combine to control all the business in their lines, or within their reach, but that lead companies or sugar companies might not. That the combined railroad or combined telegraph company was a good investment, but that the combined sugar company or combined lead company could not be. The opponents of industrial combinations have based their main argument on the assertion that concentration of these industries meant higher prices for their product, and that theory is held, notwithstanding that the quotations contradict it. Both railroad and telegraph rates have been lowered by combination, putting war rates aside. So it will be with the prices of the manufactures. The consolidation of such industries does not come merely from a wish of small groups of individuals to control particular industries, but from a need for centralization for the profitable employment of capital previously employed unprofitably, because of undue competition and a disproportionate cost of management from a number of centres, and also for the employment of outside capital to provide for an ever increasing demand. The investor is advised against Trust certificates, because he may not know anything of the industries which they represent; but he is advised to buy railroad securities on the strength of some figures sometimes a year old, and relating to operations, mileages, percentages and other matters which he does not understand any more than the manufacture of sugar, or soap, or white lead. This comparison is not intended as an argument against investments in railroads, or to prefer other classes of investments to them, but only to show that all classes should be judged by the same general commonsense rules. The Trusts may have a great deal of trouble before them, and may have to change their form. Legislation and the action of the courts may make that necessary, but neither legislation nor judicial decision can wipe out of existence, or confiscate, the property they own. If it is found that the Trusts violate the laws, they will of course have to conform to their requirements, but any that has tangible value in land, buildings and goodwill, and trade as a manufacturer to represent the value of its certificates, will still have that value to represent whatever form of obligation is issued in their place. Changes are not unexpected apparently in the Trusts themselves, and are probably desirable in the interest of the public. The American Cotton Oil Trust has converted itself into a corporation meeting one popular demand, and the National Lead Trust has voted to reduce its capitalization by two-thirds to meet another. Other changes will come from time to time. In the meanwhile the consideration is which of them, if any, offers attractions to investors. Lead Trust recommends itself chiefly by its statement to its certificate-holders. It does not say a great deal, but what it has said is moderate in tone, and to some extent more explanatory of its character, property and purposes than any of the other trusts. The Trust agreement provides that on demand of 67 per cent. of the holders of the Trust certificates the trustees shall furnish full statements of the Trust property and of the financial affairs of the various companies whose stocks are held in trust. The same percentage of the holders of the certificates may procure the termination of the Trust, and 51 per cent. may decide the manner of disposing of the Trust property should the Trust be terminated. There is, however, apparently no limit to the trustees' power to issue certificates, except, of course, the limits of the property, which can, under any circumstances, be acquired. The National Lead Trust was organized October 1st, 1887, having control of Anchor White Lead Co., the Bradley White Lead Co., St. Louis Lead and Oil Co., St. Louis Smelting and Refining Co., Brooklyn White Lead Co., Jewett White Lead Co., D. B. Shipman White Lead Works, the J. H. Morley Lead Co., and Beymer-Bauman Lead Co. Since that time the number of companies controlled by the Trust have been increased to thirty-one, including Armstrong & McKelvey and the Maryland and Davis Chambers Co., and their business includes the manufacture of white lead, oxides in all their forms, lead pipe, sheet lead, linseed oil, etc. These companies are capable of producing 97,000 tons of their goods, how distributed is not stated. From October 1st, 1887, to January 1st, 1889, the Trust Companies made a loss of $262,600.75. In the first six months of 1889 twenty companies then in the Trust made a profit of $309,848.92, and in the last six months of that year all the companies in the Trust made a profit of $792,173.04. As the trustees do not say of what their control consists, it cannot be seen how much of this is earned on Trust certificates, though it must be something more than half, which would be for the year 1889 about .65 per cent., a very modest result, but important when the loss of the earlier period is taken into account as well as the addition of large producers to the Trust Companies late last year and the probability that the Trust owns a large majority of the stocks of the several companies in the Trust. The property in the Trust is valued at $32,361,900, with cash assets held by the several companies over all liabilities, and after paying for all the plant of $5,594,189.92, according to Trust figures. The Trust certificates are now selling on a basis of about $16,000,000 for the whole of the Trust property. The reduction in the amount of the stock to about $30,000,000, which has been authorized, would seem to put the capitalization on a fair basis as representing value. The trustees look to an enlarged trade and reduction in expense of management, though not to material increases in prices, the latter being an important consideration to an investor as removing the fear that the Trust might only create competitors by putting up prices. Taking these things into consideration, and bearing in mind that the Lead Trust has declined considerably and has now an appearance of strength, it certainly looks as if there was money in it at current figures and within a reasonable time.

TENNESSEE COAL AND IRON.—The extraordinary decline in the price of Tennessee Coal and Iron was the sensation of the week, and brought the managers of the property to the front with explanations, which have apparently satisfied a good many judges on "the Street," though there are still many who regard a stock which advances rapidly and declines more than 30 points in three days, 18 points in the last of those three days, and rallies only 8 points in the same time, with not unnatural suspicion. Weak holders and a market very favorable to bear operations are the only reasons given why the stock should have declined. Why it should not have declined is a matter on which the official arguments are much more elaborate. The first and chief is an estimated income statement for the year 1889, made in advance of the annual report, which is in course of preparation for submission to the stockholders at their annual meeting on April 1st next. This is the estimate: net earnings, $770,400; all fixed charges, $420,000; surplus for stock, $350,400; dividend on preferred stock, $80,000; balance available for common, and equal to 3 per cent., $270,000. Further than this, the company's treasurer has said that for the first half of the year the prices for iron were the lowest—making a comparison graphic and timely—since the days of Christopher Columbus, and that for four months of the second half, according to the usual practice of large iron manufacturers, orders were executed on contracts made in the first half. The better prices received for product were seen in recent net earnings. These in November were, in round figures, $80,000, in December $83,600, and in January, the first month of the new fiscal year, $103,300. The current rates for the company's products were equal to 11 per cent. on both preferred and common stock. Moreover, the company had contracts with railroads which fixed the carrying charges for some time to come; being the lessees of the whole of the convict labor of the States of Tennessee and Alabama, it had nothing to fear from labor troubles; it had quick assets of $250,000 in excess of all floating liabilities. Emphasis was given to the assertions that the profits on the company's coal and coke business alone would pay the entire fixed charges of the company, and that there was enough pig iron on hand to pay the whole interest coupons, sinking fund charges and dividend on preferred stock for the next half year—if they could be paid in pig iron, it might be parenthetically remarked. The question will suggest itself, however—has all that could have been said been said? It will be a variation in the experience of Wall street if there is not something unfavorable behind a stock which has been moved so suddenly up and down and with such wide fluctuations which the public has yet to learn. It may be noticed that all the usual means of making a stock attractive to buyers have been resorted to in the case of Tennessee Coal and Iron, and under all the circumstances it seems decidedly to be a case in which caution will pay.

SEEKERS FOR INFORMATION.—A Wall street Department for THE REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE has been suggested by the inquiries we receive from time to time as to the merits of investments. The foregoing articles answer some of our correspondents, and the briefer notes following this, others. We shall be glad to give careful attention to all questions relating to stock and bond investments in this column. We, however, claim no infallibility and it must be borne in mind that we write a week ahead, and a great many things may happen in a week which are impossible of foresight.

W. D.—The first bonds of the Manhattan Elevated Company which can be redeemed are the New York Elevated firsts; those not until 1896, and then at a premium of 5 per cent. Interest charges are more likely to be increased by the issue of new 4s for extensions and improvements than reduced by the retirement of old bonds.

INVESTOR.—There are several good bonds now coming on the market which will pay about 5 per cent. and which deserve the examination of Investor. Write again when you can make your inquiry more particular.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The usual weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair, B. F. Romaine, Jr., acting as secretary pro tem.

The Sub-Committee on Taxation and Assessments reported as follows in reference to the bill to provide for vacating void assessments by amending Section 903 of the Consolidation act (chap. 410, laws 1882): "That such proposed bill is intended for the protection of property-owners against illegal acts of the Board of Assessors and the Board for the Revision and Correction of Assessments, for which no remedy is now provided by law. It is not designed to affect the recovery of any money now in the City Treasury, but to provide for relief in the event of any future confirmation of void assessments. It is a just measure, and its passage should be advocated by the Exchange." (Signed) Sinclair Myers, Wm. Reynolds Brown, Wm. D. Murphy, Benj. F. Romaine, Jr., Henry D. Smith.

On motion the report was adopted, and the sub-committee was requested to urge the passage of the bill.

The Sub-Committee on Building and Mechanics' Lien Laws reported as follows on Assembly bill No. 346:

"The apparent intention of the bill is to give the right to file a lien to the person or firm who furnish labor or material for buildings previous to the transfer, by deed, or the filing of a mortgage or other encumbrance, the lien to hold good against the interest thus transferred by the owner.

"We consider that this amendment would be very injurious to the real estate and building interests of this city and State, from the fact that it would not be safe to take title or make a loan upon a piece of property, as, after searches have been made and title passed, a number of liens may be filed for labor and materials furnished towards the improvements, and of which the innocent purchaser or mortgagee could not be informed at the time of taking title, as it would be almost an impossibility for a purchaser or mortgagee to ascertain the names of the various persons who have furnished labor and materials, and whether they had been paid in full or not, unless the claims were filed previous to the passing of the title.

"There appears to be a saving clause in the amendment by the words, 'unless derived without knowledge or reasonable cause to know the right of such lien.' But this would throw the burden of proof upon the purchaser or mortgagee; and in taking title he would, in all probability, be assuming a lawsuit and paying twice over.

"Under the present lien law, the persons who furnish labor or materials have the same right to file a lien that this amendment gives, and it also gives them the same right where collusion has taken place as this amendment seeks to give; but under this amendment it is sought to reverse the old rule of English Common Law that the burden of proof should rest upon the plaintiff.

"With such a law on our statute books, the sale of real estate or the loaning of money for the improvement of the same, would be almost paralyzed. The amendment cannot be too strongly condemned. The proper parties in our Legislature should be notified of its mischievous character.

"(Signed) A. J. Robinson, Marx Ottinger, Richard Deeves."

The report was, on motion, adopted.

The Sub-Committee on City Improvements reported in favor of Assembly bill No. 569, providing for an armory for the Sixty-ninth Regiment at a cost for land and building of $500,000. The same committee reported adversely on Assembly bill No. 467, providing for the erection of municipal buildings in City Hall Park, on the ground that the bill contained no limit as to the amount to be expended for the improvement. On the suggestion of a member the bill was approved, provided a reasonable limit as to the expenditure be stated.

On motion of Frank R. Houghton, it was resolved that the Sub-Committee on Drafting and Amending Laws prepare an amendment to the City Consolidation act, to be submitted to this committee, providing for the annual confirmation of the city tax levy by the Board of Aldermen on a certain day, public notice thereof to be given.

The committee then adjourned.

The Board of Directors, ex-President Cruikshank, Wm. C. Schermerhorn, S. Van Rensselaer Cruger and other members of the Exchange were appointed to be present at the funeral services of the late John Jacob Astor, who was one of the earliest members and staunchest supporters of the Exchange.

The decease of Geo. Ashforth, the late Mr. Astor's up-town broker, the day after attending the deceased millionaire's burial, is attributed to his having been much affected by the funeral services, which aggravated the disease from which he was suffering. A deputation from the Exchange will be present at his funeral to-day, comprising Chas. A. Schermerhorn, Geo. R. Read, A. H. Carpenter, J. Romaine Brown and others.

Legislation at Albany.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—One of the most sweeping attempts to reduce taxation that has been made in the Legislature for years was virtually defeated in the Assembly last week. It was Mr. Blumenthal's bill to amend the Revised Statutes (sec. 4, title 4, chap. 13), by adding private institutions of a benevolent order to those public institutions already exempted by the law. The amendment proposed reads as follows:

"The real and personal property and that held under lease from others, where the lessor is required to pay the annual taxes, of every incorporated library, missionary society, home, hospital or other institution for the free relief of the sick, infirm, indigent or distressed, and every incorporated infirmary and dispensary which provides for the free treatment of any bodily ailment; provided, however, that such exemption shall continue only so long as such property or the income thereof shall be used exclusively for the purposes of said corporations."

The opposition to the amendment came from such members as Fish, Webster and Connelly who represent the most opulent order of taxpayers in the city, and was very vigorous. Col. Webster held that it would add many millions to the present very heavy burdens of the city, and Mr. Connelly, who has earned a good character for economy in public expenditures, claimed that it would receive the consideration of every business man and real estate holder in his district, if not in all the others. In the course of Mr. Blumenthal's defense, it became evident that the institution he was mainly anxious to benefit was the Ottendorfer Hospital, which Oswald Ottendorfer erected for benevolent purposes as a memorial to his deceased wife. But its scope was such that it would include many other institutions of a private character, which are institutions for money-making as well as for charity. The bill was recommitted to the Committee on Charitable Associations, whence it is not expected to emerge again.

Senator Erwin to-day reported from the General Laws Committee the bill which comes up from some country member every year to reduce the rate of interest from 6 to5 per cent. This bill is usually defended by country members who have farms heavily mortgaged, and annually it fails to get through, but this year it is intimated that a general complaint against the high prevailing rate of interest is to be heard also among many in the cities engaged ln extensive building enterprises. What hope it has now of success is not immediately visible, but that it will be a subject of some moment in legislation is shown by the fact that Messrs. Cantor and Jacobs of the General Laws Committee were recorded as dissenting from its provisions.

Mr. Kimball in the Assembly introduced a bill to amend the law imposing a tax for the privilege of organization on corporations. The important part of the amendment lies in the following words of exemption from it: "Nor for the privilege of organization of corporations or associations for manufacturing purposes that are to be located or operated in this State." This tax is sometimes pretty large on great corporations just beginning existence.

The Building and Loan Association people have been here for two hearings in favor of their bill to require the deposit of $100,000 with the bank superintendent on the part of all foreign associations of the same character, which are doing or may do business in this State. The State associations now claim to have a strong foothold in nearly all the flourishing cities of the State, but as the idea is comparatively new here, they fear that they may be handicapped by the older associations from outside.

Col. Webster's bill to erect a million dollar bridge in place of McComb's Dam bridge, which he claims will benefit all the property along upper 7th avenue to Jerome Park, is back in committee again, to await some amendments by Mayor Grant—chiefly intended to limit the sum which shall be expended for damages.

One Hundred and Twelve Per Cent.

In the article on Taxes and Assessments last week, through a typographical omission of the figure "2," the percentage of increased assessed valuations in the 23d Ward appeared as "11" instead of "112" per cent. This increase, it will be remembered, is from 1880 to 1890, and it places the 23d Ward next to the 12th Ward, which showed an increase of 178 per cent. This tells the story of the largely advanced values in the 23d Ward during the past ten years.

Improvements—Fine Buildings and New Pavements.

Oscar Hammerstein, who built the Harlem Opera House, on West 125th street, has filed plans this month for buildings which are to cost $480,000. Two will be built on 125th street and one on 124th street. They include a theatre, which will cost $150,000, and two store and office buildings, to cost $250,000 and $80,000 respectively. Mr. Hammerstein is a newspaper man, and certainly has great pluck to engage in building operations of such magnitude.

It seems we are to have another family hotel on Central Park West. It will be erected on the northwest corner of 74th street, by John P. Ryan, at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars. The success of the Beresford will lead to the erection of similar structures.

Commissioner Gilroy has advertised for bids for paving something like thirty streets west and north of Central Park. Eight streets will be paved with asphalt laid on a foundation of concrete, and twenty odd streets with granite blocks. A pleasing feature of the proposed work is the appearance of an effort to pave street after street adjoining each other, so as give some continuity to the work.

The Hopper Litigation.

The remarkable claims made by the lawyer who has bought out nearly all the heirs to the Hopper property on the east side of Broadway from 47th to 53d streets, seem to be creating quite as much furore among lawyers as among owners of property along that line. The statement that the action to be taken in court is speculative and without the consent of the heirs is inaccurate. One of the few surviving heirs not bought out by Lawyer Blackmore was seen the other day, and as he bears the name of a family whose deeds are some of the oldest in New York, his quiet statement will be read with interest. He said: "Our Broadway property was encroached upon from time to time without any request being made by he trespassers for quit claims from any of our family. We are now asserting our rights, and a prominent New York lawyer has already settled with us on account of a lot on Broadway, while others are negotiating with us for a settlement. We also have claims against the city for lands under water, and have refused a compromise of $300.000. There are other New York properties in which we are interested, and while it is quite true hat a well-known lawyer is acting with us, we are under the impression that we shall be able to prove our claims, which will affect many millions of dollars' worth of real estate."

The old Hopper homestead is still in existence at 11th avenue and 53d street, having been built in the last century. It was resided in by the descendants of John Hopper till within a few years ago. The Hoppers, Strikers, Coles, Motts, and others are all connected by ties of birth and marriage, and their titles are some of the oldest in New York.

The New York Life Insurance Company's Annual Report.

The report of the New York Life Insurance Company, which will be found in another part of the paper, abounds in enormous totals and handsome increases. The assets now amount to the large figure of $105,053,600.96; its total income is $29,163,266.24; its divisible surplus by the company's new standard, $7,517,823.28, which, together with the Tontine Dividend Fund, $7,705,053.11, brings up its surplus by the State standard (4 per cent) to $15,600,000. The company paid to its policy-holders during the past year $12,121,121.66, and wrote $151,119,088 new insurance. At present it has 150,381 policies in force, and a total insurance of $495,601,970. Its progress in 1889 may be judged from the increases in the various items of its report. The increase in interest was $303,653.06, in benefits to policy holders $1,148,051.61, in surplus for dividends $1,716,849.01, in premiums $3,458,330.35, in total income $3,761,983.41, in assets $11,573,414.41, in insurance written $26,099,357, and in insurance in force $75,715,465.

Real Estate Department.

The week has been fairly busy in the brokers' offices, though as many important sales were not consummated as in the two or three weeks preceding. The sales on 'Change have not been very numerous, and the prices obtained were fair in some cases, and in others somewhat unsatisfactory. Still the parcels offered were not a fair test of the general market, and any deductions to be drawn therefrom can only be of a general character.

Considerable talk has been indulged in relative to the action of the House of Representatives in the matter of the World's Fair. Some are of opinion that it will not hurt New York real estate, while others think it will. The preponderating belief is, however, that while the loss of the Fair to New York will undoubtedly hurt our storekeepers, merchants, hotel men and others who would be affected by a large influx of strangers, it will not harm real estate particularly anywhere south of 59th street, while it will positively benefit property north of the Central Park. It is pointed out with good reason, that without a World's Fair, the site chosen will largely be improved with fine buildings before 1894, especially as the Bloomingdale Asylum governors have resolved to dispose of their property for improvement, and to restrict the ground so disposed of. If the Fair had been held on this site it would have kept back these improvements till 1898 or 1900, and the city would have lost the large taxes which would have accrued therefrom during the intervening years. Besides that, a Fair means noise and bustle, with peanut and candy stands and booths of every description nearby. This would be a positive detriment to all property within a radius of a quarter of a mile of the Fair, for people would not want to reside near such annoyances, and builders, seeing this, would hesitate to build in the neighborhood. Under any circumstances, builders who would have improved near the Fair would have confined themselves to tenements and stores, and thus a fine section of the city would have been built up with a class of buildings that would be a standing detriment to the neighborhoods of Morningside and Riverside Drives after the Fair was over in 1893. As for the city south of 59th street, boarding-house keepers would have done a "roaring" trade, and this would have helped to keep up rents in several localities; but this would only have been temporary, and the reaction would have had to come. The same holds good for the hotel men. That the Fair would have brought scores of millions of dollars into New York from outside sources no one can doubt, but that real estate, as a whole, would have benefited by it is not an accepted theory by any shrewd real estate man, as far as can be learned. On the contrary, many property-owners have uttered a sigh of relief that the Fair has not been located here.

The decease of John Jacob Astor has been a topic of discussion on 'Change. Of course, none of his property will come on the market, as is usual when owners of realty pass away. An old broker stated the other day that he wished it would have come under the hammer, for the public would then have witnessed such a scramble to buy as was never seen before. The property would literally have been "gobbled" up, any number of millions of dollars worth of it.

On Monday there were two foreclosure sales and one partition, none of which call for comment.

Tuesday was a busy day on 'Change. A number of properties, improved and unimproved, both in and out of town, were offered under the hammer, and for the most part brought fair prices. A three-story house on Columbia Heights, No. 175, brought $15,000, Charles H. Collins becoming the purchaser. In a partition sale of 9th avenue lots, Nos. 707 and 709 near 48th street, a plot 42.9½x irregular, brought $34,350, L. K. Ungrich, the builder, being the buyer. He also purchased Nos. 405 and 407 West 48th street, adjoining, two irregular lots, at $15,400 each, while Robert Dick paid $17,000 each for two lots adjoining. Four lots on the southwest corner of the Grand Boulevard and 147th street, 24.11x100 each, brought $23,600, and were knocked down to N. D. Valentine. A plot, 33.6½x80, on the southwest corner of 3d avenue and 145th street, with old buildings thereon, went to Bernard Phillips for $40,000. The most important single sale of the day, however, that of No. 499 5th avenue, a five-story brick store and apartment house building, adjoining the Columbia Bank. It is on a small lot, 16.9x100, equal to two-thirds of a full lot. The bidding started at $80,000 and went up quickly to $93,500, at which figure it was sold to Jos. Fox, who is said to have purchased it in the interest of the bank adjoining. The store is now occupied by Alex. W. Hume, the tailor, and there are bachelors' apartments above. The price paid was considered low, and during the bidding Auctioneer Harnett said: "The property is cheap at $120,000."

There were two sales of suburban lots on Tuesday, one of Yonkers property, and one of lots in the 8th and 22d Wards, Brooklyn. The general opinion of those present at both sales was that the Yonkers property brought good figures, while the Brooklyn parcels did not all sell as well as was expected. Yonkers is now so near to New York City in time of journey, that people seem to bid eagerly for lots in that city whenever offered at auction. The property sold belonged to the estate of the late Ethan Flagg. A lot on the corner of Oliver street, 25x100 in size, brought $1,050, the lot adjoining bringing $850. M. Hershfeld was the purchaser in both instances. The same party bought two lots on Oliver street, next to the corner, for $825 each. Lots on Ash street brought $500 to $550 each. Short lots on Yonkers avenue and Pond street, near and on Copcutt's Pond, $245 to $265 each, and on Walnut street, near Olive avenue, $600 each. The veteran New York broker, Benjamin P. Fairchild, bought ten lots on Walnut terrace, not yet opened, at $320 each. These properties are all on Nodine Hill. A plot, 26.1x118.5, on the corner of Palisade and Ashburton avenues, went to D. W. Maclay for $2,900. N. D. Valentine bought the lot adjoining on the latter avenue at $1,775, and Jas. A. Fitch secured three lots next door at from $1,450 to $1,550 each. The corner of Park and Ashburton avenues went to C. D. Dunellen for $1,550. Capt. Fairchild also bought lots on St. Joseph's avenue for $645 each, and other buyers paid from $650 to $750 each for lots adjoining. The other Yonkers properties sold equally well. Several of the buyers were New York business men.

On the same day the estate of Henry L. Clarke was sold, comprising 8th and 22d Ward lots in Brooklyn. Lots on 51st street brought from $425 to $875 each. A corner lot on 5th avenue and 51st street was bought by Ed. Rafter, the New York grocer, who has made most of his money in New York corner lots. Mr. Rafter also bought a number of adjoining inside lots. The corner of 6th avenue and 51st street went to Geo. Rodman at $780, the inside avenue lots selling for $460 each and the street lots at from $145 to $300 each. A number of the other lots were withdrawn, the only good prices obtained having been for a few corners and adjoining lots.

On Wednesday a five-story flat on the southeast corner of 7th avenue and 128th street, on a lot 31x75, was sold to Jas. McClenahan for $45,750. A similar building, adjoining, lot 19x75, went to Dr. Myers for $20,200. Edwin H. Corey secured the four-story 21-foot house No. 129 West 76th street at $25,300; I. Alexander bought No. 7 Norfolk street, with six-story front and rear buildings, on a lot 26.6x100, for $36,600. A three-story building at No. 363 Canal street, near Wooster street, lot 19x irregular, was sold to H. E. Pachtman for $24,250.

On Thursday the sales were few. S. Dessau secured No. 147 East 72d street, a four-story house, for $21,000; the Hamilton Fish leasehold property on the southeast corner of 3d avenue and 15th street went to J. C. Huser & Co. for $23,050; a two-story brick stable and plot, 49.9x97, at Nos. 226 and 228 East 6th street, was sold to Phillip Wagner for $38,500, and No. 341, on the opposite side of 6th street, about one block further east, was knocked down to Chas. Guntzer for $34,000. The latter contains a five-story tenement, on a lot 25x113.5. The three-story dwelling at No. 169 West 79th street was bought in by the plaintiff, under foreclosure proceedings, for $16,365.

The largest single sale of the week on 'Change was made yesterday. It comprises the five-story building, known as the "Cary building," at Nos. 105 and 107 Chambers street, running through to Nos. 89 and 91 Reade street. It is on a plot 50x150.1, and was offered in partition. F. De R. Wissmann, the broker, became the purchaser, on behalf of his brother-in-law, at $240,000.

On Tuesday, March 4th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell Nos. 365 and 367 Broome street, two three-story and basement brick buildings, and No. 369 Broome street, a four-story brick building with a store in the basement, being the southeast corner of Mott street; the adjoining property on Mott street, No. 166, a four-story brick factory with store, the whole constituting a plot 108.8x70.8xx103.6x72.9; and No. 83 Spring street, a five-story and basement (iron front) and brick modern building with store, lot 25x117x25x118.4.

On Tuesday, March 4th, Smyth & Ryan will sell the lot, with frame buildings thereon, on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and 82d street, 16.1⅛x102.2 and eleven valuable lots 25x100.8⅛ each, on 95th street and 96th street, near Riverside Park.

On Tuesday, March 4th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the three-story and basement, high stoop, freestone dwelling (Astor leasehold) No. 312 West 16th street, 18.9x50x100.5; the three three-story and basement high stoop, brick dwellings, 16.4x40x100.11 each, Nos. 102, 104, 106 East 112th street, and the four-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, 20x51, No. 78 East 77th street.

On Wednesday, March 5th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, by order of the executor of the estate of the late Ann Keith, the three-story and basement brown stone dwelling, 20x42x80, No. 2422 Second avenue; and the three-story and basement brick dwelling, 18.6x35x100.11, No. 233 East 120th street.

On Wednesday, March 5th, James Bleecker & Son will sell the handsome eight-story apartment house, known as the Orienta, located at Nos. 153-155 East 72d street.

On Thursday, March 6th, Richard V. Harnett will conduct a very important sale, by order of the Supreme Court in partition. The property belongs to the estate of the late Robert Graves, and comprises the following parcels: The valuable seven-story and basement business building, of fireproof construction, at No. 483 and 485 5th avenue, near the corner of 42d street; the five-story brown stone front flat at No. 140 West 136th street, near Broadway; the six five-story apartment houses at Nos. 417 to 427 West 18th street, near 9th avenue, and the five-story brown stone front flat at No. 158 West 15th street. The balance of the property is to be sold in Brooklyn on the day previous, March 5th, as announced elsewhere.

On Thursday, March 6th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the four-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, 20x55x98.9, No. 149 West 23d street.

On Tuesday, March 11th, Richard V. Harnett & Co will sell, by order of the executor, to close the estate of Acton Civill, a valuable parcel on 5th avenue and some lots on 84th street. The 5th avenue house is No. 310, a four-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, 24.8¼x65x100. The unimproved parcel consists of two extra deep lots, 25x124.6, on the south side of 84th street, 325 west of Central Park West.

On Wednesday, March 12th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell without reserve, nine lots on the south side of 77th street, 30 feet east of 9th avenue, eight of them 25x102.2 and one 20x102.2; and two lots, 25x102.2 each, on the north side of 76th street, 200 feet east of 9th avenue. The 77th street lots front on Manhattan square, and all of them are ready for immediate improvement. Eighty per cent. of the purchase money can remain on bond and mortgage for from three to five years, at 5 per cent.

Out Among the Builders.

The Greenwich Savings Bank will in Au ust next remove the buildings now standing on the plot, 50x125 feet, on the southeast corner of 6th avenue and 16th street, preparatory to erecting a four-story bank building, which it is estimated will cost $200,000. The name of the probable architect of the new structure has not been disclosed. The corner and the adjoining building are occupied by Chas. P. Rogers & Co., bedding manufacturers, who have secured a long lease of the Astor buildings Nos. 258 to 266 6th avenue, on the southeast corner of 17th street, and they will be altered for their use after May 1st, on which date the existing leases expire. The lease of the site for the new bank runs to May 1, 1891, but the lessees have agreed to give possession on August 1st next.

De Lemos & Cordes have about completed plans for the large six-story brick, stone and terra cotta building to be erected on the square recently vacated by the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co., bounded by Lexington and Depew avenues, 43d and 44th streets. The building will be 200x264, and will be entirely fire-proof in construction, with heavy girders 28 feet in the clear, with 14 feet span for brick arches. The Lexington avenue and 44th street sides will be arranged for stores, and the balance of the building is to be reserved for storage and factory purposes. The design calls for a neat and substantial exterior, having large entrances carried to the second story. There will be a number of large-sized elevators for both freight and passengers, and the cost, which has been estimated at $400,000, speaks for the general style and appointment of the building. Robert and Ogden Goelet are the owners; L. R. Mestaniz, lessee. This improvement was first anticipated in these columns several months ago.

S. C. Barnum will erect a six-story brick building, 75x135 feet, on the site now occupied by the clothing establishment of S. C. Barnum & Co., on Chatham square. The upper floors will be devoted to light manufacturing purposes.

Walter Reid will erect eight three-story brown stone dwellings on the southeast corner of 93d street and Madison avenue, at a cost of $120,000. Five of the houses will front on the avenue and three on the street.

Dr. J. V. S. Woolley will build five three-story dwellings on a plot, 100x70 feet on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 93d street. The cost will probably be $75,000.

Thom & Wilson have the plans under way for eight four-story, high stoop, brown stone front private houses, to be built by W. H. Hall, Jr., on the north side of 78th street, 98 feet east of 10th avenue. They will be 18 to 20 feet wide and 55 feet deep, exclusive of extensions, and will cost about $150,000. The same architects have the plans for the improvement to be made by Charles McDonald on the southeast corner of 9th avenue and 82d street. It will consist of three five-story brown stone front flats, the corner to have four stores and be 30x94 in size, the others to front on the street and be 35x82 each. There will also be seven four-story, high stoop, brown stone front private houses on the street. They will be 18, 19 and 20 feet in sizes x 55 and butler's pantry and extensions, and the entire improvement will cost $250,000.

Sixteen lots, comprising the front on the west side of 10th avenue, between 78th and 79th streets, and eight lots on the street adjoining, will be improved at once, the avenue lots with flats and stores and the street lots with private houses. The name of the builder has not yet transpired.

C. A. Blanchard & Co., proprietors of the Hotel Marlborough at Broadway and 36th street, have secured an eighteen years' lease of the buildings on plot 63x78 and 82 feet, adjoining the hotel on the southwest corner of 37th street, and will take possession on May 1st. The exterior of the corner structure will not be disturbed, but the interior will be altered for hotel purposes, and the intermediate brown stone building, 23.9x82 feet, will be torn down and rebuilt as an extension, the front of which will conform with the appearance of the main hotel building. The new addition will contain about seventy rooms. The cost will be about $30,000.

Lamb & Rich are preparing plans for the alteration of the four-story buildings Nos. 53 to 59 West 42d street, which will be converted into a hotel to contain about 100 rooms by the New York Real Estate and Building Improvement Co, the owners of the property. The cost of the alterations will be about $50,000. A passenger elevator, steam-heating apparatus and other necessary hotel conveniences and improvements will be put in.

O. Wirz has about completed plans for a six-story brick, stone and terra cotta warehouse, 40x96, to be erected at Nos. 101 and 103 Greene street. The building will be supplied with freight and passenger elevators and is to be complete in all appointments. G. R. Read is the owner, and the cost will be $80,000.

Jordan & Giller have plans under way for a five-story and basement brick and stone flat, 25x92, to be built at No. 437 East 16th street. Bruce Brown is the owner and the cost will be about $19,000.

Schneider & Herter have plans under way for two brick, stone and terra cotta flats, 26x86.6, to be erected at Nos. 96 and 98 East 8th street. Chas. Ruff is the owner and each building will cost $22,000.

Chas. Rentz is preparing plans for a five-story and cellar brick warehouse, to cost $18,000. The building will be built at No. 801 Greenwich street and will be 24x81.4 and 80.1. A. L. and J. J. Reynolds are the owners. The same architects have drawn plans for a brick, stone and terra cotta flat, 25x88.6, to be built by Loonie & Parker at No. 152 Norfolk street, at a cost of $20,000. Also for raising one story and altering internally the dwelling, No. 158 West 159th street, for J. J. Fleck, at a cost of $2,000.

Moir & Gibson will build two five-story brick and stone flats, on a plot 40x100, at Nos. 231 and 233 West 43d street.

Drough & Carrew will build a five-story flat with improvements, 25x110, lot 25x123.10, on 20th street, between 8th and 9th avenues.

E. Smith will erect a five-story improved tenement with stores on the northeast corner of 91st street and 10th avenue.

John C. Burne has plans on the board for two brown stone French flat dwelling houses, 25x87 each, five stories high, to be erected by Wm. Eisenburg, on the south side of 116th street, 400 feet east of 87th street, at a total cost of $60,000; also for three five-story buff brick and terra cotta tenements, each 28x90, which William Dempsey will build on the north side of 76th street, 116 feet east of 2d avenue, at a cost of $22,000; also for two apartment houses, 25x90 each, to be erected by William J. Mathews on the south side of 38th street, 202 feet west of 1st avenue. Total cost, $60,000.

W. C. Frohne is preparing plans for extensive alterations to be made in the building at No. 126 East 125th street. A new store front will be put in. The walls are to be extended and the interior is to be redecorated in a first-class manner; $15,000 will be spent upon the building by the owner. The same architect is at work on plans for alterations to be made in the corner building, No. 101 Broad street. The contemplated changes include a new front, internal alterations and interior decoration in first-class cabinet work; $20,000 is to be expended in making these changes by Ewald Hagen, the owner.

Schneider & Herter have plans under way for a five-story brick, stone and terra cotta flat and stores. The building will be 25.7x88.6, and is to be complete in all its appointments with apartments for four families on each floor. It will be erected at 482 Hudson street, and J. Vassar is the owner.

We learn that the Union Square Bank will improve, by the erection of a handsome building, the two lots, 50.5x100, on the southeast corner of 59th street and 5th avenue.

John Kelly will improve, at once, the three lots he purchased this week on the north side of 105th street, 150 feet east of 9th avenue.

T. H. Dunn will improve four lots, in all 99.11x100, on the northwest corner of Convent avenue and 143d street.

Geo. F. Pelham has the plans under way for a five-story and basement brick and stone front tenement, 26x25.6x89, to be built at No. 74 Oliver street for Weil & Mayer, to cost $19,000; for two similar buildings, 24.6x89, to be built at Nos. 77 and 79 Oliver street, to cost $38,000; for another at No. 133 Madison street, 25x89, to cost $19,000, and for three five-story double tenements and stores, with brick, stone and terra cotta front tenements, 24.6x93 each, at Nos. 157 to 161 East 2d street, to cost $56,000.

Wm. A. Wilson will build two five-story tenements with stores, on the northeast corner of 2nd avenue and 98th street. Mr. Wilson recently built on the corner of Avenue A and 73d street.

Brooklyn.

P. J. Lauritzen has completed plans for a three-story and basement brick, stone and terra cotta residence, to be built by N. Toerge, on the north side of St. Marks avenue, near Brooklyn avenue. The dwelling will be in the Italian villa style, 36x65, and is to cost about $16,000.

W. J. Morrell has plans for an eight-story office building, 25x125, to be erected at No. 425 Fulton street, by Samuel B. Duryea. The building will be constructed of Lake Superior red stone, and the architectural style will be Italian Renaissance. The cost has not been estimated.

P. Sheridan will erect six private houses on President street, between 8th and 9th avenues, at a cost of $160,000. Two of the houses to be built on the north side of the street will be four stories high and 25x70 in size, and four houses to be built on the south side will be 20x70 in size and three-and-a-half-stories high.

The new club-house for the Atlantic Yacht Club, to be erected at the foot of 55th street, will cost $13,000; John G. Prague has drawn the plans.

The competitive designs for the Real Estate Exchange building on Montague street were opened this week. No selection will probably be made until the middle of the month. The competitors include Messrs. Parfitt Bros., P. J. Lauritzen, Montrose W. Morris, Geo. Edbrook and Ernst Laub.

I. D. Reynolds has drawn plans for six two-and-a-half-story with basement brick and brown stone dwellings, 18.2x43. These houses will be built by D. S. Beasley on the south side of Van Buren street, 100 west of Lewis avenue. Total cost will be about $30,000. The same architect has completed plans for a three-story brick flat and store, 20x50, with all improvements, to be erected on Hancock street at the southwest corner of Patchen avenue, at a cost of $6,500. M. J. McLaughlin, owner. Also for five two-story and basement brick dwellings, to be built by the same owner on Hancock street, west side, 20 south of Patchen avenue. These houses will be 20x45, and the total cost will be about $20,000.

A. Stewart Walsh will add two stories to present building on the north side of Gates avenue, 146 west of Reid avenue, from plans prepared by Amzi Hill & Son.

Out of Town.

ASTORIA, L. I.—W. C. Frohne has completed plans for a three-story brick, stone and terra cotta flat and stores. The building will be 30x50, and will be erected on the southwest corner of Washington place and Hoyt avenue. It will be furnished with all modern improvements and is to cost $16,000. John Riebling is the owner.

BELLPORT, L. I.—F. Wennemer will furnish plans for a two-story frame cottage, 25x41 feet, to be erected here for George Becker at a cost of $3,000.

FOREST HILL, N. J.—Sibell & Miller have plans for a two-story frame dwelling, 28x46, to cost $6,000.

FORDHAM, N. Y.—D. W. King has plans under way for five three-story frame cottages, 22x45, to be built on Valentine avenue, near Tiebart avenue. The five houses will cost $20,000, and H. F. Webster is the owner.

MADISON, N. J—Edward P. Hamilton & Co. have sold to Hamilton McK. Twombly the homestead of the late Wm. Kennelly (the New York auctioneer); also the Ward property adjoining the Kennelly place at $8,000 and the Ward property at $15,000. Mr. Twombly has also bought the handsome Danforth place on Morristown Drive. Since Madison has been incorporated as a borough there has been considerable inquiry for real estate. It is the intention of the town authorities to introduce a city system supply of water, macadamize most of the roads and light them with electric lights.

NYACK, N. Y.—Monaghan & Co. have sold twenty-eight acres near this place, with a frame dwelling thereon, to C. S. Carter for $23,000.

NUTLEY, N. J.—A. D. Pickering has completed plans for a two-story frame dwelling, 28x36, to be erected on the south side of Nutley avenue, near Whitford avenue, by Howard Edgar. Cost, about $3,000.

NEWARK, N. J.—A. D. Pickering has drawn plans for a two-story frame boat-house, shingle finish, with deck roof, for the Passaic Boat Club. The building will be 50x80, and is to be built at Riverside station. Cost, about $5,000.—C. Powell Karr has completed plans for a two-story frame cottage, 21.6x50, to be erected by J. Davies on the east side of Garside street, near 5th avenue, at a cost of $2,700.

Special Notices.

I. & S. Wormser, of the Mills building, No. 15 Broad street, advertise for lease in another column a very attractive plot of thirteen lots, consisting of the entire front on the Grand Boulevard, west side, between 61st and 62d streets.

James Gaunt offers in another column to trade No. 2 West 132d street, 17½x50x99.11, for desirable property located either in the city or in the country.

Dunn & Griffin is a firm of real estate brokers, which, like many others has a business so widely scattered that they have two different offices. One of these offices is at No. 1526 9th avenue near 89th street, and the other is at No. 62 Liberty street. These gentlemen do a general real estate business, are fire insurance agents, collect rents and manages estates.

E. S. Mills, Jr., of No. 17 East 42d street, within one block of the Grand Central depot, makes the management of country estates his specialty. On his books he has a large assortment of improved and unimproved realty—much of it desirably located in the 23d and 24th Wards, and in country, suburban and seaside districts, while among his clients are many well known business men. He can furnish first-class references. The telephone No. 1372 39th.

James Dougherty, of No. 16 East 92d street, carpenter and builder, has been contracting for the carpentering work in a large number of houses in different parts of the city. Among the buildings which he has helped to erect are the five flats at 156th street and 3d avenue; two large warehouses in East 72d street near Avenue A, and the handsome private stable No 72 East 23d street for H. P. Perkins. Mr. Dougherty pays particular attention to overhauling private houses and his work can be relied upon.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For Prices see pages VII., XI., XII. and XIII.]

BRICKS.—The market for Common Hards has worked a little ragged during the week and not altogether so favorable as some of the trade had calculated upon. While, however, there was no further actual gain in the line of value, full former figures found support and we find pretty much the old range named in quotations as given. Last Saturday, as a full holiday, made quite a break in consumption, and the check to demand seemed to follow for two or three days at the commencement of this week, but buyers then became more plenty and infused sufficient vigor to shape the market around into healthier condition, and at the present writing the current feeling seems to be comparatively cheerful, though with supply enough for the outlet. Indeed, for that matter, considering the season of the year, the arrivals have been quite free from the Hudson and New Jersey, including shipments from Hackensack and the sprinkling from other points. One feature in connection with the receipts was the universally good run of quality, generally showing above an average on stock from all sections, making negotiations somewhat easier and more rapid and helping sustain the line of value. Good to fine parcels have mostly ranged at $7@7.50, with choice 12½@25c. per M higher, and covering the production of Long Island and Haverstraw Bay, but Jerseys reacted down to $6@6.50, and Keyports are said to have sold at $5.50@5.75 per M. No fresh arrivals of "Up Rivers" came in, but some New Windsors, held here for quite a while, were placed at $7.25 per M. Of Pales the supply is only moderate, the demand is good and prices rule firmly at $3.50@4 per M. Although it may appear rather early to say much about the next make, it has certainly become a matter for some talk, and the indications are that manufacturers in many cases are already taking the preliminary steps to secure the earliest possible commencement.

HARDWARE.—The general run of home trade is picking up in volume, but has unquestionably been a disappointment this season, so far as the average run of staple goods is concerned. We find, however, quite a number of operators ready to credit builders hardware with keeping even more than its proportion in the general volume of the movement, as the open winter has increased the consumption of the stock mentioned, while other varieties suffered. It is claimed that production has been graded to prevent any surplus accumulation of supplies, and the advances made in values at the commencement of the year appears to be well sustained. A pretty large export trade has been done in builders' hardware within a month or two, and the prospect continues good for more of it.

LUMBER.—As usual at this season of the year the local lumber market is not running over with information and many operators seem surprised with the usual query "anything new." Occasionally some odd scraps worthy of attention can be picked up and most of them go to show an improving tendency. As dealers walk through their yards they discover here and there that winter distribution has made a depletion of stock that it would do no harm to restore, and if it be of a class of goods that can now be reached the effect is very apt to come immediately upon the first hand supply, otherwise it leads to some inquiry as to the probabilities for future delivery, and the foundation is evidently slowly but surely being built for open weather trade. Another sign of coming spring is the attendance of the drummers, and while some of them only indulge in a passing call as they flit along toward other localities, many of them work this market pretty thoroughly and now and th n make a fair success in the way of securing orders, though there is a great deal of "private terms" appendix to most of the contracts, with both buyers and sellers assuming to feel satisfied. Of Western and Southern lumber or logs the crop will be all right apparently, but the Northern and Eastern production is quite doubtful.

Eastern Spruce, according to majority of reports, is looked upon as almost impregnable until midsummer at least. The scarcity of logs to commence work with, and to which we have before called attention, it is claimed has already found a b lance in the orders booked at the leading mills, and manufacturers claim that even with a full run from this winter's cut they cannot saw enough and obtain transportation to make a surplus for several months to come, granting the demand to carry no more force and volume than the average. The skeptic is not wanting, and brings in the story of the "usual cry from down East," with the addition of the extreme cost as a possible factor to check demand, but it really looks as if by persistently adhering to the "old story" manufacturers are at last likely to verify it, while the payment of a full rate has become much less objectionable since the yard dealers have had the backing of a well-preserved selling basis to insure them against loss. Indeed, as we noticed some time ago, this retail dealers' association has benefited the market all along the line, and the sarcasm with which receivers were at first inclined to meet it has given place to a feeling of much respect. It induces prompt bids, because buyers know they have no competitor to cut under them, and a great deal of narrow and unsatisfactory negotiation over cargoes is saved.

Piling retains a very good position and few operators appear to entertain any fears regarding the early future. Some indeed have quite an amount of stock already safely booked under orders entertained quite a while ago, and claim that in addition to evidences of good inquiry ahead there is also a chance of considerable shortage in supply until well into the open season at least, and that full bids will be necessary to reach stock, especially big sticks.

Hemlock undergoes little or no change of a very positive character. It is very evident that some sellers do not get quite so many orders as others nor as full rates, and that results in more or less contradictory statements which at times, it must be confessed, become a trifle confusing, but buyers who have of late insisted upon having quality and cut to suit them and made no objection to paying former figures thereon are not of a character to lose anything for want of shrewdness or general knowledge of the market.

White Pine has many elements to disturb the tone of the market, and it is pretty difficult to judge accurately the exact chances of the situation. Between the consumption locally and the export movement accomplished dealers have in many cases really distributed more stock this winter than they anticipated, and that gives them a fair disposition to look around a little and entertain some reasonable fair inclinations in regard to securing a fresh supply, especially as there is firmness on other descriptions of lumber that may help support white pine, to say nothing of reports to some extent circulated about possible disappointment in size of log crop. They, however, as well as the more indifferent portion of the trade have for some time past been confronted with an ample offering, and while would-be sellers claim to feel a measure independence, their actions are contradictory and convey the impression that there is lumber enough. Reflection, therefore, generally suggests waiting a while before placing liberal orders.

Yellow Pine simply sells right along without any fuss and feather, and while everything is cheerful and in good form it is really a monotonous market, so far as special information is concerned. The co-operation of all the large concerns so beneficial last year will undoubtedly be continued without interruption, and while quite a number of operators are not in the combine they seem to hug up to it pretty closely to secure all the benefits, and possibly appreciate that if they attempted to branch off they would suffer by the assumption of independence toward their more powerful competitors.

Carolina Pine so far as popularity is concerned undergoes no change unless it be that demand is increasing for kiln-dried stock. A great deal of dressed stock comes to hand, besides which the concerns in this vicinity are making a specialty of dressing for the trade, and those dealers who have mills of their own are continuously using up the rough stuff and have every expectation of working right along. Conditions therefore are naturally healthy, with previous quotations warranted as representing the average line of value, and some recent cuts on price are looked upon merely as an advertisement by new concerns wanting a foothold, and whose ability to deliver standard quality has yet to be tested.

Hardwoods in general have a good prospect and in particular quartered oak, ash and desirable poplar are expected to keep somewhat ahead of the procession with corresponding firmness on value and possibly an advance. Indeed, many yard dealers claim now that they could be working up the line of cost on the simple influence of the natural distributive trade were it not for the fact that they are constantly confronted by consumers who have either been served by local receivers or wholesale operators or have made purchases direct from the manufacturers, and some of them at a stated cost below the line of value at which the dealer had been able to invest. This, to be sure, is an old story, but it tends to keep prices unsettled and quotations nominal.

LATH.—A strong tone has prevailed, leading to further addition to value, and receivers carried advantage without much difficulty. Demand, to be sure, was a little slow and buyers inclined to economize in the quantity handled with each succeeding gain in value, but even then the offering proved limited as compared with the waiting outlet and some little competition in bidding arose. The highest actual sale reported was at $2.60, but $2.75 was afterward bid and $3 asked, especially for parts of cargoes to which consumers wished to confine themselves. Beside the scanty supply of lath at the Eastward there is now a serious difficulty in the absence of transportation facilities and a poor prospect of obtaining vessels for some time to come. It is also said that danger from Northern lath is materially lessened by the fact that pretty free sales have been made to other points and nearly used up the supply.

LIME.—Up to present writing there has been no arrivals from Eastward but a demand for some stock and cargoes could probably have been readily sold, the price remaining as before. There is an intimation that recent advices in hand convey the impression of a possible reforming of the Rockland combination notwithstanding what has previously been said in the matter.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman as follows:

There is becoming evident along the line a general desire to start into greater activity, and to get trade moving at a gait more in keeping with the season.

In almost every direction can be seen indications of new life. The past two weeks have rather been a case of still hunt, and to-day there can be found a thorough knowledge of the conditions affecting trade and a better understanding between buyer and seller will certainly do much toward facilitating operations.

The demand opens up with calls for a wide variety indicating a general movement embracing such grades and qualities as enter into building operations of almost every character. That we are on the eve of a general livening up of trade, is now becoming apparent, and it behooves dealers who would sustain their position to get their guns trained and in working order, for even though distribution may be very heavy there are enough operators in the market determined to get their share and more if possible, and one who would hold his own must enter prepared to meet the liveliest kind of activity and individual shrewdness will have a most favorable opportunity to display itself.

As a natural consequence of the increased volume of trade, prices are beginning to grow firmer. Prices are still too low to be satisfactory, but such as they are, they are fairly well maintained. This question of prices seems to be the hardest one for the white pine dealer to adjust just to his liking. It matters not in what direction he sends out his traveling men, or lists, as the case may be, they are met by low-priced competition, and he must either meet it or abandon the field. Yellow pine cuts him off in the south and southwest, and the white pine manufacturer of the north is rapadily monopolising a goodly portion of the balance of the territory than in years gone by, was tributary to Chicago. More lumber is being sold here now than formerly, but a large percentage of it is going into city consumption.

Continued bad weather and consequent poor roads throughout the country is beginning to have its effect in producing a scarcity of some lines of hardwoods in this market. There is little doubt but enough oak, both white and red, to supply all demands, is scattered around in different localities, but the receipts the past few weeks have been extremely limited, and sales have gone on just the same. Of the scarcity of white oak there is not so much complaint, but red oak is in scant supply in many yards, especially in 1¼, 1½ and 2-inch thicknesses. The mill men are anxious to sell, particularly the smaller ones, for it is the time of year when money is pretty scarce with them, and if they have any lumber they want to turn it into cash as soon as possible. But if their mill is not located right beside a railroad, there is small hopes for them, as no one team of horses can pull an ordinary load of lumber over the average country road in its present condition.

Last year at this time lumber was coming in quite freely, but although the supplies are wanted just as badly now as then, the railroad companies are not getting rich fast from the freight charges collected on hardwood lumber shipped into Chicago.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

With logging railroads, steam skidders, steam loggers and what not, the time will soon come when weather will not cut much figure with the log crop. As it is, it won't do to wager anything that the mills will not have plenty of logs during any given season.

It does not appear to be fully understood by lumbermen everywhere that the Canadian log export duty on pine and spruce is not now $3. The action by which the duty was elevated to that figure was some time ago rescinded, and the rate is now $2. The agitation on this question pertains to the apparent injustice of imposing any duty at all, when none is or can be imposed by the United States. Congress has been besought to regulate the matter, if possible.

In the West the spring trade begins to show first symptoms. Distribution all winter has been unusually large, especially in the cities, on account of the mildness of the weather. The transition from winter to spring trade will this year be less pronounced than in seasons when ice and snow lay an embargo on movement throughout January and a large part of February. There will simply be a gradual swelling in the volume of trade as spring approaches, and the roads get sufficiently dry and solid so that the lumber can be moved without trouble.

Reports from the leading poplar manufacturing and market points are favorable. The supply is arriving steadily in the Eastern cities, but the demand is such that prices are well maintained.

Logging is progressing well in Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, and there will be a large input in the favored regions. In the more southerly districts there has been neither snow nor ice, and logging by sleighs has been at best slow and costly, with a certainty that many jobs will be next to failures. The usual quantity will be put in over the railroads.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

Loggers who have recently returned from Minnesota and Wisconsin camps are unanimous in the opinion that the recent thaw and rain has improved the outlook for a good supply of logs; teams now hauling with ease all the logs that can be put on the sleighs.

Estimates of the quantity of pine lumber remaining in Florida vary from 6,500,000,000 to 120,000,000,000 but all such evidence is largely conjectural. Although there are extensive bodies of virgin forest still untouched it is very evident to lumbermen that at the present rate of destruction the supply cannot last more than fifteen or twenty years. It would be extremely difficult to make anything like a correct estimate of the production of lumber in Florida. There is such a large number of lumber mills in the State that to obtain the returns from them all would be a well-nigh hopeless undertaking. Figures are at hand however, showing that there was shipped from Pensacola during last year 1,574,844 cubic feet of hewn lumber, 175,441,000 superficial feet of sawn timber and 134,814,000 feet of lumber. Shipments were to England, Scotland, Germany, Spain, Cape Colony, Sumatra, Brazil, Cuba, Honduras, Algiers, Tunis and fourteen other countries. From Jacksonville during the year 35,000,000 feet of lumber and 20,000,000 shingles were shipped. The quantity of lumber shipped out of the State by rail annually is estimated by good judges to be 10,000,000 feet.

ENGLAND.

From the London Timber Trades Journal we make the following clippings:

A large transaction in pine deals is reported, Messrs. Bryant, Powis & Bryant (Limited), having purchased all that remained in the hands of the only Quebec shippers who held any quantity here. This puts a different aspect on the pine deal business, as heretofore buyers have looked forward to this and other stocks coming on the market by auction, a source which now to a great extent disappears. We also understand that, owing to the demand for fourth quality pine deals, most of the shippers have cleared a large portion of their stocks wintering in Canada.

We hear of several vessels having been chartered from the cheap New Brunswick ports at 55s., and Nova Scotia at 52s. 6d., to a range of west coast or Irish ports, but we cannot hear that anything has yet been done from Quebec under 62s. 6d., and we believe several merchants are ready to charter for London f. o. w. at 60s., all deals. Vessels are being fixed from the pitch pine ports, and we hear of the charter of a sailing vessel of about 600 to 700 tons register, from Pascagoula to U. K. at 117s. 6d. sawn timber. The rates, however, show no improvement taken all round, though handy-sized vessels to the most favored places may now and then get a little extra.

American Black Walnut.—Private sales of both logs and lumber have been made to a good extent at generally satisfactory prices; prime logs are wanted, but of lumber there is no scarcity.

For a very long time past we have been hearing repeated inquiries for 1¼-inch planks of medium to prime quality, and though we have very often brought this matter prominently forward, we hear of very few arrivals, and those in the most insufficient quantities, and it has surprised us to find how little interest shippers take in the special requirements of the trade here.

American Whitewood.—In this there is nothing much new. Trade is steady, but not quite so active as we have known it to be. We notice some further important arrivals have come to hand lately.

PLASTERER'S HAIR.—There is not much general animation at the moment as this season of the year is unpropitious for free consumption, and dealers evidently have little desire to accumulate supplies on the chances for the future. Of cattle hair the quantity available is comparatively small, indeed unusually so, owing, it is said, to large amounts used in making felt, which affords a somewhat better margin. Goat hair, however, is plenty, and rates easier than a short time ago, though the favor shown buyers are in part the result of the preponderance of a poor quality. It is claimed that Wilmington, Del., is now the only locality where arsenic is not used in separating the hair from the skins, and the chanees for obtaining a really first-class grade are thus correspondingly reduced. Possibly 25c. per bushel might be obtained from very particular customers insisting upon having the best selection to be found, but 20@23c. is nearer the general range at which business has of late been done.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—On the standard grades of stock the run of reports is quite generally of a cheerful character. Jobbers are commencing to get hold of a considerable portion of their regular run of custom not only locally but from the interior, and there seems to be an idea that the spring trade will be quite as full as usual. Manufacturers and importers in consequence express confidence over the situation, and with supplies, as a rule, well in hand are except in very few cases enabled to sustain a steady line of valuation. Linseed Oil in good general demand with some talk of a coming advance. We quote at 59@60c. for Western, and 61@63c for City. Spirits Turpentine without much animation and values nominally steady, but not much strength apparent. We quote at 43@44c. per gallon, according to quality, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—The demand varies to some extent but has rather a tendency to increase in a few instances, and with no great amount of stock offering the effect on values is strengthening. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl. Tar at $2.25@2.50, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

NAILS.—Buyers have not shown the hurry expected of them and with a great many sellers there is an expression of disappointment over the condition of the market. Consumption is probably as full as could be expected at this time and jobbers claim a lack of faith in the ability of manufacturers to sustain the present line of value and will not invest against the future. Now and then some outside lots turn up to interfere with regular offerings. We quote at $2.10@2.12½ per keg for car lots, and $2.15@2.17½ per keg for parcels from store.

Graves Estate Illustrated.

A FINE ESTATE COMPRISING A SEVEN-STORY BUSINESS BUILDING ON FIFTH AVENUE; A COSTLY AND PALATIAL RESIDENCE IN A FASHIONABLE QUARTER OF BROOKLYN; A LARGE FACTORY AND OTHER IMPROVED AND UNIMPROVED PROPERTIES.

A Description of the Estate That Will Interest Intending Bidders.

The New York Property.

One of the most important sales of real estate which has been announced for some time will take place next week. It comprises a number of parcels of realty situate in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, some of which are illustrated in the supplement presented herewith. The property belongs to the estate of the late Robert Graves, and is to be sold under the hammer, by order of the Supreme Court in partition. The sale takes place on two days, March 5th and 6th. On the latter day the second portion of the estate will be sold, comprising the New York part of the property, the sale taking place at the Real Estate Exchange, Liberty street, New York; on the former day the first portion of the estate will be sold, comprising the Brooklyn part of the property, the sale taking place at the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, No. 393 Fulton street, Brooklyn. The property will be auctioned off in both cities by Richard V. Harnett.

The property to be sold at once commands the attention of investors, dealers and others, on account of the fact that it is all well located and easily accessible to the centre of business activity in both cities. It also commends itself to their special attention from the fact that it is to be offered in partition. Real estate investors generally understand the difference between an ordinary auction sale of realty and one where the estate is offered by order of the executors, or in similar proceedings. They are fully aware that in the former case circumstances are often likely to occur wherein bidders are not always able to secure property at a figure which will warrant an early increased value, whereas in the latter case they know that the property will be sold without reserve. Under these circumstances many bidders appear in front of the auctioneer's stand and eagerly compete for the possession of property which they are all desirous of purchasing, and the result is that some one gets "a good thing," while the estate which disposes of the property is, on the whole, satisfied with the result.

Nos. 485 and 487 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Such, indeed, is the case with the Graves estate. The late Mr. Graves had traveled abroad for years. He was a man of great judgment and knowledge, besides having an artistic taste rarely surpassed among New Yorkers. This is seen in his Brooklyn palace, which is described further on in this article. He selected property in places where he felt a certainty of its increased value, or at least of a retained value, and he had the great fortune to hold every parcel of property free and clear of mortgage, a rare case nowadays with such a large estate. Unfortunately he did not live to see the full fruits of his work, nor to occupy the superb residence which he built in Brooklyn, and his untimely decease has thrown upon the market a number of properties free and clear, which, when sold, will aggregate, it is estimated, in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. To the scores of investors and others who will be interested in this important sale a full description of the principal parcels is given herewith. Let us take a glance at what these properties are like.

ONE OF THE HIGHEST BUILDINGS ON FIFTH AVENUE.

The most valuable of the New York parcels is the seven-story and basement building at Nos. 483 and 485 5th avenue, between 41st and 42d streets. It is an imposing structure, and strikes the attention of every passer-by on this great avenue. It stands between two well-known buildings, the one the quaintly-architectural residence of Mrs. Julia A. Chase, the other the Pottier & Stymus building. On the same block is the Columbia Bank building and other business structures. Indeed, this block is at present the most important and probably the most valuable of the business blocks on 5th avenue, and is destined to be much more valuable on account of its central location and its proximity to the Grand Central Depot, the various elevated roads, cross-town cars, and other street-car lines. The building has a frontage of 53.6 feet on the avenue, and an extreme depth of 100 feet. The first story is of iron construction, with large plate glass show windows. The front above is of brownstone. The sidewalk is of unusual width, being about 27 feet in distance from the entrance to the line of the curb. The entire building is leased by the successors of Mr. Graves, who pay an annual rental of $12,000, besides paying taxes, Croton, etc. This rental is equivalent to 5 per cent. net per annum on a valuation of $240,000. The property is leased till May 1, 1891, and the present occupants are desirous of renewing their lease when it expires.

The first floor is used as a salesroom. This story is in English quartered oak and is finely carved throughout. It comprises one immense room, the main feature of which is a picturesque alcove, with a dome roof, and a colonnade of arches on either side. The floor, although so deep, has excellent light in the rear. This is due to a courtyard 13.6 feet wide and 50 feet in depth, which divides the building from the Pottier & Stymus building. This courtyard, by the terms of the deed of sale, is to remain open. The result is that on every floor, from the first to the seventh, there is splendid outside light in the rear as well as in the front. This light is further enhanced by the fact that there is no building opposite except the reservoir, so that above the second floor the western light streams through with a flood of glory, and this light will never be impeded by high buildings on the other side, as Bryant Park is opposite. Besides this a bill is now pending before the Legislature for the removal of the reservoir, and when this is accomplished the building will have a park frontage opposite, thus giving a perpetually unsurpassed western light. In addition to the courtyard referred to there is an alleyway, 30 feet long and 4 feet wide, leading through from the rear to 41st street, near 5th avenue, and this is of considerable value to the property as a rear entrance for the arrival and departure of goods.

Taking the Otis elevator and ascending to the upper floors it is seen that the second and third stories are, like the first floor, also in oak. The ceilings, however, are all decorated in different designs. The floors are similar in size to the first story, as are all the floors above. Each story is devoted to a different purpose and the floors above the third story are all constructed very much in the same style.

Descending to the basement we find a compartment which, including the vaults under the the sidwalk, is 124 feet long and 32 feet wide. Here are stored the boilers, pumps, etc., including a New York Safety Steam Company's upright boiler, a Worthington pump, a steam pump which supplies water to a tank on the roof, Baker, Smith & Company's boiler, which supplies heat to the floors above, etc. The basement has a good light on even dark days. The building is of fireproof construction throughout, and a noticeable feature is the unusual height of each floor. The district will certainly be very much improved by the probable removal of the reservoir, as noted above, for aside from the fine western exposure, which this removal will supply, it will render all property thereabouts more valuable.

AN APARTMENT HOUSE NEAR BROADWAY.

Leaving the fashionable district of 5th avenue, attention is attracted to a property of another style, some ten minutes' distance away. It comprises the five-story apartment house at No. 140 West 36th street. It has a front of brown stone and is 25 feet wide, though it is in appearance somewhat wider. It rents, at full, for a total of $5,160 per annum. It has two suites per floor, each having six rooms and bathroom. The parlor is decorated and contains a mantel and mirror. Adjoining is a bedroom, which contains a separate entrance to the hallway, and has a window opening on a lightshaft. The third room is a bedroom, also opening on a light-shaft A bathroom here intervenes. A dining-room, a kitchen and a servant's bedroom complete the suite. The floors above are all a fac simile of this suite. The halls and stairways all over the house are carpeted and the vestibules have marble floors. The building is near Broadway and within a few minutes' walk of the Sixth Avenue "L" road station at 33d street.

A SEXTET OF APARTMENT HOUSES.

The next property visited was a row of six apartment houses at Nos. 417 to 427 West 18th street. They are all five stories high with gable roofs. They cover a frontage of 154 feet, and their exterior is of brick, with stone trimmings. They are rented on a basis that would give a gross rental of $14,544 per annum. With first-class management and with some repairs they ought to bring $18,000. They are known as the "Greenwich" apartment houses. They contain two suites per floor, each having five rooms and bathroom. There is a parlor, three bedrooms, a kitchen, bathroom, etc. They are within a few minutes' walk of the Ninth Avenue "L" road stations at 14th and 23d streets. The records show that they were transferred in 1883 to Robert Graves at $144,000, but they could not be duplicated, if built to-day, at that figure, including the cost of the ground.

THE "ST. MATHILDA" FLAT.

A superior style of building is the five-story brown stone front flat, No. 158 West 15th street, between 6th and 7th avenues. It has a portico entrance, and carved stone fronts. There is not a vacancy in the building, which contains ten suites of rooms, and if each suite is kept as neatly as that seen on the first floor west, the house is well taken care of by the tenants.

The flat has a frontage of 25 feet and a depth of 103.3 feet. It rents for a total of $4,560 per annum. Each suite contains six rooms and bathroom. There is a parlor which is decorated and contains a pretty chandelier and a white marble mantelpiece. There are two bedrooms, a light and cheerful dining-room, and a kitchen and servant's bedroom beyond. There is also a dumb-waiter and other conveniences. Plenty of closet room is to be found, and the rooms are generally decorated and have gas fixtures. There is hot and cold water, etc. The flat has a neat entrance. The hall floor is tiled and the wainscoting and walls are painted. The upper suites are similar to that described. The location of this flat is central, being near the Sixth Avenue "L" road stations at 14th and 18th streets, and within one block of one of the principal cross-town shopping thoroughfares. It is in a neighborhood where agents say they can always fill their vacancies directly they occur.

The Brooklyn Property.

Picture to yourself a residence superior to any in Brooklyn and surpassed in New York City only by such mansions as the Vanderbilt, Tiffany and Stewart palaces in the area which it actually covers, in the imposing character of its exterior and the richness of its interior. This, without exaggeration, will give the reader an idea of the character of the residence which the late Robert Graves was three years in building, and which he did not live to enjoy.

Cast your eye along the line of Clinton avenue and there are the Pratt, Hoagland, Houghtaling, Pease, and other handsome residences, but wander through the rooms of the finest of these homes, and then enter the noble structure left as a memorial by Robert Graves, and you will unhesitatingly yield the palm to the mansion, an illustration of which appears below. It should at once be stated that the illustration does not by any means give an adequate idea of the character of the building. One must stand in front of it and look at it from the opposite side of the avenue, to gain a conception of its true worth from an architectural point of view. But when one has done that, one has seen but the outside. It is on the inside where the fertile brain, the culture and the intelligence of an able mind makes itself seen.

But let us take the outside first. The mansion is about 80 feet wide, and is opposite Dr. McLeod's church on Clinton avenue. It has a grass plot in front, and is surrounded by handsome brown stone fences, with granite foundations. The conservatory is at once noticed, and can be seen to advantage from the avenue. The mansion itself is approached by a stone walk, running through a grass plot, about 30x77 in size. This walk leads to a box stoop, which has a grand stairway 7 feet in width, at the head of which is a platform, which, it is said, is composed of the largest piece of brown stone ever shipped into Brooklyn The portico ceilings are in panels of the same stone. The three first floors of the facade have large bay windows, both on the avenue and the side courtyard. There is very considerable carved work apparent in the front, which is in the Romanesque style.

Nos. 337 to 345 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn.

At the entrance to the hall one begins to catch a glimpse of the beauty inside. There are three immense doors which bar the way to the hall entrance. They are of massive antique oak. One is a storm door of oak, with large plate glass windows; the second and main door is of similar character, containing an old-time brass knocker of quaint conception and workmanship and a centre piece of carved copper. This door opens on the vestibule, which has a flooring of rich marble and a ceiling of oak panels. The third doorway is about 8 feet wide and enters upon the hall. This hall is large enough for a carriage and pair to drive through, to use the old-homelike phrase. It is surrounded by oak, most elaborately carved, ceilings, dado—everything, in oak, The floors are parqueted in a special design; the ceiling is in panels, containing centre subjects in shields, flowers, etc., all the carving work having been done by hand. At the end of the hall is a mantelpiece which is almost a masterpiece in design and workmanship. It stands 16½ feet high, and is a profusion of elaborately-carved oak. The fireplace at its base has a grate of tile, with a background of bronze metal work in relief; the mantelshelf is nearly seven feet high, and is capped by a superstructure which has a handsome floral design as a central piece, double rows of columns as sideplaces, and fields in a frieze running to nearly the full height of the ceiling. The effect of this mantelpiece from the entrance is imposing.

Standing at an angle of about 30 degrees from the grand staircase a flood of light streams forth, and we are confronted with a glance of what appears unusual magnificence in a private residence. Attracted by the sight we move forward, until the whole thing bursts upon us with a feeling of pleasant surprise. We are in full view of the music chamber.

THE MUSIC CHAMBER.

This is a noble room. The first sight is like that of a dream, and one doubts whether one is in a Brooklyn house or in Elysium. The room is 42 feet high and 40 feet in length. Directly opposite the entrance are a series of stained glass windows running almost the entire height of the chamber. There are four in all, two containing male figures and two female. Each represents the different kinds of music—the stringed, the vocal, etc. One figure is gracefully drawing a bow across a violin, another is playing the flute, and so on. Under these are four musical instruments, one under each figure. On each side of these central windows are large side windows, also in stained glass, one containing a bust of Wagner and on the other a bust of Liszt. These windows are all part of an alcove division from the main room. It was intended that an organ should be placed in the centre of this alcove, and that the beautiful stained glass windows should appear above it, and this would have been carried out if the deceased millionaire had lived. To the right of the chamber is a hand, some mantel and mirror in white maplewood with satinwood panels elegantly carved, and tiled a firegrate. To the left is a wall with an upper colonnade containing six archways with columns, the latter being of pale Mexican onyx set in solid brass stools and caps. These archways are each about 3 feet high, and through their openings a glimpse is caught of the picture gallery, which adjoins the music room. The value of these open archways is apparent, for it enables the music to be heard by the guests who may happen to be wandering among the pictures. The music room is surmounted by a dome ceiling which materially enhances the general effect.

THE PICTURE GALLERY.

The late Mr. Graves had intended adorning its walls with pictures of rare value. Now one sees the walls bare. They are not yet even decorated, and it is left to another to complete the work. The room is in ebony trim, and there is a mantel at one end carved in that wood. Two radiators are in the centre of the room to give warmth to the gallery. The roof is of glass, and it covers almost the entire room, and the room is 62 feet long. Thus a good light will be shed upon the pictures that shall some day adorn these walls.

THE DINING-ROOM.

Passing through to the hall we enter the dining-room. This chamber is literally surrounded by antique oak, carved in the most elaborate manner. A large bay window on one side, and a glass skylight on the other, give excellent light, the latter covering an extension to the room, which is divided by two large columns, one on each side. The ceiling is a superb piece of oak carved work in panels. A very handsome sideboard is a feature of the room. From this dining chamber we pass into the butler's pantry, which is very spacious, has abundance of closet room, and opens on the side courtyard.

THE LIBRARY AND OTHER ROOMS.

Returning, we come upon the library, which fronts on Clinton avenue. It has two large bay windows, one of which fronts on the avenue, the other fronting on the side courtyard and giving an oblique view along the avenue. The room has a mantel, bookshelf and wainscoting of Mexican mahogany, with curiously inlaid work of a Spanish wood.

The drawing room, which is directly opposite, is in white and gold and fronts on the avenue. The intention was to decorate this room in Louis

Nos. 215 and 217 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn.

XV. style, and provision has been made for this purpose in the mirrors and panels which are seen in the room. From this room we enter the conservatory, which also fronts on the avenue and which can be seen by the passer-by outside. It is a handsome inclosure about 18 feet square. It is entirely in Endolithic marble. All the walls, as well as the flooring, are in this marble, and the former are covered in subjects of a pastoral character. Numerous cherubs are seen in the chase; others are gambolling through the trees in search of game, and all the animals of wood and dell—the hare, the squirrel and others—all are there, with the trees, the boughs and the leaves, to make up a pretty scene of rural beauty, in keeping with the leaves and flowers which are to adorn the conservatory.

THE GRAND STAIRCASE.

Retracing our steps, we leave the main floor and ascend the grand staircase. This staircase runs to the third floor and from it spread two other staircases, one for ascending guests, the other for those descending, which obviates the inconveniences of a crush. Thus three staircases are on each of these landings, and they occupy a hall space of some 20 feet in width. In ascending the grand staircase leading to the second floor our attention is at once fixed to the large stained glass windows at the head of the first flight of stairs. These contain a central window representing an almost life-size figure of Columbus. On each side of the great discoverer are windows, in one of which is seen an anchor and in the other a compass, with the points of the compass clearly marked. In passing to the second flight one should not forget to notice the solidity of the staircases, and especially the newel posts, the whole being in oak and elaborately carved. The very ceilings of the staircase are also in carved oak panels.

THE MAIN BEDROOM FLOOR.

We are now at the main bedroom floor. To describe this and the upper floors as they deserve would occupy too much space, so we will just take a running glance through them.

The principal bedroom in the suite is in satinwood and white mahogany, the floor being parqueted. It has two bay windows, one of which has a central mantelpiece, over which is a stained glass window of a very attractive character. This contains a peacock in all the beautiful colors of its plumage, surrounded by foliage, on the boughs of which a little cherub rests, gazing with interest on two doves who are interchanging their love notes one with the other.

Adjoining is a dressing-room in mahogany, from which one can step through the window on to a spacious balcony and hear the birds singing in the early morn. Adjoining the dressing-room is one of the largest and best appointed bathrooms which the writer has ever seen, containing large and small baths and all possible conveniences.

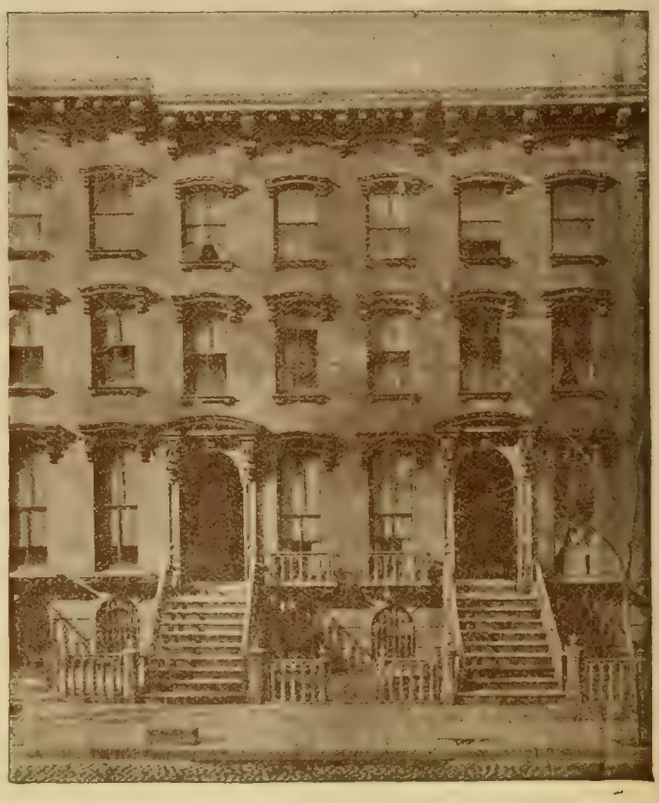
The other bedrooms are too numerous to mention in detail. One, however, is worth noting, for it is unique in conception. It is called the "bamboo room." It is a bedroom trimmed in white mahogany, the wood being so manufactured that the entire room looks as though it had been trimmed in bamboo canes—the doors, the mantels, etc.

There is also a "cedar room," which is worth speaking about. It is composed entirely of cedar wood, and contains a number of large closets, in which to store away costly clothing, without any apprehension that the moths will get at it. The odor, on entering this room, is very pleasant to the senses, besides being of such utility.

Then there are five housemaids' closets, and other conveniences and appointments galore, and there are numerous bathrooms and other toilet conveniences.

A few words should be said about the basement. It contains a bowling alley 70 feet long; a billiard room in oak; a laundry, with porcelain tubs and a superb range and steam dryers; storeroom for 200 tons of coal; Baker, Smith & Co.'s Nos. 3 and 4 bracket boilers, and other accessories.

Among the general features of the house we may mention that every room on the first story has parqueted floors, each in a different design; there is a complete set of electrical annunciators, and apparatus for electric lighting, and an interesting point to be noted is the fact that twenty-four different kinds of woods are used in the building, among them being white mahogony, satin, olive, white maple, ash, cherry, black walnut, chestnut, etc. There is also an elevator in the house and a separate stairway for servants, running from basement to roof.



It may here be appropriate to mention the stables in the rear. These are five in number. They are of brick and two stories high, and each contains three stalls and a box stall on the first floor, with a hayloft and oat pens above, as well as three rooms for the coachman's quarters. There is a speaking tube which communicates with the house, and an elevator in each stable enables carriages to be hoisted to the lofts when necessery. It should also be added that a frame house, which it was the intention to remove, stands on the corner. It is part of the property, and with the ground cost, alone, about $40,000. The entire plot belonging to the mansion covers a frontage of 119.2 feet on Clinton avenue, 200 on Lafayette avenue, 126.8 on Waverley avenue x 205 on the southerly side, the whole covering an area of nearly 25,000 square feet.

Having thus given a fair idea of the Graves mansion and its appurtenances, let us turn our attention for a few moments to some of the other properties to be sold.

SOME PRIVATE DWELLINGS.

Two of these are four-story, high stoop, brown stone front dwellings, 22 and 23 feet wide respectively, at Nos. 215 and 217 Lafayette avenue. Both of them have been resided in by members of the Graves family, and they are both well appointed and handsomely decorated houses. The parlors contain handsome chandeliers and sidelights, and the ceilings are decorated. They also have white marble mantelpieces. The dining-room adjoining has a dado in relief paper, a decorated ceiling and a handsome chandelier. It leads to the butler's pantry, which also enters upon the hall The upper floors contain cheerful front and rear bedrooms. The former has an alcove, which can be used as a library, and which, indeed, has been used for that purpose in one of the houses. The rear bedroom is decorated in good taste, while beyond is a spacious bathroom. The third floor is almost similar to the second floor. There are four bedrooms and a storeroom on the next floor, the former having running water. The basement contains a billiard-room, kitchen, laundry, etc , with all the necessary conveniences. These houses are comfortable and well arranged and will make delightful homes for two families of refinement.

The houses have a stable in the rear, which fronts on Vanderbilt avenue.

No. 248 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn.

It is two stories high and has five stalls. It is at present rented to S. Cantoni, the banker, at $500 per annum. Nearly opposite the houses are the foundation walls of the Catholic Cathedral which Brooklynites hope will some day be a rival to the New York Cathedral on 5th avenue.

Another private house to be sold is No. 248 Carlton avenue, between De Kalb and Myrtle avenues. It is a three-story, high stoop, brown stone house in a very pleasant neighborhood. It is 20x50x100 in size, and contains a front and back parlor on the first floor, and two bedrooms, one with an alcove, on the second floor. These bedrooms communicate with each other by saloons. There is also a bathroom on the same floor. The third floor contains four bedrooms, there being running water on the top floor. The front basement is used as the dining-room, and a kitchen, closets, etc., complete the floor.

A LARGE FACTORY.

The seven-story salesroom and factory building now occupied by The Robert Graves Company is not by any means the least important of the properties to be offered. It is well known to Brooklynites, and has employed many hundreds of people in its day. The firm has, however, outgrown its former greatness and has hied itself to even larger quarters in South Brooklyn.

The factory and salesroom have a frontage of about 60 feet on Fulton street, taking in Nos. 774, 776 and 778, and 67 feet on Adelphi street, with a frontage of 100 feet on Carlton avenue. The salesroom is spacious and lofty, and its nine iron columns go to show how substantial is its construction. The ceilings are decorated and the room is 60x100 in size.

A courtyard separates the seven-story main building from the factory proper. The latter contains five floors, each 200 feet in length, with two elevators. There are three 75-horse power boilers to do all the steam work. There are wide stairways from the top to the bottom of the main building, in addition to the elevators, while the roof ends in a cupola, which is the principal architectural ornament of the facade. The entire salesroom and factory building covers an area of about twelve lots.

THE UNIMPROVED PROPERTIES.

Besides the various improved properties already described, there are a number of unimproved plots to be offered at the sale. These comprise twenty-one lots, located on Stone avenue, McDougal and Hull streets, taking in two corners. They are within half a block of the Elevated Road on Broadway. The streets are paved and graded, and the lots are ready for immediate improvement. There is considerable building in this vicinity and there is no section in Brooklyn where values are increasing more rapidly, due to the advent of the Elevated Road and the numerous improvements which have followed.

The sale of this estate will certainly bring together a great many investors, dealers, real estate agents and brokers, and others interested in the disposal of estate properties. It is not often that such a large amount of realty is placed upon the auction market by order of executors, and when it is offered the interest displayed is very marked. This has been seen in recent years when the Jones, Jumel and other estates were auctioned off. Of course there attaches a peculiar interest to different estates. For instance, the Jumel property was almost entirely composed of vacant lots, and that, too, in a section where it was expected there would be considerable improvement, and hence an appreciable advance in values, within a very short time. This anticipation was realized, for lots which sold at that sale for a few hundreds of dollars have since realized thousands. And this is only about half a decade ago. Besides that there was an historical interest attached to the sale of the Jumel property. On the other hand, the Jones estate sale had a peculiar interest for the public of a different kind. The properties offered were both improved and unimproved, and they were located in the very heart of the line of improvement, as well as in the great down-town business centres. Everyone recollects how the Real Estate Exchange Salesroom was crowded on the memorable days of the Jones estate sale; how the very galleries and auction stands were packed with intensely interested onlookers, largely composed of the fair sex, and how the very floor of the Exchange itself was packed so that men struggled to catch, not so much the face of the auctioneer, which they could not discern through the sea of heads, but the voice of the auctioneer, which they could hear resonant above the subdued murmur as bid upon bid followed in rapid succession until the gavel fell.

The Graves estate possesses also its peculiar interest. It was accumulated by a gentleman who was known in New York business circles as well as he was known in Brooklyn business and social circles; a gentleman who was related to some of the highest in the land, but whose demeanor was courteous to the humblest; one who, in his selection of real estate, brought to bear all his business acumen to acquire it to advantage. His private residence, fit for a king, does not come into the nature of an investment, and it is to be feared that the estate will not realize the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent on the building and the valuable corner plot on which it stands. Another case in point is the large Brooklyn salesroom and factory, which was built for use more than for investment, and which covers a large area of valuable ground. The other properties, as described, are mostly improved, both in New York and Brooklyn, and they comprise realty all the way from a 5th avenue business structure to five-story apartment houses.

Nos. 774 to 778 Fulton Street, Brooklyn.

The sale of such a considerable estate is sure to attract great attention, and the auctioneer's stands in Brooklyn and New York on Wednesday and Thursday next will no doubt be surrounded by an interested crowd of bidders and purchasers. To these the foregoing descriptions, with the accompanying illustrations, will no doubt prove of service, for it will enable them to get some points about the properties on which they may contemplate bidding.

The sale, it may be added, will be conducted under the direction of David Barnett, as referee, appointed by the Supreme Court. Both the Brooklyn and New York parcels will be sold at noon.

This number of THE RECORD AND GUIDE contains a fourteen page supplement, in which some of the latest and most noteworthy additions to the club houses of New York City are illustrated and described. Subscribers should see that they obtain this supplement, and report any omission to the office of publication, No. 191 Broadway.

The market in Wall street this week has alternately pleased both the bull and the bear, and the large transactions in certain stocks notably Reading show that prices are at a point which will bear close watching, as a definite movement one way or the other is near at hand. Yesterday some very large blocks of Reading were transferred from a large house to other firms, as the bull pool which has been operating through this house for some time suspected that their stock was being loaned out and was as much at the command of their opponents as their own, so they called upon a banking firm noted for its Reading dealings to give them the number of the certificates as held by them, and as their request was not or could not be complied with their account was moved to other brokers. Why this bull pool did not at once go to Todds is a question they have been asking themselves for the past twenty-four hours. Money has ruled easier during the week all over the world, and it is remarkable how easier money in one quarter was the signal for the same thing from Berlin to New York. It is not to be expected, however, that France is yet ready to let go of her surplus gold, as she is now engaged in floating a loan equal to $140,000,000, which amount, however, is less than originally estimated, and until this is arranged money must be kept easy, and the large bankers would be likely to oppose any movement looking to exporting specie to this country for any purpose whatever. The Germans and English investors are now buying more freely of our securities, and it looks as though gold must come this way very soon, and once begun it is likely to become a very fair amount. General business throughout the country is good, some lines exceptionally so, and there are signs that the railroad cutting of rates will have a speedy termination. Should this happen the long expected bull movement will very shortly show its head and have another try for better results than anything which has yet been accomplished since our large crops were harvested.

The committee on revising the building law has practically concluded its labors, and the law as amended is now being engrossed for presentation to the Fire Comissioners for their approval. As the proposed alterations in the law have the indorsement of the Superintendent of Buildings, it is expected that the Fire Commissioners will offer no objections, and the bill will therefore go to the Legislature at an early date and probably be passed without any opposition whatever. The changes are entirely in the interest of those who have to do with the erection of buildings. The law has been simplified, liberalized, and the subject treated of grouped together as far as possible, commencing with excavations, then putting together all relating to foundations, then following with the walls, and so on with partitions, floors and other items of construction in their regular order. Nearly every section in the law bears some change for the better, either in making more clear the intention sought to be expressed, or in lessening too strict requirements, or in expunging altogether what has proven to be dead letter regulations. A few material alterations have been made; as for example, the height allowed for non-fireproof buildings has been raised 5 feet higher for the limit than at present, that is from 80 to 85 feet in height; the thickness of walls for store buildings exceeding 85 feet in height have been somewhat reduced, so that the thickness of the top portion of the wall becomes 16 inches instead of 20, and thickening up by 4-inch offsets for each 25 feet of the total height, thus building the wall up on the principle of the tapering mast of a ship, and overcoming any tendency of being top-heavy, and at the same time avoiding an excessive thickness at the bottom, to uselessly occupy valuable space. One of the new features in the law is the requirement that all public school buildings, asylums, hospitals, and similar buildings hereafter erected shall be of fire-proof construction. We think that this latter requirement will receive general commendation for obivous reasons. The proposed changes and amendments are not to go into effect until the 1st of July next. As soon as the amended law becomes an accomplished fact by an Act of the Legislature, our readers will be promptly informed of all the changes between the old law and the new, and of course ample time will intervene for those interested to become familiar with the new order of things. But that the law in its amended form will be more satisfactory to architects, builders and property-owners than it is at present we have no doubt. Nothing has been done to interfere with the limitation of height of dwelling and apartment houses, the law known as the High Building Law being a separate and distinct law. The time is nearly ripe, however, for undertaking the work of repealing that law.

The decision of the Court of Appeals, reversing the ruling of the lower courts, and holding that damages to property by the elevated structures must be offset by the benefits accruing is so obviously the equitable conclusion, that it is a matter of comparative indifference as to the merely legal aspects of the matter. That property-owners should be recompensed for the actual decrease in rental value of which the elevated road has been the cause is manifestly fair; but if this decrease has been partially or wholly wiped out by a concomitant increase created by the same agency it is equally just for the very same reason that allowance should be made for this circumstance. Mr. Gould has frequently complained that the collection of all the damages claimed without any deduction on the score of the manifest value which the accessibility provided by the elevated roads gives to the property, practically meant a confiscation of the Manhattan Company's property. Be that as it may, no disbelief in Mr. Gould's methods, no distrust in his character and intentions, no considerations of self-interest should disguise the fact that the elevated road has been of the greatest benefit to the city, that it has been for the most part an efficient public servant, and that it has the same property rights as any corporation or individual in the State. The decision is of the greatest importance, for it at once frees the hands of the Manhattan Company, and removes an important obstacle in the way of their increasing, so far as they can, the efficiency of their service.

At last a movement has been started on foot looking toward the establishment of municipal electric lighting in this city. The New York Board of Trade and Transportation at its last meeting appointed a special committee, consisting of ex-Judge William Henry Arnoux, ex-Congressman Darwin R. James and Mr. L. J. Callanan, to investigate the field of electric lighting, and report upon the working of plants in those cities which have undertaken to perform this service for themselves. If the investigation is conducted in an earnest and thorough manner the report of the committee will show beyond a doubt the practicability of this city owning and operating its own electric lights. If New York, after a trial, finds that it is not able to supply its streets, its public buildings and even private citizens with the best electric light at a cheap cost, the instance will form an exception to the experience of the twenty-seven cities in this country which operated electric lighting plants last year.

The present Congress seems to be even rather more dilatory than usual. Three months have passed since the session began and nothing as yet is really accomplished. The House has passed some few bills, in which the Senate has not as yet concurred; and the Senate has been burdened with some long speeches to which nobody has listened. Meanwhile the Republican leaders seem to have difficulty in agreeing on the legislation which they will make party measures. Secretary Windom's bill has been shelved and another one substituted in its place; nothing has as yet been accomplished in the direction of the subsidy legislation which we have a right to expect; and the final adjustment of the World's Fair matter still hangs fire. There seems to be no lack of intention to spend money in needed public improvements, but there is a sad lack of any disposition to go about it expeditiously. Some of the newspapers have taken occasion, because the past week has completed the first year of Harrison's term, to sum up for or against the administration from their respective points of view. In so far as the appreciation or criticism is based on a consideration of the facts of the matter and not on a preconceived opinion, based on the policy of the paper, it is almost useless, for although in the matter of appointments President Harrison has shown pretty clearly what his motive are, in no other directions has the party in power done anything whereon to be judged.

Commissioner Gilroy has practically admitted the justice of one at least of the Evening Post's criticisms on his asphalt paving contracts, by changing the specifications so that other companies besides the Barber company can compete for the work. The change in the specifications warrants our belief that the Commissioner of Public Works acted with entire good faith in the matter, and whatever fault could be found with his work was the result simply of ignorance. If the alteration in the specifications reduces the cost per square foot at which our asphalt is laid, the Evening Post will be still further justified, and as the margin of profit which the successful bidder will make out of the contract will be smaller, it is probable that the bond which Mr. Gilroy has hitherto exacted for the keeping of the pavements in repair together with that proportion of the payment which is retained until the time of the guarantee has elapsed, will be sufficient for the purpose. Our Tammany officials have incurred a great deal of criticism while they have been in office—a criticism based on the political uses to which Mayor Grant has put the city's offices. The criticism is undoubtedly well taken. No system of running city departments could on general principles be worse. But because we are distrustful of the ultimate results of Tammany's policy we need not necessarily consider all our officials sons of the devil, whose every act must be sinful, and to whom we must always impute the worst motives possible. Even Tammany and the Manhattan Company have some redeeming features. Commissioner Gilroy undoubtedly made mistakes in his first contracts. He has remedied them. Surely, then, he deserves commendation.

It must not be supposed that Captain F. V. Greene's expressions of regret before the Commonwealth Club that there were so few longitudinal avenues and so many cross streets north of Houston street, was inspired by a desire to have a greater opportunity for the laying of asphalt in this city. In truth the street system of New York is a singularly strong example of the utter lack of sense which our municipal authorities have not infrequently shown. It is New York's misfortune that all her dimension, like that of an alligator, lies in one direction, and that consequently the tendency is for the greater part of the traffic to move up and down instead of across. Thus we may see the colossal absurdity of making many cross streets which are not needed by traffic, and only a few avenues which are needed. Captain Greene's prediction that some day it will be necessary at an enormous expense to cut two more avenues between 5th and 9th "sounds plausible," as the schoolboy said to his master in answer to a question in geography; but after our experience in the Elm street matter, we may be excused a certain amount of skepticism as to the ultimate fate of any proposition to change radically our street system. The question is not of any pressing importance, except so far as the exterior streets are concerned, for the width of the avenues makes them capable of accommodating the present traffic. It is curious, by the way, that the intelligent engineers who originally laid out our street system did make our avenues narrower than the streets. That would have been but a logical complement to the plan of making the latter proportionally more numerous than the former.

But Captain Greene's address had more than a merely retrospective and prospective interest. He took up the subject of our streets as they are, and made some observations thereon which, if they were not new or particularly startling, have at all events the merit of coming from a man who knows what he is talking about. We are becoming tolerably familiar to the comparison of the streets of this city to those of the larger cities abroad to the manifest advantage of the latter, just as we are familiar with the comparison between the free and enlightening institutions of this country to effete monarchies and paternal governments of the other side to the manifest advantage of the former, so that Captain Greene might have spared himself the trouble of once again recurring to it; but the following summing of the merits of different kinds of pavements was, we hope, taken to heart by Commissioner Gilroy:

> Granite is the most durable, the most noisy, the hardest to haul over, the most difficult to clean, and in ordinary weather (contrary to general belief), the most slippery. Its durability is its chief, if not its only, recommendation. Wood is the least durable, the least noisy, the easiest for the horse, and the most unhealthy. Asphalt is more durable than wood and less durable than granite, less noisy than granite, and more noisy than wood, the best to haul over, the easiest to clean; is less slippery than granite and about the same as wood, the recorded observations being contradictory, some showing in favor of wood and some in favor of asphalt. Asphalt is the most easily repaired, while it is almost impossible to replace the blocks of stone or wood and retain a perfect surfaae.

The comparison, it will be seen, is decidedly in favor of asphalt; but it must be remembered that the comparison assumes that all the pavements in question were well laid, whereas, as the present billowy condition of much of the granite block paving of this city but too plainly shows, we do not even get the advantage of durability in our own granite pavement.

Of equal interest to Captain Greene's statements were the mournful plaints of Commissioners Gilroy and Loomis, which, if they were not "charged with the sad authority of woe," certainly were sustained by the more tangible right arising from an abiding place in our official Olympus. Small comfort can be derived from their thunder. Commissioner Loomis gave expression to a grave doubt whether the present generation would ever see clean streets in New York. Unhappy present generation! Here is a street-cleaning gospel that forever shuts us off from the blessedness of Heaven. Our despondence at the announcement, however, is not unmixed with a satisfaction arising from an undoubted right to say, "We told you so." But if we did not share the optimism which was evinced by many of the morning dailies of this city when Mr. Loomis was first appointed we certainly do not share the deep despondence of our street-cleaning Schopenhauer. Undoubtedly the cleaning of our thoroughfares is a herculean task; but it can be accomplished by herculean methods. With the help of a few engineers who know how to make streets, a good executive manager, aided by a liberal appropriation, unimpeded by political affiliations, and sustained by a change in the laws relating to their preservation, we have no doubt that we can bring our streets up to the foreign standard. But so long as the present system prevails, Mr. Loomis's pessimism is certainly justified. Commissioner Gilroy echoed once again his complaints about the laws which permit the tearing up of the streets without any guarantee as to their proper restoration, and we should think that it was about time for him to prepare a bill repealing the obnoxious statutes and replacing them with others which provide the necessary guarantee. The present outlook is decidedly gloomy; but perhaps we may find consolation in the words of Shakespeare:

> Oft expectation fails, and most oft there
> Where most it promises; and oft it hits
> Where Hope is coldest and despair most sits.

The Nationalization of Railways.

Whatever may have been the motive which inspired Mr. Blackstone, president of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company, to advocate in his last annual report the ownership by the government of all railroads engaged in interstate traffic, his proposal is nevertheless answering the purpose of bringing under more general discussion a question of the day which is coming fast to be one of the questions. It is not safe to assume that the people at large are opposed to the government buying up the railroads merely because there is no present organized movement in favor of such control. On the contrary, it is an easily obtained fact that a great mass of the people of this country, especially in the central and western States, look upon railroads under private management as corporations with hostile interests to their own, to be tolerated only because they must be. It is regarded with surprise that a railroad president should boldly announce himself in favor of State control of railroads, but it is equally an occasion for surprise and of more importance to find leading newspapers now advocating the same proposal. The Omaha Bee, for instance, in commenting on the report, says: "It would seem inevitable that sooner or later this must become the policy of the country, demanded by the general popular sentiment as absolutely necessary to the security and protection of the public interests from the exactions and tyranny of the railroads on the one hand and from the unsettled effects of almost continual conflicts on the other." The policy of State control of railroads has a hidden support which is only now being revealed.

President Blackstone arrives at his conclusions from the point of view of the railroad manager. The general depression in railroads during the few years preceding 1889 was in great part due, he suggests, to interstate regulations, and so long as these restrictions are enforced it is unprofitable for private enterprise to continue in this line of business. This is practically an admission that railroads under private management rely upon the practice of their own free-handed measures for success. The prosperity of railroads during the year 1889 would seem to contradict this opinion of Mr. Blackstone as to the cause of depression in transportation. Nevertheless it is evident that the check which government places upon railroads through interstate commerce is severe.

Mr. Blackstone proposes this plan of assuming control: that the United States government acquire the ownership of such railroads as are now used for interstate traffic, either by exercise of its right of eminent domain or by purchase, payments therefor to be made with government bonds to be redeemed by an annual sinking fund, which fund together with interest to be paid out of net earnings, and the rate of transportation from year to year to be reduced so as to provide no more money than shall be needed to make these necessary payments. Little importance attaches to this plan in itself; the formulation of a wise plan for assuming control of railroads will be a comparatively easy task when once the practicability of the government entering this field is settled. What is important at present to notice is that in this plan, written from the point of view of a railroad manager, it is tacitly admitted, consciously or unconsciously, that government can operate railroads more economically than can private corporations for the reason that only net earnings are required sufficient to meet interest on debt and sinking fund charges—that which corresponds to profits under private control taking the form of reduced transportation rates, as presented in the plan. As a matter of fact it is found to be true in practice in European countries that government can administer railroads with greater economy than do private companies in the same countries. In Belgium State controlled lines are administered for less than half the relative cost of lines belonging to private companies.

There is one advantage to be derived from government operation of railroads, which, if recognized, has not been urged. It is this: under public management it becomes the interest as well as duty of the government to project and operate railroads where needed, and not as now only where they will pay. There are States in the Union, notably Virginia, where the present inducements are not sufficiently strong to attract capital into railroad investments; yet railroads are all that is needed in these States to bring into cultivation some of the most fertile lands in America. It costs the government as high as 15 cents to send a letter to certain parts of the Union; yet it is obviously to the advantage of the country as a whole that postal communication is continued with these places, for it is the trading posts of to-day that become the future business centres. In short governments keep in view general and future prosperity, corporations private and present. R. J. FINLEY.

The bill at present before the Legislature, providing for the removal of the reservoir in Bryant Park, and the addition of the area thus created to the park itself, while meritorious in view of present conditions, ought not to be regarded as determining for all time the use to which the land should be put. There is no doubt as to the desirability of removing the present unsightly mass of stone. From an æsthetic point of view it disfigures the whole neighborhood, and it may be doubted whether even the past necessity of having a reservoir in that vicinity was a sufficient reason for placing such a forbidding monstrosity in so conspicuous a situation, assuming of course that it was possible to obtain another site equally available. Be that as it may, now that the reservoir can be removed, it should be removed, and that with all reasonable haste. There is no particular need of more park room in the vicinity; but as the city owns the land, and as there is no other use to which it can be put immediately, it is best to turn it into a park. The cost, which will be assessed on the surrounding property owners, will not be heavy after deducting what can be obtained from the sale of the old material. However, although it is as well that the site be turned into a park for the present it is very possible that the time will come when it can be used as the location for a municipal or national building. Already the district is largely devoted to business purposes, and it cannot be doubted that this will be still more largely the case in the future. Parks are not exactly out of place in such vicinities; but they are not necessary in the same degree that they are in residence districts. And if an area so devoted can be better used for the purposes of a public building, neither private interest nor a mistaken opinion that because parks are necessary this particular park is indispensable should stand in its way.

Apparently the newspapers will succeed in their disinterested endeavors to save the City Hall Park. The mighty World and Times buildings, the Tribune building with its lofty spire, and even the puny and insignificant structure from which the Sun is issued daily, will have no reflection cast upon them by the shadow of an even more massive municipal structure; their editors and reporters will be able to look forth from their windows and take in the pleasing stretch of public and office buildings, green trees and useless fountains which go to make up the present City Hall Park and its background; and the hurrying crowds that pass up and down Broadway can delight their eyes with spire and dome unimpeded by impenetrable granite. These advantages will cost the city some millions of dollars; but the city can afford to spend the money. The newspapers cannot be blamed in their opposition to the City Hall site. It is true they based this opposition on public grounds, when it was but too plainly apparent that they were actuated by private motives. But as Mr. E. Ellery Anderson said in the hearing before the Sinking Fund Commissioners, the only place to have a boil is on the neck of semebody else. The newspapers had the power, and they used it. There was enough of a case from the public aspect of the matter to supply them plenty of arguments—not irrefutable perhaps, but well-sounding. The city does need park room undoubtedly in the crowded down-town districts; but it needs it far more in other places than arcund the City Hall, and it could be acquired for far less than the city can acquire a new site convenient to the present municipal buildings. On the other hand, the placing of the new building in the place provided for by the bill of last year would have been anything but a symmetrical arrangement; and it would have occupied land that eventually can be better improved by the rebuilding of the present City Hall.

The following letter, not having received an answer in the Press, has been forwarded to us by a subscriber with a request for an explanation:

To the Editor of "The Press"—I call your attention to the matter in the eighth advertising page of THE RECORD AND GUIDE for January 25, 1890, under the heading, "Building Material Prices." Under the sub-division "Lime" you will see the quotations: Maine (State of), common, $1; finishing, $1.20. St. John's, common and finishing, 90 cents to 95 cents. Why should the British provinces of Nova Scotia be allowed to enter this market with lime without duty and undersell our manufacturers? Is not this a subject for the committee now acting on the tariff in Washington?

FEBRUARY 14, 1890. GRANGER.

It is through a combination of circumstances that St. John's lime is quoted lower than Maine lime, but the chief are: (1) Prejudice against the Nova Scotia article, which, though it is somewhat exclusively used in Boston has only a small market here. (2) The price of Maine lime is upheld by a combination of manufacturers who meet once a year and fix prices for the following twelve months. (3) A considerable portion of the St. John's lime is shipped in lumber vessels, and consequently the freight is low. As to the question of duty, it is now 20 per cent. ad valorem, but the Maine manufacturers are now trying to obtain the imposition of a specific duty which, no doubt, will be sufficient to exclude the foreign article.

The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

If the new building of this institution, at the corner of William and Beaver streets, had no other claim upon our consideration than that it supplanted the grotesquely ugly building erected but a few years ago on part of the same site for the same institution, we should still have reason to be grateful to it. The erection of the new building shows, however, a change of policy on the part of the company. The old building, though it stood on very valuable ground, was but just large enough for an office for the corporation. It was taken to mean that, in the judgment of some very sagacious men of business with ample resources, the erection of towering office buildings had been overdone. Though their building was small and ugly, it was very expensively and solidly constructed, apparently with a view to a long duration. There was nothing about it provisional or temporary, except the architecture. Now its owners have gone the way of other owners, have extended their site, and have put up a building of eight stories, of which their own quarters take up but a small part, leaving six or seven stories for rental. This seems to amount to a confession that they misjudged the signs of the times when they decided to erect their unlamented and exaggerated soda fountain, that the demand for large office buildings has overtaken the supply, and that there is still a profit to be looked for in meeting this demand.

The new building occupies the northeast corner of the streets named. The plot is irregular, being a convex curve on the William street side, about 90 feet in extent, and a straight line on the Beaver street side of about 75 feet, the corner being nearly a right angle, and the curve, which is slight, not being recognized at all in the design. The material is a monochrome of light limestone.

Nothing could well be simpler than the architectural treatment. Laterally the building is divided by piers into equal bays, four on the shorter side and five on the larger. Vertically it is divided by horizontal members, which cut the piers into superimposed pilasters, into three divisions, also virtually equal, and in this equality is one of the chief defects of the design. The lower division is of two stories only, or of one and a mezzanine, but this lower story is so much taller than any of the others as to make the basement of the building as important as the central part, which is of three stories, or as the upper, which is of two and a-half, the half story containing the arches of its openings.

To describe one bay is to describe all. The tall pilasters of the basement are rough-faced, with sunken joints, and they carry capitals that are well designed, well moulded and extremely well cut, with great crispness of outline and sharpness of shadow. The abacus bears an egg-and-dart moulding. These pilasters support a heavy architrave crowned with a bold ovolo moulding faced with leafage as sharply cut and as effective in its way as the capitals in theirs.

In the second division, of three stories, the surfaces of the pilasthers are left rough but the joints are flush. The capitals are sufficiently varied from those below in design and are equally telling and equally well adjusted to their distance from the eye. There is again a heavy architrave with a rounded cornice, this time with an egg-and-dart moulding. The floor lines of the stories included in the division are marked by heavy transoms, withdrawn from the plane of the piers and very plain in effect, having a simple moulding at top and bottom and no ornament on the surface.

In the third division the pilasters stop at the impost of the arches, including two stories, while a third is lighted from the arches. The pilasters are smooth-faced, and though their capitals are varied from those below the repetition becomes by this time rather monotonous. The arches are round, massive, of two orders and quite plain except that the label moulding is decorated. The angle piers being of no greater width than those below, which have only lintels to carry, do not present a visibly sufficient abutment for the arcade, and suggest a concealed tie, giving to the whole upper part of the building an injurious look of weakness. The spandrils carry medallions somewhat too large and consequently giving the arcade a crowded aspect. Above is a rich Roman frieze of festoons and disks and the wall is crowned with a rather rich medallioned cornice.

The entrance is at the north end of the William street front, of which it occupies one bay. It is a round arch, with a protruding keystone (which is judiciously omitted from the arcade of the eighth story), and it is flanked by piers with clumsy consoles projecting to carry paneled stilts and a shallow balcony of which the parapet is pierced with square holes. The whole feature is, as it were, simply plastered against the pilasters of this bay, of which the capitals emerge above it, giving the entrance the look of an extraneous appendage to the building. This is inartistic, and the composition and detail of the entrance are very little, or at least very unsuccessfully studied, insomuch that it is no addition to the building, which would have been better if the porch had been omitted, and the entrance door merely hung between the piers.

As has been said the detail elsewhere is very well studied, and the ornament is the better for having been sparingly applied and regarding the commercial destination of the structure. In its composition the building is less successful, being in general effect monotonous and tiresome. This is better than being crazy and vociferous, like its predecessor; but there is no reason why we should run upon the Scylla of dullness in avoiding the Charybdis of vulgarity. The chief defect of the composition, as has been said, is the virtual equality of its three divisions, and it is from this defect, emphasized as it is by the repetition of pilasters, that the monotony mainly arises. It might easily have been avoided by making the tall first story the architectural basement of the building, adding the second story to the central division, and giving the basement distinctly more massiveness than the superstructure. Not but what the building, faults and all, is not better than most of the new commercial structures in its neighborhood.

Two Months of Real Estate.

The filings of the first two months of 1889 showed such a large increase over the corresponding months in 1888 that it was hardly to be expected that the first two months of 1890, unless some extraordinary stimulating conditions prevailed, would show any remarkable increase over the same period in 1889. As a matter of fact, this increase is very small. In the January and February of 1889, the number of conveyances filed at the Register's office were 2,397, and in the same months of 1890 this was augmented by four to 2,401. The increase in the amount involved was somewhat larger. Last year it was $42,547,240, while this year it is $44,705,871, an increase of $2,158,631. The number of conveyances for nominal considerations show a much larger increase—from 613 to 704—while both the number of the transfers in the 23d and 24th Wards and the amount involved therein show a small but still appreciable decline over the figures for 1889. Under the circumstances, these totals are more encouraging than they appear at the first glance. It must be remembered that the possibility of the World's Fair has, if anything, proved a drawback to any present activity, for it made transfers within the limits embraced by the site very rare and it made the holders of property round about unwilling to sell. Furthermore, the decline in the activity on the other side of the Harlem has been due, partially at all events, to the poor transit facilities; and the same cause must have checked the demand for other property north of the Park, which is similarly affected. On the other hand, the fact that the amount involved in the conveyances has undergone a greater increase than their number shows that the transfers which have taken place have been on the average more expensive than those which took place last year—a fact that we might have expected from the increase in general prosperity. The larger proportional increase in the conveyances for nominal considerations shows, if it shows anything, that the dealings are rather more speculative in character this year than last. Altogether, considering the adverse conditions which have affected the market, the showing must be considered very satisfactory.

The increase in the number of mortgages has been larger proportionately than that in the conveyances. In the January and February of 1889 there were 2,247 mortgage deeds filed; in the same months of 1890 this had increased to 2,456. The amounts involved during the same period show an increase of from $29,421,556 last year to $72,516,610 in this; but the figures for 1890 include the $40,000,000 mortgage given by the Manhattan Company to the Central Trust Company. Even, however, subtracting the $40,000,000, there still remains an increase of $3,095,054, which is another indication that the market is slightly more speculative in character than it was last year. The amount of money loaned in real estate at less than 5 per cent. is slightly less than the amount similarly loaned in 1889, while there has been an increase in the number of mortgages so given. This was to be expected, for the stringency of the money market for some time past has made it difficult for people to obtain large loans at low rates of interest.

New Buildings.

THE NUMBER, COST AND CHARACTER COMPARED WITH LAST YEAR'S FILINGS.

During the month of February plans were filed calling for the erection of 316 buildings at an estimated cost of $7,087,675, a gain of 16 in number over the same month last year, and an increase of $1,292,600 in cost. The figures show that in the districts south of 59th street, between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue, and between 110th and 125th streets, 5th and 8th avenues, fewer buildings were planned this year than last, although the cost of the smaller number of buildings to be put up south of 14th street, and between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue, is greater. The West side leads the other sections, as the figures disclose an increase of 23 buildings, and over $600,000 in cost. North of 125th street and the 23d and 24th wards show gains over February, 1889. The cost of buildings to be erected north of the Harlem is, however, considerably less than it was for a smaller number a year ago.

The figures for January and February, 1890, taken together show a gain over the same months last year and the year before. The increase in cost is a very substantial one—over 25 per cent—compared with 1889.

The table which follows gives the class of buildings to be erected in the several districts, as well as their cost, and is accompanied by a comparison with the figures for February, 1889. It will be seen that fewer flats are to be built, and more private dwellings. On the east side 37 flats and 9 dwellings will be put up against 24 flats and 61 dwelling on the west side. All except two of the 37 flats on the east side will be erected by builders and others engaged in the building trades, and five of the nine dwellings likewise. Not one of the 24 west side flats will be built for investment, and only about 8 per cent of the dwellings will be erected by owners others than builders, etc. North of the Harlem 39 of the 54 dwellings projected will be frame structures. There is a noticeable increase in the number of miscellaneous buildings, which includes stables, sheds, factories, etc., and it will be gratifying to Westsiders to learn that only two such buildings are to go up west of 8th avenue, between 59th and 125th streets.

THE COSTLIEST BUILDINGS.

Here is a list of the most costly structures planned during February, and it shows that 11 buildings, or about 3 per cent of the total of 316, call for the expenditure of $3,023,000—over 40 per cent of the total cost. The Criminal Courts building is put down in the plans at $1,500,000, while the contracts for the work which were awarded recently aggregated $1,277,000. Costly structures are to be erected on Bleecker, Greene and Mercer streets, and East 124th and East and West 125th streets. On the last mentioned streets Oscar Hammerstein will erect three buildings, the total cost of which is put down at $480,000. On the West side a family hotel is to be built on Central Park West at an outlay of $250,000, and a new schoolhouse will be erected on the corner of 93d street and 10th avenue at a cost of $170,000. Here is the list:

Statutory Corporation Law.

A member of the New York bar has recently written a law book on "Corporations as affected by statutes and constitutions." The book, like most of its class, is written for busy attorneys, and not for the general public. The existing facts regarding the subject treated are given without any background either of history or expediency. Law writers are prone to work in the spirit of one of them, who said in his preface, that "an attempt had been made to discard all obsolete law on the one hand, and all disquisitions as to what the law ought to be on the other." Mr. Cook's compilation of statutory corporation law is, however, of interest to the layman since it brings into one view the diverse regulations of the various States regarding corporations, and makes comparison possible.

It need hardly be said that we have no "system" of corporation law in this country. We have a tangled mass of statutes, which is still further amended and ensnarled at the recurring sessions of our many legislatures. We have a still larger mass of judicial decisions, which all the ingenuity and industry of our many law writers can never fully systematize and reduce to order. Even when this feat may be almost accomplished, it is only for a moment. Any work on the subject must speedily be out of date—buried under the mass of more than three hundred volumes of decisions published each year.

At present statutory law is supplanting the common law in nearly all important matters pertaining to corporations. The only influence that tends to bring order out of the statutory chaos is the inclination of the States to imitate one another. Our Federal system, with its many sources of legislation, makes possible a large amount of experimenting, and while the bad effects of measures that prove to be distinctly bad is thus localized, the adoption of measures proved to be distinctly good can be indefinitely extended by imitation. As an example of the former—"the localization of disease," to use a medical term—the old Granger railroad laws may be cited. Their effect was bad for the localities that tried them, but their influence, as "a horrible example" and otherwise, on the railroad legislation of the country has been good. One railroad man has even said of them that "through their results they have made a solution of the railroad problem possible." Heavy and unwise tax laws which have at times driven certain classes of corporations—insurance companies for example—from doing any considerable business in the States concerned, have also been studied in their effects to much purpose by States contemplating similar enactments.

The actual diversity of regulation has two effects—the one commendable, the other not. When companies do business in all or many of the States at once and in any line, like that of insurance, where ascertained corporate soundness is the best advertisement, a good code of laws in any State makes the simple fact that a company does business in that State a helpful recommendation. The stringent regulation of insurance companies in Massachusetts and New York does not hamper the sound companies in these States, but is an introduction and a guarantee when these companies carry their operations into other commonwealths. The same influence is apparently at work in the case of mortgage investment companies.

The second effect of the diversities in positive corporation law is decidedly unfortunate. Since it is quite well established that a corporation may incorporate in one State and do all its business in another or others, there is a tendency for doubtful or dishonest companies to take out charters in some State which bothers them with very few regulations. A charter granted by the Legislature of Pennsylvania incorporating a company to do business in any State except Pennsylvania was held to be void. The Kansas court that passed upon it held that no interstate comity permitted one State "to spawn corporations" which it would not allow to operate within its own borders. But practically the same thing is accomplished if one State by a general act allows corporations to come into existence without specifying the place of business. They will be so grateful for being let alone that they will not bother their thoughtless parent.

Under the laws of the State of New York one corporation is not allowed to hold the stock of another. But on the other hand there are States that will incorporate companies for that specified purpose. At present, according to a recent writer on "trusts," "the snug harbor of roaming and piratical corporations is the little State of West Virginia." Here a corporation can be formed for any purpose, except speculating in land, for which a partnership may be formed. The only tax is one of $50 annually; residents or non-residents, aliens or citizens may be directors; the principle place of business and directors' or stockholders' meetings may be in or out of the State; there is no liability of directors or stockholders except on unpaid subscriptions, and no public reports are required. The only way that a well-regulated set of corporations can be insured in any State, is by the wise regulation not only of domestic but of foreign corporations. This second branch of the statute law, the regulating of foreign corporations, has not yet received the attention it deserves.

Investments—Good and Bad.

CHEAP BONDS.—Bonds like other things may be cheap in more than one sense. The difficulty is to choose such as deserves the best application of the word and also to decide what may be considered cheap, the latter being a question on which there is a good deal of difference. Perhaps it would be as well to deal with the last question first. It can be briefly disposed of by a glance at the prices of railroad bonds—and to a consideration of this class of bonds this article is limited—listed on the New York Stock Exchange and to note how many sell at prices yielding very much less than 5 per cent. notwithstanding the high rates for money which have prevailed off and on for so long. It is significant too that comparatively few sell above 6 per cent. It is more easy to make a basis on which a bond may be considered cheap than to particularize those which may be admitted into the class. But there are plenty to choose from. A recent examination of the active bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange shows that over seventy first mortgage and nearly a hundred underlying or branch line bonds sold at prices realizing more than 5 per cent. per annum, many of them over 6 per cent. and one as high as 9 per cent. In these bonds lie the opportunity of the investor who wishes to secure a better rate of interest than is offered by the gilt-edged issues. With all due deference to the Wellingtonian axiom that security decreases as interest increases, everyone knows that the opportunity for making money lies in the cheap bond, that is, in bonds which will be promoted to the high-priced or gilt-edged class in the future. It is not necessary to say that for the purpose of trusts and protecting income the high-priced bonds will be always in favor. The investor who can take a reasonable risk, however, always prefers the security, whose career is not fixed, if the expression may be allowed, but has a future before it and from which he may benefit. A good deal has been written and a great deal more said about the effects of reorganization on investments in cheap bonds, but as a matter of fact the results of reorganization are much more favorable to the bondholder than is generally supposed. To come to the point, which are the cheap bonds? It would be impossible to go into the merits of all, or to do more than indicate a few whose conditions and histories made them attractive to intending investors and deserving of their close examination. Among such may be suggested a number of the Louisville & Nashville and Northern Pacific issues, which pay over 5 per cent. on the investment Union Pacific, St. Paul and Northwest have each a bond paying more than 5 per cent. on the investment at last quoted prices. New York and Brooklyn Elevated Railway bonds have among them a number which are included in this class. A bond returning over five per cent. to be particularly noticed, is the Canada Southern Second five per cent. Canada Southern does not, as is erroneousiy supposed, benefit from the large reductions in interest being made by Michigan Central, its lessee, a clause in the lease providing that the latter's proportion of net earnings shall be increased as its interest charges are reduced. That, however, affects the stock mostly. Michigan Central's reductions in interest charges make more certain the payment of interest on Canada Southern bonds from the common net earnings of the two roads. This will undoubtedly improve the condition of the Canada Southern bond issues, and should elevate them to the gilt-edged series. Canada Southern Seconds pay at current rates nearly 5¼ per cent. The Seconds are a first lien on the Canada Southern bridge at Niagara, though a second on the other property of the company. That remarkable issue Erie Second Consol 6's pay about 6 per cent at current figures. The fact that the bonds went through very hard times without injury to those who could hold on to them, and the results of the present management of the Erie property, make the bond an attractive member of the class under discussion. Then, too, there are the First 5's of the lately reorganized Iowa Central Railroad selling on the basis of nearly 6 per cent.; the New York, Ontario and Western 6's and 5's, which pay about 5¼ on recent figures, and a number of four per cent. bonds now in the process of finding their places in the market, and assuring about five per cent. to those who buy now. The Cleveland and Canton First 5's are selling low enough to return 5⅓ per cent. These bonds are currency bonds, and that has been urged against them, though the disadvantage from that fact can be but slight, if there be any disadvantage at all, in the now established condition of the national currency. The property on which the bonds are predicated is the old Conotton Valley Railroad reorganized, extended and improved by the conversion of the gauge from narrow to standard. The earnings show regular and satisfactory increases. The Detroit, Bay City and Alpena First 6's can be bought to pay 6 per cent. They were issued in 1886, and have paid interest promptly. The road earned its interest for three years before the bonds were issued, and is now showing steady improvement in results of operation. These are only a few of a large number of bonds which can be selected from the active list, to say nothing of the unlisted bonds, which might be as well recommended. An opinion has been asked on Hocking Valley Consol 5's and General 6's, and an answer can very fittingly come into this article. These bonds will pay to watch closely, if not to buy at once. Both have declined in price, so that the 5's would pay nearly 7 per cent., and the 6's 9 per cent. at latest figures, notwithstanding that interest has been promptly met. The values of Hocking Valley securities have been disturbed by a great deal of litigation. Earnings for last year showed a loss of more than the surplus over fixed charges for 1888. Part of that loss will be borne by operating expenses, so that it is probable that fixed charges will have been earned. No reports of earnings for this year have been issued. What is particularly to be borne in mind is that the Hocking Valley 5's and 6's are selling down to prices which make them attractive, even with the prospect of carrying them through a reorganization.

Men and Things.

When Addison in his delightful way satirized but ever so gently the absurd fashion of his day which led women to wear monstrous and distorting hoops, he brought down apon himself the pertinent question from some indignant Chloe: "Pray, sir, what have you to do with our petticoats?" But in these days of reform, when people go a-criticizing with the same gusto and assiduity that a hunter goes a-hunting, we must reply more humbly to reflections on our garments even when they come from one who is not obliged to wear the obnoxious attire. It is with this spirit that we read Mrs. Fenwick Miller's strictures on the displeasing character of the current trousers and waistcoat. Mrs. Miller evidently thinks that her criticisms need some justification, for she starts in by throwing out lines of defense. "Come, now," says she, with masculine toss of her head, like a lion who is about to engage in battle, "men are always criticizing our dress; why should we not take a turn in criticizing theirs?" And having put this unanswerable conundrum, she proceeds to deny that her motives in the matter are disinterested. "It is not for their sakes that I write; it is for ours We have to look at them, and it is only right that they should be pleasing in our eyes." This is a pretty bold statement, and perhaps indicates a certain weakness in Mrs. Miller's lines of defense. But she soon leaves her barricade and advances what I may call her evolutionary cavalry—an indispensable method of attack in most argumentative battles of the present day. "Every one of the lower animals," continues she, "follows that law between the sexes. It is the male bird that in the heyday of youth puts on fine plumage; it is the lion, not the lioness, that grows an ornamental mane; the male bird in every species, as Darwin has clearly shown, dresses up or shows his prowess to attract the female sex, and generally men have not despised ornament." Then she grows warm and advances all her battalions. "Let there be a reform!" she cries. "Let the men of to-day visit the Tudor Exhibition and the 'Fighting Vere's' collection of portraits at the Academy and judge how much better looking they themselves would be if their garb were more like that of their valiant ancestors—picturesque in cut, suited to display the figure, agreeable to the eye in color." At present, she says, we are "all black and white, the most unbecoming color, or no-color, that there is in the world." Finally she overwhelms the details of men's attire with a storm of expletives—"baggy trousers, stuffy, ill-fitting, semi-tight, black cloth coat, senseless, backles and chestless vest, stiff, starched front, torturing, tall collar and chimney-pot hat." By this time I think every one will admit that all the enemies' redoubts are carried and that men, if they wish to please the eyes of merry maidens, even as the bird pleases his mate or the lion his lioness, must forthwith don a gaudy plumage of doublet and hose, cape, ribbons and feathers, that he may become like his valiant ancestors of old.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, it appears, are to return next winter for a season of twenty weeks, eight of which are to be spent in New York; and all lovers of good plays will rejoice at the news. They have been one of the few redeeming features in the dead level of uninteresting performances and productions which have been placed on the stage this season, and which in some cases have attracted attention without in any degree repaying it. Their success has been both financial and artistic, and if the motive implied by the former adjective has more to do with their return than that implied by the latter we, at all events, have the right in this case, if in no other, to congratulate ourselves that we are getting a dollar and a half's worth for a dollar and a half. If, furthermore, I make the statement that the success has been at least partially due to the astute management of Daniel Frohman, it must not be taken to detract at all from the meritoriousness of the Kendals' performances; it will simply be rendering justice to another not unimportant element in the happy consummation. Mr. Frohman had a good line of goods to advertise, and he advertised it well. The papers were judiciously managed, expenses were reduced to a minimum, and the prices charged were such as to deter few. Their social engagements were as well "booked" as their dramatic ones. Mrs. Kendal was gracious to reporters, submitted to numerous interviews, and expressed for our country and its ways a judicious enthusiasm—born, doubtless, of many dollars. We might wish, perhaps (I, for my part, most sincerely do wish), that it was somewhat less necessary for an actress who visits this country to act all the time; Mrs. Kendal probably wishes so, too, but, in the words of Mephistopheles about Margaret, "Zie ist die Erste nicht"—neither will she be the last.

The daily papers of last Wednesday contained reports of a certain afternoon reception, given by the members of the F. A. D., a society of young actresses, to Mrs. Kendal. That kindly woman, it appears, consented to give two hours of her valuable time and not a little of her invaluable experience to these youthful aspirants, in return for which she received a few newspaper notices, a certain amount of adoration, some ivy leaves and (shades of Lucullus!) some tea. But, possibly, even this ladylike beverage may have come in useful, for Mrs. Kendal talked for an hour or more without interruption, playing admirably the part of Galamiel, while the future stars sat at her feet and eagerly drank in the theatric wisdom. It was, doubtless, a pretty sight and deserved commemoration. One enthusiastic young woman suggested that every one present should write out what she remembered of the discourse, that the different versions should be compared, and that the completest rendering possible to be obtained should be printed for permanent preservation. The idea is doubtless a good one, but if the suggestions of the theatric oracle are of such enormous importance, why not have them engrossed and sent to all the libraries in the country, that the future generations may read? In her discourse Mrs. Kendal, I understand, laid the most stress on the necessity for actresses to live their profession, to surround themselves with people of similar mind—to marry, if possible, an actor—to become, in short, thoroughly imbued with stage ideals and the theatric spirit. Now, it is perfectly true that anyone who is really interested in doing anything, provided that thing be of sufficient importance, should make it as essential a part of their lives as possible; but I confess that I should have considered Mrs. Kendal to have been more sensible if, like Mrs. Siddons, she had advised young women never to take the stage at all, though I am well aware that in making the statement I am laying myself open to the reply that the butcher made to the turkey. This butcher, it seems, asked his victim whether she would rather have her neck wrung or her head chopped off. Said the turkey: "I do not want to die at all." "That," answered the butcher, with pitiless logic and a flourish of his knife, "is entirely beside the question."

For the Inspection of all Buildings.

Our readers will recollect that some six years ago this paper made an attempt to obtain reliable data as to the numbers and cost of the new buildings erected throughout the United States, by addressing the officials of the different cities requesting them to furnish for publication such facts as they possessed relating to the subject. Our efforts were not crowned with success owing to the non-existence of any law in the majority of States compelling builders to obtain permits from an official whose duty it would be to regulate building enterprises with a view to safety in construction. The communications received in answer to the letters sent from this office, and which communications were published in our columns, revealed a deplorable condition of affairs, affecting as it does the lives of whole communities and a business interest second in importance to but one other, if second, to railroad building. Of all the houses put up in this country not one in a hundred is made to submit to any official regulation. The local government knows nothing of the plans of the builders or architects, there are no sanitary regulations or attempts to insure protection against fire, or provision by law securing proper drainage, sewerage or safe construction.

In this State only two cities—New York and Brooklyn—have laws regulating the construction of buildings. None of the other cities in this State require buildings to be constructed upon plans which will secure reasonable security from fire and exemption from conditions which unite disease and foster contagion.

Governor Hill, in his annual message, transmitted to the Legislature in January, 1885, said:

It is a matter for serious reflection whether it is not advisable that a commission of disinterested experts, skilled in the construction of buildings, be authorized to be appointed for the purpose of reporting to the Legislature, at the present or its next session, proper laws for the construction, regulation and inspection of buildings in said cities and the better protection of life and property therein.

The revelations made in our columns of the lack of official responsibility over the structures put up outside of the two great cities have finally brought action by the Fire Insurance interests, and within a day or two past a bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Chase of Albany, and in the Assembly by Mr. Gardiner, of Columbia County, to authorize the appointment of a commission of three experts to report laws for the construction, regulation and inspection of buildings in the cities of this State, not including New York and Brooklyn. The full text of the proposed law is as follows:

An Act to authorize the appointment by the Governor, of a commission to report laws for the construction, regulation and inspection of buildings in the cities of the State, and the better protection of life and property therein, except in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, and making an appropriation therefor.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Governor is hereby authorized, within thirty days after the passage of this Act, to appoint a commission of three experts skilled in the construction of buildings, to draft suitable laws for the construction, regulation, and inspection of buildings, and the better protection of life and property therein, applicable to the various cities in this State.

SEC. 2 The said laws shall be in three classes, viz.:

(a) A building law applicable to all cities in the State exceeding seventy-five thousand inhabitants, excepting the cities of New York and Brooklyn.

(b) A building law applicable to all cities in the State exceeding thirty-five thousand, but not exceeding seventy-five thousand inhabitants.

(c) A building law applicable to all cities in the State having less than thirty-five thousand inhabitants.

The said laws to be limited in their application in the said several cities to such districts as are now, or may hereafter be established, as fire limits by the common councils, in said cities respectively.

SEC. 3. The said commission shall report its work to the Legislature on or before the fifteenth day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-one.

SEC. 4. The first named of the three commissioners, appointed as herein provided, shall be chairman of the commission. Each of the commissioners shall be paid twenty-five hundred dollars, except the chairman, who shall be paid three thousand dollars. The said commission shall have power to employ legal counsel and the services of such persons as may be necessary, which, together with printing and other necessary expenses in the prosecution of their duties, shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of two thousand dollars. The sum of ten thousand dollars, of so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated for the salaries and expenses authorized by this act, payable by the Treasurer, on the warrant of the Comptroller, as may be called for, in monthly instalments, by the chairman of said commission. Any vacancy occurring in said commission shall be filled by the Governor.

SEC. 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

We shall take occasion to refer to this bill again and the urgent need of its receiving favorable action at the hands of our lawmakers.

Law Questions.

Law Editor—Please state upon the best authority at your command how far the law protects the contractor's rights against those of the owner. For instance, has the contractor an individual right to any house or building until it has been accepted and the last payment make? Does the law recognize and protect this right, or can the owner demand and take possession at any time he chooses, regardless of the fullfillment of his part of contract? Is the "Mechanic's Lien" the contractors only resource?

INQUIRER.

In the absence of a special provision by contract or grant to the contrary, the contractor to build for the owner has only a license in the land which is revocable, and if the owner revoke it and prevent the contractor from completing, the contractor has a right of action for damages and can also protect himself by filing a Mechanic's Lien.

The contractor has no right to retain possession until the last payment has been made, but if he be in actual possession, the owner cannot remove him by force and arms, but must resort to the law to obtain possession.

The Mechanic's Lien is not the contractor's only remedy. That act is intended to protect the price or value of labor performed or materials furnished, and not damages for failure of the owner to let contractor perform his agreement. In the latter case, an action for damages is his remedy.

In the case of materials for houses, the Mechanic's Lien law provides for a lien for those furnished and used or to be used in the erection of a house so that in such case if the materials be furnished, the lien can be filed for the price or value, although the materials have not been used.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24, 1890.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

DEAR SIR—Will you grant me a space in your RECORD AND GUIDE by answering me these few lines. The sidewalk in the front of my premises, which I had lately done new and everything put in perfect order, when an iceman backed up his horses and truck and dropped a load of ice on the sidewalk and broke several flags, which put the sidewalk in a very bad condition. Can't I compel the owner of the ice company to repair the sidewalk?

Oblige, READER.

The owner cannot compel the ice company to have the sidewalk repaired, but he may recover damages, depending on the extent of his interest in the sidewalk, which is a part of the street. If the fee of the land in this street is not owned by the municipality, but by the adjoining owners, we think the owner can recover for a trespass. If the city own the fee, and if this breaking of the walk interrupt or interfere with access to the house or with rights of ingress and egress to and from the property, we think the owner can recover damages suffered by such interruption or interference with this easement appurtenant to his property. The flagstones or other materials as soon as placed on and attached to the walk become part of it, and would, we think, be part of the street and therefore land, and any such question arising would have to be decided accordingly. We know of no authority which holds that pavements or flags, when placed on or attached to the street or sidewalks thereof, retain the character of personalty and remain the property of the one who placed them there. They, as soon as attached, become part of the street and are subject to the same uses and rights as theretofore existed in the street.

The city owns the fee in the land composing many of the streets, but the fee of the land in some other streets in the city is held by the adjoining owners, subject to the use thereof as public streets.

The total length of the sewerage of the city is over 433 miles. Of pavements of all kinds over 355 miles, and of gas mains over 1,228 miles. Of the latter more than 105 miles are north of the Harlem River.

There Should be } No Taxes
There Would be }

IF ! ! !

IF the city were in receipt of payments from corporations commensurate with the great value of franchises and privileges granted them, there would be no necessity for the maintenance of a bureau for the collection of taxes on real and personal estate. This is a bold statement, still it is only a few months ago that the chief financial officer of the city, Comptroller Myers, was reported as having expressed himself to that effect. The other day, in glancing over the annual report of the Public Works Department, our attention was attracted by some information furnished by the Bureau of Lamps and Gas, and after a careful reading the force of the Comptroller's remarks about no taxes was very apparent, and the truth thereof beyond question. Our readers know what valuable grants have been made without remuneration, so that it is unnecessary here to enumerate them. A simple statement of the information referred to will suffice to make the matter clear to even the dullest mind. At the end of last year the total number of miles of gas mains laid in the streets of this city was over 1,228. Of these over 112 miles were laid by the Equitable Gas-light Co., and the balance or over 1,116 miles by six other companies. Now the Equitable Co. commenced the laying of mains in 1883, and it is compelled by its franchise, under the conditions prescribed by the Gas Commission, to pay into the City Treasury at the rate of twenty cents for each lineal foot of mains laid—the sum amounts at the present time to $118,940. The question naturally arises, how much do the other companies pay? The answer is not a penny. This company is the only one that makes any compensation to the city for the privilege of laying mains, and is also compelled to light all the public street lamps in the lines of its mains at a rate not exceeding twelve dollars per year for each lamp. The Standard Gas-light Company commenced laying mains in 1886, and now has down over 110 miles, for which the city gets nothing. As previously stated, only one company pays. From the foregoing it will be seen that if all companies gas, heating, horse-car, electric lighting, etc., were made to pay taxes commensurate with the value of their franchises, the revenue derived would be sufficient to meet expenses and do away with the collection of taxes.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Committee on Legislation held the usual weekly meeting on Tuesday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair, Benj. F. Romaine, Jr., acting as secretary pro tem.

Richard V. Harnett, on behalf of the Special Committee on Rapid Transit, reported progress on the matters referred to this committee, and stated that an early hearing at Albany had been promised to representatives of the Exchange.

The Sub-Committee on Drafting and Amending Laws reported progress in the matter of fixing the date of lien of the annual tax levy.

The Special Committee on the subject of taxing buildings under construction reported that they had called on the Commissioners of Taxes, and were informed that the Commissioners were powerless in the matter, as the law relating to the taxation of improvements was mandatory, and they were forced to assess improvements placed upon vacant lands. The Commissioners stated, however, that as they fixed the tax values in December of each year, parties building could avoid taxation on their buildings from nine to thirteen months after commencing operations, and that whenever it was in the Commissioners' power to avoid taxing buildings in course of construction they would give parties building all the benefit the law would allow; for the Commissioners fully recognized the fact that, as the builders were the means of the city's receiving increased revenues, they should be protected as far as it was in the Tax Commissioners' power to do so. The latter further stated that the law, as it existed at present, gave them certain discretionary powers, which they always gave the builders the benefit of, and they feared that if any agitation against the present law was commenced it might curtail and deprive them of powers which they have always used for the benefit of parties improving lands.

Wm. Reynolds Brown called attention to the dangerous character of Assembly bill, Int. No. 580, introduced by Mr. Burns, relative to grade crossings of railroads in the 23d and 24th Wards. The bill was then read, and Mr. Brown moved that a remonstrance against it be sent to the Speaker and Chairman of the Railroad Committee of the Assembly and the President of the Senate. The motion was carried, and a remonstrance has accordingly been sent to these officials, in which the following paragraphs appear:

1. It (Assembly bill No. 580) seems to be an attempt on the part of the rail road companies, or some of them, to reverse the present order of things and to allow them to regulate the laying out of streets and highways rather than to allow the public authorities to regulate the laying out of railroads.

2. The amendment is unnecessary, but, if made, it should forbid the construction of a railroad across any street or highway at grade, and not the laying out of a highway across a railroad at grade.

3. If it became a law it would compel every city in the State, and every town within twenty-five miles of a city to regulate the laying out of streets either over or under every railroad track now in existence or hereafter to be built, unless the city or town authorities could convince the Supreme Court of the necessity of a grade crossing.

4. It takes away the power from city or town authorities appointed and provided by law to lay out streets, and commits the proceedings in each case where such proposed street crosses a track to the uncertainties of a lawsuit.

5. In the City of New York it would practically destroy several miles of the most valuable water front on the Harlem and East Rivers, for the reason that there are now two railroads constructed along the Harlem River so close to the water's edge that it is impossible to construct a highway under them, as it would be far below low water-mark, and if the highways were built over such railroads, they would be so far above water as to render the bulkheads useless. One of the said railroads is constructed parallel with the water front on the East River, and within 1,200 feet thereof, across low lands on spiles. It would be impossible to tunnel under the spiling, and, if highways were constructed above the tracks, the grades would be too steep for use, whereas the railroad bed could readily be filled in and each street bridged.

A motion was then carried that the Exchange be represented at a hearing before the Assembly Committee on Cities on bill Int. No. 670, introduced at the instance of the Exchange. relative to the vacating of void assesments.

Several bills were then referred to the proper committees, after which the meeting adjourned.

SPECIAL MEETING ON RAPID TRANSIT.

A largely attended special meeting of the Legislative Committee took place at the Exchange yesterday afternoon, Wm. C. Orr in the chair.

On a call to business, Richard V. Harnett proposed the following resolution:

"That the Rapid Transit Committee be empowered to confer and act with the Board of Directors in any action which the Board of Directors may take regarding rapid transit."

Geo. S. Lespinasse seconded the resolution and said that the object of the resolution was to have the Directors call a public meeting on rapid transit.

Henry Wilson rose to object. He inferred that the resolution was intended to further individual objects and not the interests of property owners.

Mr. Lespinasse said that any action taken by the Exchange to help rapid transit must benefit real estate.

A. Disbecker thought the Exchange should formulate what it wants in general terms, and not support any particular plan which would weaken the influence of the Exchange.

After further discussion the resolution was, by a standing vote, carried, with the addition of the words: "And make a report to the General Committee on Legislation, with any suggestions they may have to make."

It is understood that a public meeting will be called by the Board of Directors, in conjunction with the Legislative Committee. President Geo. H. Scott, when seen after the meeting, expressed himself in favor of such a gathering, and felt that all the prominent citizens of New York, as well as the entire Exchange, should be present.

Sale of a Fifth Avenue Mansion.

Another 5th avenue residence has been sold for business purposes. The elegant house No. 391 5th avenue, one door above 36th street, has been purchased by Jacques Krakauer, the ladies' tailor, who will occupy it for his business. This part of 5th avenue has received a sort of boom from the move of the Manhattan Club into the Stewart Mansion, not to speak of the New York Club, and the new establishment of Sherry's near by. No. 391 is 28x125 in size, and the price paid is said to be between $140,000 and $150,000.

Important to Property-Holders.

The above list will be transmitted for confirmation on the 5th day of April, 1890.

How is This?

W. E. D. Stokes has applied to the Park Department for permission to extend the stoops of houses to be erected by him on the north side of 72d street, between West End avenue and the Boulevard, to 8 feet beyond the building line. The matter has been referred to the Superintendent of Parks and the Landscape Architect for report and recommendation.

Notes.

The first annual meeting of the Piano and Organ Manufacturers' Association of the United States was held last Monday evening, at Liederkranz Hall. The following officers were elected: William Steinway, president; R. M. Walters, vice-president; Henry Behning, Jr., secretary; Henry Behr, treasurer. The annual dinner will be held in April, at Delmonico's.

Changing Street Names.

The movement to change the names of 9th and 10th avenues, north of their junction with the Grand Boulevard, received quite a step forward on Tuesday, when a petition was presented to the Board of Aldermen containing the signatures of thousands of west side residents and storekeepers, including scores of property-owners. They desire to have 9th avenue changed to Columbus avenue, and 10th avenue to Holland or Amsterdam avenue. The petition was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Declined to Serve.

Application will be made by Corporation Counsel Clark to the Supreme Court, on March 27th, for the appointment of a commissioner in each of the following proceedings for acquiring title to lands needed for the opening of East 176th street, Cauldwell and Walnut avenues. Messrs. Fordham Morris, Bowie Dash and Ernest Hall having declined to serve.

The New Movement.

A BANKER INVESTS THIS TIME.

According to the official filings Solomon Loeb, of the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has acquired the store property on the northeast corner of Fulton and William streets. The price paid, $80,000, may seem a large one when it is known that the lot is only 20.5x51.5 feet, but such a feeling will at least be modified when we add that the purchaser has leased the property for a period of over ten years at $7,000 per annum. The lessee, Edward F. Brunjes, is a member of the family who sold the premises to Mr. Loeb. Our articles calling attention to this method of investment have not been in vain.

The Opening of West 120th and 121st Streets.

The commissioners in the matters of opening 120th and 121st streets, from 10th to New avenue (Morningside West), have completed their estimates and assessments. Objections, if any, must be made in writing on or before April 14th, at 200 Broadway, fifth floor. The reports are now on file at the Department of Public Works.

Notes and Items.

The contract for the soldiers' and sailors' monument to be erected on the plaza at Prospect Park has been awarded to Bernard Gallagher for $174,592. The work is to begin within thirty days and finished within 300 days. The other bids were: W. & T. Lamb, $194,300; Andrew D. Baird & Co., $197,150. Proposals from Seth M. Keeney and Crawford & Valentine were received too late to be opened.

The Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange held a meeting yesterday afternoon at their rooms at No. 14 Vesey street, to consider the preliminary arrangements for entertaining the National Builders' Association at their convention to be held in New York next winter.

The Equitable Gaslight Company have 112 miles of mains, and the city will receive $118,940, or 20 cents for each lineal foot from the company for the privilege of laying same. A total of 1,116 miles have been laid by other companies, for which privilege the city will get nothing.

The sum of $56,873,539 has been paid into the city treasury for Croton water since its introduction in the year 1842 to January 1, 1890. From May, 1843, to May, 1844, the total was $84,444, against $2,544,650 received from January 1, 1889, to January 1, 1890.

About Down Town Buildings.

Not a few tenants and property-owners will be interested in the following talks with two well-posted down-town agents and brokers. It sheds some light upon the present condition, from a renting point of view, of the older office buildings, south of the City Hall, contrasted with those of modern construction.

H. H. Cammann said: "We are not losing many of our tenants now, but in years gone by we lost a number who removed to the newer buildings in consequence of their greater attractiveness. This was particularly so in the neighborhood of Wall street. The reason why some vacancies still exist in that vicinity is because business has been dull in the stock market for the past year or two and many stock brokers have not made money. Those who have taken quarters in the new buildings are the larger firms, who can afford to go into a first-class modern structure and pay the higher rents demanded for offices in those buildings. Tenants are more particular now than they used to be and will not put up with what they did ten or fifteen years ago. The firms who want quarters in the new buildings complain considerably of the high rents demanded, but eventually they yield to these higher rents because they want to get into a building with all the modern improvements."

"Does it pay to buy up old down-town buildings and convert them into modern buildings with modern improvements?" asked the writer.

"It will not pay a heavy rate of interest to the investor," said Mr. Cammann. "Elevators are absolutely necessary to rent the upper floors in buildings and where these are absent it will certainly pay to put them in."

"Is the desire for modern attractions the only reason which induces firms to go into the new office buildings?"

"Not entirely," was the reply. "Many stockbrokers, for instance, are forced to take more attractive offices to protect themselves by retaining their customers. They have found that people gravitate to those places which are attractive, and to keep up with their competitors they have had to get into equally attractive quarters. These are only to be found generally in the new first-class down-town office buildings, and that is why the new ones in Wall street and vicinity are rented so quickly."

D. Y. Swainson, of the firm of L. J. Carpenter, said: "The new buildings certainly enter into strong competition with the older class of buildings. Tenants in the latter are very apt to threaten the landlords or their agents that if they don't reduce their rents they will move into more modern structures. But it is a fact that it is difficult to duplicate the same space in new buildings except at a considerably higher rent. For instance, one of our tenants now occupies a second floor in a building which has no elevator, and some time ago they demanded a reduction of several hundred dollars in their rent. As the figure they were paying was a very reasonable one, and we knew that it could not be duplicated anywhere near the Stock Exchange, we felt that the demand for a reduction was not warranted, and declined to yield to the lower figure. The parties tried to do better, but found that the newer class of buildings were considerably higher in rent, and consequently acquiesced in the old figure remaining in the same place. There are a number of vacancies in old-fashioned buildings on the upper floors, because people will not climb up several flights of stairs, preferring to pay more rent in buildings with elevators."

"Do you have any applicants at all for these upper floors?"

"Yes," was Mr. Swainson's reply. "And curiously enough some of these are from people who do not want them for offices, but for living purposes. They include porters engaged in down-town houses, janitors of down-town buildings where there are no living rooms for them, and others. These people are willing not only to pay office prices, but even larger figures still. But we cannot rent them to these people; first, because it would not do to have families living in the same building with business men; and second, because we would have to go to the expense of making alterations and additions, in plumbing, ranges, etc., to suit these families, and this would place the buildings under the special superveillance of the fire and health authorities. So that, taking all things into consideration, it would not pay. While on the subject of office removals, I would say that we find the insurance companies are gobbling up property in Cedar, Pine and William streets, and the tenants of the buildings they intend tearing down will, of course, have to move elsewhere, in new buildings or in any other structures where they can be accommodated.

Items of Interest from the Public Works Department.

During the year 1889, 302 contracts were entered into for work to be done at a total estimated cost of $3,934,513. There were sixty-two sewer contracts at a cost of $292,497; thirty-one regulating and grading contracts, $167,047, and eighty-seven contracts for paving and repaving streets at a cost of $1,782,179.

Two hundred and ninety-one contracts were completed at a cost of $2,128,834.

There were 212,341 square yards of pavement laid during the year, of which over 25,000 were of asphalt, nearly 16,000 of trap block, and the balance of granite block.

The streets were opened 23,498 times to repair all mains other than Croton water mains, and make repairs of and connections for gas, steam, water, sewer, electric lights and subways, and 7,347 notices were sent to corporations and others to repair bad places in the pavement over openings made by them, and 6,114 bad places were repaired in compliance with said notices.

Maps and surveys were made for the widening and extension of Elm street from Chambers street to Lafayette place; the extension of Centre street from Broome to 4th street; the extension of 6th avenue, from its present southern terminus to West Broadway at Franklin street. In none of these cases has action been taken to carry out the proposed extensions. Maps and surveys were furnished for widening and extending College place and Greenwich street from Chambers to Dey street, and for the extension of Bethune street from Greenwich to Hudson street, and in both cases the Board of Street Opening and Improvement has established the street as widened and extended, and proceedings are about to be commenced to acquire the necessary land and appraise the damages and benefit.

A total of nearly $54,000 was collected for water supplied for building purposes, etc., and $104,945 for permits to build vaults.

Nearly 38¼ miles of gas mains were laid.

Forty-eight inch water mains were laid in 110th street, between Manhattan and 10th avenues; 8th avenue, between 85th and 90th streets (two lines), and 125th street, between 5th and 8th avenues. A thirty-six inch pipe was laid in the latter street, between 4th and 5th avenues.

Book Notice.

"Works of Walter Bagehot." Five volumes. Edited by FORREST MORGAN. Published by the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford.

The Travelers' Insurance Company deserve some public recognition for the edition of the works of Walter Bagehot, which they have recently published. Modern methods of advertising are for the most part so purely tricky and so entirely worthless, so far as the public is concerned, that when an insurance company gets out a work as an advertisement, in itself worth publishing, it sets a precedent which we should be glad to find other firms and corporations imitating. Whether it will pay the company as an advertisement is a doubtful question. If they could have associated their name with some sensational novel it might have given them a more immediate and widespread publicity, but certainly a less permanent one. The edition is creditable in every way. The type is large and consequently legible, the paper is of good quality, and the binding, though plain, is respectable. Furthermore the editor seems to have spared no pains to make the work accurate. He complains, apparently with much justice, that the task was a difficult and trying one. Walter Bagehot was insufferably careless in preparing his copy and correcting his proofs. His essays in the original were brimful of errors, grammatical and theoretical, while his quotations were made from memory and were often inaccurate. His editor is consequently placed in the dilemma of either altering the original or allowing the perpetuation of the slipshod mistakes. Mr. Morgan has adopted a compromise. He gives Mr. Bagehot's essays as they stand; and makes his corrections either in foot note or in an addendum. We are unprepared to say that this task has been completely done, but that the editor has lavished much trouble on the work is evident. Assuming, then, that the edition itself is satisfactory, it is not hard to conceive where the company may get its returns. As the books are worth preserving they will become a sort of standing advertisement. The agents of the company can distribute them—a task not so very difficult considering that the price for the five volumes is only five dollars. Where they go, there they will remain, to earn the gratitude of all lovers of good books.

Walter Bagehot is but little known in this country, and more is the pity. His series of essays on the English Constitution is, it is true, practically used as a text book by some of our colleges, but neither this nor any other of his books has been sufficiently quoted on this side to make it popular. Probably not ninety-nine out of a hundred of our best class of newspaper readers could recall anything about him on the mention of his name. Neither are the causes for this fact far to seek. His writings were not sensational enough, they did not have that "newness" about them which is essential for the favor of the American public. Furthermore his economical opinions were not such as would commend themselves to our practical American economic writers. Walter Bagehot was more of a critic than an originator. He took material supplied by others and amplified it, refined it, excluded errors and added supplementary thoughts, but he did not create. He did no book writing properly so called, with the exception of his "Physics and Politics." His essays appeared in reviews; thus they were temporary in character (using that word in its best sense), and the fact that he was so careless about his proof-reading shows perhaps that he hardly realized that they had a permanent value of a certain kind. But although not an originator, Mr. Bagehot's works contain many strikingly suggestive thoughts, and there is little in the five volumes that would not repay careful pernsal.

The action of the Board of Directors in deciding that on and after February 1, 1890, a charge of five cents per name be made for ownerships given in reply to inquiries made in the Bureau of Information by members, is already meeting with a little opposition here and there. Whether that opposition will later on develop into a sufficiently strong one to call for the abrogation of the measure remains to be seen. The Exchange has been deficient for some time in the names of owners of properties dating back beyond twenty-two years. The owners have all been posted up from the files of THE RECORD AND GUIDE since 1868, with such other information as has been obtained through the courtesy of brokers and occasional searches at the Register's office. The Exchange resolved to get all the owners possible without the expense involved in having a clerk employed at the Register's office to search the owners of property not down on the bureau's books. They therefore adopted the cheaper method of applying to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, paying to that corporation twenty cents per name. This has involved the question of saddling the expense indirectly on members by charging a fee of five cents for each and every owner's name given, whether the property has only recently changed hands or whether it has not been transferred for fifty years. The unfairness of making all members who want to get at a recent transaction pay for those members who really cause the expense by asking for an owner when the transaction took place forty or fifty years ago is apparent, and the proper way would seem to have been to charge for inquiries for ownerships before 1868, and to give ownerships subsequent to that date, or already in possession of the Exchange, free of cost. The rule has hitherto been to give each member thirty ownerships per month without cost, and to charge five cents for each one given over thirty. This seemed reasonable, for it allowed some leeway to annual members and stockholders, who will now be made to pay more or less per annum for information in the hands of the Exchange which ought to be given freely to both classes of members. It is understood that tickets of denominations of $1, 50 cents, 25 cents and 5 cents will be issued, and holes punched in them according to the number of owners' names given.

Real Estate Department.

The week has been a fairly busy one on 'Change, and in the brokers' offices, but the results have not been as satisfactory as in the previous week or two. The unexpectedly cold weather has been a setback, having deterred buyers—and many of these comprise men of years—from getting to the brokers' offices and from coming down to the Exchange. A number of the properties offered this week at auction did not sell as well as might have been anticipated in the present generally good tone of the market, and many of the buyers will reap considerable profit on their purchases. The Graves Estate sale did not realize the expectations of the heirs, notably in the two largest parcels offered; but, as a prominent broker said, to force such properties on the market when there is no certainty of buyers is a dangerous venture at all times, as there are very few men who can afford to buy and run an 80-foot-square house, or a seven story building on 5th avenue. It is pointed out, with truth, that the Stewart mansion, if forced on the market, would probably fare as badly as the Graves mansion, and the Park Avenue Hotel and the Stewart and Denning business buildings might possibly fare just as badly, if not protected by the heirs, and for the same reason, namely, that there may not be a single buyer in New York ready to pay a fair price under the hammer for any such large pieces of realty.

The exchange of properties continues one of the leading features of the market. Trades are arranged for all kinds of property; vacant lots are exchanged for flats and private houses, the more costly and the latest built of the latter for the cheaper and less modern, and tenements and old brick and frame dwellings and shops for anything and everything, and last, but not the least, the country residence or farm for whatever can be obtained in the way of city realty. Exchanges involving hundreds of thousands of dollars are of weekly occurrence, and it is only necessary to read the columns of conveyances given on other pages to learn how numerous the trades really are. We endeavor by a system of references to designate such transactions, and there is no doubt but the effort is greatly appreciated by all brokers, owners and corporations who keep a record of the sales. A section in which trading is and has been unusually active is the lower east side, where, during recent years, the largest and most active buyers have been Hebrews.

On Monday No. 114 West 69th street a 17-foot four-story dwelling was sold to the plaintiff at $24,000 and No. 4 West 132d street, a similar dwelling, also to the plaintiff in the proceedings, at $16,000.

On Tuesday a plot of ground on the southeast corner of Broome and Mott streets, 72.9x108.8x70 5x103.6, with three and four-story buildings thereon, was knocked down to Broker L. Tauenbaum, for one of his customers, at $101,150, and No. 83 Spring street, near Crosby street, a five-story iron front brick building, on a lot 25x118.4x25x117.1, went to the same party at $80,000. A 23-foot four-story residence on the northeast corner of Lenox avenue and 122d street, sold to Jos. Murray for $47,500; the brick and stone building on a plot 62.3x85 on the northwest corner of Laight and Varick streets, to Geo. Cauldwell for $49,950, and No. 897 8th avenue, near 53d street, a four-story building and lot 25x100, to A. C. Kingsland, for $34,600. Several sales were adjourned.

On Wednesday the most valuable parcel sold was "The Orienta," apartment house at Nos. 153 and 155 East 72d street. It is an eight-story building on a plot 39.5¼x102.2, and was sold to J. F. Kelley for $95,000. The records show that it was conveyed to Moritz Pinner, February 4, 1889, for $92,000. The two-five story flats, on a plot 60x99.10, at Nos. 220 to 224 East 127th street, went to Heilner & Wolf, under forclosure; a three-story dwelling, on a lot 20x80, at No. 2422 2d avenue, adjoining the corner of 124th street, offered by order of the executor, went to J. Ackers for $8,150, and a lot, 28x100.5, on the north side of 43d street, 171.1 west of 2d avenue, was sold, under foreclosure, to Theo. Knauff for $4,800. Two parcels offered by executors' orders brought $15,225 and $9,200 respectively, the former for a a 22-foot three-story dwelling at No. 24 East 13th street, near 5th avenue, and the latter for No. 18 Jones street, near Bleecker street, a three-story house on a lot 21.1x97.6. A flat at No. 111 West 106th street was knocked down to F. M. Jencks at $19,500, under foreclosure.

On Thursday the principal attraction was the Graves estate sale, mentioned more fully below. Among other properties offered were two by order of the executor. One comprised No. 54 Vesey street, near Greenwich street, a five-story brick building, on a lot 25x101.6, which was sold to Perrie Humbert for $42,700, and the other a 20-foot four-story house at No. 13 East 74th street, which was knocked down to Broker D. Y. Swainson, of the firm of L. J. Carpenter, for $31,000.

The general result of the Graves estate sales on Wednesday and Thursday has been a surprise to many real estate men, both in Brooklyn and New York. The smaller properties, on the whole, did not fare so badly, but the larger parcels—the Brooklyn residence and the 5th avenue store property—did not receive their deserts. Those who have seen the former, with its large music room, conservatory and picture gallery and its elaborately carved hard woods, can realize the ridiculously low figure at which the building was sold. The ground alone, without the residence, could not have been bought at private sale for $68,000, the price obtained for the entire property, not to speak of the house, which covers about 80 feet square, and is said to have cost about $200,000 to build. The land on which this Clinton avenue dwelling was built, together with a plot adjoining on the same street, and all extending to Adelphi street, cost Mr. Graves $62,000. The building which was torn down to make way for the new house was a handsome brick and stone dwelling. It is said that an offer of $100,000 was refused for the house before the sale. Charles Pratt, of the Standard Oil Company, for whom Alfred J. Pouch bought the house, has made an unprecedentedly cheap purchase, while the estate has sacrificed a fine piece of property, on which more money would have been loaned by a judicious institution than was obtained for it under the hammer. Of course, a large house like this can only be purchased by a man of considerable wealth, for it is not only the cost of the property, but the running of it, which will take at least twelve servants. If the Stewart mansion were to be placed on the market, how many men would there be to bid on it? And when it was knocked down, it is doubtful if it would bring within hundreds of thousands of what it cost. The Standard Oil magnate, who bought the Graves house, now occupies one of the finest residences in Brooklyn, and it is said that he purchased the former for his son. The 5th avenue property rents at a figure which will yield five per cent., net, on $240,000; yet there was no one present who would bid over $162,000 for it, though a conservative dealer present said that if he were in the market for it he would have bid up to $190,000, and possibly higher. The ground alone cost $160,000, with the privileges of an alleyway, and with an open courtyard, 50 feet long, in the rear, which gives the building splendid light on every floor. Fortunately, the property went to one of the members of the firm of The Robert Graves Company, in the interest of the heirs, and was thus saved from being sacrificed like the Brooklyn residence. The flat, No. 140 West 36th street, renting for $5,160, sold for $43,250 to B. B. Johnson; the six tenements at Nos. 417 to 427 West 18th street, at from $18,000 to $18,400 each, Dealer Timothy Donovan securing the first one at the first named figure. No. 158 West 15th street, without a vacancy and renting for $4,560, sold for $41,750 to Chas. Salter. The estate realized a total of $629,000, of which $272,800 was for the Brooklyn property and $356,200 for the New York parcels.

Yesterday's sales were unimportant, and were all under foreclosure proceedings. Among the knockdowns was one to Ottinger Bros. It comprised the three-story house at No. 647 Lexington avenue, near 55th street, on a lot 24.6x100, which went at $18,400.

On Monday, March 10th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell four lots, 25x100.5 each, on 70th and 71st streets, extending through 323 east of Avenue A.

Out Among the Builders.

Edward H. Kendall has drawn plans for a ten-story brick, terra cotta and bluestone warehouse, to be built by the American Express Company on the southwest corner of Hudson and Jay streets. The building is to be of heavy construction, 97x102 in size, and will cost $275,000.

F. H. Mela intends to build a six-story and basement store and loft building at No. 21 West Houston street. It will contain a rapid passenger and freight elevator and fire-proof stairways and will be remodeled after his building at No. 126 Bleecker street. It will have several novel features. Cleverdou & Putzel are to be the architects.

William L. Wallace will build a seven-story fire-proof factory for the manufacture of confectionery on a plot recently purchased by him, 92x100, at Nos. 38, 40, 42 and 44 Laight street.

The trustees of the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund have decided to erect an orphan Asylum at Utica, N. Y., and have selected five architects to draw plans. The building is to cost about $150,000 to $175,000. This will be preliminary to the erection of other buildings by the trustees of this fund.

The Erie County Savings Bank, of Buffalo, N. Y., are having plans prepared by Buffalo architects, as well as several outside architects, Geo. B. Post, R. W. Gibson and McKim, Mead & White are among the latter. The building is to cost upward of $500,000.

W. H. Hume is the architect for the improvements to be made by Geo. Hillen on the southeast corner of 7th avenue and 125th street, referred to in a previous issue. He will draw plans for a building to occupy 25x100 on the corner, and to have stores on the first floor and suites of apartments above, the four lots adjoining to be improved later on. The details of the improvements and their cost have not yet been settled upon.

Geo. F. Pelham has plans on the boards for three five-story and basement light brick and stone front double flats, 25x82 each, to be built by John Totten at Nos. 330 to 334 West 17th street, to cost about $65,000; two five-story and store tenements with similar fronts, 20x75 each, to be built on the west side of 1st avenue, north of 45th street, for E. C. Totten, to cost $30,000, and a five-story and basement twenty family-tenement, 25x89, with Philadelphia brick and stone fronts, to be built by M. Duffy, on the north side of 47th street, 125 feet west of 8th avenue, at a cost of about $19,000.

John Demarest, of Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., will build four four-story flats, 18.9x70 each, on the south side of 139th street, 75 feet west of Alexander avenue, from plans by Thos. Overington.

William P. Devlin will build a five-story tenement 25x88.6, at No. 454 West 36th street, from plans by Geo. Keister.

William Graul is the architect for four four-story tenements, each 20x52 and extension, to be built by George Reichardt, on the north side of 138th street, between St. Ann's and Brook avenues.

Herter Brothers are the architects for a five-story tenement and store, 23x46.4, to be built by Asher Weinstein at No. 63 Canal street.

Henry B. Helmke will improve a plot 56x110 on the northwest corner of Central Park West and 83d street, probably by the erection of a first-class flat with stores.

David and John Dunn have bought four lots on the south side of 87th street, 300 feet west of 11th avenue, and they will likely improve them by houses similar in character to those they are erecting on four lots west of the above.

Chas. P. H. Gilbert has drawn plans for remodeling the residence on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 73d street. There is to be a brick and stone extension, a new tile roof and extensive alterations throughout, including steam heat and hard wood finish. The stable on the premises is to be remodeled also, and the whole property put in first-class order by Geo. A. Lowe, the owner. Cost not estimated.

Kurtzer & Röhl have plans under way for a five-story basement and cellar brick, stone and terra cotta flat, 27.6x99.8, to be built at No. 95 East 8th street. Cost, $18,000. G. Horenberger, owner.

Higgs & Rooke are preparing plans for five three-story and basement brick and stone dwellings to be built by D. J. Dwyer on the south side of 147th street, near St. Nicholas avenue. Four will be 19x52; one 23x65, and the five buildings will cost $90,000.

Edward Wenz is the architect for two five-story flats and stores to be built on the southeast corner of 2d avenue and 90th street for Wm. A Wilson at a cost of $70,000.

Alfred Zucker intends to remove his offices from No. 346 Broadway to the Lincoln building on the northwest corner of Union square and 14th street on April 1st.

F. Holmberg has plans on the boards for a five-story brick flat and store, to be built on the southeast corner of 9th avenue and 77th street, for John P. Ryan, at a cost of $25,000. The size of the house will be 38x98 feet.

Gillie & Curry will improve their recent purchase at Nos. 310 to 316 West 32d street, 50x100.

Jno. A. Hamilton has plans on the boards for additions and interior alterations to be made by B. G. Talbot in his residence at No. 132 West 122d street. Cost not estimated.

Richard R. Davis has plans for seven five-story flats to be built for Elisah P. Briggs on the east side of Manhattan avenue between 113th and 114th streets. The corner houses will be 28x95, the inside houses 36.6x80, and the 114th street house 21x71 feet in size. The houses, which are to have brown stone fronts, will cost $200,000. The same architect will re-draw plans for three five-story double tenements to be built for Smith & Robinson on the north side of 27th street, 36 feet west of 5th avenue, at a cost of $65,000. Sizes 27 and 28x75 feet. Plans have been drawn for this plot previously, but since that time the ground has changed hands, and the purchasers will erect a different style of house from that at first projected.

B. M. Stewart will build six three-story brick and stone dwellings on a plot 118x100 feet, on the south side of 77th street, 186 feet east of 10th avenue.

Andrew Spence will furnish plans for four five-story brick and stone flats, to be built on the northeast corner of Edgecombe avenue and 142d street, for John Smith, at a cost of $70,000. Two of the flats will be built for two families on a floor, and two for single apartments. The same architect has plans under way for two five-story flats, to be built for Philip Smith, at Nos. 207 and 209 East 100th street, at a cost of $36,000. The sizes are 25x82 and 25x90 feet.

The Union Square Bank will not improve the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 59th street, as reported. The error occurred through President Wagner of that bank, having purchased the property.

Brooklyn.

The Zoellner Maennerchor will erect a club house on a plot, 129.6x100, on the northeast side of Broadway, 75 feet southeast of Hewes street. No architect has yet been selected.

The new Star Theatre for J. W. Holmes will be built on the east side of Jay street, 90 feet north of Fulton street, from plans drawn by Robert Dixon. It will be 70x115, three stories high. Cost, $50,000.

J. W. Bailey has drawn plans for a four-story brick flat, 25x70, to be erected by Jno. Finn on Tillary street, south side, near Jay street. Cost, $12,000.

I. D. Reynolds has completed plans for a four-story brick flat, 25.8x57, to be erected on the north side of Lexington, 200 west of Throop avenue. Thos. Bryant is the owner; cost, about $8,000. Also for a two-story and basement brick dwelling, 14x40, to be built by the same owner, adjoining above flat on the avenue, and to cost about $2,500.

J. G. Glover has drawn plans for a two-story frame factory, 20x60, to be built by S. Shepard at a cost of $1,500. The location is the south side of Butler street, near 3d avenue.

C. Werner is the architect for a four-story brick flat with stores to be erected on the south side of Montague street, 125 west of Hicks street. George Roth is the owner, and the cost will be about $14,000.

It is reported that the Astor Estate will shortly begin the erection of handsome stores on the east side of 6th avenue, between 16th and 17th streets.

Chas. Rentz is drawing plans for a one-story brick extension and interior alterations to be made at No. 116 and 118 East 66th street. Cost $1,500. A. Thoma, owner.

Out of Town.

BAYONNE, N. J.—A. F. Leicht has completed plans for a two-story and attic frame dwelling, 26x34, to be on Avenue A, near 6th street, by D. C. Wilcox, at a cost of $2,500.

Special Notices.

F. R. Houghton is one of the most active brokers on 'Change. He is fully posted on west side properties, and has an office on the southwest corner of 72d street and 9th avenue, where nothing of importance to west side interests escapes him. His down-town office, at No. 145 Broadway, is a busy one, and it is there where he works out his ready-reference system. He has exceptional facilities for appraising property. Just now he is quite active in the canvass to change the names of 9th and 10th avenues, north of their junction with the Boulevard, to "Columbus" and "Holland' avenues.

The particulars about the value of the American Aquol and Pyrodene Paint Company's paints, which have appeared in their cards during the last two weeks, have called attention to the remarkable qualities of these paints in all parts of the city. It may be added that the company is comprised of well-known New Yorkers. W. M. Onderdonk, the treasurer has for a quarter of a century been connected with marine and transportation insurance; Andrew J. Robinson of Robinson & Wallace, the builders, is a trustee, and Spencer H. Smith, the president, emerged from many years' retirement from business to handle the paint, so convinced was he of its value. Their office and factory is at Nos. 422 to 426 West 15th street.

Morris B. Baer & Co. of Nos. 70 and 72 West 34th street, have done considerable loaning recently, having placed about $500,000 on bond and mortgage at 4 per cent. They are still offering a considerable amount to loan at the same rate of interest. Their sales of property during the last month or so amounted to about $750,000. They continue to make a specialty of taking hold of mismanaged and neglected real estate and placing it on a paying basis. They have recently enlarged their office and have a great number of properties for rent and sale in all parts of the city.

Richard Walters' Sons, the well-known auctioneers of Broadway and 37th street, sold the old plant of the New York Star last Wednesday, by order of Chas. W. Dayton, trustee. The sale was a great success, realizing about $15,000. Messrs. Walters have been unusually successful during the past year in conducting their sales and in soliciting auction sales of household furniture and private residences during the coming season, point with pride to their record of the past and refer to their numerious customers, who are numbered among the most prominent mercantile, legal, professional and public people in the City of New York.

I. & S. Wormser of the Mills Building, No. 15 Broad street, advertises for lease in another column a very attractive plot of thirteen lots, consisting of the entire front on the Grand Boulevard, west side, between 61st and 62d streets.

The Fourth Avenue Railroad Company is now running cars from 86th street and East River to Madison avenue, and from thence either up or down town on their line.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For Prices see pages VII., XI., XII. and XIII.]

BRICKS.—Very little change has occurred in the general characteristics of the market for Common Hards since our last, with the exception of a lessened volume of demand. Last Sunday night's storm brought the first check, and just about the time that influence was commencing to wear away came the heavier snow fall of Wednesday night and Thursday, followed by cold, so that very little work has been accomplished. It is claimed that at quite a number of jobs a supply of stock is really wanted, but builders and contractors naturally accept the advantage presented and by standing off hope to weaken the line of value before they again come in to invest. Up to the present writing they do not appear to have attained much success, as we find the line of quotations mentioned covering about the former general range, though possibly it would be well to consider $7.50 per M as about all that can be depended upon unless something of very exceptional quality was handled, as the average run still shows up reasonably attractive and satisfies most wants. About all contributive points have been represented, including some stock from Kingston, and we understand that considerable has been loaded at Fishkill and about ready to come forward, the cold snap not being thought likely to last long enough at this late season to offer any impediment to navigation. It may be stated, however, that a great many manufacturers, and particularly those who are not troubled for want of room at their yards, feel in no great hurry about shipping, and will carry stock against chances for demand with more open weather. Pales have also sold rather slowly, and most sellers have found it difficult to obtain more than $8.50 per M, though quotations are made 25c. and even 50c. per M. higher.

GLASS.—A dispatch from Findlay, O., says: The window-glass manufacturers of the United States began a meeting at Cleveland this morning to which the big window-glass houses of Findlay contributed representatives. The object of this meeting is again to advance the price of window-glass, this being the fourth advance since last December. The rearrangement of schedules and discounts at this meeting will result in an advance of about 15 per cent. over the prices which prevailed three moths ago. The glass men claim that this advance at the beginning of the building season is caused by the increase in price recently made by the importers of foreign glass.

LIME.—As usual the changes in the market are few and unimportant. A few cargoes came forward from the Eastward, and arrivals by rail from the interior are spoken of with demand enough for all and the general line of value sustained. So far as can be learned of there is no new developments regarding next year's combination; but we hear that manufacturers are vigorously at work endeavoring to so shape tariff legislation as to do away with the present advalorem duty which costs the importer only about 3@4c. per bbl., and obtain a specific duty of possibly 12@15c. per bbl., the objective point being to secure protection against the Canadian product.

LABOR.—No strikes or troubles of serious impor have been reported, and in commercial parlance the labor market may be considered quiet and nominally unchanged. The principal feature of the week was the annual meeting of the representatives of the employing plasterers and the operatives resulting in an agreement for two years upon an eight-hour basis. The terms of the agreement between the contractors and their workmen are said to provide for a workday of eight hours at $4 a day. the contractor to have one apprentice the first year, two the second year and three the third year, but never more than three apprentices, and the employment by contractors of none but union men. The members of the Operative Plasterers' Union agree to work for none but contractors belonging to the association, and to do their work in a workmanlike and satisfactory way.

On Thursday evening a meeting was held for conference between the Builders' Association and representatives of the bricklayers' unions to settle terms for the year, and according to report all the unions, except the two German ones, Nos. 11 and 35, agreed on a work day of nine hours, and 50 cents an hour as the rate of pay.

LATH.—There has been practically no market during the week and up to the close of our report the valuation was made from a nominal basis only. For many days an entire absence of offerings left the position without a working foundation and subsequently when a couple of cargoes arrived receivers fixed the rate at $3 per M and calmly sat down to wait for buyers to accept the situation. They had not done so at latest accounts, but bids had reached $2.75 per M and in two or three instances it looked as though stock was rather anxiously sought after. Receivers, at least, talk very confidently, claiming an unusual small quantity afloat and waiting to be shipped with inadequate means of transportation, and freight which three or four weeks ago could be obtained for 65c. is now worth $1.10 per M from St. John. Of Canadian stock we learn of no further sales here, but understand that about a quarter million Northern New York stock, 50 to a bundle, were placed at $2.60 per M with a Jersey City dealer.

A despatch from Chicago says: A movement looking to the amalgamation of the three lumber dealers' organizations in this city was begun at the annual dinner of the Lumber Exchange in the Sherman House. At present the Hardwood Lumber Dealers' Association, the Lumber Yard Dealers' Association and the Lumber Exchange are separate bodies. They control to a great extent the market of the whole West and Northwest. It is proposed to unite the associations as far as possible by placing all the business in the hands of one secretary, holding all meetings of the boards of directors in the same rooms, and trying to center the lumber trade of the city in the new Chamber of Commerce building. A committee was appointed to meet similar committees from the other organizations and prepare a plan for uniting the three.

LUMBER.—The general tendency of trade is toward improvement. The gain does not come out freely and orders are as yet somewhat desultory, but a larger number of them are being placed, and all natural tendencies are toward a further gain from this time forward until early summer at least. For some grades, such as spruce and Southern pine and a few leading descrintions of hardwood, the difficulties of sellers are not likely to be very great, but there is already enough to show that there will be some pretty stiff canvassing and competition on behalf of interior dealers, especially in the matter of white pine, and many of the local buyers are inclined to take matters somewhat calmly. There has been, and indeed continues, an expression of some indifference toward this market by agents resident and traveling, on the plea that Eastern localities will help them out, but local trade has the preference when it can be secured without making any great sacrifice. One thing seems quite certain from these movements, there is no scarcity of Western lumber anticipated. The calculations made upon a boom in the lumber trade at this point, through the influence of the World's Fair, have been cremated and carefully laid away in a very small urn, but the general prospects for building and manufacturing seems to be up to the average, and if the volume of business gains nothing it is hardly likely to lose.

Eastern Spruce retains pretty much all the promising features before suggested, and so far as can be judged expressions of confidence are not made for the mere sake of bolstering the market up. The support is apparently natural and likely to continue. Indeed, it is claimed that if there was an assurance of running into the booms every log of this winter's cut it would be a long while before the effect could be felt, owing to the waiting demand not only here but at other localities, to say nothing of the healthier conditions of our local trade growing out of unanimity of action among dealers and insuring prompt bidding for attractive schedules whenever there is a place for them.

Piling is still looked upon as pretty good property to have in hand, and no fear expressed over probable receipts. As announced in our yearly review, the raft idea for this season need not be entertained, and it is generally believed that no more than an ordinary amount of stock can be brought forward by vessel, while most of the leading receivers remain confident that there will be an excellent line of trade, in addition to amounts already under contract.

Hemlock retains a pretty steady position on any calls for prompt delivery, and some of the trade claim to be negotiating quite a distance ahead on the basis of current valuations where custom is at all particular in the matter of quality, and look upon the comparatively high cost of natural competing woods as quite a support. Claims of ability to buy at a shading from top figures, however, continue, and where there is steady smoke there must be some fire, though it is possible that at the difference in cost buyers are willing to sacrifice something in matter of quality.

Latest advices dispel any fears of snow at the Eastward, indeed, there are some claims of too much of it, but the strong point with sellers now is the scarcity and high cost of freight room and small probability of any relief. Indeed, it is claimed that at some points it is simply impossible at the moment to obtain vessels at any cost, and even the scanty spring shipments calculated upon will be further curtailed.

White Pine seems to have more uncertainties surrounding it than any other wood and all sorts of suggestions come from the two sides of the market. It is doubtful if anyone has an idea there will be a scarcity of supplies during the season, and some think there is sure to be an abundance, and really the main point at issue is the disposition of the offering. A very heavy skirmish line of agents has already appeared, with the main body close behind, and while they generally claim to come prepared to resist any but full bids buyers seem to think their own advantage is in waiting and drawing the first fire before making any special effort in the matter of negotiation, especially as this class of wood does not appear likely to find any greater proportionate demand than last season so far as the city is concerned, and there is belief the idea will hold good at other localities as well.

Yellow Pine retains all the elements of a successful market and there seems to be no reason for complaint among operators on either side. The cost is not higher than expected or out of proportion to natural governing influences, and protected by the successful dealers' combination buyers have no hesitation in placing their orders freely and promptly, and with as reasonable margin preserved receivers and agents are quite as ready to meet the call and afford fairly prompt deliveries. There is no danger of a scanty supply.

Carolina Pine now and then shows a touch of irregularity and the majority of receivers are certainly confident enough in their position to abstain from any voluntary shading of value and to resist attempts to force them. On the contrary the tendency seems to be rather in the opposite direction and an advance is predicted as a sure result if business meets all present promises. There is also a hope of selling a little timber during the summer if all other woods keep high.

Hardwoods have a somewhat irregular demand and apparently the present movement is not so full as expected for a great many grades. Sellers, however, are hopeful of a good average season, and probably will be gratified provided they maintain a full and attractive line of quality. Poplar will be wanted and there may have to take place some scratching around to get the best as some of the leading manufacturers are unwilling to compete on this market with the faulty grades offered. Quartered oak retains all the promising symptoms before suggested, and indeed many agents have their idea fixed well up to about $52.00 per M and probably better for the finest stock. Ash meets with fair favor on home account and quite a little bunch is now placed on foreign orders. The export trade also offers opportunity for nicely selected walnut, but do not find many holders willing to cull over stocks to suit them. We call particular attention to an extract from the London Timber Trades Journal, published in an adjoining column in which grave charges are made in regard to the plugging of faulty walnut logs for the purpose of deception.

The exports of lumber, exclusive of hardwoods, from the port of New York during the month of February were as follows:

	1890. Feet.	1889. Feet.
To West Indies	4,630,000	1,879,000
To South America	2,376,000	4,961,000
To East Indies	1,760,000	930,000
To Europe	105,000	...
Total feet	8,871,000	7,790,000
Previously reported	6,677,000	6,670,000
Total since Jan. 1	15,548,000	14,460,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

Reports from different parts of the Northwest indicate that as a rule plenty of logs will be gotten out. Operations are expensive in some localities, there have been hindrances and delays, and it has been necessary in several cases to work during the night in order to keep up hauling. But as usual the lumbermen will get there with their logs, and during 1890 there is sufficient evidence that they will roll up about the same big table of product as usual. A log crop in the northwest should go on record with death and taxes, as one of the sure things.

Never in the history of this country was the lumber business, from ocean to ocean, and from the gulf to the British boundary, in such a condition of expansion as within the past year, or at the present time. That is to say, the formation of new companies or firms, and the reorganization or enlargement of old concerns, in all parts of the country, has been really remarkable. Operations nowadays are on a uniformly large scale, too, and involve heavy capital in nearly all cases, especially since many timber districts in new country require an important outlay to make the supplies accessible. The whole south, and the far northwest, appear to be effervescent with lumber enterprises. Both demand and production are constantly on the increase, viewing the lumber business in an aggregate way, and the thing to look out for is that manufacture does not take the bit in mouth and get beyond control. No one need be afraid of good timber land, however. There is money in stumpage in any good region in the United States.

A noteworthy feature of the Lake Michigan white pine trade is an almost total absence of sales of logs or blocks of lumber in pile or to be cut at mill points. The wholesale dealers of this city, who usually begin by this time to look through the woods and range among the mills in search of future stocks that can be brought forward on the opening of navigation, are this year in an apathetic mood. Such as are off on their winter tours are taking affairs leisurely, seemingly in no hurry to return home and resume active business.

In the Saginaw Valley there is a little more life. Cargo sales have lately been made with some frequency, probably because there is good lumber in pile there, a class of stock that is in demand all over the country. Saginaw manufacturers carried over considerable lumber that they would have been glad to have sold last season, but they are likely to receive their compensation in the spring trade. Car-load shipments have also eaten away a good deal of the valley stock, and thus relieved the pressure.

The wholesale yard white pine trade has noticeably improved within the past ten days. Reports from several of the more important points go to show that the spring trade is getting under headway.

In the hardwood trade there is a continual widespread call for quarter sawed oak, which is in short supply all over the country. Unless an unexpected surplus should soon turn up, prices are likely to advance. Indeed, they are higher now than last year.

Buyers conversant with the poplar trade say that the only observable change in the market between that late last season and the present is in the fact that stocks are plentier. Prices have not appreciably declined. Salesmen who have been out on the road in this state, Indiana and westward report a heavy demand for car load lots, and the mills are driven hard to supply orders.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

It is impossible to disguise the fact that the cut of logs in Wisconsin and Minnesota and the northern portion of Michigan has been very large. The shrinkage at points in the southern part of Michigan, because of rain and soft weather, will be more than compensated for by the overrun at other points. An excessive log crop is always a substantial bear argument because manufacturers generally show a disposition to realize on their product, and there is always a disposition to crowd production if the log supply is large and steady. It will take a pretty healthy demand to relieve the pressure from the large cut of logs which has been secured, although it is undoubtedly true that the mill capacity in the white pine states has not been materially increased, and that the production of manufactured lumber, however steady may be the supply of logs, is not likely to very much exceed the cut of 1888. There is apparently an encouraging prospect of a good demand from the East. Indeed the Eastern demand is more promising than the Western with the low prices now prevailing for farm products.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Timber Trades Journal as follows:

LONDON.

We mentioned some time since that a pitch pine cargo of full average had been sold at Liverpool for 55s. c. i. f. Since then a similar cargo was disposed of to a Gloucester buyer at 54s., the ship being ordered to Sharpness Point. Now we hear of a cargo of sawn timber 35 feet average that has been sold c. i. f. at 58s. per load to the West Coast.

In pitch pine freights nothing seems to be moving, a few charters her and there are closed, but the rates remain about the same as those last quoted, 115s. from Ship Island.

The continental market for pitch pine continues rather quiet at present, although a little while since considerable sales in deals and boards were made on the basis of £12 c. i. f. Of late, however, owing to the reduced freights, prices have become somewhat easier and £11 10s. is now about the price.

American Black Walnut.—The demand for lumber is still going on satisfactorily. There is a good amount of stock on hand at the docks, though largely composed of poor stuff, of which quality a deal too much has been sent over here of late. Logs suitable for plain veneer and for cutting into wide boards are still being inquired for, and such will always realize full prices in this market.

Great dissatisfaction is continually being expressed by buyers here at the practice adopted by some shippers on the other side of carefully plugging up faulty-ended logs, in some cases at both ends, and painting them so that the plugs and cup-shakes cannot be detected, unless inspected very closely, the logs so treated being sometimes rotten right through.

We think the brokers should more carefully examine the logs and any plugs they may detect should be drawn out and a liberal allowance made upon all such defective logs.

American Whitewood.—Lumber is selling steadily, though at the present time no great amount of animation is being displayed. Consumers generally hold pretty good stocks and whilst this is so the yard-keepers are not disposed to buy largely unless some special inducement is offered them.

There is still very little inquiry for logs, but we think this is to a great extent owing to the badly manufactured condition in which they are mostly sent forward. We think it would pay shippers to give this matter more attention.

LIVERPOOL.

American Whitewood.—The parcel per Rossmore, all 2 to 3 inches thick, went at 1s. 5d. per foot, and that ex Nova Scotian at 1s. 9d. for the 2½ to 3 inches, whilst all the thin stuff 1¼ to 1¼ inches went at 1s. 3d. per foot.

GLASGOW.

Deliveries of logs also from Queen's Dock storage ground have been active, and owing to the absence of imports, stocks now on hand there are considerably reduced since last stock taking at 31st December.

Walnut logs show fully a third less than at that time, and of whitewood logs the stock is almost exhausted, there being only forty-four logs left now as against 166 at the end of the year.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Rio News, just at hand, reports:

Pitch Pine.—Receipts nil. Quotations are quite nominal at 37$000 per doz. Receipts in January were 1,805,111 feet, against 2,233,560 feet for the same month last year.

White Pine.—The market continues firm and brokers still quote at 120 rs per foot. Receipts nil since our last. In January we received 136,368 feet, against 425,072 feet in January, 1889.

Swedish Pine.—Receipts last month were 773 doz. against 586 doz. in the same month last year.

Spruce Pine.—No receipts last month; in January, 1889, receipts were 249,583 feet.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has not met with a very free demand at this point and the tone was a little irregular without indicating any special tendency to give the seller greater advantage. It is understood however, that considerable stock changed hands at the West on a basis of extreme rates ruling here and that served to maintain values very well. Quotations are generally placed at 14½@14¼c for Lake, and 13¾@13c for casting brands. Manufactured Copper since the first of the month has shown a little more animation, with demand of general character, and the market holding together in good form, free from any deviation from regular price list. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16oz. and over, 22c.; do. 14 to 16 oz, 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 28c.; do, under 8 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz, 14 to 16 oz, 12 to 14 oz, and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 27@30c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 25c.; 14 oz, 27c.; 12 oz, 29c.; and 10 oz, 30c. Bolt copper, ¾ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness: circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@29c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig is offered somewhat more freely but not liberally and the absence of pressure prevents any further important shading on values. Demand, however, shows an indifferent tone and rarely develops except as a matter of necessity. Nominally the general range is quoted at $21.50@26.00 per ton, according to brand. American Pig finds such a liberal delivery on contract that very little stock is left to accumulate on the furnace banks. This is a fortunate and sustaining influence, as the new demand at present runs in light volume with an erratic development, and prices must be kept at about the former range. No cutting on first-class brands is hinted as yet. We quote at $19.00@20.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $18.00@19.00 for No. 2 X do., and $17.00@18.00 for Gray Forge. Old material remains under more or less neglect, and indeed there is rarely any direct demand at all. Holders might possibly be induced to shade a fraction with the prospect of a respectable sized deal before them, but are not openly tendering concessions. We quote at about $25.50@26.50 for old rails; $23.00@24.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@19.50 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron from store has a moderately active and not particularly eventful market, with values generally maintaining a steady position at latest revision. There is, however, a fair and increasing amount of special trade on contract, etc., with more of it expected. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.10@2.12c. from store, and refined at 2.30@2.60c.; Rods, round and square, 2.40@2.45c.; Bands, 2.60@2.65c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steels Rails have been slow of sale and easy in tone, though without shading cost from $35.00 at the mills so far as known. Some buyers claim to have reason to believe they could obtain a lower rate on a large order, but are in no hurry to bid. We quote at $35@— per ton for standard section at the mills and $36.00@36.50 do. at tide water. LEAD—Domestic pig met with a somewhat fluctuating demand, occasionally wanting a pretty large bunch of stock, and then again running into small proportions. On the whole, however, values were raised a trifle and reasonably well preserved. We quote at 3.7½@3.90c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 15c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has been under very good control and held with firmness even to the extent retarding demand, but at the close some irregularity is shown with an apparent tendency to ease off in price. We quote at about 20.75@20.80c. for round lots, and 20.85@20.90c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate while occasionally showing some little irregularity undergoes no radical change and the business for some time has been of simply an ordinary character. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $6.00@6.05, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.15@5.20, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.90@7.00; M. F. grade, 20x28, $14.05@14.05; Worcester, 14x20, $4.92½@4.95; Worcester, 20x28, $9.85@9.90; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.70@4.75; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.35@9.40. D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.55@4.60; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.15@9.20; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.50@4.55; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.65@4.70; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.10@— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.20@— basis. Spelter without much animation, buyers managing to get along with small lots of stock, and values at times look a little soft. We quote at 5.15@5.30c. for common Western, according to brand.

PLASTER PARIS.—There has been an advance in price and a general strengthening of tone on the market for calcined plaster this week, with asking rates now standing generally at $1.50 per bbl. for ordinary, $1.60 for casting, and $1.75 for superfine. All this is the result of natural causes in the matter of supply and demand. Since the first of the year grinding has been almost ceaseless to satisfy the steady call made in part from regular sources, in part for export, but largely in use in the production of patent plastering material, and the result is a material reduction in the supply of rock here, some manufacturers understood to have run out altogether with considerable difficulty confronting them in the effort to take measures for procuring additional supplies. The absorbing of tonnage for the transportation of ice makes vessels very scarce, and the rate now used for gypsum from Nova Scotia to New York is already $1.00 per ton above last charters, with prospects of still further advance. Altogether the situation looks pretty strong. A report for some time circulating in regard to the buying up of a large manufacturing plant located in this harbor by a foreign syndicate is not without considerable measure of truth. Indeed negotiations have made considerable progress, but we can state authoritatively that no positive consummation has as yet been reached.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The basis of most demand is early orders wants, buyers generally preferring to repeat several times rather than risk getting in stock, beyond the chances of a quick turn over. Altogether, however, trade is increasing and gives every indication of further growth, as new districts in the interior commence to be heard from and the local line of custom expands its wants. Offerings fair and prices well sustained for all staple goods. There is considerable talk about the lead trust, opposition, etc., but as yet without influence on values. Linseed Oil selling steadily and showing a good firm market. We quote at 59@60c. for Western, and 61@63c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has found moderate and somewhat uncertain demand, and while the supply is not liberal in assortment rates rule rather easy all around. We quote 42@43c. per gallon, according to quality, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Supplies are kept well in hand and as a rule offered only on call from consumers. Demand, however, fluctuates somewhat and toward most outlets the movement shows nothing above an average, the reports of quick or slow trade coming just as dealers may happen to catch custom. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl. Tar at $2.12½@2.40, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

NAILS.—Demand runs along very much as usual and there seems to be an absence of faith in ability to broaden the outlet for cut nails. Buyers are refusing to invest beyond immediate wants and beside there is considerable competition being felt from wire nails. All of these influences have broken down the line of value on cut and the position is now unsettled. We quote at $2.00@2.05 per keg for car lots, and $2.07½@2.10 per keg for parcels from store.

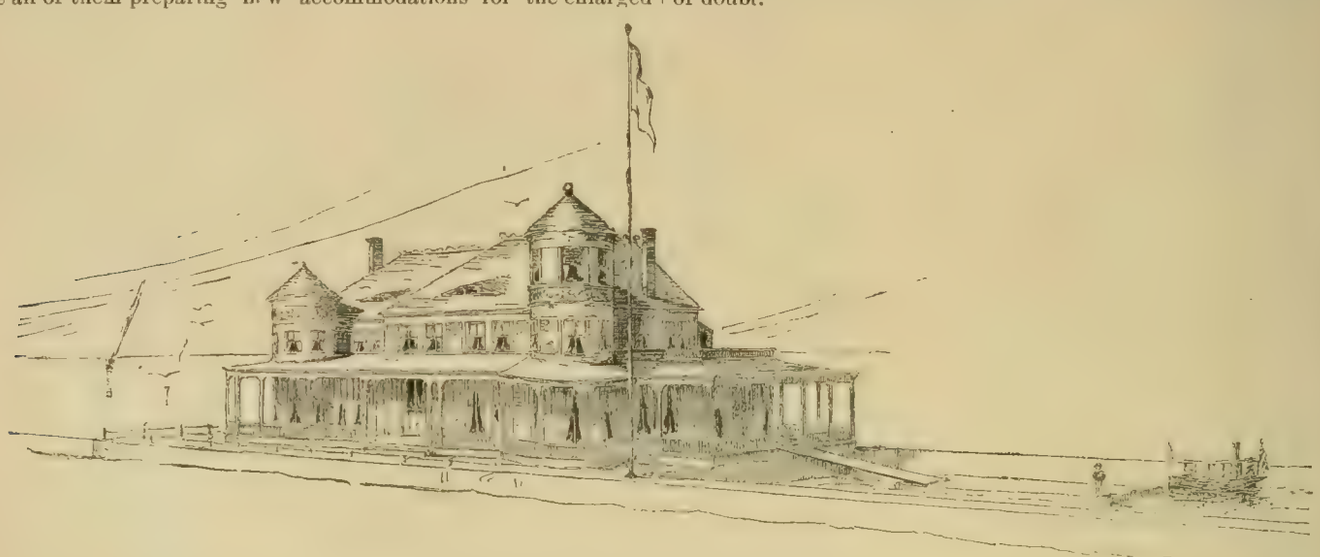
The Growth of Clubs in New York City.

Foreigners, whenever they visit this country, feel inspired to give the world the benefit of their impressions, even when they are not solicited to do so, just as first-nighters hold themselves responsible for some opinion on a new play, or as a physician feels himself called upon to make comments on a peculiar pathological case which comes under his notice. The ordinary diagnosis of our condition lays most importance on the abounding energy of the American character. Herbert Spencer has commented at length on the eager, striving, anxious, nervous faces which you meet everywhere on the street, and in general there is a consensus of expert opinion that we all of us are always trying to arrive at some destination, and that by the shortest possible way. Not only, however, do foreigners invariably notice this fact; we ourselves dwell upon it with pride. A Senator from the State of New Jersey, upon his return from Europe last summer, declared at a public meeting amid great applause that we went abroad simply "to see ruins," thereby implying that although Europe had a past which might be the object of the casual curiosity of our leisure days, America might glory in the fact that she existed in and for the present. Hence it is that Philadelphia, whose pace is not so rapid as that of the rest of the country, is held up to ridicule; and Brooklyn, which more than New York is pervaded by soul-satisfying calm, is the unhappy subject of squibs innumerable.

If you ask a recent arrival in New York, or, indeed, even most old inhabitants, why it is they prefer this city as a place of residence (as they generally do prefer it) he will almost invariably answer that he prefers it because of its liveliness, or to use a phrase beloved of architects, it gives the best opportunity to see and assume "all the modern improvements" in dress, conversation, manners, literature, and thought. It is because this tendency has been so blatant in the past that we are glad to notice that there are some indications of a change: that men are beginning to have more leisure and are beginning to make better use of it, and that some of us at all events have come to the conclusion that time is not worth money, but a little more than money. Scribner's for March comments upon this fact: "How long ago," it asks, "was it that the Broadway pedestrian current, with its 'set' down town in the morning and up town at night, was nearly the only constant and conspicuous social phenomenon to be observed in our streets. Its ebb and flow, too, were regulated by business hours, and what was not utilitarian about it was wholly incidental. * * * Now the flaneur seems at last to have made his appearance. The crowd is beginning to stroll, instead of hurrying and rushing as heretofore. People look at each other, and are even conscious of being looked at. They speculate as to the character and occupation, the position in life, the means, the functions of their ambulant neighbors. Cabs have sprung up. Hansoms have really become an established institution. In a word, the out-of-doors spectacle is far more interesting than it used to be, and in natural consequence the promenading procession of spectators is becoming so, too." Probably most of us have noticed these facts, but Scribner's, so far as we know, is the first to have pointed them out specifically.



THE GROLIER CLUB BUILDING, NEW YORK. CHARLES W. RICHARDSON & CO. ARCHITECTS.

We speak of the change as satisfactory, and it is so from an economic point of view, even as it is from its social and moral aspect. For production, it must be remembered, would never exist without an effective demand or consumption; and an increase in the effective demand must mean either a preliminary increase in production or the means to obtain what you want, or an increase and differentiation in the desire or appetite, which is the mental presupposition of economic demand. When men take more leisure and come to desire a wider variety and a better quality of things: when, in short, they occupy more time in spending and less time in making money, they at once tend to increase the aggregate of production and its quality, besides enriching their own lives with a more bounteous experience and ennobling it with a finer taste.

But certainly the most noticeable and we may say the most encouraging aspect of the enlargement of social opportunity and experience which is going on around us now is the rapid growth both in numbers and size of our clubs and the almost universal demand they are making for better facilities and accommodations. The Directory gives the names of about 115 such organizations in this city, and this list includes, of course, only such of them as have rooms or specified semi-public places of meeting. Including the smaller societies of men and women, whose aims and means are too modest either for rooms or publicity, the number of clubs in this city must run up into the several hundreds, and they are increasing at a rate which few can realize whose circle of acquaintance is not sufficiently widespread to include many classes of people. That they are also increasing in size is not open to doubt, although we cannot give any statistics of the subject. The best indication that this is true is shown by the fact of the widespread demand for more and for better accommodations. The list of societies which have built or are about to build new club houses is remarkably large. The Progress Club, as may be seen by the illustrations included in this supplement, has erected a building which both in its exterior and interior is handsomer than any similar building erected in this city; the Deutscher Verein and the Turn Verein have recently occupied new and imposing buildings; the Century Club is doing itself credit with a new structure on West 43d street; the Manhattan Athletic Club is increasing its prestige by an important building on Madison avenue; the founders of the Grolier Club have shown that their taste is not merely of a bookish kind by their club-house in East 28th street, and the Catholic, Racquet and Republican Clubs are all of them preparing new accommodations for the enlarged numbers and more exacting desires of their members. The pioneer organization of the west side—the Occident Club—will shortly have pleasant quarters on 72d street, and the Harlem Club has but recently erected a praiseworthy building above the Park. The Manhattan Club has contented itself with the ample dimensions of the Stewart mansion, and it is said that the Union League Club is about to extend its facilities by taking in and reconstructing an adjoining residence. In Brooklyn the same tendency is to be observed. The Jefferson, Germania, Montauk, Atlantic Yacht, and Union League Clubs have every one recently put up buildings of which any city may well be proud. This is all the more significant because club-house architecture, as something different from the architecture of a large dwelling, was utterly unknown in New York until recently. The older New York clubs were contented with plain and unassuming buildings, and they were unlike in this the clubs of London and Paris, whose architectural elevations lent dignity and character to the parts of the city wherein they were situated. The Union League Club building marked an epoch in this respect, and it is encouraging to see that our other rich societies have followed this good example. The new buildings are not and probably never will be situated in relation to one another with the same propinquity that they are in London, and consequently we shall never have a street like Pall Mall, but as detached pieces of work New York can congratulate herself that her club houses will be the superior of anything in this country and very nearly the equal of the best in Europe.

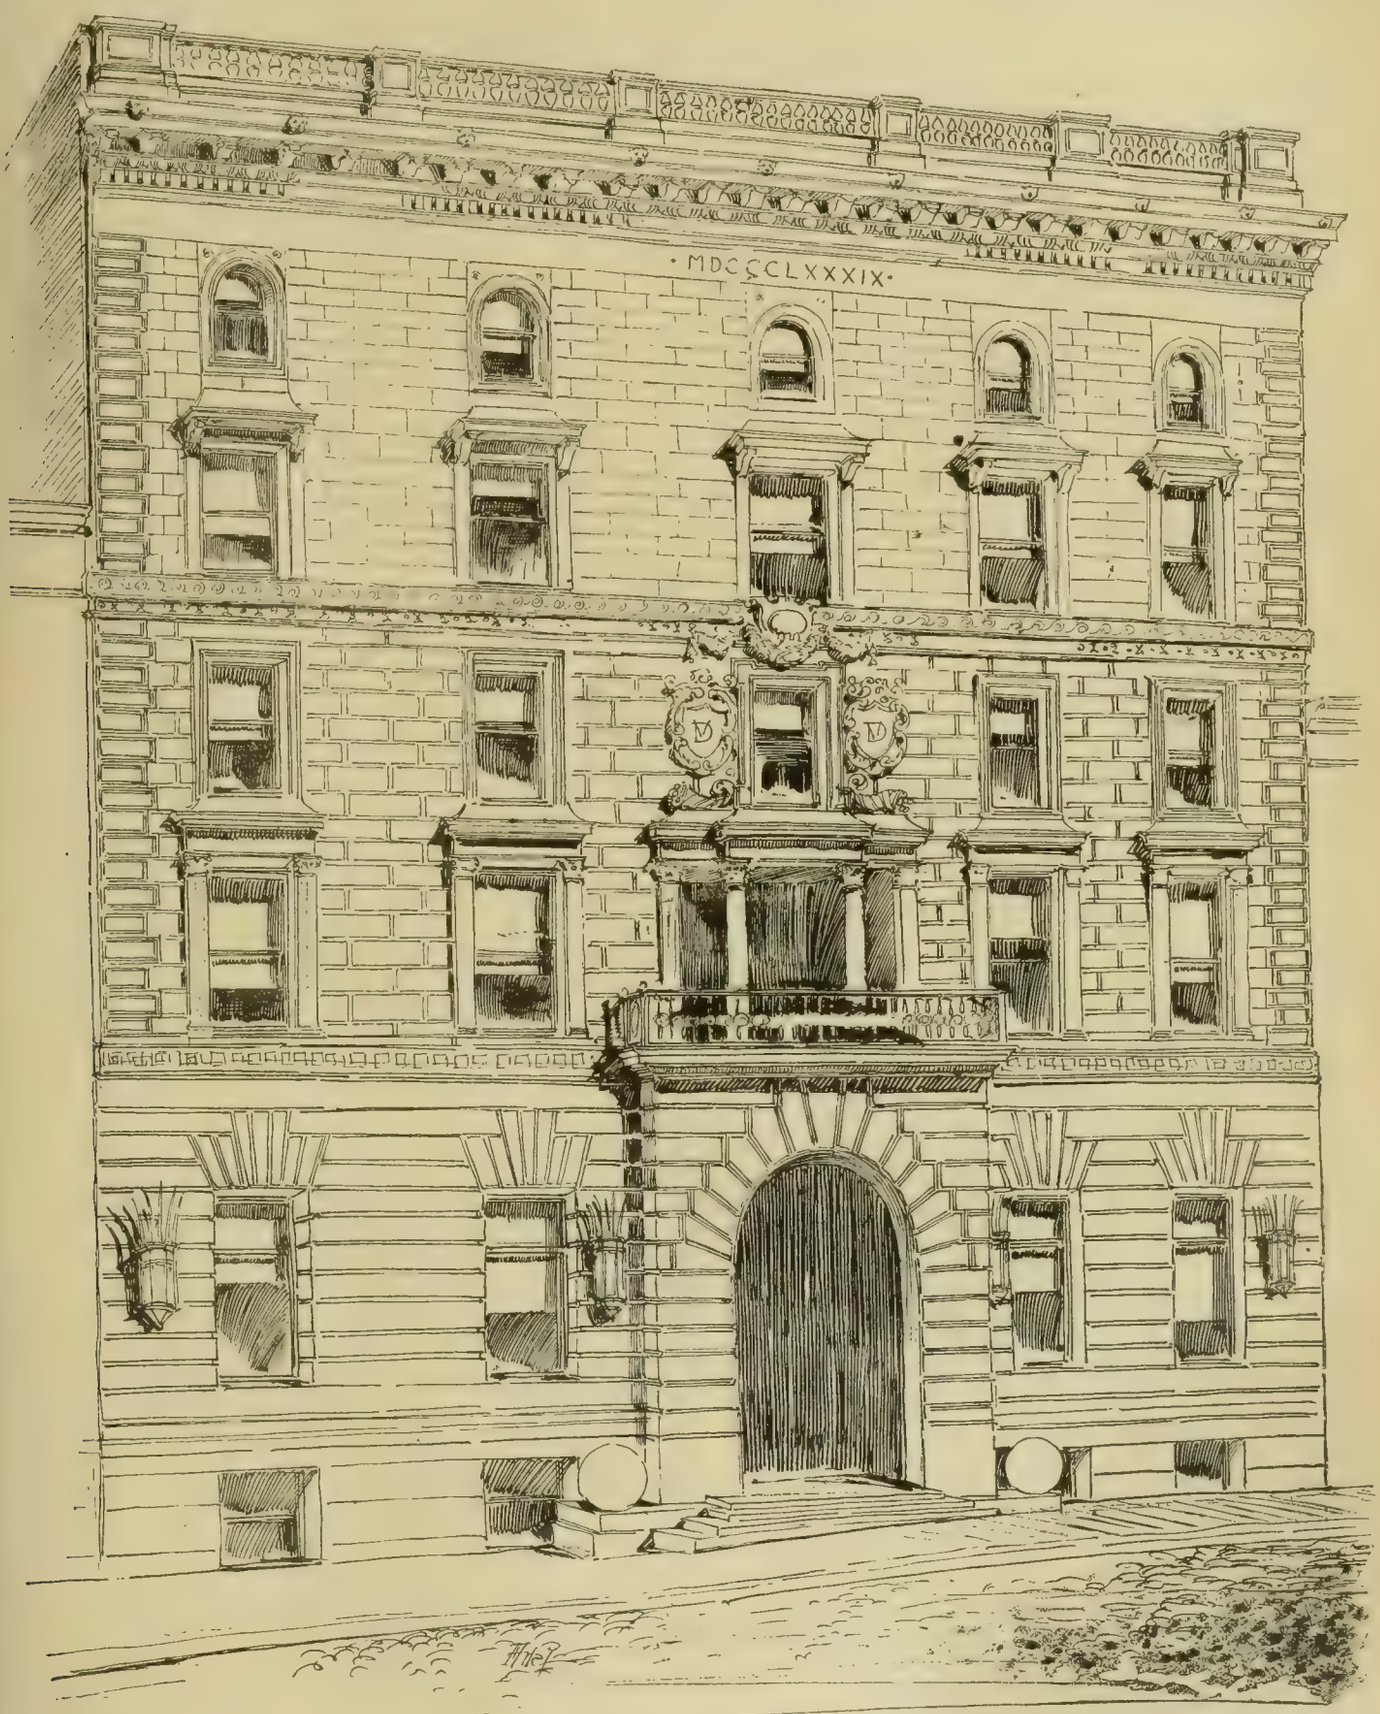
Clubs are too universal a social phenomenon to need any justification in theory. Addison calls them "a natural and necessary offshoot of men's gregarious and social nature;" and Johnson, according to Boswell, defines them as an "assembly of good fellows, meeting under certain conditions." The definition is comprehensive enough in all conscience and could be used with more or less propriety to very nearly every innocent assemblage of our fellow creatures since the world began to wag. The "certain conditions," to which Johnson so vaguely referred are simply such as promote the fellowship and unity of man and man. The people we ordinarily meet in business, and much of the time in society are to us the merest automata. If a man comes to buy goods, he is a goods-buying machine, and nothing more. We seldom if ever know, indeed we seldom care, what other qualities he may possess. We meet on a ground of a single common interest which is of the narrowest and poorest character. So it is with all casual acquaintances, our book-keepers, errand boys, conductors, clerks, brokers, and what not. We touch them all at single point only, and are too often oblivious of the fact that the conductor has other desires than that of simply taking tickets, and that our errand boy has, perhaps, a heart as well as a pair of legs. This is inevitable to a certain extent; yet civilization, the humanization of man in society, means, if it means anything, that we must make the feelings of others as important to ourselves as our own feelings, that we must lose our separate personality in the larger personality which is constituted by the multiform family and social relations of our lives; and clubs we judge, with all their shortcomings and faults, are a potent agency in the realization of this ideal. That in many cases this function has been completely prostituted, that in all cases it is more or less so, is but another aspect of the sad truth that folly is an essential part of our birthright. But that clubs, speaking of them in a broad sense, help us as much as, if not more than, any other agency to realize that the men with whom we associate have the same appetencies, desires and aspirations as ourselves, and that we should spare and share their feelings even as we too often nurse our own, is open, we believe, to no "probable possible shadow of doubt."

The Atlantic Yacht Club. John G. Prague, Architect.

The Union League Club of Brooklyn.

Brooklyn has made great strides in her club life during the past few years, and the new Union League Club, now in process of construction, will add one of the finest buildings of its kind to her architectural adornments.

The perspective which appears in the present supplement shows a front which has some fine features—the four stories of bay windows; the arcade entrance, with the balcony and recess above; and the corner tower running from base to roof, capped with a lookout. These several features in a frontage of 94 feet will always attract attention from those who will pass by the Bedford avenue side of the building. The unostentatious, but effective treatment of the Dean street side, on which it has a frontage of 61 feet, will be noticed from the illustration. The basement is treated in granite, the first floor in brown stone and the floors above in brick, stone and terra cotta. The effect is pleasing to the eye.



The first floor has entrances on both the Bedford avenue and Dean street sides. There is a spacious hallway, which leads to a café. On the same floor is a large dining-room, reception and hat and coat rooms, ladies' and gentlemen's parlors, offices, etc. The second floor has a library; billiard rooms, to contain about twelve tables; committee rooms, toilet rooms, etc. The third floor will have a ladies' dining-room, three private dining rooms, several bachelors' apartments and a number of card rooms. The fourth floor will contain a gymnasium, 37x50 in size, with an open truss roof; a locker room, six sleeping rooms for athletes and five for bachelors. The attic will have six servants' bedrooms. A gallery 35 feet long and 15 feet wide will overlook the gymnasium.

A grand staircase will run from the first floor to the roof, where there is to be an open pavilion, octagon-shaped, for refreshments to be served there in summer. The basement will have four bowling alleys, ladies' and gentlemen's parlors and toilet rooms, a shooting gallery, smoking room, barber's room, baths, culinary departments, toilet rooms, etc.

The building has the advantage of being on the main drive to Prospect Park, and is situated on what is now called Bedford Heights. It will cost $175,000, or with land $200,000, complete, and P. J. Lauritzen, the architect, says he expects to have it ready for occupancy by September 1st. Wm. & T. Lamb are the contractors.

& White, the architects, state that it will be ready for occupany in the fall of this year. The front is entirely of limestone, and the building is five stories high on 59th street, and six stories in the rear, exclusive of a basement and sub-basement. The façade is unpretentious, and would be almost uniform in design, were it not for the arched entrance, with the loggia above. The latter will form a recess some four feet in depth, and will enable members to step out in the cool of a summer's evening and whiff their

The Deutscher Verein. McKim, Mead & White, Architects.

The Deutscher Verein.

The substantial looking structure seen in the illustration is to be the club-house of the Deutscher Verein. It occupies a frontage of 75 feet on 59th street, commencing 125 feet west of 6th avenue, and overlooks the Central Park. The building will have a depth of 125 feet, though the ground on which it stands runs through for a distance of 200 feet to the north side of 58th street, there being three lots on each street.

The club-house is now nearly up to the roof, and McKim, Mead cigars, while taking in the ozone wafted over from the Central Park.

The interior of the building is to be treated simply, not elaborately. The first floor will contain a reception room, 23.8x30 in size; a dining-room, 30x70 in size; reading and card rooms, toilet rooms, etc. The hall will be about 15 feet wide and 50 feet long. The main staircase will run for a width of 6 feet from the first floor to the roof. The second story is to contain ladies' reception and sitting rooms, a ladies' restaurant and other conveniences; bachelors' rooms, parlors and baths, etc. The three floors above will contain bedrooms, parlors and baths for members of the club, and the sixth floor in the rear will be used for the servants' quarters. In the basement there will be five billiard tables, two bowling alleys, the culinary departments and storerooms, while the boilers, etc., will be located in the sub-basement. The total cost of the Deutcher Verein building and plot is estimated at $325,000, of which $150,000 was paid for the ground.

The Central Turn Verein.

Many clubmen will no doubt be surprised when they learn that there is a ballroom in a building on the east side of the city, between 2d and 3d avenues, which occupies nearly as large a floor space as that of the Metropolitan Opera House. They will be further surprised to know that in its appointments it is the equal of any room of a similar character in the metropolis.

Yet this, without exaggeration, can be said of the fine chamber, an illustration of which appears in this supplement. It is 75x150 in size, and therefore covers an area of 11,250 square feet. It is decorated in white and gold, and contains a gallery supported so adroitly on brackets as to enable the floor to extend underneath without the obstruction of numerous columns. About 2,500 people can be seated in the auditorium and galleries, and 200 couples can easily occupy the floor in dancing without inconvenient crowding. There is a stage at the eastern end of the room for theatricals and musicales, with a bust of Beethoven on the one side and one of Wagner on the other. The stage has all the most approved machinery and appliances for extinguishing fire in case of necessity. On the north side of the ballroom, in a recess, is a ladies' refreshment room, which is divided from the main floor by a prettily wrought screen, through which one can witness the dancing while partaking of refreshments. On the west side, in the gallery there is a gentlemen's refreshment room, divided from the main floor by handsome velvet portières. Caterers, servants, and stage toilet rooms are on the same floor. The ceiling of the ballroom, it should be added, is paneled in white and gold, and from it suspend three enormous electroliers. These are of special design and look very handsome. To the uninitiated it may be explained that electroliers are simply electric chandeliers. They will be noticed in the illustration.

THE GRAND STAIRCASE.

It is impossible to realize the imposing effect of this princely staircase without paying a visit to the spot itself. The illustration presented herewith is merely a general perspective, without the balcony and large stained glass windows to the south. It has a width of 35 feet and is 100 feet in length. No illustration can imprint upon the mind of the beholder the superb effect of this really handsome staircase and corridor. The treatment is simple and effective, and displays the forms of the old Renaissance used to modern effects. The large stained glass windows, with the Verein's motto worked into them, shed a dozen different tints of light upon the corridor, thus enhancing its beauty. The Verein is worth visiting for this alone.

THE MAIN BUILDING.

A few words about the main structure. The Central Turn Verein is intended for social, athletic and educational purposes, and it combines all the necessary features for mental, social and physical recreation.

Let us commence at the entrance. Here we find a large hall, with the flooring inlaid in mosaic. Marble staircases are ascended to the right and left, leading to the grand staircase already described, or main corridor, as it is termed by Architect Wagner. There is a central balcony, and all the woodwork is in carved quartered oak. An assembly-room, 70x50 in size, is entered from the upper hall. A library and reading-room is on the same floor, with busts of Shakespeare, Goethe, Schiller and Uhland on the walls, a library and chess-room; a large dining hall, 80 feet square, with musicians' balcony; ladies and gentlemen's reception rooms, with a special ladies' parlor handsomely furnished in velours hangings. and class rooms for children. These are the main features of the upper floor. The class rooms are worth noting as an instance of the paternal character of the Verein. They are eight in number, and within their walls the Kindergarten system is taught to the children of members, both boys and girls. Designing, needlework, sewing, drawing, geometry, and singing are among the things taught.

And now let us glance at the gymnasium. This is a room about 75x110 in size, having a gallery for spectators overhead. Accommodations exist, in the way of dumbbells and Indian clubs, swings, vaulting poles, etc., for some five hundred men and boys, dressing rooms being attached. An instructor teaches the physical evolutions to the members in the evening and to their children in the daytime. Besides the gymnasium there is a long swimming bath and shower, needle and private baths. There is a shooting range about 220 feet long On the same floor is a restaurant which will seat 300 to 400 people. There are also six bowling alleys. These are, in a few lines, the salient features of this valuable institution, which some of our swell clubmen may visit with interest, and some of our architects and builders to advantage.

The ground occupied has a frontage of 225 feet on 67th street, commencing 100 feet east of 3d avenue, with a depth of 100 feet. The cost of the land and building complete was about $750,000, of which $650,000 was for the latter alone. Albert Wagner was the architect, and the design and construction was carried out entirely under his personal supervision.

The architect, Mr. Alfred Zucker, has worked upon unusual if not actually novel lines, and has planned his building so that, though the conveniences and requirements of members as individuals are not disregarded or even slurred, particular emphasis and consideration has been given to the collective or social phase of club life. As a result, the new club-house is more strictly palatial in character than perhaps any building yet erected in this country.

This fact stated, the building is at once half described. Expectation looks immediately for large approaches, wide staircases and corridors, apartments of noble dimensions, sumptuous decoration, color, light, brilliancy—in a word splendor, a striking richness of effect.

That this has been attained in the new Progress Club there can be no doubt. The skill with which the building was planned for the object in view is unmistakable, and the almost regal manner in Progress Club—Fifth Avenue and Sixty-third Street. Alfred Zucker, Architect.

The Progress Club.

The new home of the Progress Club, which has just been completed, is without doubt the most ambitious addition that has been made to the club-houses of this city since the Union League was opened. Apart from the costliness of the building, its size and architectural importance, this club house is of peculiar interest; and it is very likely that it represents a tendency that in the erection of clubs in the future will be more pronounced. Hitherto, in the design of similar structures, the needs and comforts of the members as individuals have been mainly kept in mind with the result that the private or shall we say the "homelike" characteristics of club life have received most consideration in the internal arrangements of buildings. Consequently the clubs of New York may be described with sufficient accuracy as private dwellings of large dimensions. This, however, would not be true of the Progress Club. It is this very fact that gives it its exceptional character. which the design has been carried out and the minute care that so evidently has been given to all the details of construction, ornamentation and furnishing—the wealth of highly carved wood; wrought iron and brass; the great stained glass windows, one of which is 22x30 feet; the lavish use of onyx, serpentine and other semi-precious stones, the large picture ceilings, the ivory enamelled walls, the superb hangings in coral plush and Etruscan gold—make the club-house one of the "show-places" of the city. The time and thought that has been given to this building is really unusual even in these days of elaborate design; for every piece of furniture, every hanging, every carpet, chandeliers, candelabra were specially manufactured from the architect's designs.

THE EXTERIOR.

The building occupies four lots on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 63d street, fronting 100 feet on the avenue and the same number of feet on the street. Of this area 100x92 is built on; the shorter side, being on the street where an alleyway 8 feet wide is kept for light and ventilation and the outside staircase. The structure rises 80 feet above the sidewalk and is 27 feet below it, necessitating elaborate arrangements for sewerage. A glance reveals that there are only three principal stories in the building, but on the west or avenue side an entresol and a mezzanine floor have been inserted, so that, roughly speaking, the western half of the edifice contains five stories, and the eastern half three. This permits the great height of certain rooms to be described later on. The style of architecture adopted is the Italian Renaissance of Florence, though not of the massive type of which the Strozzi and the Riccardi Palaces are familiar examples, but the lighter and more graceful style to be seen in the Gaudagni Palace. The materials used in construction are red brick, red terra cotta and a light brown stone, and the choice of color and the use to which the materials have been put is excellent. The design of the exterior is scholarly, straightforward and expressive, and with the accentuation given by the beautiful carving and terra cotta work the building is architecturally one of the most successful and interesting that has been completed in recent years.

The Ballroom—Progress Club. Alfred Zucker, Architect.

THE INTERIOR.

The entrance to the club is on 63d street, through the great arch, which is the central feature of the façade. The ceiling of the ample vestibule is decorated in high relief, in an elaborate manner in the Italian Renaissance, and the walls are of costly marbles, worked in panels above a marble wainscot. The steps and rises are also of marble and the flooring is of mosaic in the same material. The vestibule is shut off by heavy doors of antique oak and wrought iron from the main hall which is a very effective feature of the building. It extends through the edifice from north to south, and is 20 feet wide, terminating in a broad antique oak flight of stairs, which is lit by a superb window, under a depressed eliptic arch. This window is 22x12 feet and represents a colonnade, the arches of which are of ivory yellow, the spaces between being filled with masses of opalesque clouds reflecting the iridescent tints of the sunset.

To the left upon entering from the vestibule are the reading and two drawing-rooms forming a connected suite of apartments overlooking the Park, 100 feet long by 35 wide and 18 feet high. The decoration of these rooms is very rich. The reading-room is finished in oak; the walls are hung in leather, with gold figuring, and the chandeliers are of peculiar design, wrought in brass, with cut-glass electric globes. The central room of the suite is sumptuously decorated and furnished in the style of the First Empire, the prevailing tone of color being a pale yellow, which is relieved with a delicate tint of light green in the furniture, the onyx columns with gold capitals and the onyx chandeliers. Beyond this apartment is a lady's parlor in light oak and pale blue. These three rooms make a very effective suite, and have been very skilfully treated by the architect, so that the rich ornamentation is not anywhere obtrusive, and the effect is general and not one of details.

To the right, on the other side of the main hall, is a pretty reception-room, in oak and decorated in blue; the steward's office, with coat-room, and a dining-room, furnished in autumn browns, with elaborate oak carvings.

Ascending the grand staircase the second floor is entered upon a large open space, on two sides surrounded by balconies above, which are flanked with carved oak arcades; on one side by the entrance to the banqueting hall, and on the other side by the continuation of the staircase, which at this point is illuminated by a superb stained glass window, 30 feet high and 22 feet wide. It contains an allegorical figure of "Progress" ascending amid clouds. Time lies stretched below with alembics and other instruments typical of the past, and above all is a representation of Guido's "Dawn." This window is a magnificent work of art, and its great dimensions and rich coloring give a marvellous effect to the hallway.

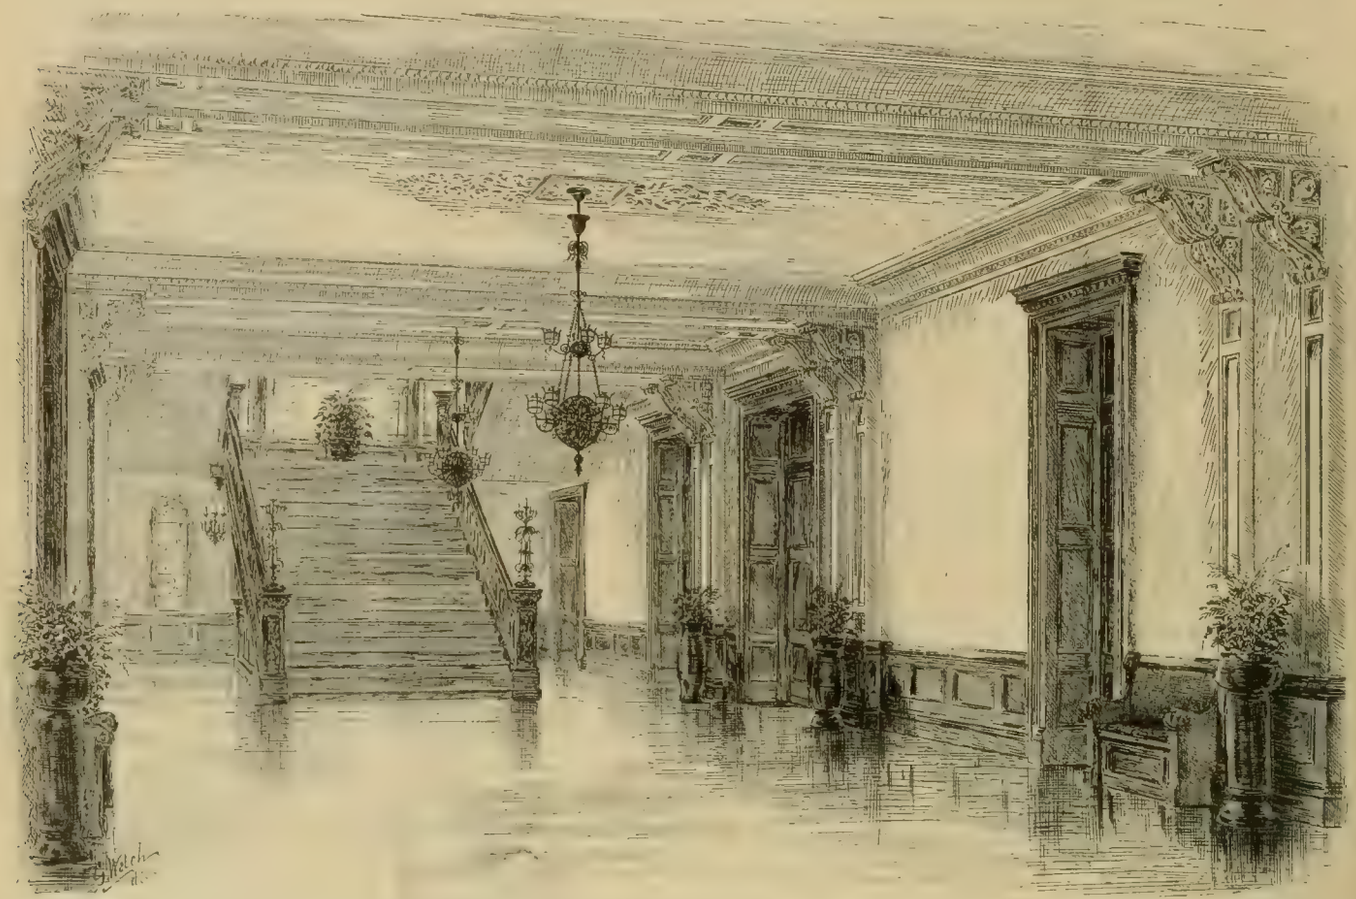
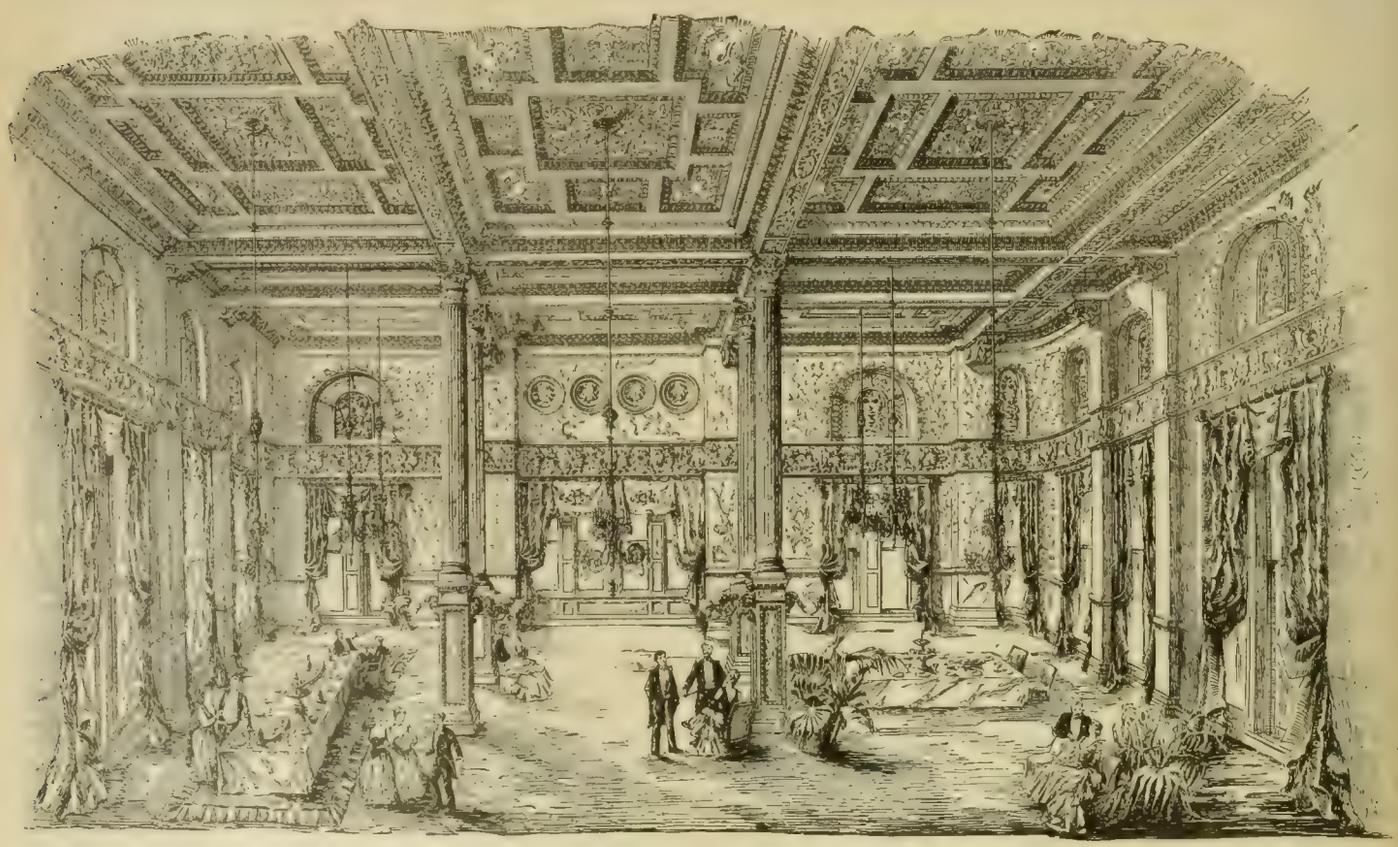
The banqueting hall, which occupies the entire south half of this story, is one of the noblest apartments in the city. It is 90 feet long, 55 feet wide and 25 feet high. It is lit by large mullioned windows on three sides, the upper parts of which are filled with rich colored designs. The ceiling is supported by four graceful columns, on high pedestals of serpentine and malachite, the capitals being of gold and the shafts of onyx, and is decorated in the Renaissance style, each of the nine large panels into which it is divided holding a silver chandelier of very elaborate workmanship. The brackets on the walls are also of silver. There is a musicians' gallery on the north side of the room, which is entered from the balconies already spoken of in the hall, and the railings of this gallery are of ormolu gilt, and the heavy mouldings which surround it are also gilt. The seating capacity of this banqueting room is 700.

The remainder of this floor is occupied by numerous chess and card rooms, which can all be thrown into one large apartment by removing the partitions, which were especially constructed for this purpose. On this floor, too, opening into the banqueting hall, is a large "serving-room," into which the dishes are sent from the kitchens above by means of elevators. Great care has been given to the furnishing of this room. It contains the most perfect appliances known to modern caterers for serving large dinners. The culinary arrangements include steam-heating tables, hot dish cabinets, carving tables, ice boxes, etc. In addition, on this floor are toilet rooms and other offices.



Vestibule—Progress Club. Alfred Zucker, Architect.



First Empire Room—Progress Club. Alfred Zucker, Architect.

Ascending again the main staircase, and on the way passing by the stained glass window already spoken of, the visitor enters the large foyer which as it is almost a part of the ballroom may be treated as belonging to it. This ballroom is without doubt a truly remarkable success. It is a great artistic conception, royally executed. Its appearance, especially when illuminated, is rich and brilliant in the extreme. The imperial dimensions of the room are noteworthy in these days of little apartments. It is 90 feet long, 65 feet wide and 35 feet high. The decoration is a luxurious work of art. The prevailing color is old ivory—the walls being enameled and the enrichments, as befits the character of the room, are lavish. The ceiling, which is supported by the walls only, so that the area of the room is unbroken and the full effect of its size obtained, is coved several feet in depth and divided by means of heavy ornamental groins into six recessed panels, the centre of each panel being formed into a dome, in each of which is a cluster of electric lamps representing the descending stars of a rocket. This idea is ingenious, and the result excellent—with electric light, illumination is at last becoming a part of decorations. The bend of the ceiling at the sides is decorated with festoons of flowers in high relief and with garlanded renaissance figures of nymphs, in the tiaras of which, as well as in the flowers, electric lights sparkle like diamonds. Long tendrils of flowers trail down the blank spaces of the wall, which is further decorated by female figures and cherubs of papier-maché, onyx and ormolu bearing golden candelabra. The drapery of the large windows of the room is maintained in position by ornamented chains which are supported from above by nymphs. At the south end of the room is a long gallery capable of seating 100 persons, and it is reached from the ballroom floor by means of a spiral ornamental staircase. The ballroom will seat at least 1,000 persons.

Main Hall and Staircase—Progress Club. Alfred Zucker, Architect.

The Banquet Hall—Progress Club. Alfred Zucker, Architect.

Entrance to the ballroom is given through four large arches. Three of these lead on to the foyer, which is a special feature of this floor, being over 40 feet long and very richly decorated, and one into a dainty ladies' drawing-room. This last is decorated in white enamel and gold in the ornate style known as "Roccoco." The ceiling is covered with splendid oil-painting on canvas, representing the famous work of Thuman, "Amor and Psyche." This room opens into the foyer, as does a gentleman's room at the other end, so that on grand occasions the entire floor can be made practically one immense apartment.

The other features of the building on the floor are not striking, though they add very materially to the comfort and completeness of the club. These consist of the kitchen, which has received special attention from the architect, the laundry rooms and steward's and servants' quarters. Indeed, the completeness of the domestic appointments of the club are one of its most noticeable and praiseworthy features.

Descending from the top floor by the elevator to the main hall again, the extensive appointments below the ground floor have yet to be inspected.

The grand staircase ends in the basement in a large well-lighted hall, handsomely paneled in oak and ornamented with wrought, ebonized iron chandeliers. The width of this hall is 20 feet, and the height 15 feet; on one side opening onto it by heavy doors with stained glass panels are the billiard-room and the café. The former contains six tables, and though richly furnished is of the usual character, with a slightly raised platform at one end for spectators. The café, however, is one of the pleasantest and most charming rooms in the building. It is in the Flemish style of architecture, and possesses a quaintness and old-time charm that is most delightful. At one end is a large brick fire-place, under a massive arch of great span, where hangs on heavy forged iron chains an old-fashioned pot grate. At the other end, behind a semi-circular carved oak screen enriched with stained glass, is a buffet. The ceiling is high and vaulted and supported upon massive piers. The furniture is all in antique oak, heavy and richly carved in agreement with the architecture of the room. On the other side of the hall on this floor is a circulating library room furnished in black walnut, steward's offices, toilet rooms, hat and coat room, barber's shop and shoeblacking room.

Below this floor is the sub-basement, which, by the way, is remarkably well lit by means of areas. Its chief feature is the extensive bowling alleys, five in number, with platforms for spectators, bar and other conveniences. The columns supporting the ceiling of this room have been quaintly designed in the shape of tenpins and all the electric and gas fixtures are similarily shaped. On the other side of this floor are the boiler vaults, dynamo and engine rooms —a very extensive and complete department, modern in the extreme, —as well as storage rooms, ice houses, coal cellars and other offices. It may be noted here that the temperature of the building, summer and winter, is automatically maintained, and an extensive system of mechanical ventilation changes the entire atmosphere of the building about every five minutes.

In conclusion, it may be said that from top to bottom the building is most carefully and artistically planned, the construction is everywhere of the most substantial and excellent kind, and reflects great credit upon the members of the club and the architect. They have undoubtedly attained a very great success with their new building and deserve congratulation.

The Grolier Club.

A great many people have been wondering what sort of a club the "Grolier" is; what its membership consists of; whether they are "swells" or "bohemians," or both. Well, the object of the club, as expressed recently, is to "unite book-lovers and bookmakers, and to gratify the needs and wishes of both classes of its members by collecting and exhibiting the best works of the great artists of the past, and by producing new books which may serve as types of the best that modern skill may do."

Such, in a few words, are the purposes of the Grolier Club, an illustration of which appears in this supplement.

The building is located at No. 29 East 32d street, near Madison avenue. It is three stories high, and the exterior is a composition of stone and light brick, in detail, Romanesque. It contains a recessed entrance and a deep vestibule, to the left of which is a reception room. Continuing through the hall the lecture room is entered. This is a comfortable chamber, 23x60 in size, with the walls tinted in soft colors, and covered with etchings. There is a gallery above, and there is seating accommodation for 450 people.

The second floor contains a large lounging room and card rooms, etc. The third floor has a library, which is quite a feature of the interior. A committee room and other rooms complete the floor. The whole building has a comfortable and artistic air.

Among the prominent members of the club are Brayton Ives, Robert Hoe, Jr., Theo. L. De Vinne and Wm. L. Andrews. The architects are C. W. Romeyn & Co.

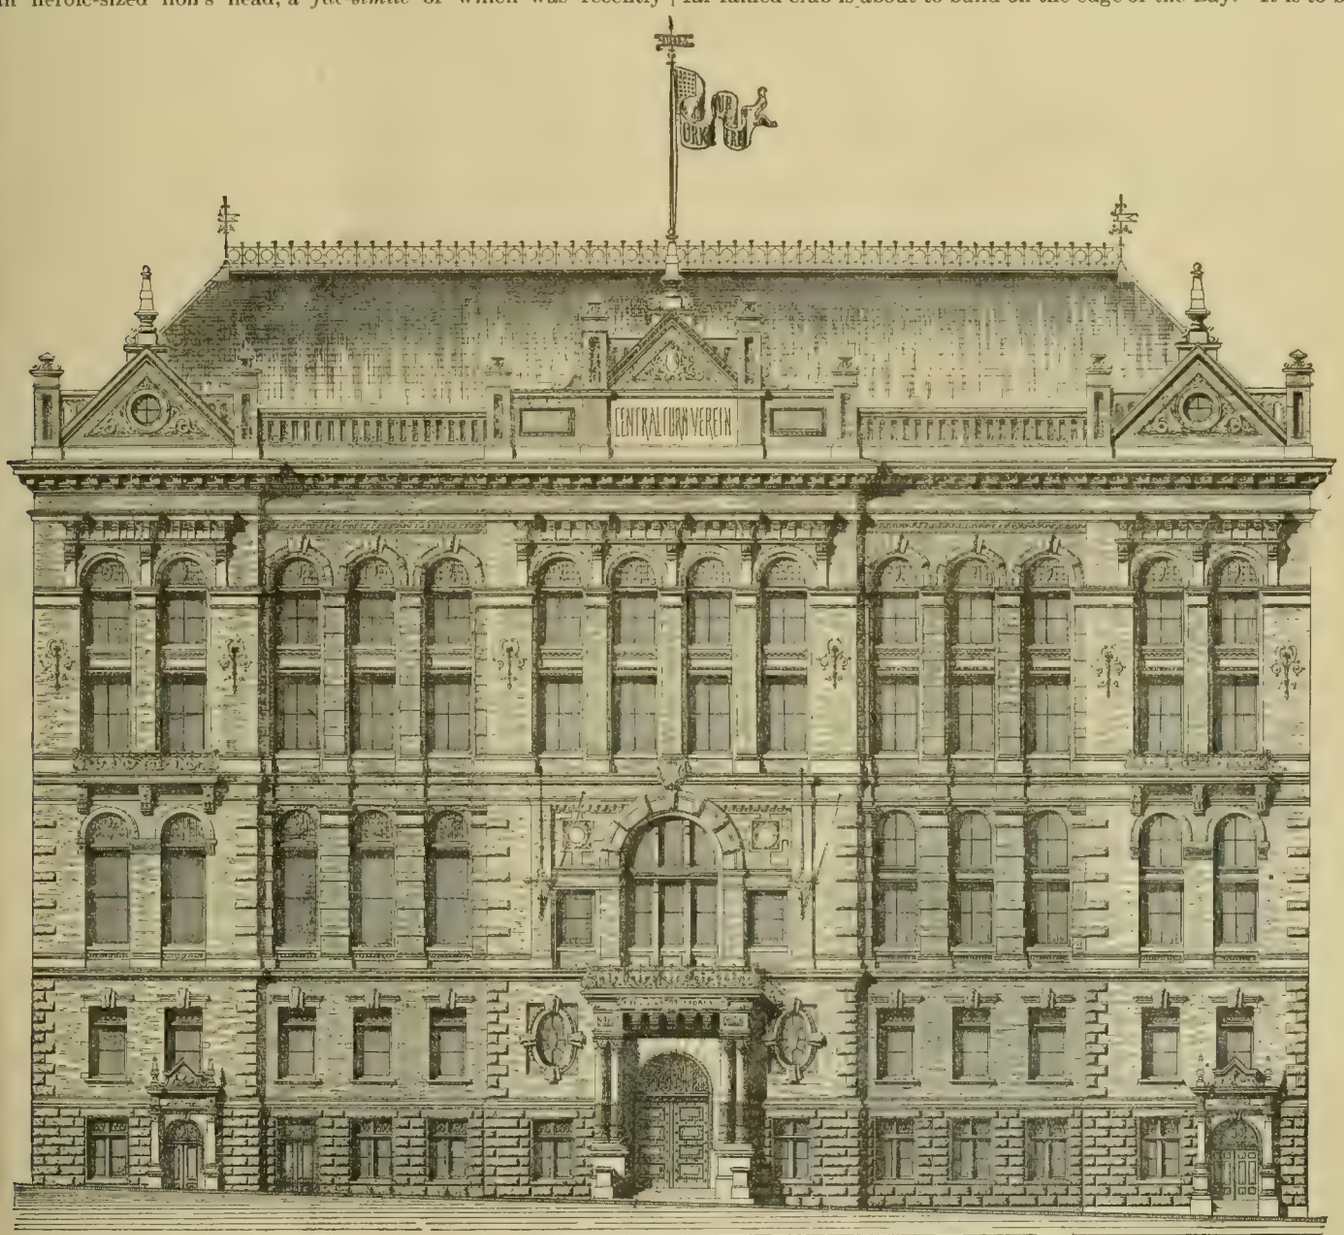
Equitable Building, New York City.

Union League Club, Brooklyn.



The Club-House of the M. A. C.

The initials so well known among athletes all over the country are borne by the members of a club that will soon take possession of one of the finest clubhouses of its kind in the world. Not until the Manhattan Athletic Club is opened will the public realize what a finely-equipped building has been added to the already long list of clubs in New York.

The building is on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 45th street and is now ready for plastering It has a frontage of 125 feet on the avenue and 115 feet on the street. The first story is of red stone, rock-faced, with dressed trimmings round the openings. The two main entrances have granite pillars on each side, in Romanesque order, supporting heavy stone arches. Between the entrances are five large windows which give a fine lookout and abundant light. The corner has been cut off on the first and second floors, with a window overlooking the street and avenue, and the walls above have been corbeled out to a full corner over an heroic-sized lion's head, a fac-simile of which was recently exhibited at the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia. The front on the third and fourth floors is divided into three separate pavilions, with triple windows in each, two of which have large projecting balconies. The avenue front is surmounted by a Spanish tiled roof, supported on massive columns, elevated sufficiently to make a roof garden and tennis courts. The club's insignia will fly from a flagstaff on a corbeled circular pinnacle tower on the corner.

The interior of the club contains features too numerous to mention in detail. The first floor will have a reception room, a main parlor, 38x65 in size, manager's rooms, a billiard and pool room, a raised café, similar to that in the Union League Club, a wine room, etc. The hall will be 30 feet wide. The second floor will contain a concert and ball room, 60x110 in size, with a stage for theatricals, athletic exhibitions and musicales. There will also be reception, reading, smoking, card and other rooms, including sleeping chambers. This floor will be duplex. The gymnasium will be on the third story. It will be 100x110 in size, and will have all the known appliances, with a running track six feet wide, placed about twelve feet above the main floor. An immense skylight will cover the whole. Boxing and fencing rooms, 1,000 lockers and other conveniences will be on this floor. The fourth story will contain large and small dining rooms, the culinary departments and servants' quarters. A roof garden, similar to that at the Casino, will cover the whole. Passenger and freight elevators, electric lights, etc., will be provided. The basement, it should be added, will have twelve bowling alleys, Turkish and Russian baths, a 125-foot rifle range and a swimming bath, 21x100 in size.

The cost of the ground and building complete will be about $650,000, and P. J. Lauritzen, the architect, says he will have the building ready for use by October. L. A. Burke is the contractor.

The Central Turn Verein. Albert Wagner, Architect.

The Atlantic Yacht Club.

We give elsewhere the first illustration, taken from a rough sketch, which has been published of the new quarters which this far-famed club is about to build on the edge of the Bay. It is to be erected at the foot of 55th street, Brooklyn, and is to be 79x100 in size. It will be a two-story and attic structure of frame and shingles. The first story will contain a large dining-room, a billiard-room, a reception-room, ladies' and gentlemen's toilet rooms, buffet, kitchen, butler's pantry, etc. The hall will be quite a feature of the floor, and will be 54 feet long and 12 feet wide.

The second story will contain eight sleeping rooms for members, shower baths and lockers, and several servants' rooms. There will be a grand staircase leading from the first to the second floor, which will be 10 feet wide.

Two verandas will afford shade on the northwest and southwest sides, and a landing stage will project out into the water for the landing of launches and other craft. John G. Prague, the architect of the club-house, states that the building will be ready by about June. Mr. Prague is one of the most prominent members, and besides presenting all the plans is also one of the largest contributors to the fund for the building. He will be remembered as the designer of his own yacht, the Anaconda, which has beaten every competitor of her class.

VOL. XLV. MARCH 15, 1890. No. 1,148.

The easy condition of money which we predicted last week naturally resulted in sending up prices on the Stock Exchange, and various other announcements gave impetus to the movement and increased the activity. The annual reports which have been issued by various railroad companies in the majority of cases have shown in an emphatic manner how the railroads are benefiting by the general healthiness of trade throughout the country. The prospects, moreover, of a continuation of heavy freight are good. The extreme wet weather of the winter and spring has prevented hauling in large sections of the country and the railroads have still benefits to come from the great crops of last year as soon as the roads are in condition. The purchase of Chicago, Burlington & Northern by the Burlington & Quincy is a n assurance that the rate contests in the Northwest will be very much mitigated, if not entirely settled. It is not probable that the purchasing company would have decided to make so large an expenditure unless it had satisfactory assurances on this head from opposing lines, or was convinced that through its purchase it could command the rate situation. The reduction of the Bank of England rate to 4 per cent., proves that the governors of the bank have now no anxiety regarding its surplus, and consider it in a position to meet the April demands without difficulty. This keeps our rate for sterling exchange down, and increases the prospects for the movement of gold from Europe to this side. There is a little modification of the favorable reports of the general trade, and there is some little dullness in metals. The adverse features in stocks are special, notably the weakness of Louisville & Nashville on reports of damage from floods, and Chicago Gas and Sugar under fear of adverse legislative action or judicial decision. Altogether the immediate outlook is encouraging for further improvement in prices on the stock market, and a better disposition to buy stock is showing itself in quarters which for months past have refused all overtures looking towards bulling stocks. It takes time to form bull pools, but we shall be surprised if we do not hear of a number of them very shortly.

For what is supposed to be a spontaneous, enthusiastic national movement this World's Fair matter is getting along slowly. In reality we are no nearer a great Exposition in 1892 than we were six months ago, and now more than ever there is reason for thinking that there will be no Fair, and the project will fade into the limbo of contemplated schemes, having served merely as a topic for a vast amount of newspaper scribbling, and national, local and personal boasting. From many points of view this condition of affairs is a great pity, and the best thing that could happen would be that the Federal Government should take the matter in hand entirely, and prepare, if not by 1892—which, perhaps, is too early a date—then by 1893, a great Exposition really national in spirit and character. This is what should be done, and probably would be done but for "politics"—that sore disease in our national life. New York's chances, however, of yet being selected as the site in case of any failure on the part of Chicago to procure the necessary funds are too slim to be worth a moment's consideration. and the talk in the newspapers on the subject is, as every one knows, foolish chatter. The most valuable result of the Fair movement to New York should be the lesson of her defeat. A prominent real estate broker the other day said: "The selection of Chicago as a site for the Fair was positively a shock to me. All my life I have had the idea that in reality only one great city existed in the country, and it was New York. I never dreamed that any real competition with her was possible on the part of any other city. Yet, say what we may about the part 'politics' played in the selection, here is a Western city not fifty years old that has been able to take away from us a coveted prize. In many ways it is a great blow to New York, a blow, too, that is not without direct importance to the real estate interest. A large amount of capital from foreign countries, but especially from other States, has been invested annually in New York property, because the city has been regarded as the city of the country, the spot of all others where real estate is the most certain and of the most staple value. But the selection of Chicago by Congress would put a somewhat different complexion on the matter, and, in my mind, there is little doubt that Chicago would be immensely benefited at the direct expense of New York."

It is to be hoped that the Connolly Building and Loan Asscciation bill, requiring the building associations organized under the laws of other States to deposit $100,000 in State securities with the banking department as a guarantee to secure depositors, will pass the Legislature. These National Building and Loan Associations are simply speculative corporations which take advantage of the success which local associations have made in this State and elsewhere to live upon their reputation. By offering fabulous and impossible chances of gain, and by adopting the names and machinery of the local associations, some of them have built up a large business, without giving any guarantee to secure their depositors against sharp practices. Furthermore, by charging initiation fees and extra money for an expense fund, they mount up charges against the subscribers in a way that in time must eat up any possible profits arising from the compounding of interest. The Connolly bill, we judge, will practically prohibit them from operating in this State, for most of them could no more spare $100,000 to deposit as a guarantee, with all their enormons capitalizations, than a steamship could spare its propeller. The recent failure of one of the largest of them, with but meagre returns for victims, shows how dangerous and untrustworthy they are. Our local associations deserve the same protection as our savings banks. They are growing rapidly and are doing a good work—so good that speculative schemers should not be allowed to imperil their success.

There is a disposition among our morning daily contemporaries to criticise Mayor Grant and his colleagues for the means they adopted to reduce the tax rate for the present year, a criticism which, like the past winter, was a little late in coming, but which, if true, is better late than never. The Times not long since, with a curious confusion of ideas, declared that property-owners would get no benefit from the lower rate, because of the increase in the assessed valuation; and the World, at the head of a lengthy criticism of the course adopted by the city adminstration in diverting some millions of dollars from the revenues of the Sinking Fund to reduce the tax levy, have the following line: "Swelling valuations and raiding securities the tricks to reduce the tax rate." Readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE may remember that at the time the tax rate was first announced, we pointed out that the lower rate was significant of no material reduction in the actual expenditures. It was undoubtedly brought about simply by the desire of the then incoming adminstration to ingriteate itself with the tax-payers; and in so far should be unreservedly condemned. It is not good policy to create the impression of economy by tampering with a fund the object of which is to secure the city's debt; and we may add that few people will be foolish enough to be deceived by it. The only way really to reduce the burden on the municipal taxpayers is to reduce the amounts appropriated by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; and that, as we know, is a thing well-nigh impossible to do. The whole machinery of making the estimates and appropriating the money seems designed to discourage on the one hand the making of economies, and on the other any justifiable increase in the appropriations. Property-owners are willing to pay any reasonable sum of money, provided they get their money's worth in return. Unfortunately, however, this is not the case, certain property-owners who belong to Tammany Hall may be able to indorse their tax bills with "For value received;" but others have to content themselves with but meagre returns.

There has been considerable muddle-headedness exhibited by the comments of the daily newspapers regarding the increase of $63,000,000 in the assessed valuation of real estate in 1890 over 1889. In the first place it must be remembered that these figures are not final, but that they have yet to be revised. In the second place, they have nothing whatever to do with the tax rate for this year. The Times, in the article above referred to, endeavors to show that the increase in this assessed valuation has made the tax bills in certain districts larger than they would have been if there had been no decrease in the tax rate. It is scarcely necessary to state that the assessed valuations for 1890 do not form a factor in the largeness or smallness of the tax bills at present being paid, and that furthermore it is absurd to talk about any increase in assessed valuations counteracting the benefits of a decreased tax rate. As everybody knows who is not in the office of a daily newspaper, the tax rate is made by obtaining the proportion between the total assessed valuation, real and personal, and the total expenses of the city, and as everybody knows who has studied arithmetic, and who is not trying to make a point against political opponents, when a certain rate is obtained by dividing for example two by one hundred, it is silly nonsense to talk about any difference being made, through the fact that the hundred is larger than ninety-five, in the result obtained by multiplying the rate thus arrived at by any fraction of the hundred. Our Tax Board might quadruple the assessed valuation and not directly alter the tax bills one iota, provided the city expenses remained constant. The increase of $68,000,000 will of course have an indirect effect on the tax bills next year by increasing the city's share in the State taxes, but in that way only can it affect the tax bills. The mere tax rate is utterly meaningless except in conjunction with the assessed valuation.

If the point of the newspapers is that the large increase was made in order to reduce the tax rate next year and make political capital thereby, all we can say is that the Mayor and his associates have gone about the matter in a very clumsy way, for what property owners will look at is not the tax rate but the tax bills. But the supposition is utterly unfounded. Our Tax Commissioners are not so much under the beck and call of the Mayor that they will permit their functions to be used for what Tammany may think to be for Tammany's good, and we give Hugh J. Grant credit for too much sense and integrity to adopt such measures to obtain such an objectless end. Moreover, there is every reason to believe that the increase of $68,000,000 in the value of New York real estate is entirely justified by conditions of the real estate market. The year 1889 has been the greatest in our history in the magnitude of its real estate and building operations. Plans were filed for new buildings aggregating $68,792,031 in amount, which in itself is on the surface sufficient to account for the $68,444,194 increased assessed valuation. We can afford, however, to make due allowance for the proportion of buildings which were abandoned after the plans were filed or which were not started soon enough to enter into the result, for the large increase, amounting to about 25 per cent., both in the number of conveyances and the aggregate of the considerations involved, means, if it means anything, that purchasers were willing to offer prices which holders of real estate wese ready to accept—or in other words that the market has been both active and advancing. And the same result is shown by the better prices which we have continually chronicled as paid for almost all classes of property. There is enough to criticise in the present administration of our city affairs, and there is no necessity of making assertions which are justified neither by common sense nor arithmetic, even with so laudable an object in view as that of giving interesting news to many thousand readers.

Building Laws for All Cities in the State.

On Wednesday afternoon last the Judiciary Committee of the Senate at Albany, Senator Robertson, chairman, gave a hearing on the bill recently introduced by Senator Clare providing for the appointment of a commission of three experts to draft suitable laws for the construction, regulation and inspection of buildings in the various cities of this State, not including New York and Brooklyn, which latter two cities already have building laws. Beside representatives of the real estate and building interests from this city, there appeared at the hearing in question a committee appointed by the Board of Fire Underwriters of the City of Albany, and a telegraphic dispatch was read from a similar board at Buffalo, indorsing the bill. During the hearing the individual members of the Judiciary Committee advanced as many arguments in favor of the bill as any of the persons who appeared before them. They referred amongst other facts to the risk ran in attending places of public amusement in the capitol city, Albany being a place where theatres and public buildings as well as dwellings can be erected without let or hindrance as regards safety to life or property. The Senators promptly acceded to the proposition that the framing of building laws called for a technical knowledge that only architects and builders could supply, and that such men should be asked by the State to do this work, and that they should be reasonably well paid for their services. The whole cost of the commission, salaries, counsel fees, printing, expenses, etc., is to be $10,000 for drafting three grades of laws and reporting them to th next Legislature, the first grade to apply to cities exceeding 75,000 inhabitants, the second grade to apply to cities exceeding 35,000 but not exceeding 75,000 inhabitants, and the third grade for cities having 35,000 or less inhabitants. In all probability the Judiciary Committee will promptly report the bill back to the Senate with their unanimous approval.

The cost to the State for preparing suitable building laws is of small importance, but the truth is that the price to be paid is indeed moderate when compared with the charges of lawyers in good standing for doing work that requires not a little of the time, care and experience that must be given to these building laws. The laws so prepared will be, in effect, laws prepared for all the principal States in the Union, for the need of suitable building laws for cities of moderate size has been long recognized and is becoming greater and greater year by year as they increase in population, and New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, are as badly off as the State of New York. The Empire State can well afford to lead off in providing a simple, comprehensive and effective code of building laws.

Nothing in connection with the World's Fair project has become New York so well as the manner in which she has accepted defeat. The local spirit that naturally was manifested while the contest about the site was awaging, is disappearing now that there is no longer good reason for its existence, and the only carping note that has yet been ra sed in public concerning Chicago's success has come from the Sun. That newspaper, employing its own peculiarly vicious, insincere and unmanly mode of attack, while expressing a certain amount of friendship for Chicago adds in the same breath something to this effect: Chicago must accept all responsibility for this Fair. The country at large is now merely an interested spectator. She must raise the money needed herself. She musn't look to us for any part of it, and particularly she must not appeal to Congress. The Government, perhaps, might be allowed to send West a fish exhibit or a few geological or ethnological specimens, but nothing more, and these only at a very moderate expense. Anything beyond this would be regarded as politics, indeed, and New York would resent any attempt to add "politics" to the Fair. This is the refined product of a mean and hypocritical spirit. It is an attempt to say what the writer feels but has not the courage to openly express. Certainly it is not in the generous and large-minded spirit in which New York and the East generally should, and we believe will, assist Chicago to make the Fair as splendid a one as possible. Chicago will, no doubt, spend its own money liberally. The East also should contribute largely, and if enough of money is not obtained from private, municipal and State sources, the National Treasury should be drawn upon, for a purpose that is of so much national importance. The Exposition is not Chicago's affair. The entire nation is deeply interested in it, and cannot afford under any circumstances that it should fall short of a conspicuous success. After the exhibition we recently made of ourselves, the idea that New York will be compelled to regard as "politics" any assistance Congress may deem wise to give to Chicago is extremely funny, extremely!

Municipal Public Works in Europe.

The entrance of cities into the field of public works has, on the whole, been going forward in European countries even more rapidly than in the United States.

First as to Great Britain. Here the tendency is directly towards the municipalization of such works as the water and light supply and street railways. A proportionally less number of local authorities supply themselves with water than perform this service in this country, but in the operation of light works and street railways the local bodies of the United Kingdom are far in the lead of our cities. Statistics will show that about one-third of all the water-works of Great Britain are in the hands of local governments as against one-half in this country. In 1884 the receipts from municipal water-works in the United Kingdom amounted to nearly ten millions of dollars. The local authorities of Great Britain seem to have undertaken quite as freely the supply of gas as that of water. An equal proportion, viz., one-third, of the gas-works of that country are at the present time under municipal control. These figures contrast widely with the total of eight municipal gas-works in operation in this country. According to the latest statistics at hand, twenty-seven tramways out of a total of one hundred and fifty-five in the United Kingdom are in the hands of local authorities. We in this country can boast of only one city street railway—the one operated in connection with the Brooklyn Bridge.

In Germany all water-works belong to the cities. The present policy of municipal ownership and control was conclusively settled in 1875, when the last private company gave up its right to exist. The hostility of the German mind to any plan whereby the needs of the public are made subject to private will is plainly shown by the rapidity with which the municipalization of gas-works has been carried on in Germany. In 1860, out of a total number of 266 gas-works in that country 66 were owned and operated by cities. In 1883 there were 600 works in all, of which 290 were public. In 1889 the proportion stood 329 private to 338 public undertakings—an increase in municipal gas-works since 1860 from one-fourth to over one-half of the total number of works operated. In addition to this it should be noted that it is especially the larger cities of Germany which have undertaken the supply of gas, the capitalized value of city gas-works being double that of private. In Saxony such a thing as private ownership of gas plants does not exist. The leading cities of Switzerland, as well as those of Norway and Sweden, have followed the example of German cities in supplying their own light—in short, municipal control of the gas supply is fast becoming the general policy of Continental Europe. The German method of dealing with street railways is that of leasing them to private companies for stated periods of time, at the expiration of which period the lines come into the possession of the cities—the rolling-stock to be purchased at a fair valuation. Although few cities in Germany at the present time own and operate their own street railways, the policy there adopted, it is evident, looks to the future control of this class of public works by municipalities.

In France the prevailing plan among cities is that of granting to private companies the right to construct and operate public works, reserving to themselves an extensive control over all operations. Often, however, the German plan of period grants and reversion is adopted by cities. Paris has even gone a step further than this as regards the water supply. The city a few years ago bought up and now owns all the water-works within its limits. It only supplies, however, the water necessary for public use of the city—for the streets, public buildings, etc. The privilege of conducting water into private dwellings is allowed to a private company. Only a small per cent. of the cities of France own gas-works. In fact few of her cities use gas at all. Paris, it is said, uses more gas than all the other cities of France taken together. The city of Paris, while giving the monopoly of furnishing gas to a private company, reserves strict supervisory power over the operations of the company. For instance, the city prescribes and inspects the quality of the gas, names the streets which the company shall or shall not occupy, fixes the price of gas and provides for the final reversion of all the works of the company to the city. It practically operates the works. Street railways in Paris are run subject to the same severe restriction of control, and at the end of certain prescribed periods they too become the property of the city.

It is seen from this brief account that in the chief countries of Europe private companies are gradually being supplanted by public corporations themselves in the supply of such conveniences as light, water and street railway transportation. What does this show? It shows that to the people concerned in those countries the light, water or transportation supplied by local authorities is more satisfactory than that which private companies can furnish—whatever may be implied by this satisfaction, whether cheaper service, better service, or both. It shows still further that the people are strong in their demand for municipal public works, for the cities of Europe have had the same opposition to encounter and overcome that we have here in this country, viz., established and influential private corporations. But these are observations made from without. Statistics of the actual inside operations of public works in Europe show that municipalities do perform services cheaper than private companies, and, if the word of European scholars can be relied upon, it is the prevailing belief in that continent that municipalities also perform them better.

Spring Rents.

A REVIEW OF THE SITUATION IN ALL PARTS OF THE CITY—STRENGTH SHOWN IN DOWN-TOWN BUSINESS BUILDINGS AND RENEWALS GENERALLY ON LAST YEAR'S BASIS.

By this time nearly all the properties that are likely to come upon the market this season, of every description, have been placed in the hands of agents and managers of estates by the owners for rent, and those owners who have not yet decided what disposition they will make of their holdings are few and far between. Householders, office lessees, storekeepers and others have nearly all decided, too, what they intend to do after May 1st, and there are very few who have not been to a number of agents' offices to inquire after new quarters and to personally inspect the buildings named on the permits presented to them. Thus the views of agents given below will be read with interest and profit as a reflection of the spring renting market for 1890.

DOWN-TOWN.

Geo. R. Read was seen about down-town office buildings. He said: "There has been more activity in down-town renting this year than in several years past. Rents are holding their own well. The many new office buildings placed upon the market does not seem to have resulted in lower rentals, for it is curious that the office-seekers appear to have increased in the same ratio as the new buildings. The inquirers, it may be added, represent more varied kinds of business—there is a larger assortment of them, so to speak. The older buildings that contain no elevators are suffering, for people now want all the improvements—good light and ventilation, steam heat, and other modern conveniences."

Richard V. Harnett: "Our experience is larger in other fields than in renting, but as far as I can learn, from our own business and from talks with property-owners and others, I think rents for all kinds of properties will be the same this year as last."

H. H. Cammann said: "Rents, as far as our experience goes, are on the whole steady, and about similar to what they were last year, with a number of advances in some business sections down town. Without specifying the buildings or the figures, I will state that below Liberty street, and west of Broadway, our books in one case show an advance of about 15 per cent. in the rent of a warehouse over the expiring lease of three years' duration, which means an increase of 15 per cent. over the rent of 1887. South of Wall street, and east of Broadway, another building, leased for one of the wholesale trades, shows an advance of about 9 per cent. over the last rental on a three years' expiring lease, and another building in the same locality, also for wholesale business, shows an increase of 5 per cent. over the last rental. South of Canal street, and near the North River, an expiring lease of a building devoted to manufacturing purposes shows a rental this year of more than 10 per cent. above the figures of last year. These advances would tend to show an improved condition of the wholesale and manufacturing trades. A glance at our books shows renewals on expiring three year leases of from 7 to 20 per cent. Up town our rents have generally been the same as last year, and have held their own well in all classes of property. On Broadway and 14th street, near Union square, we have secured advances of from 5 to 10 per cent. I would like to mention, also, as an evidence of the good tone to the renting market, that leases have been closed more readily this season than they have been for several years past."

The firm of Leonard J. Carpenter said: "Rents are about the same as expiring figures for down-town offices. The rents of private houses and other properties are being renewed on last year's basis. This, in one word, is our experience of the market this season."

E. H. Ludlow & Co. said: "We do not do much in the way of renting down-town, our principal renting business being north of 14th street. It may be well to take the city in sections, for each has its own little history. Below 23d street there is a very fair demand, and rentals have so far held their own, as compared with last year. In the Murray Hill section, which we consider takes in from 34th to about 42d street, and from near 3d avenue to near 6th avenue, there has been a greater demand for houses than in any other section. We have already rented quite a number at prices satisfactory to the owners, and not in any instance at less than last year's figures. Between 42d and 59th streets the demand has not been so great as in previous years. For west side houses there have been numerous inquirers, while for the east side houses, north of 59th street, the demand, we find, is only fair. Our greatest demand is for houses renting from $1,200 to $2,000 per annum, south of 59th street, and it is often difficult to supply the houses wanted. The result is that many people have gone to the west side, north of 59th street, where they can get good modern new houses for less money than they can rent houses in good locations below 59th street. On the whole, rents in all kinds of properties have fully held their own."

AROUND 14TH STREET.

Alden & Sterne, who have for many years made a specialty of property in 14th street and vicinity, said: "Rents are holding their own in private houses and stores. As far as 14th street is concerned, there have been little or no changes in tenancies. If there had been, renewals would have shown an advance on expiring leases, and they would have been at previous figures for short leases. But the present tenants seem to hold on to their places, and there have scarcely been any changes whatever. Fourteenth street, however, is holding its own, and will become even more important as a business thoroughfare than it now is."

BETWEEN 23D AND 59TH STREETS.

H. R. Drew said: "Renewals are on last year's basis. There have been few removals, and this has been characteristic of the market for several years past."

Ames & Co.: "There has been a large inquiry for private houses, but so far renting has been slow. People do not seem to find what they are seeking, as there are fewer eligible houses in the market each year. The rents asked are about the same as in 1889. The encroachment of flats and tenements in the 9th and other wards has driven many people to seek houses up-town. There are not sufficient houses to supply the demand south of 42d street, and people are going further north, between 59th and 110th streets. We find that there is a bigger demand for well-located houses for residence purposes, and that people are buying them for their own occupancy, not as an investment."

J. Romaine Brown & Co.: "It looks to us as though there are going to be few removals this season. Rents are about the same as last year. Tenants seem to be satisfied with the ruling figures. A feature of the market this year has been the few efforts to change in flats. There seem to be more people satisfied with flats and fewer desirous to move out of them and change to private houses or to other flats."

Thomas & Eckerson: "There are going to be unusually few changes in houses and stores this year between 14th and 59th streets. Renewals are at last year's figures, except on old expiring leases, which show an advance."

Morris B. Baer & Co.: "The majority of the tenants are renewing at last year's figures. There are no changes, except in individual cases. There are fewer vacancies this year than usual, and it seems as if people are settling down without a desire to move. Landlords and tenants both appear to be satisfied with the same rents as last year."

Wm. J. Roome said: "We find less removals than usual this year among our tenants, and renewals in all kinds of properties are at about last season's figures." Mr. Roome's special district is between 14th and 42d streets, west.

AROUND UPPER BROADWAY.

James Edgar Leaycraft's office, which does one of the largest businesses in the neighborhood of Long Acre Square, has seen less removals this year than for some years past. Their tenants are nearly all renewing on last year's basis, both in private houses and flats. There seems to be less dissatisfaction, owing to the courtesy of landlords in attending to little repairs and other necessities for the tenants, and the latter, appreciating these courtesies, are remaining where they are, having no desire to change.

ON THE EAST SIDE.

F. Zittel's office has been busy with seekers after houses for rent, but the inquiries have been less numerous than in previous seasons. On the east side, north of 59th street, as well as in other sections, they find that rents are about the same as last year. In Mr. Zittel's west side office it was stated that rents for properties on the west side are a little better this year than last.

ON THE WEST SIDE.

J. H. Hunt said: "There is a greater demand for private houses than we can supply. It would not be an exaggeration to say that we actually cannot find the houses people are looking for. The majority of house-seekers want to pay $1,200 to $1,500 and some $1,800, and we have very few to rent at these low figures. Here and there parties are willing to go to $2,000 and even $3,000, and of these houses there are enough. There are many houses on the west side, but they are nearly all built for sale, not to rent. Renewals are generally at last year's prices, and, if anything, a shade firmer."

Street Opening Proceedings.

The Commissioners in the matter of acquiring land for the opening of East 147th street, from 3d to Willis avenue and from Brook to St. Anns avenue, have completed their assessments. Objections, if any, must be made, in writing, before April 23d, at 200 Broadway (fifth floor). The abstract of estimate and assessment, with damage and benefit maps, etc., are now at the Department of Public Works, 31 Chambers street.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

A special meeting of the board took place on Monday to receive the report of the Rapid Transit Committee of the Committee on Legislation. The latter consisted of Richard V. Harnett, chairman; Geo. S. Lespinasse, Sinclair Myers, Geo. De Forest Barton and Abraham Disbecker. The board, after some discussion, found they could not agree on any plan and resolved to drop the subject. The meeting then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The usual weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair.

Wm. Reynolds Brown requested the authority of the committee to have ex-Judge Ernest Hall represent the Exchange at Albany in opposition to the pernicious Burns bill (fully explained in last week's RECORD AND GUIDE), which authority was granted on the conditions stated.

The Sub-Committee on Rapid Transit reported that they had an interview with the Board of Directors of the Exchange, and that it had not been considered judicious to take any action which might apparently involve the Exchange in party politics, and that no action had consequently been taken.

The Sub-Committee on Taxation and Assessment, through B. F. Romaine, Jr., reported its disapproval of Assemblyman Towne's bill. The measure proposes to tax different interests in land on the different persons who own these interests, leasehold or otherwise. The report was read and placed on file.

REPORT—The Sub-Committee on Drafting and Amending Laws, to which was referred on the 25th day of February, 1890, the subject of an amendment to the New York City Consolidation Act of 1882, so as to provide for the annual tax levy being confirmed and becoming a lien on a day certain each year, respectfully reports that the committee has waited upon the President of the Department of Taxes and Assessments, who has expressed his approval of any legislation that would fix the exact time from and after which the tax levy should become a lien on real estate as September 1st in each year, and compel the Board of Aldermen under greatly increased penalties to confirm the levy during August, and certain other city officials to co-operate in making the change effective under similar penalties.

Your committee cannot protest too strongly, however, against the introduction of such matters for proposed legislation so late in the legislative session, and just before the introduction of new measures ceases under the rules of both Houses. The months from September to December, inclusive, constitute the time when measures of this kind and importance should be brought upon the committee. It is too late to do anything in the present session, in your committee's opinion, and with the limited resources at its command.

Dated New York, March 11th, 1890.

BENJ. F. ROMAINE, JR., Committee.

Several new bills were read, but as they were not considered of sufficient importance to real estate interests none of them were referred to committees.

B. F. Romaine, Jr., moved: "That this committee send a representative of the Exchange to advocate before the Assembly Committee on Codes the passage of the proposed amendment to section 757 of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to revival of special proceedings (heretofore approved by the committee), or of any similar bill whose authority shall be certified to by the chairman and the president of the Exchange, without expense to the Exchange." The motion was lost.

Geo. S. Lespinasse requested to be excused from further service on the Rapid Transit Committee; granted, and meeting adjourned.

News From Albany.

ALBANY, March 14.—There has been an interesting, and, indeed, rather sensational discussion over the Foreign Loan and Building Association bill, which was ordered to a third reading. There is an impression that there has been a lobby here in the interest of the foreign companies, and the determined fight against the bill seems to bear out the idea. It will probably come up for final passage next week, when Mr. Connelly, its introducer, believes that it will then be carried.

Col. Webster's McComb's Dam Bridge bill is also on third reading, and has been on the daily calendar for at least a week. Several large real estate holders in the upper wards, among them Fordham Morris and the Jerome Park Association, have warmly commended the idea of the bridge. There is hardly a doubt of its passage.

Mr. Coon's bill relative to the statements of bonds and mortgages was amended to-night by Mr. Coon himself and ordered to a third reading. Following is the bill with the amendments:

SECTION 1. Any person holding any bond and mortgage or mortgage on real property situate in the State of New York, either as mortgagee or assignee, shall, within one year prior to the expiration of twenty years from the date of the recording thereof and each and every twenty years thereafter file a written statement in the office of the clerk or register of the county where such mortgage is recorded, duly signed and acknowledged by himself or agent setting forth the amount then due and unpaid on said bond and mortgage or mortgage, and the date of the last payment thereon and containing a reference to said mortgage, the name of the mortgagor, the name and place of residence, the owner of said mortgage and the name of the owner or owners of the premises described in said mortgage at the time of the filing of such statement.

SEC. 2. Upon the filing of such statement the clerk or register in whose office such mortgage is filed and recorded shall record and index such statement against the names of the owners of such mortgage as mortgagee and of the original mortgagor and the owner or owners of said premises as mortgagors in the mortgage book, with a reference to the book and page where the original mortgage is recorded.

SEC. 3. The party filing such statement shall at the time of such filing, pay to the clerk or register the legal fees for filing, recording and indexing the same.

SEC. 4. No bond and mortgage or mortgage shall be enforceable after the expiration of twenty years from the time when such bond and mortgage or mortgage would be due had no payments been made thereon, as against a bona fide purchaser or incumbrancer without notice for value of the premises on which said mortgage was a lien, unless the statement shall have been filed and recorded as provided for in the first section of this act.

SEC. 5. This act shall not apply to bonds and mortgages or mortgages which were given prior to January first, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, provided the holder of such bond and mortgage or mortgage shall make and file the statement required in the first section of this act on or before the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and within one year next preceding the expiration of each and every term of twenty years thereafter.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-one.

Mr. Blumenthal has introduced a bill authorizing the city of New York to construct and operate a crosstown surface railroad through Central Park at 85th and 86th streets.

Jersey City.

There is considerable activity among real estate men in the way of renting. Inquiries are not only numerous, but many houses are being rented. There are many new-comers from the Metropolis. Agent Frank Stevens explains this by saying that the low rents in Jersey City, at easy distances from the New York City Hall, are the attractions to New Yorkers. Rents are steady at last year's prices. The section which shows the greatest activity is the Heights.

Sales of property are looking up, and prices are strong. Real estate owners are still awaiting developments in rapid transit, which seems to be long in coming.

Among the latest plans ordered for buildings to be erected this year are the following:

Two three-story and cellar frame tenements, 25x54, to be built for Geo. R. Mackenzie, on the corner of Grand street and Manning avenue, at a cost of $9,000; a three-story frame dwelling, 20x44, to be built for Mrs. Catherine Dooley on West Side avenue, near Duncan avenue, to cost $4,000, and a four-story and cellar flat, 25x50, to be built on the northwest corner of 13th and Erie streets for Dennis Egan, of New York, to cost $8,500—all from plans by R. W. Sailer.

G. W. Helm intends to build seventeen three story houses on Madison avenue, near Clinton avenue, from plans by Geo. L. Bettcher. Three will be commenced immediately, and the balance later on.

L. H. Giele is preparing drawings for a four-story brown stone front house, 20x40, to be built by Henry E. Niese on Mercer street, near Jersey avenue, at a cost of $9,000; two three-story brick houses, 25x56 each, to be built by J. McAusland on 7th street, near Monmouth street, at a cost of $10,000; a four-story and cellar brick and stone front flat, 25x65, to be built by Mrs. John Muller on Montgomery street, near Henderson street, at a cost of $10,000; and a five-story and cellar fifteen-family house, 25x85, to be built on the corner of 15th and Grove streets by Patrick Kennedy, to cost $15.000.

A New Feature in House Renting.

A prominent down-town broker, in a talk with the writer a few day ago, mentioned a few points in connection with renting, as far as it affected agents, which are worth noting. He said: "Renting by agents has changed greatly during the last ten years. Formerly agents in any part of the city used to try to rent houses in all other parts of the city, no matter how distant. It was not unusual, for instance, for a permit to be obtained from an agent near Pine street to inspect a house near 125th street, and it was not infrequent for an agent in Harlem to issue a permit for a house near 23d street. This is still the case, but only to a slight extent. It arises from the fact that nearly every agent has some friends who wish to give him the advantage of the rental, and in whom they feel the confidence which comes from friendship. But things have so changed that now agents in different localities make a specialty of the particular localities in which they have their offices. Thus, in the neighborhood of 14th street, who so well able to watch every move in connection with the surrounding property as agents on the spot. And the same holds good with 23d street, 33d street, 42d and 59th streets, the west side, the east side. Harlem and the 23d and 24th Wards. Owners of property have come to recognize this, and seekers for houses, stores, offices, etc., have realized it. Many down-town brokers who formerly controlled up-town properties now find it necessary to have an up-town branch to take care of their up-town business, knowing that it is impossible, with the competition from other agents in special neighborhoods, to retain their hold upon rentors and rentees without being on the spot. Down-town agents must either do this, or have an extra clerk or two out-doors a good part of the time to watch their up-town business. The result has been that many down-town agents have almost entirely given up renting up-town properties, feeling that it does not pay them, and remaining content with their renting business in the extreme southern sections of the city and their sales of property, which, after all, pays them best."

To Change Their Names.

The Street Committee of the Board of Aldermen met yesterday to hear all parties interested in the matter of changing the names of 9th and 10th avenues. Among those present were Cyrus Clark, President of the West Side Association; James J. Phelan, F. R. Houghton, Thos. Storm, and the following builders: Michael Brennan, J. T. Farley, A. McSorley, Richard Deeves, E. Purcell and Bernard S. Levy. Messrs. Clark, Phelan and Brennan addressed the committee in favor of the proposed change. There was no objections made. The committee will meet again next Thursday at 1 o'clock P. M., Room 13, City Hall, when all persons interested have been requested to be present.

The American Institute of Architects.

The New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, at its regular monthly meeting on the 12th inst. elected to its upper professional grade—that of practising membership—Henry Rutgers Marshall, of New York City, and H. Neill Wilson, of Pittsfield, Mass. Resolutions were also passed expressing sympathy with the Philadelphia Art Club in its efforts towards a successful exhibition of architectural designs during the current month, and giving the support of the Chapter, with certain provisoes, to a bill before the New York State Legislature, initiated by the Western New York State Association of Architects, looking toward the proper regulation of architectural practice in the State.

Obituary.

Matthew Byrnes died at his residence, No. 59 Park avenue, on Monday, of pneumonia, in his 81st year. He was for many years a builder and contractor in this city, and is said to have been directly or indirectly interested in the construction of upward of a thousand buildings in his time. He leaves an estate, both real and personal, valued at millions of dollars. The funeral took place from the Church of St. Agnes, 43d street, near Lexington avenue, on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, the pallbearers being Eugene Kelly, C. P. Huntington, Jordan L. Mott, John D. Crimmins, Judge J. R. Brady and Professor Theodore W. Dwight.

Real Estate Department.

The market has shown some activity this week, and the sales in the brokers' offices as well as on 'Change have been fairly numerous. Some important parcels, also, have been sold, both under the hammer and at private sale. On the Exchange one of the largest parcels ever sold in this city came under the hammer, and, although a leasehold, brought $700,000, which would be a very respectable figure for a parcel in fee. The sale, which attracted considerable attention, is mentioned in detail below. Another important parcel offered, also under court orders, was that of the northwest corner of Broadway and Liberty street, which sold at the rate of $181.12 per square foot, against $115.96 per square foot, the rate which the northeast corner, opposite, sold at in 1882. The private sales include the Columbia apartment house on 51st street, near Madison avenue, at $185,000, and the resale of No. 310 5th avenue, at $101,000, being $4,500 in advance of the figure at which it sold on 'Change on Tuesday. Another important sale is that of Nos. 45 and 47 Exchange place, which is said to have been sold for between $200,000 and $300,000, and which the seller, Eugene Kelly, purchased in 1872 for $160,000. A parcel on White street was sold for about $130,000. Christ Church, on the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 59th street, has also been sold for a figure reputed at about $240,000. Other important sales are under negotiation, one of these involving half a million dollars and two others a quarter of a million, the former being vacant property.

Monday was, with one exception, a day of foreclosures and adjournments.

Tuesday was, on the other hand, a day of sales. The principal one of the day was that of No. 310 5th avenue, south of 32d street, a four-story house on a lot 24.8¼x100, which was sold to Martin & Bro. for $96,500, and which they have since resold at $101,000. The three five-story tenements with four-story factory on rear, at Nos. 412 to 416 East 23d street, were sold to Stiger, Walter & Weil at $49,900. Other parcels were sold which do not call for special comment. A feature of the day was the disposal at private sale of three parcels which were to have been offered under the hammer, the principal one of these being No. 882 8th avenue, south of 53d street, a four-story brown stone front flat, with a lot 19.7½x80, which brought $21,000. Nine lots on 77th street, east of 9th avenue, were knocked down to T. S. Hammill at $22,000 each, but as this party's residence appears in the directory as adjoining that of the owner, Father McMahon of St. Andrew's Church, it is to be presumed that they were bid in on the latter's account.

On Wendesday the four-story brick building, on a lot 24.8x67.6, at No. 610 6th avenue, adjoining the southeast corner of 36th street, brought $49,000, John Porter being the purchaser. The two three-story brick buildings at Nos. 705 and 707 3d avenue, adjoining the northeast corner of 44th street, on a plot 40.2x80, went to J. McSweeney for $29,200, and a four-story house at No. 72 7th avenue, south of 15th street, on a lot 22x100, was knocked down to Mrs. M. S. Emrich at $20,300. A sale which attracted some attention on account of the cheapness of the purchase, was that of the two-story buildings on lots 17.2 and 18x irregular, situated at Nos. 20 and 22 New Bowery, near Chambers street, and running through to Chestnut street, which was secured by M. A. C. Levy at $8,500. A three-story brick dwelling at No. 149 Stanton street, near Suffolk street, went to John Schriever at $7,100. Both the latter sales were by order of the executor. No. 36 West 25th street, a 25-foot four-story flat, was bought by Chas. Harris for $40,000, and two five-story tenements at Nos. 657 and 659 Grand Boulevard went to John Berkeley and David Campbell, the former at $22,000, being 27.4 feet wide, and the latter at $22,000, being 18.4 feet wide.

Thursday was the most important day on 'Change this week owing to the Stewart estate sale. Among the crowd present were W. P. Seymour, Cyrille Carreau, Leon Tanenbaum, J. R. Foley, S. Eddy, P. F. Meyer, Hy. Hirsh, Smith Ely, Jr., Henry Morgenthau, I. T. West, Mayer Kahn, ex-Register John Reilly, A. K. Ely, Herman Wronkow, R. H. L. Townsend and others. The most important parcel offered was the well-known Denning building, having a frontage of about 184 feet on Broadway, 195 on 4th avenue, 328.5 on 9th street and 253.1 on 10th street. The building is on Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold property and the present lease expires May 1, 1890, with one renewal of twenty-one years at a ground rent of $37,500 per annum, taxes, assessments, water rates, etc., with the privilege of a further renewal of twenty-one years. The bidding started at $300,000 and advanced to $700,000, when it was knocked down to Albert B. Hilton, a son of ex-Judge Hilton, who had against him only one bidder, who is said to have been a representative of John Wanamaker. It is the opinion of experts that the property would have brought a much higher figure if the heirs of the estate had offered it with the privilege of, say, 50 per cent. remaining on bond and mortgage, and it would have been perfectly safe to have allowed that sum to remain, while it might have increased the number of bidders who could afford to handle such a large parcel. The price at which it was sold will net about 8⅛ per cent. on a cash basis. The present rent is $125,000. The taxes for 1889 were $20,475, the ground rent after May 1st will be $37,500, and other expenses about $2,000, a total of $60,000, or, allowing for repairs, etc., $65,000. This would leave $60,000 net, which is equivalent to 8⅛ per cent. on $700,000, which is very satisfactory even for leasehold property, considering that it is such an important Broadway parcel. If the property were altered by being cut up in ten or more divisions it could be rented at a much larger figure than $125,000, and would then, notwithstanding the cost of the alterations, yield a net profit of 10 per cent. or more on a cash basis. The other properties were bought by numerous parties, among whom were S. Dessau, Sol. Jacobs and Asher Weinstein.

Yesterday one or two important sales took place, quite an unusual thing for Friday. The five-story building on the northwest corner of Broadway and Liberty street, No. 149, size 19x86.6, and the six-story building, adjoining, No. 83 Liberty street, lot 23.6x58 in size, was sold by Richard V. Harnett for $544,500, the Singer Manufacturing Company becoming the purchasers. The property comprises 3,006⅛ square feet, which brings the price to an average of $181.12 per square foot. The figure paid for the opposite—the northeast—corner of Broadway and Liberty street, on May 31, 1882, by the Williamsburgh Fire Insurance Company, was $115.96 per square foot. The sale of property yesterday took place in partition, by court orders, and was effected to make perfect the title. It will be remembered that THE RECORD AND GUIDE, on February 8th last, reported the property sold, with Nos. 151 and 153 adjoining. This sale is to the same company who had at that time completed negotiations for the purchase. It is understood that the three parcels have cost the company about $950,000. The rent of No. 149

Broadway is said to be about $26,000 per annum, and Col. F. G. Bourne, president of the company, says it is the intention to build a handsome building on the site, the present buildings to be torn down to make way for the improvement when the leases of the tenants expire, which will in some cases not take place till 1893. Among the other sales of note yesterday was that of Nos. 11 and 13 James street, near Park row, which was bought by Mahoney Bros., the carpenters and builders, for $45,700. It comprises two four-story buildings, with a three-story rear building, all on a plot 52.1x133.8 and 134.11.

On Tuesday, March 18th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the five-story brick tenement with store No. 581 3d avenue, 18.6x55x75.

On Tuesday, March 18th, William Kennelly & Bro. will sell the four-story and cellar brick tenement, lot 18.6x80, No. 231 7th avenue, and by order of the executors of the estate of William Leonard, deceased, the valuable lot, 25x103, with three-story and cellar brick building in front and the two-story brick building on rear, No. 446 West 14th street.

On Tuesday, March 18th, Jere. Johnson, Jr., will sell at the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, No. 393 Fulton street, by order of the trustees of the Reformed Dutch Church of Flatbush, 250 desirable Flatbush lots. The fact that this town may soon be annexed to Brooklyn ought to make this property of great prospective value.

On Tuesday, March 18th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the four-story high stoop brown stone residence No. 114 East 64th street, on lot 17.6x100.5; the two handsome four-story double apartment houses, with all the modern improvements, on lots 37.6x100 each, Nos. 164 and 166 West 128th street, and the five-story brown stone apartment house, on lot 25x100, No. 111 West 62d street.

On Wednesday, March 19th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the four-story and cellar brick dwelling, on lot 25x100, No. 394 Warren street, Brooklyn; the three-story and basement brick front building, No. 138 York street, running through 129 feet to No. 23 Talman street, Brooklyn; the four-story and cellar brick dwelling with store, on the southeast corner of 11th avenue and 47th street; the two-story and basement high stoop brick dwelling No. 560 West 47th street, adjoining the former; the four-story brick dwelling with store, 20x60x100, No. 215 East 120th street, and the four five-story brick and stone dwellings Nos. 1840, 1842, 1844 and 1846 2d avenue.

On Wednesday, March 19th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the southeast corner of Grand and Attorney streets, consisting of Nos. 425, 427 and 429 Grand street, three four-story and basement brick houses with stores, and No. 14 Attorney street, a three-story and basement brick house, 30x30x50; No. 54 Norfolk street, a four-story and basement brick house with store, 25x38x75; the three-story brown stone dwelling, No. 138 East 44th street, 15x50x100.5; to close the estate of Cornelius V. Anderson, deceased, No. 87 Crosby street, running through to No. 52 Marion street, with a four-story and a three-story and basement brick factories thereon; Nos. 203 and 205 East 124th street, a five-story and basement double apartment house, known as the Glenwood, 40x90x100.11; No. 123 Bowery, a five-story and basement brick building with store; No. 2270 2d avenue, a four-story double flat with two stores, 25.3x60x84.10, and ten city lots and gores on 152d and 153d streets, 12th avenue and Hudson river, with a five-story brick building on the plot.

On Thursday, March 20th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the four-story and basement brick tenement with store No. 917 3d avenue, 20x50x110; the four-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone residence No. 314 2d avenue; a vacant plot, 41.5x79.7½, on the south side of 73d street, 58 feet west of Madison avenue; the three-story, high stoop, brown stone dwelling No. 625 Lexington avenue, 20x45x60; a lot, 25x100.11, on the north side of 99th street, 250 feet west of Central Park, west, and the four-story and basement brick flat No. 239 East 10th street, 25x45x94.10.

On Thursday, March 20th, Adrian H. Muller & Son will sell by order of the executors of Wm. J. Syms, deceased, twenty-two choice up-town lots situated on the Boulevard, at 99th street, 10th avenue, at 122d street and 8th avenue, between 76th and 77th streets, and 100th, 101st and 121st streets. Sixty-five per cent. may remain on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent.

On Thursday, March 20th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the four-story brick tenement with store (Beekman leasehold), No. 1102 3d avenue, lot 19x80; the six-story tenement with two stores, 25x86x100, No. 176 Rivington street.

On Tuesday, March 25th, John F. B. Smyth will sell three four-story brown stone front flats, one 28 and the other two about 40x100 each, Nos. 257, 259 and 261 West 128th street, and the three-story and basement brick flat No. 2015 Fulton street, Brooklyn.

On Wednesday, March 26th, John F. B. Smyth will sell some desirable properties, variously located at No. 320 East 25th street, No. 435 West 35th street, No. 558 Greenwich street, and No. 113 Charlton street.

On Wednesday, April 2d, John F. B. Smyth will sell the three-story high stoop, brown stone dwelling No. 205 East 45th street.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

It is reported that the Burnham estate has sold a plot 96x175 on the southwest corner of 5th avenue and 18th street, opposite Chickering Hall. The figure quoted is $450,000. We hear plans have been prepared for a costly hotel to be built on the site. Inquiry late on Thursday led to our representative being told that the sale had not then been completed although negotiations were pending, and that a settlement would likely be reached in a few days.

Wm. C. Walker's Sons have sold for the Kingsland estate to John Downey Nos. 51 and 53 White street, 39x100, between Broadway and Church streets, for about $130,000.

Riker & Son have sold for Samuel W. Adams and others that part of the old 5th avenue stage stable on 44th street, Nos. 18, 20, 22 and 24 West, for $100,000 cash to Dr. John S. White of the Berkeley School, for improvement.

The Columbia flats Nos. 40 to 44 East 51st street, between Park and Madison avenues, together in size 75x100.5, have been sold by Wm. C. and Charles G. Martin at $185,000 to H. Hall. Broker, J. O. Hoyt. The "Columbia" comprises three five-story brick flats, each containing five suites of apartments.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. have sold for Martin & Bro. the four-story brown stone dwelling No. 310 5th avenue, between 31st and 32d streets, size 24.8x65x100, to Mrs. Dahum (?) of 5th avenue, for $101,000, an advance of $4,500 on the price paid by Messrs. Martin at the auction sale of the Civill estate on Tuesday, viz.: $96,500.

Five weeks ago we mentioned the sale of a plot of five lots on the northwest corner of Park avenue and 58th street, 100.5x125, by the Hutton estate at $125,000. Owing to certain restrictions on the above plot the buyers, the Board of Education, have decided to take the plot of five adjoining lots on Park avenue and 59th street at $130,000. This plot is intended as the site for a new building to be erected for occupancy by the Board of Education, whose offices are at present on Grand street.

We learn that the purchaser of the Hotel Hartford on the northwest corner of 14th street and 7th avenue is Police Inspector Thomas Byrnes. The price paid, $60,000, shows an advance of $5,500 on the figure paid a few weeks ago for the same corner by Speculator Ascher Weinstein.

Eugene Kelly, the banker, has sold the four-story office building Nos. 45 and 47 Exchange place. Mr. Kelly, when called on yesterday, declined to state the price or the purchaser, saying that he had given his word not to reveal the particulars. It is said that the price paid was under $300,000, not $500,000 as reported. Mr. Kelly purchased the property on May 4, 1872, for $160,000. No. 45 is 25.9x94.9x24.7x93.6, and No. 47 is 25.2x96.2x24.9½x94.9 in size. It is also said that an adjoining property has been bought, and that the whole will be handsomely improved.

Geo. R. Read and Bellamy & Winans have sold to J. H. Solomon the brown stone dwelling No. 60 West 54th street for $60,000.

C. E. Smith has sold to J. Hooker Hamersley No. 414 Madison avenue for upwards of $60,000.

Nathan Cohen and Morris Rosenthal have sold the two-story brick front and three-story brick store and dwelling on the southwest corner of Rivington and Willett streets, 25x63, to Louis Lese, at $18,000.

Dye & Castree have sold the old buildings Nos. 40 and 42 Renwick street, 50x60, at $22,000 to A. Luedemann; for W. H. Montanye the four-story brick dwelling No. 145 West 11th street at $22,500, and for J. T. Moneypenny the three-story brick, single flat, No. 164 West 10th street for $16,250.

Henry Waters and Samuel Levin have purchased from John Schreiner, Jr., the five-story apartment house, 25x96x100, on the southwest corner of Clinton and Stanton streets, for $60,000.

W. P. Scrymser has sold for Frederick Billings the Christ Church property on the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 35th street, 62.9x135, to Lewis S. Samuels, on private terms.

D. H. Carroll has sold for Smith Ely, Jr., No. 115 Chambers street to Wm. C. Lesster for $42,600. Mr. Ely bought this property about six weeks ago at auction for $38,750.

Gerhard Elbers has sold for Mrs. Meyer No. 95 East 8th street, 27.6x105, a five-story brick dwelling to George Hornberger for $27,800.

Samuel Williams has sold No. 18 West 50th street (Columbia College leasehold) at $34,000, and No. 66 West 50th street (Columbia College leasehold) at $18,000.

Isaac Rosendorff has purchased from A. Cutner the six-story double tenement house and two-story rear building at No. 317 East 9th street, adjoining the rear of his property at No. 214 East 10th street.

Geo. W. Mercer has sold for Herbert Turner the three-story dwelling No. 435 West 21st street for $14,000 to Geo. D. Kuper.

A. D. Russell has purchased No. 453 West 21st street, lot 25x98.9, for $20,000 cash. Broker, Douglas Robinson, Jr.

John B. Trevor has sold to B. B. Sloan No. 141 East 36th street.

We understand that Mrs. Buel has bought from Mrs. Van Raanst No. 131 East 6th street.

Dye & Castree have sold for Fisher Lewine the four-story brown stone private house No. 425 West 22d street, 16.8x98.9, on private terms, to Charles A. Guiteau.

The Harris estate have sold to Henry Gucker the two three-story brick dwellings, 21x55x92 feet, on the south side of 21st street, about 150 feet west of 2d avenue, for $24,000.

Mrs. Salzer has sold the three-story brick dwelling, 25x50x92 feet, No. 307 East 10th street, for $18,000.

The seven-story store Nos. 483 and 485 5th avenue, belonging to the Graves estate and knocked down at the auction sale held last week for $162,000, was subsequently offered at private contract for $180,000. An offer of $175,000 was refused, and the property later on was withdrawn from sale.

Out of Town.

Rev. John E. Burke, of St. Benedict's Roman Catholic Church (colored), on Bleecker street, has purchased the Deane place at Rye, N. Y., with frame house and about seven acres of land for $20,000. Father Burke will convert the house into a home for colored children. Broker, Thomas C. Smith, of New York City.

Out Among the Builders.

R. W. Gibson has completed plans for St. Michael's Episcopal Church, to be erected on 10th avenue at the northwest corner of 99th street. The style is of the Italian Romanesque, and the plans have been carefully studied and worked out with gratifying results. The church, which will be 40x151, with seating capacity of 1,500, will be built either of stone entire, or of buff brick and stone, and is to cost about $120,000. There are many noteworthy features in the plans as drawn, in the matter of placing of seats, ventilation, heating and fire-proof construction which will secure to the society a model edifice when completed.

Alfred Zucker has prepared plans for a handsome store building, to be erected at 712 Broadway by Scholle Bros.

W. Holman Smith has plans under way for six five-story brick and stone flats, 25x86, to be built on the south side of 53d street, between 10th and 11th avenues. The total cost will be $102,000, and the owner is a Mr. Lovell.

Bradford L. Gilbert has completed plans for a library in the house of Edmund Coffin, Jr., 57th street, near 5th avenue, of oak and "Tyncastle" textile. The carving over the mantelpis an original composition in oak, and nearly seven feet in length by two in height, and is one of the largest carvings of any but a religious subject that has ever been attempted in this city. The work was modeled and executed by the Baronesse Anna Von Kienbusch and is a piece of art in every sense of the word, representing a group of some fourteen monks playing musical instruments and singing.

A. B. Ogden & Son will furnish plans for two five-story flats, 26x91, to be erected on the north side of 87th street, 150 east of Madison avenue, for Michael McMara, for $44,000.

Samuel C. Boehm will build a four-story brown stone residence on the lot recently purchased by him on the north side of 80th street, 150 feet east of 5th avenue, at a cost of $70,000. The size of the house will probably be 25x90 feet.

E. Wenz has plans under way for a five-story flat and store, 25x89, to be built on the west side of 1st avenue, 25 feet south of 75th street, for Wm. A. Wilson, at a cost of $18,000; and for Mary Reardon plans for a five-story flat, 25x84, to be erected on the north side of 105th street, 230 feet west of 4th avenue, at a cost of $20,000.

Adelaide, wife of Builder George E. Beaudet, will improve the lots Nos. 63 to 67 Downing street by the erection of flats.

F. A. Minuth is at work on plans for two five-story brick and stone tenements, 25x90, to cost $20,000 each, which will be put up on the north side of 67th street, 125 feet east of West End avenue; also for a four-story brick and stone double flat, 25x72, to be built by E. C. Clifford, on the east side of 10th avenue, 25 feet north of 166th street, to cost $14,000, and for extensive alterations to be made the private dwelling on the north side of Washington place, between Mercer and Greene streets, owned by a Mr. Fetten. The house is to be altered for business purposes, and with other changes will have a four-story extension, 20x40, new front and elevator, costing $8,000.

D. W. King is busy on plans for internal alterations and extension to be made by Curtis & Blaisdell in the building on the northeast corner of Avenue A and 56th street. The extension will be three stories, of iron and frame construction and the changes will cost $10,000. The same architect has drawn plans for internal alterations to be made by Mrs. M. Bresler in her residence on Jerome avenue, at the northeast corner of 177th street. Cost, $500.

F. Ebeling has plans on the boards for a five-story and basement, buff brick, terra cotta and Euclid stone flat, 34.6x40, to be built at Nos. 203 and 205 Madison street, by M. Jackson. Cost, $20,000.

Chas. Rentz is preparing plans for three five-story and basement, brick, stone and terra cotta flats, one 25x96, with stores, and two 25x89. These buildings are to be erected on Rivington street, northwest corner of Willett street, by Fay & Stacom, and will cost $70,000 for the three.

Geo. Keister has sketches prepared for two five-story brick and stone front flats, 20x89 each, to be built by Alex. Moore on the north side of 43d street, between 7th and 8th avenues. They will have steam heat and cabinet trim and will cost about $44,000.

Geo. F. Pelham has plans for a five-story brick and stone front tenement, 25x89, to be built at No. 114 Lewis street for Weil & Mayer, to cost $19,000, and for a three-story frame dwelling, 20x40 and 48, to be built at Williamsbridge by Mr. Totten, to cost, $3,000.

We understand that James A. Frame will improve the plot, 62x100.8 feet on the south side of 93d street, 170 feet east of Madison avenue, probably by the erection of flats.

Thom & Wilson and John N. Heubner will improve at once three lots on the north side of 92d street, 350 feet east of 10th avenue.

John J. Feehan and Ernest Hammer will erect five tenements on the north side of 88th street, 125 feet west of 1st avenue,

Brooklyn.

I. D. Reynolds is preparing plans for flats, stores and private dwellings to be built by Knight & Barton, as follows: One three-story brick flat with stores, 20x65, cost, $9,000, to be erected on McDonough street, at the southwest corner of Ralph avenue; one three-story brick flat with stores, same as above, to be located on the northwest corner of Decatur street and Ralph avenue; four two-story and basement brown stone dwellings, 17.6x42, to be located on the south side of McDonough street, 20 feet west of Ralph avenue, to cost $20,000 for the four, and four private dwellings, same as above, to be built on the north side of Decatur street, 20 feet west of Ralph avenue.

John C. Burne has plans for two four-story brick, stone and terra cotta flats and stores, to be built on the corner of Tompkins avenue and Madison street, for Wm. Irvine, at a cost of $60,000. The corner house will be 21x74 feet, and the inside building 27x64 feet in size.

B. L. Gilbert is about completing plans for the Epworth Memorial Church, corner Bushwick and De Kalb avenues, covering about 80x90 feet, and to cost about $30,000.

Th. Engelhardt has plans for nine four-story brick stores and tenements, 25x65 each, to be built on the north side of Myrtle avenue, 100 west of Lewis avenue, for Max Hallheimer, to cost $90,000; a three-story frame tenement, 25x57, on the south side of Elm street, 100 west of Hamburg avenue, for John Young, to cost $5,000; a three-story frame flat, 20x48, on the west side of St Nicholas avenue, 60 south of Greene avenue, for G. Petzold, to cost $4,000; two four-story brick stores and tenements, 30x60 and 20x60 each, on the north side of Myrtle avenue, 353.2 west of Marcy avenue, for Henry Heuschel, to cost $18,000; a three-story frame store and tenement, 25x58, on the northeast side, 75 south of Stockholm street, for J. H. V. Breuer, to cost $5,000; fourteen two-and-a-half-story and basement brick dwellings, two will be 20x42 each and the others 19x42, and will be built on the south side of Putnam avenue, 95 east of Stuyvesant avenue, the owner is Chas. Herr and the cost $75,000; a two-story frame factory, 35x100, with extension, 35x140, for William Kappman & Co.; a three-story frame flat and store, 25x60, with extension, 30x20, on the northeast corner of Evergreen avenue and Linden street, for Frank Ibert, to cost $6,000.

Anzi Hill & Son has plans for five three-story brick and brown stone dwellings, 20x48 each, to be erected on the north side of Dean street, 200 west of New York avenue, for A. Miller, to cost $10,000 each.

Mercein Thomas has drawn plans for a three-story and basement brown stone dwelling, 22x50, with octagon front, to be built by J. A. Sharp on the south side of Jefferson, near Marcy avenue. Cost, about $16,000.

Out of Town.

ALBANY, N. Y.—E. P. Durant is about to build a residence which will be one of the handsomest in the city. It will be on State street, fronting the park, and will be four stories high. The front will be ornate and of brick and stone. In size it will be 27.11x63, and the cost is estimated at $20,000 or more. Geo. Keister of New York is the architect.

BAYONNE, N. J.—A. F. Leicht has drawn plans for a two-story and basement frame dwelling, 20x42, to be built by W. D. Salter on the east side of Avenue D, near 35th street, cost $3,000; and for a two-story and attic frame dwelling, 22x32, to be built by D. C. Wilcox on the west side of Avenue A, near 5th street, cost $2,500.

CITY OF MEXICO, Mex.—Bradford L. Gilbert is engaged upon plans for a large railroad station, 250 feet in length by 60 feet in depth, for the Mexican National Railroad Co., costing about $30,000.

GREENFIELD HILL, Conn.—Edward Chestre Smith has drawn plans for a two-story, attic and basement frame dwelling, shingle finish, 45x40, to be built by Col. Alex. Nichols and to cost about $7,000.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—B. L. Gilbert has just contracted for the G. R & I. R. R. Co. a large train shed, 600 by 135 feet in width, of steel and iron construction, costing about $70,000; also for a house for C. S. Hazeltine, Esq., of stone and frame construction, costing about $15,000; also a house for William H. Gay, Esq., of frame construction, to cost about $5,500.

JACKSON, Mich.—B. L. Gilbert will draw the plans for a house for Mrs. J. B. Carter, to cost about $7,000.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, WEST INDIES.—Walgrove & Israels are drawing plans for a one-story frame exhibition building, 30x100, to be built by A. S. Laselles & Co in connection with the Industrial Exhibition to be held at Kingston next year. Cost $7,000.

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—B. L. Gilbert is drawing plans for a house for C. M. Marvin, costing about $5,000.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y.—B. L. Gilbert has just contracted a house for Mrs Curtiss, for about $5,000.

RYE, N. Y.—Little & O'Connor have the plans for interior alterations and an addition to the Deane House at this place. Rev. John E. Burke, of St. Benedict's R. C. Church, New York City, has recently bought the property and will convert it into a home for colored children.

Schweitzer & Diemer have plans under way for a two-story brick and stone watch-case factory, to be built on Summer avenue, at Woodside. The main building will be 100x100, with two extensions 27x32 and 37x23. The second-story will be finished off with parlor, billiard, reading and dining-rooms, kitchen, bath and toilet-rooms, etc., for use of the employés. Thos. Benfield is the owner, and the cost will be $35,000.

STAMFORD, Conn.—The sale of Vail Court, which is situated in the most fashionable quarter of this place, has created quite a ripple in social and real estate circles. It comprises a large residence, conservatories, stables and numerous out-houses, with about 22 acres of grounds, partly in lawn. The price paid to the owner, James Everett Vail, was under $50,000, which is considered a low figure. The estate has cost about $150,000 and was once owned by Ferdinand Ward. It is on the highest ground here and has a superb view of the surrounding country from its immense porch—the Sound, with its passing vessels, being plainly visible in the distance. The purchaser is understood to be connected with the Gorham Manufacturing Company.

YONKERS, N. Y.—B. L. Gilbert has drawn plans for a house for Alfred Skitt, Esq., of the N. Y. & Harlem R. R. Co., to cost about $12,000.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works until 12 o'clock M., Thursday, March 20th, for flagging full width, and reflagging, curbing and recurbing the sidewalks on both sides of Morris street, from Broadway to West street; north side of 70th street, from 10th to West End avenue; 80th street, from Avenue A to East River; 94th street, from Park to 5th avenue; the east side of 2d avenue, from 100th to 105th street, and on the south side of 100th street, from 1st to 2d avenue; north side of 105th street, and on the south side of 106th street, between 9th and 10th avenues; on the block bounded by Madison and Park avenues, 119th and 120th streets, and 119th street, from Pleasant avenue to East River; and for regulating and grading 101st street, from 1st to 2d avenue, and setting curbstones and flagging therein; 123d street, from 10th avenue to the Boulevard; 139th street, from 10th avenue to 475 feet west of the Boulevard, and 145th street, from 6th avenue to Harlem River.

Special Notices.

"We want lots," so say Messrs. McMonegal & Eckerson of No. 1634 9th avenue. This firm has no doubt as large a list of estates under their management as any on 9th avenue, having made a specialty of that department of the real estate business, and the fact that they are on the lookout for vacant property probably foreshadows the building of a good number of flats on the west side. They have been extraordinarily successful in the renting and taking charge of flats and private houses, and their patrons, both owners and tenants, are well pleased with the courteous treatment they receive in the transaction of any business, no matter how small in volume. Messrs. McMonegal & Eckerson are working on the principle that the best advertisement is a well satisfied client, and certainly their success seems to be proof of their belief.

Real estate brokers, agents and investors, as well as intending purchasers, should not fail to notice the pictures, with description, of the five handsome houses built by A. P. Smith on the north side of 121st street, west of the 7th avenue Boulevard. They have original exteriors and unusually handsome interiors for houses offered at such a low figure. A. P. Smith has had twenty-one years' experience in house construction and house managing, and has evidently put all his best brain work into their construction and arrangement. He is certainly offering a first-class article at a very low figure, and his friends think the buyers of the houses will get the best of the bargain.

Prominent among the pushing and energetic young brokers on the west side are Mainhart & Lowe. They conduct a general real estate business, and have been very successful in arranging sales in a way that was satisfactory to both seller and purchaser. They have a good line of west side property on their books and do a large renting and collecting business.

The large increase in the business of Porter & Co., the real estate brokers on West 125th street, has lead them to remove to larger and handsomer quarters in the new Opera House building No. 211 West 125th street. This is a very old established house, and numbers among its clients some of our best known business men.

Builders and others should turn to the advertisement on another page, wherein a number of first-class lots are offered for lease on the west side of the Grand Boulevard, between 61st and 62d streets. I. & S. Wormser, of the Mills' Building, on Broad street, will lease these for twenty-one years, with two renewals, upon most favorable terms.

Kaliske & Merritt, the well-known real estate firm, has removed from their old quarters to No. 1,197 9th avenue, on the southwest corner of 73d street.

John F. Luth & Co., of No. 159 East 48th street, New York, contract for placing on houses cornices, sky-lights, roofing and general sheet metal work. S. G. Brinckman, the other partner in the firm, is a man of many year's experience in the business; and Mr. Luth himself has been a mechanical inventor all his life-time. Any work contracted for will be promptly and satisfactorily performed.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages VII., XI., XII., and XIV.]

BRICKS.—The market for Common Hards has received something of a set-back and the tone is easier all around. A week ago we noted a reduction in the volume and force of demand from actual consumers, and this has since taken more decided form until business finally lapsed into positively dull condition and it became quite a difficult matter to induce either dealers or builders to manifest satisfactory interest in the situation. Some of them continue to refer to the snow storm as a check to work, but as a rule there was no special pains taken to present any excuse at all, but simply a refusal to negotiate. The chances are that to a considerable extent last winter's features have repeated themselves, and with the open weather a great deal of work is completed and out of the way at an earlier period than usual and a lapse comes now that temporarily reduces the outlet. Receivers have managed their end of the market fairly well, abstaining from display of anxiety or direct effort to realize, but could not protect themselves against the influence of a steady accumulation of supplies, especially with New Jersey sending in a very liberal quota, and of late sales have been made at a reduction from former figures. We hesitate, however, to fix upon any price at the moment in a positive manner, owing to the naturally unsettled condition of feeling, but in general form may say that while some operators talk about $7.50 it looks as though $7 37½ was about extreme, with actual sales of Haverstraw seconds reported at $7.12½, and from thence there is a range down to $5.25 for some of the ordinary Jerseys. Altogether, it would be well to look upon quotations this week as somewhat nominal. Pales have given way also with $4.50 about the best for cargo lots, and inferior stock sold still lower.

CEMENT.—The market generally appears steady with a satisfactory business doing for the season. Domestic manufacturers find it possible to place some very nice bunches of stock besides getting a chance to figure and now and then close upon contracts for later delivery, and importers generally speak cheerfully. The recent arrivals have been quite liberal, but where there was no immediate use for the supply loading upon canal boats was resorted to in full confidence of moving everything forward to the interior as soon as navigation is resumed.

GLASS.—In foreign window glass the general run of trade is fair, and on most outlets considered quite up to the average for the season, with apparently nothing serious to complain of over the condition of the market. The gain in line of value noted some little time ago is supported without much difficulty, rather moderate arrivals and an accumulation of by no means full proportions proving advantageous to sellers. For domestic cylinder there is a stronger market, and the recent combination of manufacturers has so brought the position into shape that there is now an advance in cost of about 5 per cent. The new rates recently adopted give a uniform list for both domestic and foreign, which will prove advantageous to the trade generally. The discount on domestic is 80 and 10@80 and 5 per cent., according to quantity. Plate finds good, steady demand, and is broadening the area of distribution, with rates firm at discount 50 and 10 per cent. for over 10 square feet to light, and 60 per cent. on less than 10 square feet to light.

LATH.—The market for lath has a proverbial tendency to disappoint receivers just at the moment when they are in the most sanguine mood, and a result of that kind is developed since our last. Sales were perfected at $2.75 per M. but before they could be duplicated to any extent an increase of stock "unexpectedly" put in an appearance, upon which buyers at once became more indifferent in their methods and eventually succeeded in securing a shading on cost. The lowest figure we learned of was $2.35 per M. on round wood stock from Maine, while on the other end the final rate for St. John lath seems to be $2.50 per M. and that is probably all that could be obtained at the close for slab lath, though some receivers quote higher, and express a belief that they will soon be able to do better again on first-class stock. When evidence of weakness began to develop a waiting bid at $2.50 was accepted on some 300,000 Canadian lath, and while it is doubtful if that could now be duplicated it is also claimed that very little if any more of the same description of stock remains to come forward. Dealers say consumption is not very liberal at the moment and they can get along with comparative moderate quantities of stock.

LIME.—We find the familiar market for pretty much all kinds of stock. Irregular arrivals of Rockland have put in an appearance and also a little from St. John, all commanding former figures, but the movement was not particularly active, as the wants of buyers required no special degree of haste in securing supplies. Of State stock sales are making for delivery by rail as occasion may require with most attention given finishing grades.

LUMBER.—There are a great many different kinds of reports to be found upon the distributive market ranging from claims of absolute quietness up to "just about as much as we can attend to," with the conflict of statement traceable as usual to location of yard, and the suggestions of animation as yet rather exceptional. Business, however, is no doubt improving in a general way and it is reasonable to expect more or less gain from week to week from this time forward. That some reflection of the conditions mentioned should be found upon the market for bulk lots is but natural both in a demand for early delivery wherever such can be promised and also on contracts to mature further along in the season when supplies can be brought forward in a more convenient and less expensive manner. From the tests thus far applied there is nothing to give buyers any great measure of advantage, but on the contrary the tendency on several descriptions of stock is toward a higher range.

Eastern Spruce may still be numbered among the woods upon which the line of valuation stands every chance of holding a pretty stiff position without much if any necessity for giving artificial support. There is reason to suspect that between Maine and the Provinces there will be obtained a somewhat larger supply of logs than was predicted during mid-winter, but if all the stories of the known exhaust for the product of the mills be true, buyers have only to ask anything within the bounds of reason and get, especially for the most desirable cuts, some of the reported bids for long and wide stuff. Eastern surveys are phenomenal, but it is just possible they have been made to manufacturers who were unable to furnish the stuff, and it may also be noted that local buyers are not adverse to having the tone appear bullish so long as it makes no difference in what they actually have to pay. However, there is scarcely a doubt that even with ordinary demand it will be a pretty difficult matter to get the market down this spring to a plane of last year's prices.

Piling is also counted as a sure selling stock for all first class sticks and a good proportion of medium and smaller sizes, because enough work is already planned out to show from whence custom may be expected and indications are good for other jobs of more or less magnitude. Sellers quote full and talk firmly on supplies both here and to arrive.

Hemlock is not likely to run behind other staple descriptions of lumber in proportion of consumption and the condition of market will depend somewhat upon the supply and the manner in which it is handled A measure of competition among Pennsylvania manufacturers already exists, and is quite likely to broaden when the State product becomes available, though buyers who calculate upon more than a fractional break are quite likely to be disappointed especially on desirable cuts of well seasoned stock.

White Pine retains irregular features, and a good general assortment of reports and suggestions may be found upon the market that tend to retard rather than assist the effort to obtain thoroughly reliable information. Sellers claim to have in one way or another already found space for quite a liberal quantity of stock and of course intimate that full or better rates were obtained, but it is difficult to locate buyers who will admit entering upon engagements for more than enough supply to satisfy some early necessity and generally there is a contradiction of any assertion that fuller prices have been paid. One thing appears certain, there is not likely to be any scarcity of stock unless manufacturers and interior holders generally make this market less of an objective point than they have thus far shown a disposition to do.

Yellow Pine holds a solid position on the general market, and while there is probably too much talk about giving it a boom, it is sure to keep right up in the front rank with all other kinds of staple stock, and has a chance of exceeding the movement of last year. The manner in which the market is kept under control from manufacturer to retailer would, no doubt, make it possible to push up the line of value to a higher level if it was so desired; but unless we mistake the temper of the principal operators greatly their policy is in favor of keeping cost as low as may be consistent with a reasonable profit. Some very good sized special contracts have been made within a week or two.

Carolina Pine has been spoken of somewhat slightingly in one or two instances of late, and from the selling side. The fault finding, however, seems to come from operators who are somewhat new to the market and neither know it, nor are known upon it and naturally fail to meet with prompt success. All old and well-established concerns appear to be doing first-rate with kiln-dried dressed stock, and the rough stuff brought forward for preparation here, while there is no abatement in the claims of an increasing business ahead

Hardwoods show no more than the usual unevenness and at the moment are without positively new features. Ash, poplar and quartered oak are constantly under treaty to a greater or less extent—greater when the quality is fine and attractive and less when manufacturers attempt to foist off some inferior cut and poorly assorted stuff under the idea that simply because it is a popular wood it will find sale anyhow. In a general way prices incline to steadiness and look a little uppish for the best goods. Occasionally buyers ask about Cherry, but when they find it is just as scarce and just as costly as ever they generally conclude it is not a good investment except for some specific use where price is no particular object. Exporters may be counted among the regular line of customers, but they continue about as particular as ever in the matter of quality. Late advices from Cuba report as follows: "The exportation of Cuban woods, that had slackened somewhat during the past years, is active again, owing to better prices ruling of late in London and New York, and a large number of vessels have been lately chartered to load chiefly mahogany at Nuevitas, Bay of Nipe, Manzanilla, Santa Cruz del Sur, Zaza, Cardenas and Caibarien."

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

In reviewing the general situation the Timberman says:

The amount of manufactured lumber to be put on the market during the coming season will be enormous. On every hand and at every manfacturing source can be seen evidence of heavy operations. North and south the same influence is apparent, and there will be a powerful effort put forth in every possible direction to place this heavy product advantageously. On the other hand, the consumption of lumber is bound to be very heavy, and indeed, from present indications, heavy as the output may be, there will develop a demand that will absorb it all. Competition may keep away all fancy prices, but such days have passed and a fair return for efforts made is all that will be asked for.

Lumber buyers in considerable numbers are making their appearance in the Saginaw valley markets, and quite a number of sales are reported. The demand is considered strong for this time of the year, and prices are firm. Stocks are large but the indications are that they will all be disposed of at good figures before the season is over.

Copious and extensive falls of snow have taken place this week, furnishing loggers with all the snow that they desire, and in some localities rather more, and there is no longer any apprehension of a shortage in the log crop, although in the lower peninsula of Michigan some logs may be left over until next year. The harvest will be much larger than was anticipated some weeks ago.

During the past week and the early part of this, there have been extensive floods in the Middle and Southern States which have caused in some instances considerable loss to lumbermen, particularly in Tennessee and Kentucky. In most parts of the Southern States, however, these floods have been very welcome, enabling lumbermen to raft out logs which had been tied up for many months.

There is hardly as much trade at the present time as dealers in hardwood had anticipated from the brisk manner in which the year opened out, yet the amount of business done by them during the month of February was probably above the average for that month, so they have small reason to grumble unless it be on the score of the narrow margins they are receiving. As one of the members of the local hardwood trade put it, they have been gradually whittling these down until there is scarcely anything left, and may be likened to the man who attempted to teach his horse to live without eating by feeding it a little less each day However, the hardwood dealers of this city don't propose to let the "critter up and die" on their hands, so they are now working toward higher values. It is uphill business, but as they seem earnest in the movement, and determined to succeed, they will doubtless do so.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades Journal of London says:

Pencilwood.—The arrivals lately have been unusually heavy, and the dock stock is now larger than we have known it to be for a very long time. We do not, however, hear of very much trade doing.

American Black Walnut.—Several parcels of large prime logs have lately been landed at the East Wood Wharf, which were speedily secured by the wholesale dealers on the spot, who, however, have had to pay full prices for same, but no doubt they were fully justified in doing so, as we are reliably informed that there is very little if any more coming forward for some time. Lumber continues to sell freely at prices about as last reported.

American Whitewood.—In this there is nothing much new. Trade is steady, but perhaps not quite so active as formerly. There is still a good amount of lumber on sale at the docks, in the form of planks and boards, but logs have not been coming over so freely.

American Oak.—An active trade is being done in this at fully maintained prices. It would be well, however, for shippers to be careful not to burden this market with an excess of narrow stuff, the demand for which is but limited

American Satin Walnut.—The consumption of this wood is still considerable, but appears to be confined pretty much to the manufacture of bedroom furniture; we do not, however, at all times hear very satisfactory reports concerning it.

NAILS.—There is no essential change in the condition of general market. Some dealers grumble a little over the volume of trade, others are slightly disposed to talk extravagantly, but sifting matters down to an average the total movement does not differ greatly from week to week, and is hardly a balance for the supply available. We quote at $2.00@2.05 per keg for car lots, and $2.05@2.10 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Although somewhat irregular in developing at times, the demand is on the whole tending toward steady general growth both on local and interior calls. The actual consumption is fuller, and as jobbers, retailers, etc., have been working on the hand-to-mouth policy so long, they carry little to assist them in meeting any extra draft from regular custom and must at once resort to first-hand supplies. Offerings of stock are fair, with prices about as before the uniformity on leads appearing to set the cue for other staple goods. Linseed Oil has for some reason been spoken of as tame in a few instances, but buyers do not appear to find stock at any reduction on cost and holders' views are generally quite as confident as ever. We quote at 59@60c. for Western, and 61@63c. for City. Spirits Turpentine sold a little more freely and made some advance in the general line of valuation, closing with a firm tone, though business apparently inclined to fall away. We quote 43@44c. per gallon, according to quality, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business shows only about the usual volume and without the development of any great change in character. Now and then buyers appear to find use for somewhat extra sized invoices; but as a rule contracts are small, and confined to limit of early wants. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.40, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLV. MARCH 22, 1890. No. 1,149.

The advance in prices on the stock market was checked by the announcement of the resignation of Prince Bismarck, and a decline was forced upon other announcements affecting trade conditions at home. The overwhelming importance, politically, of the change which has just been consummated in the German administration had naturally a very large influence on the European Exchanges; and while it may not signify any change of policy on the part of Germany towards her neighbors, European financial circles will want to be assured of that before making any decided movements. The home market is, of course, affected to the extent of the selling of American securities abroad; but of this there has been no great volume, and it cannot have any great duration, in any event. Wall street has been really more influenced by events at home than by what is transpiring in Berlin, however much the retirement of Bismarck and its probable consequences may absorb conversation. The inference of unfavorable conditions of trade drawn from the Plummer failure; the monotonous tone of the reports from other exchanges and commercial centres, all telling, for the time being, the same tale of dullness, and the reports of injury to property and business by storm and flood, have been the most important influences against the uninterrupted continuance of the advance. The effects of all these put together have not, however, been very serious. The Gould stocks, Union Pacific and New England show the most prominent losses, but with those exceptions a week has made but fractional declines in prices of the active stocks. Some stocks, which have for some time been quiet, have even made substantial advances, and there are signs of movement in others which have not hitherto participated in the recent advance. Money has been easy and an advance in rates in the near future is not anticipated. With a continuation of easy money and in view of the power the market has shown to meet the temporarily unfavorable influences thrown upon it, it is natural to look for a renewal of the upward movement and a broadening of operations. In this event the securities of other recently reorganized properties, it may be hinted, will be sure to meet attention as the securities of Atchison have already done.

A keen observer, now dead, made the following observations in respect to what we call legislative investigations, which perhaps are worth quoting at the present time:

"The exposures," said he, "which are daily made in your newspapers of corruption, peculation, thievery, deliberately planned and carried on for years, as a systematic and tolerable, if not justifiable, mode of managing public business, have come to be accepted as mere interesting items of news, or as occasions of what are called investigations which again waste public money, and out of which may be made political capital. I was present at one of these investigations, and I say to you solemnly that I could not tell which seemed the greatest scoundrels, the men who were investigated or those who were conducting the investigation. The tone of the whole proceeding was a mixture of trickery, and a low sort of easy going jocoseness. Manly dignity and honor were wholly absent. I would not have employed one of the men on either side as an attorney."

Being neither politicians nor essayists, we need not use the word "scoundrels" in respect to the investigation which we are witnessing at present; but certainly the tone, in point of dignity, is not a whit higher than the one to which the writer of the above refers. We have had the pleasant spectacle, during the last few days, of hearing the Mayor of our city called a "deliberate liar," to which his Honor had no reply to make except the delicate one that "You are another." We have further seen our Deputy Commissioner of Public Works—an office which in any well-governed city would have been filled by a competent engineer—call the counsel of a legislative committee of our sovereign State "an unmitigated scoundrel," at which the counsel, we believe, laughed something after the manner of Mephistopheles. The tone of the whole proceedings cannot be better described than in the words of the above quotation, "as a mixture of trickery and a low sort of easy-going jocoseness," to which must be added that the speakers were a little free in the use of Billingsgate. We do not wish to reflect on the timeliness or the results of the investigation, but it is not too much to ask the gentlemen concerned in it to act with a dignity and decorum befitting the officers of a great commonwealth and a great municipality. A witty French writer has said that a Mussulman could not do better than to take a Parisian dandy in full bloom, and, pointing him out to his son, say, "Boy, if you depart from the ways of Allah and his prophet, that is what you may become." Could not a monarchist make something of a point by taking our present legislative investigation, and, pointing it out to a doubtful people, say, "If you permit universal suffrage in large towns, that is what the result may be!"

It is becoming apparent that a vigorous and systematic attack is being made on Tammany along the whole line, and that that organization, which some months ago seemed to have everything its own way, has been put in a very insecure position. Take the World's Fair matter, for instance. It was apparent, as soon as the plan took form, that a successful realization of the project would give Tammany the spending of a great deal of money, and considerable prestige; and forthwith arose an opposition which, led by the Evening Post, and assisted by the circulation of mysterious circulars and by a number of mistakes on the part of the committee, came very near defeating the Fair (perhaps did so, for all we know). Take, again, the rapid transit problem. Mayor Grant sent up to Albany last year a bill which looked satisfactory, which obtained the support of most of the press, and which, if it had passed and had resulted in the successful solution of the difficulty, would have reflected great credit on Mayor Grant and Tammany. It failed to pass, and this session the Mayor has been checkmated by the introduction of a measure which, including some of the main features of his bill, and remedying some of the defects, yet names a Commission which leaves Tammany no share in any solution which the bill may effect. Then comes an investigation by this legislative committee. The revelations made thus far do not reflect personally upon Mayor Grant, nor do they reveal very much which was not pretty well known before—viz., that the Sheriff's office is managed on a plan which would bankrupt any private business organization in a week. But, coming as they do in connection with the indictment by the Grand Jury of a number of deputy Sheriffs for bribery, the Flack matter, and the case of Warden Keating, they show Tammany up in a very bad light. We shrewdly suspect, furthermore, that there are plenty of sensations yet to come, and that William M. Ivins, when he resigned his position of City Chamberlain and began this attack on Tammany, had certain data to work upon. Be that as it may, it is quite obvious that we have as yet only seen the beginning of what will be a long contest—a contest which will not be finally decided until the Mayoralty election next fall.

Our street-cleaning drama has been comparatively uninteresting this week, owing to the absence of the hero, Commissioner Loomis, driven away, it appears, by an importunate and aggressive, but ill-tempered clacque; for such appears to be the part the reporters are playing in the performance. During the absence of the hero (there being no heroine) the heavy villain naturally has monopolized attention, and appears to have conducted himself admirably after his own lights, although he has not as yet exhibited any sign of the original conception of the part for which the manager has given him credit. How far Manager Grant is satisfied we do not know, but there seems a disposition to be discontented on the part of the audience, owing, we believe, as much as anything else, to the character of the supers, who have not been selected with due reference to the courtly qualities which the parts require. The play will lack interest, however, until the hero returns and shows the audience what improvements in his style of acting result from a survey of similar exhibitions in other cities. There are indications, however, that Manager Grant is not satisfied with his hero and may request his resignation. We were perhaps wrong in calling this play a drama. After all, it is the merest travesty, and not a laughable one at that. In certain parts of the city there is a limited amount of improvement discernible; but, speaking in a general way, nothing has as yet been done sufficiently "sweeping" in character to warrant any rejoicing. We may sympathize with Commissioner Loomis in his troubles, and with Deputy Commissioner Hagan at the lack of fair play that is given him; but we cannot congratulate either of them on his success.

It has been stated by an acute critic that the reason why so few good books are written is that so few people who can write know anything. In a similar spirit, though perhaps with a meaning less paradoxical, it may be stated that the reason why New Yorkers so seldom get what they want is that so few New Yorkers really want anything. It is certainly not a pleasant thing to hang on straps. We are quite sure that New Yorkers think they do not like it. An ingenious man can find an evolutionary argument in support of almost everything that exists at the present day, but we doubt if anybody can show that arms were given to us for the purpose of hanging on straps. Furthermore, it is to be presumed that our property-owners in the upper parts of the city would like to see the increased demand for improved and unimproved property, which would come from better transit facilities, and conversely object to the decreased demand which undoubtedly results from poor facilities. Yet, obvious as all this appears, it is quite evident that none of our public spirited legislators and officials sufficiently fear the wrath to come, in case nothing is done about this important matter, to allow it to affect their determination to solve the question in such a way that nobody's political interests shall be served, if anybody else can help it. When the World's Fair bill at Albany was in danger, we held a mass meeting at Cooper Union which seemed at all events to settle all points in dispute satisfactorily. Now, a World's Fair would doubtless have been of the greatest benefit to property-owners; yet we incline to the opinion that increased transit facilities are both of more immediate and more permanent importance. Consequently when it is practically certain that the Legislature will throw out the Mayor's bill, and that the Governor will veto the Fassett bill, it might be supposed that both the newspapers and the property-owners would unite in protesting from the housetops against a continuance of this criminal delay. Yet we have failed to remark any excitement over the subject. Our press made more fuss by far when the proposed erection of a municipal building in City Hall Park threatened to depreciate the value of their property. Furthermore there is every prospect that the political conditions at Albany next session will be the same as this; and that at least two years must elapse before any relief can be had from that quarter. How long will this juggling on the one hand, this apathy on the other, continue? How long, indeed?

If many of our readers have not "plucked from their memories a rooted sorrow" they will doubtless recollect the pleasures of inter-mural transit in New York previous to the erection of the elevated railroads. The jam and discomfort of the horse cars in those days was far worse than it is on the elevated roads at present. So unbearable did it become that the proposition was seriously discussed of removing the Stock Exchange up town and totally changing the central business location of the city. Manufacturers and employés found it impossible to get to and from their factories, and consequently a large trade left New York. The elevated roads restored the equilibrium, and have led to the investment of such enormous sums of money in office buildings down town that any radical redistribution of the functions to which the different ends of the city can be put would be impossible. We have not yet reached that insufferable condition of things which prevailed fifteen years ago, but we are certainly approaching it very rapidly, and if, as seems likely, nothing will be done for the next two years it may not be unreasonable to expect some other attempt to evade the issue. Certain level-headed people are taking the matter in their own hands already and are giving New Jersey and Long Island a "lift" in the path of prosperity and expensive corner lots. Meanwhile the hungry and thirsty in this city are left unprovided for because the wicked Mr. Gould controls our immediate bread supply. We are beginning to believe, more and more every day, that the mythical German philosopher who attempted to construct a camel from his abstract idea of a camel must have dwelt in New York, for the city is crowded with people who want to evolve rapid transit from their abstract idea of what rapid transit should be. The trouble is we have pointed out, time and time again, that there are too many interests to be reconciled in the construction of any such plan, and meanwhile the pot is boiling over. Any bill which is introduced; any plan which is proposed is in the unfortunate condition of the bat whom the birds do not like because he is a beast, and whom the beasts detest because he is a bird. If it could only be realized, once for all, that the interests of the Manhattan Company are among those to be consulted, that Jay Gould & Co. can give us relief if we will only put aside an absurd prejudice, detrimental alike to our interests, our sense of justice and our intelligence, and give them an opportunity. One thing is quite certain, nothing will be done until these facts are realized. The inter-mural transit of this city is in the hands of the Manhattan Company, and there it is likely to remain.

The final success of the Park Commissioners in obtaining a contractor to build a transverse road through Central Park at 85th street, within the original appropriation of $12,000, closes a paragraph in our municipal history, which, alas, like so many other paragraphs, we have little reason to be proud. The happy consummation is not without its mysterious element. All the contractors who previously estimated on the work declared unanimously that it could not be done under $18,000, one of them stating that the $12,000 would do no more than pay for the cost of the iron required. Assuming that these gentlemen knew what they were talking about, the bid of the Cambria Iron Works, of $11,950 becomes incomprehensible, for presumably that company conducts its business on business principles. The conclusion is inevitable, either that the contractors were untruthful or that the Cambria Iron Works are going to lose money on the contract, in which case, it is quite obvious that it expects to recuperate the loss in another way. What the true solution is we do not know, and, indeed, we are disposed to rest satisfied with the fact that this much-delayed improvement will finally be completed. It has been hanging fire now nearly three years, the original bill having been passed in 1887. With any proper management the road could have been built within six or seven months after the passage of the bill, but owing to miscalculations and disagreements between the Park Commissioners and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, it is not until March, 1890, that the contract is given out. New York City improvements have hard roads to travel.

The Interest of the Rich in the Welfare of the Poor.

The problem of how to better the condition of the "other half" might be more quickly solved if, in place of appeals to one's sympathies were substituted a presentation of plain hard facts regarding the heavy tax which the poorer classes now entail upon the richer. To be plain, show a person that it is for his interest to perform a certain duty, and observation shows that he will be more likely to undertake it than he would if an appeal were made solely to that organ often satirically called the heart.

To see this it is only necessary to observe the part that the selfish interests of the wealthy classes plays in the administration of affairs in this city. It will be seen that the needs of the city, which directly affect the richer class, are the ones which are the most thoroughly performed. It is essential to the interests of wealthy citizens that a strong general police system be maintained, and it is found that this class is foremost in insisting on efficiency in this service. On the contrary, this class is slow in urging measures of sanitation, unless they pertain to the parts of the city where their interests are located. Likewise we find Broadway and 5th avenue comparatively well lighted and paved, while streets in the poorer parts of this city are kept in a wretched condition. Again, the wealthy classes are able to provide private instruction for their own children and are indifferent to the needs for education of the poorer classes. In this city, at the present time, children are growing up in ignorance on account of insufficient public schools where they may attend. It is out of the question to expect that the inhabitants of the poorer parts of our city, if left to themselves to effect better sanitation, better systems of education, etc., it will ever succeed. The initiative must be taken by outside help, namely, the wealthier classes, who must be made to see that it is for their own practical advantage to improve the condition of poorer fellow-citizens. Experience shows that little permanent benefit is derived through appeals made purely on a humanitarian basis. The interest of the 5th avenue capitalist in his less fortunate fellows too easily takes flight in the shape of philanthropic gifts. It is the permanent interest of the wealthier classes which must be elicited, and this can be done in a practical way only by making clear to them the fact that they have a common interest with the poorer class in their improvement.

The richer class have common interests with the poorer, and in any discussion relating to the bettering of the condition of the poorer class this should be strongly emphasized. Each year heavy taxes are levied for the support of indigent classes, for cost of arrest, trial and commitment of criminals, which comes out of the pockets of the taxpayer, and which is not fully realized by him. He pays his taxes as something necessary to be done, and seldom inquires for what purposes the proceeds are to be devoted. Instances without number might be cited of heavy expenses yearly forced upon the citizen through careless and indifferent administration of affairs in the poorer parts of the city, which evil he might attempt to remedy if his interest was excited in the proper way. Take for instance that "school of vice and pauperism," the city work-house, where those self-committed on account of destitution are thrown into forced companionship with old and hardened offenders. Ten days' confinement in such a place is enough to destroy the last vestige of self-respect of any who seek shelter there. Statistics for 1887 show that 54 per cent. of the whole number committed to the work-house in nine months of that year acknowledged previous commitment. Of these 480 had been committed from ten to twenty-five times. In the ten months ending October 31, 1888, 8,876 women were admitted to the work-house of New York. The cost of arrest, trial and commitment of these persons is necessarily enormous, and the work-house under its present management by pauperizing its inmates increases this cost each year. It has been computed that the cost to the State of New York of the descendants of "five vicious sisters" during seventy-five years amounted to more than $1,250,000. The number of children of indigent parents dependent upon the State of New York for support during the year 1887 was one to every 263 of the population. These were maintained by the State that year at an estimated cost of $2,050,000. The necessity for such a tax upon the community may be traced in great measure to the selfish interests of the so-called better classes who have left the laboring people in the poorer districts of the city to look after their own sanitation, education, morals and general improvement.

If instead of appeals to the members of the so-called upper-class in the name of humanity, array of facts like those given above were presented, their selfish interest alone might lead them to take a permanent interest in the elevation of the lower order of society. Poor dwellings, bad sanitation and wretched surroundings are directly responsible for much of the pauperism and crime which entail heavy taxes upon the city. If it is clearly shown to the citizen how much of the yearly amount that he pays out in taxes goes to support crime and pauperism engendered by loose systems of administration and unwholsome dwellings and surroundings, a long step will have been taken toward elevating the condition of the lower classes in our city.

A correspondent writes to us as follows:

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I send to-day marked copy of New York World. This matter referred to is attracting attention in the press. If desired I can furnish numerous examples showing the under-valuations in New York.

You try to keep your paper in the van of public sentiment. Will not an investigation of this matter interest your readers? Your subscribers are largely brokers, builders, investors and material men, all of whom suffer from the dog-in-the-manger mere speculator, who imposes a heavy burden on builders and necessitates the employment of more money by them, helps to concentrate property in the hands of the very rich, increases the laborers' rent without any benefit to the owner or constructor of the buildings and solely for the benefit of that land-owner who won't improve.

Yours truly, BOLTON HALL.

The extract from the World to which Mr. Bolton Hall refers points out, as has been shown in this paper before, that unimproved lands are taxed on the average at a lower valuation than improved property. The Standard has been in the habit of publishing at intervals examples of this discrimination in favor of vacant lands, coming to the general conclusion that while the improved property was taxed on a basis of 54 per cent. of the price at which it was sold, the unimproved property was taxed on a basis of only 39 per cent. of the price obtained at the sales thereof. Mr. Hall may not be aware of the fact, but we already have made an investigation, and found that the figures given by the Standard were substantially true. Furthermore, at the time we made inquiries as to the cause of the discrimination, and were informed by Tax Commissioner Coleman that the reason for the difference was that the improved property had some improvement connected with it, such as better sewer connections or better sidewalks, which would account for the difference. The explanation can hardly be called satisfactory, for the examples given of the discrimination were too numerous and too universal to be accounted for by any accidental causes such as the Tax Commissioner enumerated. The discrimination is particularly unfortunate, because if there is to be any discrimination at all it ought to be in favor of improved property. It would undoubtedly be a great encouragement to builders if the taxes were remitted on improvements for a certain length of time. The present system simply puts a premium on vacant property and discourages builders.

Investments—Good and Bad.

MISSOURI PACIFIC.—It is characteristic of the Missouri Pacific Company to offer in its annual statements ample employment to the thinking capacities of its security-holders. It is probable that this is not the intention of the company, but it is the fact. The document offered to the stockholders at St. Louis at the annual meeting last week has this virtue in an even larger degree than its predecessors. One remarkable feature of the 1889 report is the small amount of the net traffic receipts available for the payment of dividends. The net receipts from traffic for the year were $3,707,392, the charges $3,211,760, so that only $495,632 of the sum of $1,798,994 paid out in dividends could come from the profits of operating the road, the balance being made up from $1,981,791 income from other sources. Of course, from the stockholders' point of view, income from rentals, leases or interest on securities of other roads is as good as money realized from freight and passengers. But the record of Missouri Pacific is peculiar in the item of income from other sources than operation. In 1883 net traffic earnings failed to pay charges and dividends by $10,258, but the other income was $439,661. In 1884 net traffic receipts failed of charges and dividends by $386,591, the deficiency being only partly met by other income of $206,822. The following year the deficiency of net traffic receipts to pay charges and dividends amounted to $884,332; the other income was $792,835. In 1886 net traffic earnings failed to pay charges and dividends by $1,654,935, and other income amounted to only $1,360,832. In the three last mentioned years it will be seen that the income from all sources was insufficient to meet charges and dividends. But in 1887 the income, outside of traffic, was $3,014,262, enabling the company to show a surplus on the year's operations of $1,587,412, although traffic earnings failed of earning charges and dividends by $1,426,851. The next year's figures were not so gratifying, as traffic earnings were only $2,966,663, and the charges and dividends amounted to $5,785,919 or $2,819,256 more, so that in that year the results of operating the road were not equal to the payment even of charges coming ahead of dividends by $610,577. Other income, too, fell from $3,014,261 in the previous year to $1,041,375, and the final result was a deficiency of $1,777,881. In 1889 net traffic income failed of charges and dividends by $1,303,362, that amount and the surplus for the year, after the payment of dividends of $678,429, making up the amount of other income $1,981,791. The peculiarity of these figures is found in the singular elasticity of the other income, at one time a few hundred thousand dollars, at another three million, again one million, and the next year opportunely nearly two. The following table confirms and explains the foregoing remarks, and will doubtless have attentive perusal. The figures for 1888 and 1889 are taken from the company's report; the others from the Financial Chronicle summaries. The amounts of other income making good the deficiencies shown for each year mentioned have already been stated:

Year.	Net Traffic Receipts.	All Charges.	Dividends.	Deficiency.
1883	$4,175,266	$2,088,176	$2,097,348	$10,258
1884	4,284,750	2,573,236	2,098,105	386,591
1885	3,605,243	2,391,575	2,098,000	884,332
1886	3,406,297	2,529,462	2,531,770	1,654,935
1887	4 692,995	3,111,672	3,008,174	1,426,851
1888	2,966,663	3,577,240	2,208,679	2,819,256
1889	3,707,392	3,211,760	1,798,994	1,303,362

Incidentally the net results of operating the road present a phase of the figures given above anything but satisfactory. Net traffic receipts last year, though superior to those of 1885, 1886 and 1888, were surpassed by the same receipts of the years 1883, 1884 and 1887, notwithstanding increases in mileage from year to year. Such an unsatisfactory showing is due, and doubtless ought to be expected, from the natural tendency of rates to lower and the competition Missouri Pacific has had to meet on territory once exclusively its own; but it is none the less an uncheerful one for the Missouri Pacific security-holder. The exhibit for 1889 has some other features to which allusion may be made here without treating of the report as a whole. For instance, the balance sheet contains an item, advances by directors, $5,540,470, and shows a net floating debt of $3,289,318, after allowing an item somewhat hard to understand of $2,953,070, uncollected earnings, due from agents, conductors, etc. This latter amount not being allowed as an offset the net floating debt would be $6,811,349. Other income for 1889 includes the dividend received on Iron Mountain stock owned by Missouri Pacific, and equal to half the dividend paid on its own stock. The Missouri Pacific income from all sources available for dividends amounted in 1889 to $2,477,423; of this amount about $900,000 came from Iron Mountain dividends, and $543,151 was due to economies in the operation of the road, particularly in the items of motive power and maintenance of way. These matters make poor reading for Missouri Pacific stockholders, but the least agreeable is the conviction that the maintenance of dividends depends largely on investments the company has made, and that those investments are in properties likely to suffer diminution of income from the same causes which operate adversely to Missouri Pacific. It is only fair to add, however, that the Missouri Pacific branch lines increased their net earnings in 1889, over those of 1888, by $383,563.16, or $26,396.72 more than the increase of net earnings made in the same year on the main line, which was $357,166.44. On this subject the company's report for 1889 says: "The substantial gain in the net revenue of the Missouri Pacific branch lines, during the past year, justifies the belief that the development of the productive areas reached by these lines will hereafter secure a more adequate return than has heretofore been received upon the heavy investments of a capital required to furnish the large and sparsely settled territory which they traverse with means of transportation. This result, however, is still contingent upon a fair and equitable policy towards railways on the part of local and State authorities."

On December 31st last the stock capital of Missouri Pacific was $44,274,850, an increase of $1,000,000 from the same time in 1888; its funded debt amounted to $44,376,000. The total main track owned in 1889 was 4,552 miles, and leased 542 miles; total length of side track was 816 miles. The track in steel was 4,311 miles, and that in iron 783 miles. The cost of road and equipment appears in the balance sheet for the close of last year at $50,339,643, and the company's investment in stocks and bonds at the same date amounted to $47,262,658, this including the amount paid for $22,032,830 of Iron Mountain stock, which paid a dividend of 4 per cent. last year. In 1886 the company commenced the building of a series of branches and extensions, and up to the close of 1888 had expended $30,591,328 in this direction. It had also spent $834,273 for coal properties, $500,593 for real estate, $5,179,534 for new equipment, $256,960 for the Iron Mountain R. R. of Memphis, making a total of $37,362,688, of which $28,376,000 is represented by its own securities outstanding, $14,000,000 being stock, the balance being made up of guarantees, advances, etc. Against these construction accounts the company had in 1888 $29,000,000 of branch line bonds and $66,537,607 (nominal value) stock. No extensions were built in 1889 by the Missouri Pacific Company. The coal properties in which the company is interested produced in 1889 1,607,377 tons of coal and 8,607 tons of coke. These coal companies own 19,690 acres in fee and the mineral rights on 11,703 acres. The Iron Mountain and Little Rock & Fort Smith have extensive land grants yet unsold, in which Missouri Pacific benefits as a holder of the securities of those two companies, subject of course to the bonds for which the lands are pledged. There are also represented in the Missouri Pacific investments from which its other income is derived, securities of ferry, express and sleeping car companies.

"Columbus" and 'Amsterdam" Avenues.

A large number of west side property-owners attended Thursday's meeting of the Street Committee of the Board of Aldermen, the members of which were all present. John D. Crimmins made a very forcible argument in favor of the proposed change of names. Cyrus Clark and others also addressed the committee. There was practically no opposition whatever, the only difference of opinion arising from the word "Amsterdam" being preferred to "Holland," and it was thought best to have both of the new names commence at 59th street rather than at the crossing of the Boulevard. After a short deliberation the committee unanimously voted in favor of calling 9th avenue, above 59th street, "Columbus" avenue, and 10th avenue, above 59th street, "Amsterdam" avenue. They will report accordingly.

A Lawyer's Views of the Fair.

In conversation with a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE a prominent lawyer of this city expressed opinions in regard to the late World's Fair scheme and bill, which, as they are by no means those which are ordinarily given to the public, are worthy of rehearsing.

"The discussion which was started by the plan of a World's Fair when it was first proposed," said he, "and every attempt to realize it subsequently, have brought to light some of the worst aspects of our national life. In the first place, nearly every person or paper which advocated and discussed the scheme betrayed a bigoted nationalism, which at once overrated what is best in our industrial system, and was oblivious to its crying defects. We were constantly told that we would have no difficulty in equalling the wide variety and uniform excellence of the exhibit in Paris and the architectural, mechanical and organizing skill shown in its preparation. The feeling which exists in every American bosom—a feeling fostered by our papers and our demagogical orators—that in some way or another the United States is the greatest nation on earth provided a ready soil for the growth and propagation of the seed thus planted. If our opinion of ourselves relative to our opinion of the rest of the world were put in the shape of a formula it would be something like this: The world = the United States + the residue, and if the world were represented by the figure 100, the United States in its own opinion would certainly monopolise 90 parts of that 100. But my point is this: It was absurd at the start ever to hope to equal the Paris Exhibition in excellence. Our own industrial system is remarkable for the amount it produces, not the quality thereof. And it is only quality that can be shown in an exhibition. I am aware that there are exceptions to this statement, and that it is certain to arouse antagonism; but in the main it is true, in spite of all the flattery we receive from our lusty orators. Furthermore it was ridiculous to hope to draw any exhibits from abroad. Foreign manufacturers would have no incentive to exhibit over here; and what foreign visitors favor us with their presence do come forward come either from motives of self-interest or those of the idlest curiosity. In short, we should have started to make the Exhibition simply an American one: and we should have recognized in so doing that we have neither the material nor the organizing skill to bring an exposition to the same perfection which was reached in Paris."

At this point the speaker paused for breath, and further conversation was postponed until he recovered himself. He was far more emphatic and bellicose in his statements that the reporter has dared to reproduce. In a short time, however, he resumed:

"I will pass over without much ceremony the sectional and personal selfishness which was displayed and is displayed in selecting a site. This was inevitable. Individualism is so rampant among us that people can not be expected to see with other eyes than those of their interests. Very naturally everybody wanted the Exposition plum for his own pudding, and, no doubt, if I had been a big property-owner I should have been as bad as the rest. As we all know, a site was selected after a disgraceful amount of squabbling and bickering, and just here I cannot abstain from a reference to the part that the newspapers have played in this business. I have no hesitation whatever in saying that the whole scheme was newspaper-made from the beginning to the end, and that the only people who really aided our journals in popularizing the idea were either men whose business it is to pose as public benefactors, or whose immediate and personal interests led them to use big words and solicit subscriptions. The character of the subscription list, with its meagre proportion of small contributions, clearly indicates to my mind that no great number of people were really interested in the matter. Americans like to talk about doing big things, as long as they do not have to put their hands in their pockets to pay for the expenses; but the only real test that we have of the public interest in a cause is the amount of sacrifice that the people will make for it. They raised their $5,000,000; but to me it is perfectly obvious that many of the largest subscribers were practically blackmailed into sending in subscriptions. Many others gave paper contributions thinking that they would never have actually to pay the money; and that they might as well take credit for a disinterestedness which they did not possess. If a check containing 10 per cent. of the amount of the subscription had been required of every contributor I will wager that they could not have raised a million dollars."

"But how about the site?" asked the reporter meekly.

"How about the site?" answered this inveterate fault-finder. "I can scarcely trust myself to talk of the matter. As I understand the Committee on the Site practically promised the property-owners on the hill that no attempt would be made to take their land in fee; and with that understanding nearly every property-owner whose holdings came within the proposed boundaries cheerfully offered his land at a merely nominal charge. Yet when the Committee on Legislation, or that small proportion of it which had anything to do with the matter, came to draw up the bill, they disregarded totally these promises and announced their intention, for reasons they did not give, of taking certain property in fee, and gave the committee the power to do it. As for the bill itself it was one of the most clumsily constructed and most dangerous pieces of legislation which was ever sent up to Albany. The people who drew it up seemed to disregard entirely the most obvious provisions of our city charter and State constitution. Such good lawyers as Dwight Olmstead and James C. Carter have publicly pronounced it to be unconstitutional, and I understand that not a few Senators who voted for the bill privately expressed the same opinion. Furthermore I have heard that Hinsdale and Choate held similar views. Our New York journals, who have opinions on everything under the sun, and who are never tired of invoking the constitutional shackles to restrain hasty legislators, refrained utterly from discussing the question and contented themselves simply with asserting that no provision of our fundamental law is violated. No good lawyer produced a brief in favor of the bill, though presumably the gentlemen who drew it up must have had some opinion on the subject. A strong argument could be made for the contention that the object of the framers of such a bill was to prevent, not to for ward, the actual realization of a World's Fair."

At this point the reporter could hardly conceal his contempt for the flimsy arguments of the prominent lawyer. In his opinion the simple fact that Chauncey M. Depew approved the bill was sufficient to make it legally impregnable. He would like to have urged this irrefutable argument, but the speaker gave him no chance "If anybody," continued this un-American, anti-metropolitan person, "if anybody had sat down to draw up a bill which would give a set of real estate speculators every opportunity which the Legislature could to aid them in their schemes, they could not have hit upon a better measure for the purpose. Mark you, I am far from saying that this was the purpose of the framers of the measure, whom I regard simply as honest but misguided men. Nevertheless, as I say, the bill was one which in bad hands could be put to the worst uses. The whole theory of our government is directly opposed to giving unlimited power to an irresponsible body on the assumption that it will not be misused. The bill is all the more dangerous, because for any good purpose it was totally unnecessary to put such powers into the hands of the World's Fair Commission. I am quite sure that I could have drawn up legislation that would have accomplished the purpose in a more constitutional and less dangerous way. What should have been done was this. A bill should have been introduced giving the city power to take in fee for park purposes all the property needed immediately north of Central Park. The courts have gone so far as to allow the condemnation of land for a park, not for the purposes of recreation, but for the indispensable purpose of public health. On the land thus acquired the city could spend as much money as it wanted to. Another bill should be introduced incorporating the commission as a company with power to issue bonds, and to condemn property simply for the purpose of an exhibition. But the city could not lend its credit to such a company; it would have to float its own obligation. Legislation drawn up on such lines would avoid every constitutional objection except that one of condemnation for use not strictly public, and if such condemnation was only temporary the question would probably never be raised, provided the committee guaranteed to return the property in as good a condition as that in which they got it. Regrets, however, are useless. I am heartily sick and tired of the pettiness of every aspect of the scheme myself. The truth of the matter is that we should have been as well off without as with it, and I am glad it has gone to Chicago."

At this the reporter could no longer contain himself, but entered an indignant protest against any such narrow-minded opinion. "What!" he cried, doing at last justice to the fact that he had a voice, "to miss after all this discussion the immense benefit that would result to the city from the many visitors the Fair would bring with it, and the large sums of money they would spend. Every trade in the metropolis would have felt the effect of it, men would obtain ideas and knowledge; their horizon would be enlarged; they would be more able to appreciate the real material progress which the world has made. It would be giving them a great book to read, on the pages of which were writ, large and illustrated, the growth and flowering of a mighty industrial system. It would be read by men which no other book would touch. A World's Fair has a mighty function. It would instruct the people in the significance of the arts of peace."

"Fiddlesticks!" returned this legal Philistine, with impatience; "it would simply have been a shopkeepers' emporium, and would no more have an enlightening and enlarging effect than has the American Institute Fair. Everybody will rush indiscriminately to exhibit their wares, and the only continuity and unity it will have will be the singleness of purpose with which everybody will make as much out of it as possible. I tell you we are not the people to produce an exhibition that will have any of the high-sounding effects on which Mr. Depew so eloquently dwells. We have not the ideas, the organizing ability, the willingness to sacrifice individual discrepancies and interests for the sake of general effects—all of which are indispensable to produce the wonder-working exhibition of which you speak. Furthermore, is it nothing that the project will take $15,000,000 of the productive capital of the country, is it nothing that the Fair will lead to much unproductive consumption, is it nothing that it will cause men bother and worry, and thus hinder them from doing as good work as they wish to? It is very well to show the increased tax and shopkeepers' receipts of Paris during the Exposition period; but it must be remembered that this money would have been employed in another, and perhaps a better, way. It is an open question whether, from a merely commercial point of view, an exposition pays or does not pay. For my part, I should rather see in this city one good comprehensive system of rapid transit than a dozen World's Fairs."

The reporter could stand no more. A man who is so oblivious to the larger aspects of things is scarcely worth the trouble of keeping one's ears open.

An Example Worthy of Emulation

Rhodes & Doremus, the Newark builders, who failed seventeen years ago and made a settlement of 25 cents on the dollar, a few days ago invited their creditors to a dinner, at which they made the last and final payment of the entire amount which they owed at the time they became insolvent. The sum of $17,151 was paid out at the dinner to some fifty individuals, and the example here set has been lauded in the local papers.

Obituary.

The death is announced of Ebenezer L. Roberts, of Brooklyn, the architect of the palatial country seat of William Rockefeller at Tarrytown, N. Y. Anyone who has driven through Mr. Rockefeller's handsome grounds, in that delightful suburban retreat overlooking the Hudson, and gazed upon the superb residence built by the Standard Oil magnate will recognize that Mr. Roberts' abilities as an architect were not of a common order. The deceased was a director of the Phœnix Insurance Company, and was interested in other financial institutions. He was in his sixty-seventh year, and was widely-known in Kings County.

The Season's Prospects for Building.

The coming season among architects and builders, according to the various interviews which we print below, gives every promise of being an active and profitable one. Those who have taken any note of the signs of the times voice but one opinion, and that an extremely sanguine one, of an unusually busy summer. The labor question is now, as ever, the one "rift within the lute," but it is generally thought that matters in this direction will so shape themselves that no complications may hinder builders or bring about troublesome agitation among the workmen. The outlook is certainly bright, and there is every indication that in all parts of town building and improvement will be in marked advance over last year. The plans for west side building are strictly of a legitimate and substantial character, following the natural growth and development of that portion of the city. This is also true of such building as is in prospect in those sections of the town as would have been but indirectly, if at all, benefited, or "boomed" by the holding of the Fair in New York.

While it may be true that there would have been an impetus given to speculative building in the immediate vicinity of the proposed site, still the abandonment of these schemes will prove in no way hurtful. Architects generally are busy—many of them with all and more than they can do—and their clients are also busy with plans and purposes for future development which will give to New York its full quota of building operations this year.

It is by no means regarded as an unmitigated evil that New York has lost the Fair. Architects and builders are a long ways from being disgruntled by the fact that our efforts to secure it spelled "defeat," and it is the general feeling that many evils to the building trade would have been interlarded with the holding of the Exposition here, far as we may be from any grease—ancient or modern. That we did not catch the pig to which the Fair was attached and took a hard tumble on the rind so deftly thrown in our way, created only a mild surprise, and the wine of satisfaction which we now quaff to Chicago's success was not pressed from anything "sour." No city in the Union could have endured so well the strain and reaction consequent upon such an enterprise; to no city in the country could the "boom" attached be less a necessity. Our desire to hold the Fair grew more from a pardonable weakneas and vanity to parade ourselves in gala array and show ourselves in holiday attire than from any bona fide expectation that the Exhibition would "boom" this self-reliant town, or open the eyes of the world at large (if not of Chicago), to facts which it already knows and acknowledges.

We give herewith the result of various interviews upon which those interested can form their own conclusions of the promise of the year:

C. W. Eidlitz says: "Personally I should have been glad had we got the Fair, for while we have all the work we can properly take care of now, it would have brought more or less business to most of us which we could have arranged for. Had the Fair come to New York, however, it is my opinion that many difficulties would have balked and bothered builders Prices of labor and material would have been disorganized, and we would have had to deal with fictitious values and many annoyances which must have followed."

Schneider & Herter say: "We are busy with all we can possibly do in justice to ourselves and clients. The work to be done below 14th street is as important and extensive as in any year past. We see no falling off in improvements generally, but, on the contrary, think the season will be an unusually busy one."

Squier & Whipple say: "We have done extensive building on the west side, and shall continue to follow the demand in that direction. It is our opinion that this season will see no falling off in building, and we feel it to be to the advantage of builders that they have not to contend with the abnormal conditions which the Fair must necessarily have brought about."

Mr. H. Lamb, of Lamb & Rich, says: "There is a great deal of talk, more than is usual at this time of the year, and if the labor and material men keep their heads we may safely look for a prosperous season. The eignt-hour law is one that will adjust itself if not interfered with. We do not look for any unfavorable results from it, nor have we heard of any marked advance in prices of material. We have drawn many sketches for future development, but are by no means building upon any such foundations. Personally I am relieved and glad to feel that we are rid of the Fair and its vexations to builders, and am confident that the healthy tone which the trade will assume will more than overbalance any fancied loss."

W. H. Hume thinks the season will be better than last, and that more depends upon the labor agitation than anything else. The sooner the eight-hour law is universally met and settled the better. To treat it as a purely local question will not bring the desired result, as the feeling must be met and disposed of by a uniform law which will be in force everywhere, doing away with sectional jealousies and unrest.

Jordan & Giller say: "The season promises far better than last, and we have all we can do for the next six months. We regard the eight-hour law favorably and think it will have a tendendy to do away with strikes, which last year knocked off building from 20 to 25 per cent. The demand with us is largely for flats and warehouses, and if the work we have in hands is any indication of what others are doing there is every reason to expect a lively year among architects and builders."

Mr. Dixon, of Withers & Dixon, thinks building operations may be materially affected by the eight-hour law before its adjustment can be accomplished. They are fully as busy as ever, and all indications point to a good year.

Charles Wagner says: "I am quite as busy as in any previous year, and have many plans of magnitude which are more than likely to go through, keeping me busy all summer. I have no fear of any advance either in labor or material which will prove detrimental. I do not fear the eight-hour law, because it has been my experience that all such movement adjust themselves ultimately for the good of all. The greater the improvements brought about in the laborers' condition the better are the general results for all. Such agitations 'make for righteousness,' and go a long way, in my opinion, to prevent disastrous strikes. There is no question in my own mind but that the absence of the Fair will prove a benefit in our line, and I am glad we have not to struggle with its evils."

J. C. Cady said: "We are as busy as ever at this time in the year, and have every reason to expect an active season. I can see no drawback unless it be the eight-hour law, and just how far that may or may not prove one is, of course, an open question. There can be no doubt that a percentage of building schemes have fallen through because of the loss of the Fair, but the pressure on New York is great and calls louder and louder for relief with each recurring year. So long as conditions remain as they are there must be business which is wholly independent of influences from such enterprises as the Fair. We have many large commissions in hand waiting for decisions. These will keep us very busy through the season, and we anticipate a successful year."

Messrs. Hatfield say: "There is a great deal of talk, more than is ordinarily the case at this time. But the Fair question is not settled, and plans are held in abeyance until rights to property have been put beyond dispute.

G. A. Schellenger said: "I am busier than ever; and while I do not consider that we are on the point of experiencing a boom, still no previous season has ever opened so well."

Chas. Rentz said: "Business is as good as in any previous year, and prospects are brighter. My work is chiefly in down-town sections—at present in the 7th Ward—and the demand is for tenements and stores. There can be no doubt but that this will be a good year in the trade."

Stratton & Ellingwood say: "The call with us is lively. We have a number of country houses under way, and our fair share of city work, so that we have every reason to think the indications favorable for an active summer."

Mr. Röhl, of Kurtzer & Röhl, said: "There is certainly no falling off from last year's work. I think, however, that many reputable builders are more inclined to buy than to build. There is a demand for flats and stores in the lower sections of the town, and we do not anticipate any advance in prices that will materially hinder operations."

Higgs & Rooke say: "We have been busy all winter, and are as busy now as at any time before so early in the year. We have no fear of the eight-hour law, or that the advance in prices of building materials will cause a cessation of work. The demand with us is for private dwellings mostly, and the outlook is exceedingly promising."

Schweitzer & Diemer: "We are as busy as ever, and the look ahead is brighter. The loss of the Fair directly affected us in our relations to several large building schemes, but we feel that these plans may yet be perfected and go through. There are many things in which we are directly interested, which will develop in time and which satisfy us that business this year promises well."

Mr. Boekell, Jr., thinks that the season's work up town will be sensibly affected by the advance in prices and by the eight-hour law, but that th down-town builders will not feel these influences so much, or that the demand will overcome it.

Edward H. Kendall said: "I am not prepared to express an opinion as to what the coming season may bring forth. I have more new work under way and ahead now than last year. We members of the Institute are busy when our friends are ready for us, and the fact that some are busy and others not so much so may not safely be taken as as indication of building operations generally. Much depends on the labor question—the adjustment of the eight-hour law and its effect upon the disturbing incident of strikes. When there was a prospect of New York's holding the Fair there was much talk among mechanics and builders of an advance in prices both of labor and material, but this has passed, and there are no present indications that operations will be hampered by these influences."

Jno. A. Hamilton says: "I am busier than ever and the outlook is for an extremely promising season."

Romeyn & Stever say: "It is a little too early to forecast the season, but if all that is talked of goes through, this year will be better than last."

H. F. Kilburn said: "The outlook is good."

Chas. P. H. Gilbert said: "I am busier than I was last year at this time, and in my opinion the year will be a far more prosperous one among builders than they have recently known. The demand with me just now is for a fine class of residences on the Park slope in Brooklyn, costing $100,000 or more, and for summer cottages. There is every reason to anticipate an active and profitable season."

C. D. Marvin said: "I am much busier now than last year and there is certainly every indication of a livelier season than we have had for some years. The only drawback will be the eight-hour law, which may prove a temporary hindrance to builders. Builders will not be willing to pay the price of two hours' labor for one, any more than laborers would give the price of two pounds of beef for half that weight. Still, the best way to bring men to see the weak points of any such enactment is to have it go into effect, and I am confident this new law must sooner or later be made to conform to the law of common sense which, after all, governs men and controls their relations to each other. Wages must be commensurate with the work performed and no arbitrary rulings on either side can stand the pressure long. This new law must adjust itself, and that done there can be no doubt that the year's business among architects and builders will keep all busy."

J. Averitt Webster: "Most of the people I meet don't seem to be very enthusiastic about the prospect for spring operations in the building trade. As far as I am concerned I see no special indications for either a boom, or on the other hand for a pronounced depression. I suppose we will go on building very much as we have been doing, both as to the number of houses and their class.

Julius Munckwitz: "The loss of the Fair has upset everything. I had plans on hand for a lot of flats which would have been built had we won the Exposition. Now these projected undertakings have been put off for a time."

Richard R. Davis: "We will not have a boom spring this year; rather more like last year, except that more building will be done during June, July and August than in the earlier months. One benefit from the loss of the Fair will be the building up of the west side with a superior class of buildings than those which would have been erected to accommodate the Exposition crowds."

Nelson M. Whipple: "You can put me down as saying that everthing is lovely. We are going to have a spring season pretty soon far better than last year. In fact we are on the eve of a boom. Building will be good and selling lively."

Andrew Spence: "I think we will have a very good season if the talk of builders counts for anything. A great many people have spoken to me about drawing plans, and altogether things look pretty well."

W. H. C. Hornum: "We will have a very good season. Land values have been pushed to such large figures that owners cannot afford to carry vacant property. I hear of a good number of large plots being negotiated for by men who, I think, will build blocks of flats."

Ralph S. Townsend: "I have been out of town for about five weeks so that I only know of the general feeling through THE RECORD. I think things look pretty bright."

D. & J. Jardine: "Not busy at present, and too early yet to tell whether we shall be. A few jobs in hand, and others not yet ripe enough for publication."

Thom & Wilson: "We will, of course, be head over heels in work. Not only have we the new Criminal Court building, but there are other orders in our office, and many others talked about which will ripen. The indications are that our firm will have a very busy year in all classes of work."

J. B. McElfatrick & Sons: "The prospects, as far as we are concerned, are very bright. We have more work ahead than usual at this season of the year. We have been busy on drawings the whole winter. These have been almost entirely of theatrical buildings, all of which will be built this summer, both in and out of town."

Geo. F. Pelham: "I shall be very busy this spring, and it seems to me as though we are going to have a prosperous building year."

A. B. Ogden & Son: "The coming spring will be about as good this year as it was last. We are drawing plans for all kinds of buildings, although lately we have had more dwelling houses and factories above the bridge than anything else. The Fair agitation has not materially altered the situation."

Edward Wenz: "We shall have a lively spring. I think the loss of the World's Fair has given a little set-back to building operations, but it has only deferred for a short time the buildings which would be erected anyway. As the matter stands now, building will be on a more solid foundation than during the feverish period of activity caused by the Fair."

F. Wennemer: "Everything looks as though we would have a good season, although, of course, it is hard to make any kind of a reliable prediction. I am glad the Fair did not come to New York, as it would have induced an unnatural amount of building, and for a short time we would have been rushed to death. As soon as the Exposition was closed there might possibly have been failures in the building trade and a general depression. In this way, for a year or so after the Fair closed, there would have been very little doing. Besides this effect on the residents of the city, architects and builders would have had to contend against a lot of reckless builders and 'shysters.'"

John C. Burne: "We shall, in all likelihood, have a good season. People are commencing to realize that New York lots, and the improvements thereon, are about as reliable an investment as they can find. I have watched real estate on Manhattan Island for a great many years, and the conclusion I draw as the result of those observations is, that although realty, like everything else, has its ups and downs, if the owner can only hold on he will come out on top. And, of course, the value of land comes from the improvements on it."

W. H. Hume: "We will be much busier than last year. It seems to me, with the work we have on hand, and the new business talked out, that this is going to be a very good building year."

Geo. Keister: "I have very little new work under way, but the season is not far enough advanced for me to speak definitely about this year's prospects."

Men and Things.

The following is an authentic account of the peculiar methods of one of our great metropolitan journals. Not long since a society of young actresses in this city—organized simply for athletic purposes—gave a tea to Mrs. Kendal. The New York Sun sent a reporter to the place of meeting to give an account of the events to its numerous readers. This particular reporter seems to have been gifted with even less than the usual share of intelligence which falls to the reporter-kind. She—for it was a woman—gave a totally false impression of the aims of this society, and shouldered it with a name which was absurd as it was untrue, calling it the Society of Pure Young Girls on the Stage, or words to that effect. In justice to the reporter, I may as well add, that she had embodied in her story another paragraph which partially removed the false impression created by the body of the article, but which was crowded out in order to give room for enough misinformation on other topics. Hear, O ye people, what followed. Every dirty gutter sheet in New York took the matter up, commented on it in terms which cast all sorts of aspersions on the characters of the young women concerned, held them up to ridicule for pretensions they never claimed, and on the whole marvellously well exemplified all that is most detestable in American journalism. But the course of the Sun, which shines for all, was most characteristic. The day the absurd article appeared, a correction was sent to the office of that paper, together with the request that it should be given, if not the same prominence as the original article, at least a place in its columns. Naturally the Sun did not publish the correction, for any such course would have been a concession to the vulgar fallacy that the reportorial columns of a newspaper are intended to give a truthful account of events as they happened. But what it did do will, perhaps, surprise even such of my readers as are used to the misrepresentations of the press. One would think that though it did not publish the correction, it might at least have refrained from giving further currency to the error. As a matter of fact, it told of the smile with which the name was greeted on the Rialto, where our local actors show themselves and their bad taste daily, knowing at the same time that the report as published was false and misleading. Perhaps Max O'Rell would call this "lively journalism." People not looking for newspaper advertisements might use harder words.

The announcement that it is seriously proposed to produce at the Porte St. Martin in Paris, a Passion Play with Sarah Bernhardt as the Virgin Mary will no doubt shock people of a religious turn of mind, while others, whose feelings of piety and reverence have been somewhat battered by the religious conflicts of the day, will receive it with a meaning smile, more eloquent perhaps than the open-mouthed expostulations of the churchmen. The managers of the Porte St. Martin have been severely handled in London for making the proposition, and it is probable that the newspaper press all over the world would occupy similar grounds. The London Telegraph, a paper which cannot be accused of bigotry, has strongly condemned the innovation. "We hope," it says, "that republican censorship will vindicate religion, decency and the dignity of the church by forbidding the actress who created Fedora, Theodora and La Tosca to pose before the Parisian world as a representative of one reverenced for centuries as the type of sacred womanhood." The question is a serious one and cannot be dismissed with the "meaning smile" above referred to. Its very importance should make us the more careful in coming to a clear understanding of the issues involved, and in sifting the wheat from the chaff in the chorus of expostulation with which the announcement has been greeted. I have no intention of discussing the general question whether the production of a passion play should be permitted either under any circumstances, or under such circumstances as would inevitably accompany the performance when given at any city theatre. But there is a further issue contained in the condemnation which this specific proposal has received—the issue, viz.: whether Sarah Bernhardt, being the woman that we all know her to be, should be permitted to impersonate the character of one who rightly or wrongly has for centuries been the symbol of all that was best and purest in womankind.

I hope I shall not be considered paradoxical in saying that we have not the slightest right to object to the representation on the grounds of any discord between the characters of the impersonator and impersonated. There is no valid reason why the woman who created Fedora, Theodora, and La Tosca should not be permitted as much as any other woman to create the part of the Virgin Mary. It is at once the most essential (and be it added the saddest) fact in the profession of the actor and the actress that their personalities, good or bad, bear no direct relation to their work. Once they are on the stage they are to be judged solely by the manner in which they present and sustain the illusion constituted by the characters they represent. Just in so far as they permit themselves to show in the work; just in so far as they talk as Henry Miller would talk instead of any man who could speak the English language; just in so far as they walk as Herbert Kelcey would walk on Broadway instead of the way in which a minister of the gospel might naturally be supposed to comport himself; just in so far as they have mannerisms or personal affectations of any kind they are bad artists. The worst condemnation that an actor can receive after he has learned the rudiments of his profession is that he is always himself in every character he undertakes. Indeed, if there is some relation to be assumed between an actress and her impersonation, I cannot for my part see how any self-respecting woman can go on the stage, for every actress has to represent bad as well as good women. If a person of no character is to be debarred from representing that which is best in human nature, then a person who has a character should not impersonate that which is worst. Not so very long ago we were treated to the spectacle of a brother and sister playing the parts of betrayer and betrayed in the same drama. To some people the exhibition was repulsive, yet there is no reason why it should be. All our plays are not like the tragical mirth of the tale of Pyramus and Thisbe; our actors do not have to go on and say that I Pyramus am not Pyramus, but Bottom the weaver; and the lion of our modern stage is not obliged to doff his skin and let the audience plainly see that he is Snug, the joiner. If the Passion Play is to be as some say, "a profane travesty of a story accepted as especially sacred by many millions of the human race," why, let it be suppressed; not, however, because Sarah Bernhardt is to play the Virgin Mary, but because the subject is not a fit one for dramatic representation.

It Was Not for John Wanamaker.

The Denning block, on Broadway and 4th avenue, between 9th and 10th streets, for which there was such an interesting competition on 'Change last week, at the Stewart estate sale, was, it seems, being bid upon, not for Postmaster-General John Wanamaker, but on account of New York parties, who wanted to acquire the property as an investment. It was noticed that Frederick Southack, the real estate broker, did the bidding against the Hilton representative, and it is clear that his instructions must have limited him to $700,000, for he bid up to $695,000, and allowed the next bid of $700,000 to pass by without offering an advance over that figure. What estate it was for whom he was trying to secure the property it is impossible to discover, as Mr. Southack, when called upon, positively declined to talk on the matter.

The city is well rid of the old rookeries lately demolished on the east and west sides of Greene street, north of Bleecker street. It is unnecessary to add that fine business buildings will be erected on the sites.

Active Traders and Dummies.

Brokers and others are often mystified by the appearance in the conveyances of names which cannot be found in the directories, and as such is frequently the case in large and important transactions we are often called upon for information, and will therefore try and answer several such communications by giving a list of some of the most active traders, coupled with the names of persons who frequently appear for such operators:

TRADERS WHO DON'T USE DUMMIES.

Chas. E. Runk.	John S. Robinson.
Geo. F. Johnson.	John C. Overhiser.

The "dummies" are used for different reasons. Some operators use them to inflate values; that is to say, the property is conveyed to the "dummy" at the actual price paid to the seller and "Mr. Dummy" reconveys to the real buyer at a largely increased figure. In the interim a mortgage or mortgages are given by the dummy, and it usually happens that the latter represents no small part of the purchase money. Then, again, the "dummies" are used by operators who have an aversion to giving their bonds to secure the mortgages placed on the parcels purchased. Such operators are fearful of deficiency judgments which may be obtained at some distant day if a panic should occur. In connection with this matter it should be stated that mortgagors are liable for deficiency, not only during the actual time for which the mortgage is given, but thereafter until the mortgage is paid. This is not just for the reason that at the time of sale or the end of the period for which the mortgage was issued the property is worth more than the amount of such mortgage, and it is unfair years after to call on the mortgagor for a deficiency in a matter he has long ceased to have any interest in. Under these circumstances it is perfectly plain why careful operators make use of a dummy.

Legislation at Albany.

ALBANY, March 21.—There has been little done in either House of the Legislature this week that has much relation to real estate interests. The Harlem tunnel project, which was warmly advocated by some of the largest real estate owners in the annexed district, is virtually killed for this session, and the new East River Bridge, the proposition for which frightened some of the heaviest investors on the east side has been absolutely killed by its adverse report from the Senate Committee on Commerce and Navigation.

Perhaps the matter of most interest is the favorable report of the Senate Committee on the bill of Mr. King, member for the Seventh New York City District, amending the Block Indexing bill of Mr. Hamilton of last year. The substance of this bill was given in THE RECORD AND GUIDE some months ago. It makes certain changes in the details of the bill of last year, which have been found necessary when the task was attempted of preparing the maps. In the original bill the part of the city south and west of the Harlem was divided into twelve sections; this paragraph is amended so as to make them only eight in number. Furthermore, the boundary of the sections fronting on the Harlem River is not to be the river line, but the central line of the Harlem River and Spuyten Duyvil Improvement Channel. Other changes of the same kind are made. The Board of Taxes and Assessments is given the power to cause the land lying north of 155th street and northeast of the Harlem River to be divided into parcels for the purpose of indexing in such a way as they think best, whereas in the original bill it had such discretion only in the 23d and 24th Wards. Moreover, below 155th street, in cases where the blocks are small, two or more of them may be included in one block having a single block number.

Judge Greene's scheme for a monster bridge from Washington Heights to the Jersey shore is in the daily calendar for a second reading and will receive pretty hasty treatment when it comes up for discussion. The feeling toward it is pretty much the same that is entertained against the new East River project.

High Priced Realty.

The figure paid by the Singer Manufacturing Company, at public auction, for the property on the northwest corner of Broadway and Liberty street, at the Real Estate Exchange last week, was commented upon in our issue of Saturday. One of the daily papers has been copying the figures, and talks about the price as being "the highest ever paid for land on Manhattan Island, with the exception of the land on which stands the Equitable Building, for which over $200 a square foot was paid." The quotation is from the Tribune, and is incorrect. The highest price ever paid for realty on this Island was for a parcel on the southwest corner of Wall and Broad streets, for which $330.70 per square foot was realized. The following table of high-priced realty on Manhattan Island will be perused with interest in this connection:

The Hopper Estate Claim.

The claim of the Hopper Estate to a strip of ground, part of the old Bloomingdale road, now forming part of the east front of Broadway, between 50th and 53d streets, to which reference was made in these columns on the 8th inst., continues to attract attention. We reported at the time that one of the owners had settled with the claimants, and that a prominent firm of lawyers conducted the negotiations for the owner—the name and amount, both of which are known, being withheld from publication for the present. Amos R. Eno, one of the owners of property affected by the claim, is now considering the matter, and, when called upon, he declined to say anything about it for publication. Claims of this sort have generally been decided by the courts in favor of the heirs claiming rights in such roads; and whether the owners of properties affected will allow the matter to get into the courts, or make a private settlement, remains to be seen. From maps of the road, before it was straightened in 1872 and created part of Broadway, it appears that the property claimed by the Hopper heirs, for which neither the city or private parties ever seem to have made any compensation or settlement, commences at a point about thirty feet north of 50th street, and runs up to about the south side of 53d street. A similar claim made by the heirs of Cornelius Cosine for property, being part of the old Bloomingdale road, between the south side of 53d street and the south side of 54th street, has just been settled by the court in favor of the heirs, and this seems to give strength to the Hopper claim, the properties affected by which embrace the following:

W. K. Vanderbilt, owner of 137 feet Broadway front, depth 22.6 feet on the north, running to a point at the south, commencing 30 feet north of 50th street, now occupied by the American Horse Exchange.

The Fearing Estate, owners of about 39.4 feet on 51st street, north side, and thence about 160 feet northerly of the Broadway front, to within some 40 feet south of 52d street, at which point it is 72.6 feet wide. Now occupied by one-story stores.

Amos R. Eno, owner of the "Newport," occupying 40 feet on the southeast corner of Broadway and 52d street.

Walter S. Hobart, of San Francisco, owner of the "Strathmore" on the northeast corner of Broadway and 52d street. Takes in 75 feet of the old road, with 75 feet on the street and 66.2 on the north wall.

Amos R. Eno, owner of the Armory adjoining the "Strathmore," 75 feet front on Broadway, with an average depth of about 60 feet.

Geo. W. Livermore, owner of the lot north of the Armory, 21x an average depth of 52 feet; cuts through a store and flat.

The claimants state that they also have a claim against the city for the roadway of the old Bloomingdale road, which, they say, has never been converted into a city street, and state that they are prepared to challenge the city officials to produce maps and proceedings showing that it has been.

A delegation of Washington Heights taxpayers called upon Mayor Grant to declare their desire for a tunnel under the Harlem River at Kingsbridge, instead of a new bridge. The Mayor referred the matter to Commissioner Gilroy, who now has the matter under consideration.

The Block Indexing Bill and the Title Companies.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The rivalry between the two principal title guarantee companies brings into prominence the importance of the land transfer reform legislation and the desirability of quickly getting the Block Indexing bill into operation.

A comparison of the annual reports of the two companies is interesting. They represent rival interests, and are drawing their principal income from different sources. The Lawyers' Company's report shows that more than 80 per cent. of its gross income, exclusive of interest receipts, is derived from fees for "searches." These fees cut largely into the receipts of the County Clerk and Register, but are still paid for by the clients, being charged to them as "disbursements" when the titles are closed.

From its title insurance premiums the Lawyers' Company derived 7 per cent. of its gross income, exclusive of interest receipts, during 1889.

The lawyers have always frankly stated that they organize their company to protect their business, and they seem to insure titles with great reluctance, lest they may not be able to examine such titles over and over after one another. The small per centage of the company's earnings derived from its title insurance business shows this. Its chief revenue comes from the large search fees heretofore paid to the County Clerk and Register.

The report of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, which represents the other faction, shows 82 per cent. of its gross income, exclusive of interest receipts, to be derived from its title insurance premiums, and 18 per cent. from search fees. The company has abolished these search fees in its own business, though it makes searches which attorneys use in lieu of County Clerk's and Register's searches.

The greater portion of its income, however, it is apparent, comes from the fees for examining titles, which have heretofore gone to the lawyers.

These fees last year exceeded $300,000. If the company succeeds in making guaranteed titles generally accepted, so that when once a title has been examined and insured the property will not have to pay for the law work on any subsequent transfer or mortgages, the inroads upon the lawyers' fees will be still greater.

The magnitude of the search fees which are paid in New York and Brooklyn, and which, except in the practice of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, are ordinarily collected back from the clients as disbursements, will appear from the following facts:

During the three years of the term of Register Reilly the fees collected by this single official were as follows:

1884	$88,123 02
1885	86,380 78
1886	110,885 70
Total	$285,389 50

The fees for searches collected by the Lawyers' Company in 1888 amounted to $132,000. In 1889 they were nearly twice as much.

If the fees collected by a single company and paid for by property-owners as disbursements over and above what they pay for the examination of title can amount to $250,000 in a single year, it is no wonder that a simpler system of indexing and of searching is insisted upon by real estate owners.

Of course, the satisfactory working of the Block bill will make a great difference with the income of the title companies, particularly with that of the Lawyers' Company, which seems to get over 80 per cent. of its income from its search business.

As a matter of fact, however, the search question is really an insignificant one in comparison with the main purpose of the real estate owners, which is to save, if possible, the constant heavy expense for repeating the law work every time a property changes hands. It is estimated that these law charges amount in New York and Brooklyn to $3,000,000 per annum.

If title insurance can accomplish this, it will do far more than the incidental reform in the system of indexing. Any movement that can give to property-owners a strong and satisfactory insurance of title on which the public generally will rely, and that can enable property to pass from hand to hand and be used as security for loans simply by a re-issue of the insurance to the new owner or lender will accomplish a great deal toward making real estate available capital. REAL ESTATE.

—N. Y. Tribune, March 12, 1890.

The foregoing comparison emphasizes the contrast suggested in the statement given out by the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company through the Mail and Express of March 7th.

It there states that it "is about to undertake the transcript of the records of New York County," and that "the methods which the company has employed for obtaining copies of the records hitherto, have been such that it has not been obliged to use for such purpose any of its capital," and that "in this respect it stands in remarkable contrast to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company."

The contrast certainly is a marked one. On the one hand is a company that has put up its own money and made with its own capital, against the determined opposition of all the adherents of the old system, a copy of the records, that it might put that copy at the service of its clients. It has thus been able to relieve its clients altogether of the disbursement charge and to offer the community an escape from the annual burden of more than $300,000 absolutely wasted for searches.

On the other hand is a company that, forced unwillingly into existence and still striving to preserve the old imposts, draws less than 10 per cent. of its income from the title insurance business, but seizes upon the disbusesment feature of the old system as a lucrative source of income, out of which ultimately it hopes to make a plant that the clients will have paid for, instead of the company's own capital.

Does the real estate owner realize the use that is being made of him? If he does, he will insist that the "disbursement" item be stricken out of his bill altogether. He will refuse to contribute to the $250,000 annual income from searches. He will use the company that has already made its plant, and made it with its own money, and does not wish to make it with his. He will use the company that is really insuring titles in the owners' interest.

The attitude of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company toward the real estate owners, and that of the advocates of the old system both before and after the formation of their company, have been in marked contrast from the outset, and ought to be carefully studied.

Conveyancers used to tell the public that there was nothing in title insurance: that it was quackery. But the public was not to be deceived. It weighed impartially the two systems and passed its judgment upon them, and the Lawyers' Company had to be formed. Then the public was told that a "locality plant" was not necessary; that money put into such a plant was wasted capital. The public, however, has been shown that such a plant means economy and safety. Investors have learned that the item of "disbursements" means a useless waste, and again the old system surrenders. It resolves to make a plant and acknowledges that a title company cannot be worked without one. But even when the plant is finished, the question with the public will be, which is the real title insurance company. Certainly it will not be one that derives only 7 per cent. of its income from its title insurance business. It will not be one that in any way seeks to hold on to the old fat fees for re-examinations. The public does not like to pay lawyers and particularly does not like to pay twenty of them in succession for the same piece of work, any more than it likes to waste $300,000 annually for disbursements for searches.

It will have its titles insured and will pass them from hand to hand under that insurance. It will use the company that provides the largest capital and the best plant. It will not put up with "extras for searches." It will demand a system of thorough examination made once for all in the insurance company's own interest and not the applicant's. It will require policies of title insurance that can be put at the service of subsequent owners and lenders without delay and almost without cost.

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST CO.

In the City Departments.

The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund have resolved to offer a public auction, to the highest bidder, the buildings and lots owned by the city on the line of the New Aqueduct, between 135th and 152d streets. The leases are to be for three years from May 1, 1890, and include frame and brick houses and stables, etc., on Convent avenue, 146th, 147th, 148th, 149th, 150th, 151st and 152d streets, and on the corner of 10th avenue and 152d street. The date of auction has not yet been decided upon.

The city has decided to lease the brick building at No. 309 Mulberry street at $2,000 per annum, from May 1, 1890, from Louis Ettlinger, and the two upper floors and attic of No. 42 Bleecker street, at $1,200 per annum, from May 1, 1890, for the uses of the Health Department.

Alderman Lynch, at Tuesday's meeting at the City Council, presented a petition from the Washington Bridge, Tremont & Westchester Railroad Company for permission to construct a railway, under a law passed May 6, 1884. The road is to commence at the easterly terminus of the Washington Bridge, thence running through Aqueduct avenue, as soon as legally opened and graded, to the road known as Featherbed lane, as soon as legally opened and graded, to the Macomb's Dam road; along the same, as soon as legally opened and graded, to the road known as Morris street (or 177th street) to Jerome avenue; or by any more feasible route to 177th street and Jerome avenue, as soon as such streets are legally opened and graded; thence across the same to Tremont avenue (or 177th street), formerly known as Locust avenue—Tremont avenue crossing the Harlem Railroad Bridge at Railroad avenue—and thence along Tremont avenue to the Bronx River at West Farms to the Westchester Avenue Bridge, or so much of that bridge as is situated in the City of New York. The company proposes to build either a single or double track, and to run their cars by horse power, or by any power other than locomotive steam. The petition was referred to the Committee on Railroads.

On the petition of the Port Morris Land and Improvement Company and of the estate of Gouverneur Morris, the Board of Street Opening and Improvement have passed resolutions requesting the Corporation Counsel to take the necessary measures to acquire title to the property necessary to the opening of 132d street, from Locust avenue to Brook avenue, length 3,553 feet, accessible frontage 6,466 feet; 133d street, from the westerly line of Locust avenue to the easterly line of Trinity or Cypress avenue, length 2,095 feet, land frontage 3,946 feet; 134th street, from the State grant line in the East River to the easterly line of the Southern Boulevard, length 2,646 feet, land frontage 4,928 feet; 135th street, from the westerly line of Locust avenue to the easterly line of the Southern Boulevard, length 1,975 feet, land frontage 3,707 feet, and 136th street, between the same lines, length 1,847 feet, land frontage 3,478 feet. The petitioners agree to shoulder the cost of the openings and to execute a necessary bond in each case to indemnify the city against any assessment for the opening of any part of the street in each case.

Important to Property-Holders.

BOARD OF ASSESSORS.

No. 27 CHAMBERS STREET,
NEW YORK, March 10, 1890.

Notice is given to the owner or owners of all houses and lots affected thereby, that the following assessment has been completed and is lodged in the office of the Board of Assessors for examination by all parties interested, who must present their objections in writing, if opposed to the same, within thirty days from date of notice:

SEWER.

Brook av, 23d Ward, from tidewater to a point in 165th st.

[The limits embraced by such assessments are fully described in the official notice on file at the office of the Board of Assessors, and would occupy about a column of our space.]

The above-described list will be transmitted for confirmation on the 11th day of April, 1890.

Real Estate Notes.

The Stewart mansion, which has been rented for five years at $35,000 per annum, is built on a plot with a frontage of 111.9 feet on 5th avenue, and 150 feet on 34th street. About the same time a ten years' lease was arranged of the store, basement and second story in the building on the northwest corner of 5th avenue and 30th street, by Emily H. Moir to Gilman, Collamore & Co. at $20,000 per annum. The size of the latter plot is 40x125. Considering the cost and size of the two corners the return for part of the 30th street corner is astonishingly large compared with the figure realized for the Stewart corner. But then all of A. T. Stewart's real estate purchases turned out poorly.

Mr. William H. Morrell, whose face at one time on the Exchange was among the most familiar of its habitues, has just returned from a traveling trip which extended from Saratoga to Montana and back again. He bought in Butte a controling interest in seven mining claims, in which he says he has a fortune. He thinks real estate here top-heavy, and says it is easier to make one hundred thousand dollars in Montana with ten thousand than it is to make ten thousand in New York with one hundred thousand.

Again this week a costly plot down-town has been conveyed to John Mayer, of Mahway, N. J. We refer to the southwest corner of Liberty and Greenwich streets, size 56.4x73, for which $168,000 was paid. It is only a few weeks ago that the easterly front on Church street, between Cortlandt and Dey streets, was transferred to Mr. Mayer for something over $400,000. There is much curiosity in real estate circles to know who Mr. M. represents. Can it be one of the large railroad companies of New Jersey?

In connection with the foregoing purchases it may be remarked that sales west of Broadway, between Dey and Cedar streets, have been unusually numerous of late, and at astonishing high figures. The Singer Manufacturing Company's purchase of the corner of Broadway and Liberty street, at $950,000, is an example. No. 149 Broadway was sold for $544,500, or $181.12 per square foot, compared with $115.96 per square foot paid for the opposite corner (northeast) in May, 1882. Another good sale was the southwest corner of Cortlandt and Washington streets, a five-story tenement, 20.8x57.4x31.2x58.11, at $100,000 to Charles F. Havemeyer. This latter corner adjoins the new office building now being erected on the north side of Liberty street, between Washington and West streets, by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, at a cost of about $700,000.

Readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE will recall the remarks made some weeks ago in reference to the erection of bridges across West street, the increase in transactions thereabouts, etc., and perhaps ask themselves if they have profited thereby, and if not, why not.

The frequency of reports showing sales at figures largely in excess of prices only recently realized is indicative of the great advance which is still going on in the value of reality. Here are a few parcels which have changed hands more than once lately, and the sales and resales are confirmatory of the increase referred to.

	First Sale.	Resale.
310 5th av	$96,500*	$101,000
14th st, n w cor 7th av	51,500	60,000
4th av, n e cor 17th st	102,000*	113,000
115 Chambers st	38,750	42,600*
193 Mercer st	26,000	30,000

* Sold at auction.

This list embraces parcels sold both at public and private sales, and shows bargains are obtainable inside and outside the Exchange salesroom. None of the sales quoted embrace building loans, the making of which always leads to an increase in prices.

In a talk with an active and successful speculator the other day, he said: "Prices in the streets west of Broadway, south of Washington Park, are now so high that buyers are likely to be disappointed with the returns on resale of their parcels. When the buildings now being started or projected are completed, it will be found difficult to obtain rentals which will allow a fair return on investments, owing to the great cost of the land and improvements.

The proceedings looking to the condemnation of the easterly front on Park avenue, between and on 33d and 34th streets, will be discontinued if the owner, S. T. Meyer, will pay all the expenses of the proceedings. Mr. Meyer has heretofore offered to pay one-half the expenses, which amount to several thousand dollars. It will be remembered that this property was offered to the city at $400,000, and the figures subsequently raised to $650,000. There was also a difference of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the values placed on the lots by the experts employed by the city and those engaged by the owner.

The Bennett building on Nassau street is to be raised and modernized. Three stories will be added, which will contain forty-five offices, an addition of fifty per cent. of the present number. The entrance on Nassau street will be changed by dividing the stairway in two, continuing one-half to the first story, and cutting through the other half to the elevators on a level with the street. The entire hall will be finished in white marble. An arcade will run through from Fulton to Ann streets, and the interior will be improved by throwing the space now occupied by the lavatories into a light shaft. A postal delivery and electric light will be added, and everything supplied to make the structure complete.

The mention of values recalls the wide difference which always exists between the figures of experts in all proceedings for acquiring lands for public use. The wrangle last year over the value of school sites, the contest for additional land required at the Brooklyn Bridge entrance, and still later the acquisition of lots for an East River Park make a really wonderful exhibit. The wide difference in the school sites was explained in these columns at the time they were considered. As to the land adjoining the bridge it need only be said that some experts value it at twice the figure at which it was sold quite recently. Relative to the East River Park lots some brokers have appraised them at $12,000, while others put them down at less than $2,000. The last figure is explained by deducting what it would cost to level them and make the adjoining streets. The first figure was given by a broker who dwelt on the value of the property as a gentlemen's riverside country home right in this great city. The city as well as the owners pay the experts, and surely a variety of views are obtained to please——.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The usual weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Constant A. Andrews in the chair. Among others present were Richard V. Harnett, Andrew J. Robinson, C. F. Hoffman, Jr., Geo. S. Lespinasse, W. H. Folsom, A. Disbecker, Wm. C. Orr and Thos. C. Higgins. Alfred E. Marling was elected secretary pro tem.

The Sub-Committee on Rapid Transit reported that they had held a meeting and hoped within a short time to be able to present to the full committee an entirely satisfactory report which would deal with the subject in an earnest and practical way. The report would be submitted to a meeting of the full committee, of which special notice would be given.

The following bills were then referred: Assembly bill No. 818 (the same as Senator Stewart's), for the appointment of commissioners to locate lands for public parks; Assembly bill No. 860, for the extension of cable railroads; Assembly bill No. 803, providing that building associations shall be exempt from taxation, as savings institutions; Senate bill No. 480, for the appointment of commissioners to select and locate lands for public parks in the 12th Ward.

The meeting then adjourned.

Builders Take Notice.

The Consumers' Brewing Company of New York (Limited) is about to erect a brewery on Avenue A, between 54th and 55th streets, New York. Masons, carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc., are invited to submit separate bids for the work and materials required. Plans and specifications for the brewery will be on exhibition at No. 1027 Avenue A, corner of 56th street, on and after Monday, March 24, 1890. Holm & Robinson, counsel, 21 Park row.

Back Numbers Wanted.

Fifteen cents each will be paid for copies of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, January 12, 1889, No. 1087.

Real Estate Department.

The market has been fairly active this week. A few important private sales have taken place, as will be noticed in our "Gossip" columns. The reports of new buildings to be erected make a very good showing this week, as will be seen on reference to our column of "Out Among the Builders." The offerings on 'Change, although fairly numerous, embraced very few parcels of importance, and this is also true of the sales for the forthcoming week.

On Monday the only real estate knocked down was that of Nos. 238 to 248 West 121st street, six three-story brick dwellings, on lots 16.8x100 each, under foreclosure, which were bid in by Chas. S. Kendall at from $15,590 to $16,450 each.

The parcel which sold for the largest figure on Tuesday was that of Nos. 39 and 41 Delancey street, adjoining the southeast corner of Forsyth street, sold by order of the executors. It is a plot 38x70, with five-story brick tenements thereon, and brought $50,500, John H. Ford being the purchaser. No. 13 New Chambers street, an irregular triangular plot, with a three-story building on it, on the northeast corner of William street, having a frontage of 27.6 feet on the former street and 21.6 on the latter, was purchased by Amos R. Eno at what is considered the reasonable price of $8,900. A lot, 19.4x73.6, at No. 96 8th avenue, south of 15th street, with a dwelling on it, went to E. A. Lambert at $18,000. A four-story brick tenement, on a lot 25.1x75, at No. 1069 1st avenue, adjoining the northwest corner of 58th street, was sold to P. Fitzpatrick for $19,000, and No. 25 Perry street, west of Waverly place, lot 21.8 x irregular, with a three-story house on it, was bought by A. L. Reynolds for $15,700, which is considered a good figure. Solomon Jacobs secured No. 602 3d avenue, adjoining the northwest corner of 39th street, a lot 13x60, with a three-story building thereon, at $12,600; Patrick Gleason bought No. 581 3d avenue, adjoining the northeast corner of 38th street, a lot 18.6½x75, with a five-story tenement on it, for $19,200, and J. B. Harrison the four-story tenement and lot, 18.6x90, at No. 231 7th avenue, south of 24th street, for $18,150.

The sales were almost equally numerous on Wednesday, though generally more important than on Tuesday. One which attracted considerable attention was that of No. 123 Bowery, near Grand street, a five-story brick building, on a lot 25x irregular, rented at $8,000 and water tax, which was sold to Chas. R. Williams at $98,500. No. 52 Marion street, near Prince street, running through to No. 87 Crosby street, with three and four-story factories on a lot 26x171.6x25x165.2, rented at about $3,000, went to A. Garrison at $40,250. A sale which was watched with interest was that of Nos. 425 to 429 Grand street, on the southeast corner of Attorney street. It comprises a plot 50x70 on the corner, and included No. 14 Attorney street, lot 30x50, the whole covered with one three-story and three four-story buildings. William C. Flanagan was the last bidder at $102,000. A water front on the Hudson, between 152d and 153d streets, was bought by Israel Goldberg for $34,900. It takes in ten city lots, gores, etc., with a plot 44x irregular on the north side of 152d street, 31.6 east of 11th avenue through to 153d street, with the "Riverside House" on it. Two five-story buildings on a plot 37.10x46.11, at Nos. 38 and 40 Grand street, and a three-story building 19.1x56.7, at No. 24 Thompson street, sold to E. Ruff at $39,250, and No. 446 West 14th street, a three-story brick building, with a two-story brick building on rear, on a lot 25x103.6, went to Hugh King at $25,500.

On Thursday the sale which attracted most attention was that of the property of the estate of Wm. J. Lyons, consisting entirely of unimproved parcels. Two lots on Central Park West, 76.8 feet north of 76th street, were secured by Judge P. H. Dugro at $18,300 each, and two lots on the northwest corner of the Boulevard and 99th street, were purchased by the same gentleman, the corner at $12,800, and that adjoining at $7,800. T. O. Carter bought the two lots adjoining those secured by Mr. Dugro, at $7,800 each. A lot on 99th street, north of the Boulevard went to Henry B. Cochew for $6,700; one on 100th street, west of 9th avenue, to Peter Somers for $6,725; five on 101st street, west of 9th avenue, to Thos. J. Barry at $6,950 each, and one adjoining to the same party at $6,500. Four lots on 121st street, west of 10th avenue, went to H. B. Cochew for $2,750 each, and four on the southwest corner of 10th avenue and 122d street, to the same party, the corner at $9,600, the lot adjoining at $6,350, and two 20-foot lots next adjoining at $4,700 each. Among other sales this day was that of No. 176 Rivington street, west of Attorney street, a six-story tenement, on a lot 26x100, which was secured by Broker A. L. Brudi at $38,750. A four-story brick tenement and lot (Beekman Leasehold) at No. 1102 3d avenue, near 65th street, was knocked down to Wm. J. Breen at $9,825; No. 917 3d avenue, east side, north of 59th street, a four-story building, with a lot 20x110, to Broker Wm. Lalor at $22,500; a lot on 99th street, west of Central Park West at $7,500 to C. Abele; a four-story house, with lot 17x60, at No. 314 2d avenue, near 55th street, to Geo. Byer at $17,400, and a three-story dwelling, on a lot 20x60, at No. 625 Lexington avenue, north of 53d street, to L. S. Samuel at $16,500.

Out Among the Builders.

Architect J. M. Farnsworth has the plans for a twelve-story fire-proof office building to be erected by John Pettit at Nos. 114 and 116 Nassau street and 45 Ann street. The building will be T shaped, with a frontage of 40 feet on Nassau, and a depth of 80 feet and 28 feet on Ann street, by 170 feet deep, the latter taking in the rear of the entire Nassau street front from Ann street to No. 114 Nassau street. The building will be most complete in every way and contain several new and striking features. On the store floor there will be an elegant café, and Mr. Pettit is now negotiating with a noted restaurateur to take a lease thereof. Work will be commenced on May 1st. The cost has not been estimated. All the work will be done by day's work.

The block front of the old buildings on the east side of Washington street, between Cedar and Liberty streets, has been demolished to make way for a seven-story brick and stone office building, to be erected by John Pettit, from plans by Architect J. M. Farnsworth. The new structure will contain all the modern improvements, and will have a frontage on Washington street of 113 feet, on Liberty street 56 feet, and Cedar street 70 feet. The cost has not been estimated. The work will be done under the owner's personal supervision by day's work. The building will contain two elevators, and the entire store floor will be one store supported on columns, with plate glass fronts.

Theodor Cohnfeld will soon erect a large and handsome ten-story warehouse and store on a plot 72x129 on the southwest corner of Bleecker and Mercer streets. Architect Alfred Zucker will probably draw the plans.

Albert Wagner is preparing plans for the following improvements: (1) A seven-story buff brick and blue stone front furniture warehouse and factory, to cover 66x100 on Hester street and 33x133 on Mott street, in "L" shape, and to have two elevators, steam heat, etc. Owners, P. Nathan & Co.; estimated cost, $100,000. (2) A six-story furniture warehouse on the north side of 23d street, 100 feet west of 3d avenue, 78x100, to be of first-class construction, and to have large plate-glass windows on the first two floors, and to contain three elevators, hardwood trim, etc., the fronts to be of Telephone brick and Long Meadow stone. Owners, Jordan & Moriarty; cost not estimated. This improvement was anticipated in these columns last year.

Architects Buchman and Deisler are preparing plans for three six-story basement and sub-basement stores, to be erected on a plot 142x133 on the northeast corner of Waverly place and Greene street, by Jeremiah C. Lyons the builder. The materials used will be brown stone and light brick. Two of the stores will have frontages of 50 feet each on Waverly place, and the third a frontage of 42 feet. There will be a courtyard in the middle of the plot about 40 feet square, with elevators and platforms on each side, and an entrance on Greene street. This feature will enable the firms occupying the buildings to do all their loading and unloading of goods on the inside, and at the same time prevent blockades on the streets. The boilers and engines will also be placed in this courtyard. Still another important feature will be the erection around the building on the courtyard of an iron platform, in which the water and waterclosets will be located, thus keeping water out of the main buildings and preventing the destruction of goods by overflows, besides securing good sanitary results. The estimated cost of this improvement is about $280,000.

John H. Inman will erect on a plot 45x200 on 5th avenue, 55 feet north of 68th street, a handsome residence, at an estimated cost of $200,000. Architects are preparing plans which will be submitted upon Mr. Inman's return from the South.

We hear that Mr. Stewart will build five private houses on a plot of four lots, purchased this week, on the north side of 85th street, between West End avenue and Riverside Drive.

Kurtzer & Röhl have plans on the boards for four five-story brick and stone tenements, 26 3x81, four families on each floor, to be built by Chas. Ruff, at Nos. 230, 232, 234 and 236 East 21st street, and to cost about $68,000 for the four.

Kurtzer & Röhl have drawn plans for a five-story and basement brick, brown stone and terra cotta flat, 25x89, to be built for M. Baumgarten at No. 119 Henry street; cost, $18,000. Also for a three-story and basement extension, 13.6x18, to be added by H. Westphal to his house at No. 236 East 53d street; cost, $2,500.

Charles P. H. Gilbert is drawing plans for three three-story and basement buff brick and stone dwellings, to be built by James MacKenny on the south side of 152d street, between St. Nicholas and 10th avenues. These houses are to be supplied with all the appointments of modern dwellings, and work will be begun at once. Cost, about $30,000.

Bids are invited by the Consumers' Brewing Co. for the materials and work required for the erection of a new brewery on Avenue A, between 54th and 55th streets. Holm & Robinson, of 21 Park row, counsel for the company, will furnish particulars to intending bidders.

Mahon & Coyne will improve the lot, 24.9x96, on the northeast corner of Lexington avenue and 27th street.

Buchman & Deisler will prepare plans for a six-story store, to be erected by Jeremiah C. Lyons and E. G. Stedmann at Nos. 193 and 195 Mercer street, on a plot 50x100. The building will connect with the new store in the rear on Greene street lately purchased by Dr. E. E. Marcy. Mr. Stedman is Dr. Marcy's son-in-law.

Thomas Fitzgerald will erect a five-story tenement, with store, No. 916 2d avenue.

B. S. Levy is going to build on two lots on the south side of 78th strtet, 225 feet west of 10th avenue. The character of the improvement has not transpired.

Patrick McMorrow and Andrew Smith are about to improve four lots on the south side of 87th street, 62 feet east of Madison avenue, by the erection of flats. Mr. McMorrow built the flats Nos. 162 and 164 East 82d street.

Wm. R. Powers and John Welcker are having plans drawn by Architect M. V. B. Ferdon for two family houses, to be built on the lot on the north side of 63d street, 58 feet east of the Boulevard. They are to have brown stone fronts, steam heat, etc.

Fred. Ebeling is preparing plans for alterations to the buildings Nos. 26, 28 and 30 Bleecker street, and Nos. 318 and 320 Mott street. The houses on Bleecker street will be raised one story, and all the buildings altered internally. The costs are not estimated yet. Owner, Gabriel Goldsmith.

Joseph Loth recently purchased the plot on the southwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 155th street, paying for the same $120,000. He has not determined what the nature of the improvement will be, and is not prepared to state what he will build on the property. H. Kafka will be the architect for any building that may be erected.

Kurtzer & Rohl have prepared plans for a five-story and basement brick, stone and terra cotta flat and stores, 26x102, to be built by Geo. Hornberger at No. 22 St. Marks place. Cost, $25,000.

Chas. Rentz has drawn plans for two five-story and basement brick, stone and terra cotta flats, 25x88.6, to be built by Fay & Stacom at Nos. 117 and 119 Forsyth street; cost for the two, $40,000 Also for two five-story and basement flats with terra cotta fronts, 25x88.6, to be built by J. G. Evatt at Nos. 146 and 148 West 135th street. Cost, about $40,000.

Geo. J. Cohen will build a five-story flat, 25x85, on the south side of 84th street, 200 east of 10th avenue, from plans by E. L. Angell.

M. V. B. Ferdon has plans for a five-story tenement, 25x88.6, to be built at No. 427 West 35th street for Ellen M. Harlow.

Elijah P. Briggs, of 206 Broadway, will improve the easterly front on Manhattan avenue, between 113th and 114th streets, and one lot adjoining on 114th street. There will be six five-story brick and brown stone dwellings on the avenue and one on 114th street. Architect, R. R. Davis.

Daniel Rosenbaum, it is reported, will improve the lots Nos. 166 West 10th street and Nos. 47 and 47½ Christopher street by the erection of flats.

John Conley will build a four-story brown stone dwelling on the plot, 20x100 feet, recently purchased on the north side of 75th street, 375 feet east of 9th avenue.

J. S. Wightman has drawn sketches for a two-story frame dwelling, 25x51, to be built for Peter Moebus on the north side of 155th street, 225 feet west of Courtlandt avenue, at a cost of $3,500.

R. R. Davis has plans for two five-story and basement brick tenements, to be built at Nos. 63 to 67 Downing street, for Adelaide, wife of George Beaudet, at a cost of $45.000. The sizes are 27 and 37.7x78 feet. This improvement was mentioned last week.

About thirty liens, aggregating over $34,000, have been filed against John H. Wellwood and the flats he is building on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 116th street, and the easterly front on 9th avenue, between 119th and 120th streets. Mr. Wellwood has transferred the Madison avenue corner to Homer J. Beaudet, who has made building loans to Mr. Wellwood. The latter has also transferred four flats on West 125th street to dealers in building material. Mr. Wellwood was formerly connected with one or more of the building and loan associations.

B. H. Fisher will build six private houses on the northwest corner of 85th street and West End avenue, a plot 100x100 feet, recently purchased.

Brooklyn.

Wm. Reynolds & Son will build four three-story brown stone dwellings, 20x45, with basements, on Hancock street, south side, 350 feet east of Marcy avenue. The four will cost $36,000, and I. D. Reynolds is the architect.

Mrs. E. Parker has ordered a three-story and basement brick, stone and terra cotta dwelling, 20x45, with extension, to be erected on St. Marks avenue, north side, 292 feet east of Rogers avenue. Cost, $12,000; architect, I. D. Reynolds.

Charles P. H. Gilbert has completed plans for a large four-story, basement, cellar and attic dwelling, to be erected for J. H. Hanan on the northwest corner of Carroll street and 8th avenue. The style is of the French chateau period. All the exterior is to be of a light drab brick, the roof of English tile. The building will be irregular in outline, covering the greater part of plot 40x92, with hardwood trim and floors, electric light, steam heat, etc. The parlor, reception-room and hall on first floor to be divided by a colonnade, classic in design. The billiard-room will be in the tower, circular in form, and with a height of 20 feet. The work will be done by H. Murdock, contractor.

Kurtzer & Röhl have drawn plans for two four-story and basement (brick) brown stone and terra cotta flats, 25.6x65.6, to be built for C. Friedman at Nos. 178 and 180 South 9th street. Cost for the two, about $36,000.

Out of Town.

NORTH BENNINGTON, Vt.—F. B. Jennings will make some alterations and additions to his property here which will cost in the neighborhood of $8,000. The proposed changes include internal alterations in the house, a two-story frame extension, 18x40, new cornices, and a stone porch across the front; a new frame stable, 75x88, with other stock buildings, will be built, for which plans have been prepared by A. F. Norris.

Special Notices.

We should like to call the attention of our readers to the card of Mr. Benjamin Prince, which appears in another column. He is a gentleman of some twenty years' experience in the manufacture of parquet flooring, wood carpeting, wainscoting, ceilings, etc., and his factory at Nos. 501-505 East 70th street is equipped with the best machinery and fixtures obtainable, so that he is in a position to turn out goods of the finest quality. Mr. Prince's satisfactory work has already commended itself to many architects and builders, and it is certain that others would find his manner of carrying out his contracts equally praiseworthy.

Builders and others should turn to the advertisement on another page, wherein a number of first-class lots are offered for lease on the west side of the Grand Boulevard, between 61st and 62d streets. I. & S. Wormser, of the Mill's Building, on Broad street, will lease these for twenty-one years with two renewals on most favorable terms.

In connection with the great increase in fire-proof buildings erected and the different materials used we wish to call attention to an article manufactured by Geo. B. Robbins & Co., of 3d avenue and 136th street. Although not a new article, it having been among the first in that line introduced in the city, it is one of the best known for fire-proof qualities. It has been extensively used hereabouts, and as manufactured by the above firm, gives general satisfaction. They are about completing the furnishing and setting of all the partitions, furring and hanging ceilings for the six-story fire-proof apartment house, 100x100, for Mr. Wm. B. Franke, corner 124th street and Mt. Morris avenue. They claim to make a better partition at less cost than can be made with fire-clay blocks, and that their large blocks for roofs and ceilings possess many advantages over those of porous terra cotta. They will be pleased to furnish estimates, also for terra cotta wall-coping (an article now well known) and sewer pipe and flue linings.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works, 31 Chambers street, until 12 o'clock M. Thursday, March 27: For furnishing materials and performing work in repairing pontoons for the free floating baths, repairing and painting the roofs and painting fourteen of the free floating baths and repairing and furnishing signal lamps; for rebuilding retaining wall and stairway across 51st street, 80 (eighty) feet east of the east house line of Beekman place; for regulating and paving with granite block pavement the roadway of 69th street, from 8th to 9th avenue; and 80th street, from the Boulevard to West End avenue; for regulating and grading 123d street, from 10th avenue to the Boulevard, and setting curbstones and flagging sidewalks therein; and 145th street, from 6th avenue to Harlem River.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.
